THE POINT OF THE HIGH HOLY DAYS

There is a great culture these days of ensuring that our kids get involved in community service projects. Most schools even mandate these projects for all students. This dovetails perfectly with our Jewish value of Tikkun Olam. As Jews, we are all striving to be people of action and justice. And now, there is wide societal support for getting started early on this character development. Most of our kids link their b'nai mitzvah experience with Tikkun Olam projects. We have a strong emphasis on social justice issues and activities in our Hebrew high school program at Adas. Our young people, and all of us, are very fortunate because there is so much access to opportunities for making a difference.

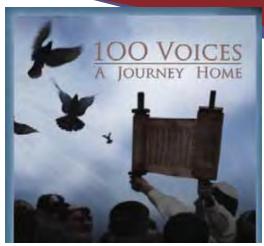

But with all the blessings of Tikkun Olam projects, there is one critical element that all of our Cantor Arianne Brown will introduce a compelling and moving documentary film, entitled 100 Voices: A Journey Home, beginning at 8:30 pm before our Selichot service. Cantor Brown was among a group of cantors who participated in a historical mission to the birthplace of cantorial music in Poland. This trip serves as the basis of the film, which celebrates the resilience and the power of Jewish life while telling the story of two peoples who shared intertwined cultures. The film will be followed by a question and answer session with Cantor Brown.

A coffee reception to continue the discussion will begin at 10:00 pm, followed by the Traditional Selichot Service at 11:00 pm. The evening is sponsored by the Mollie & Joseph Muchnick Selichot Fund. O

Vision of Renewal Groundbreaking Set for October 14

A plan is in place to stage all construction in three phases to minimize the impact our congregation.

October-December Gewirz Beit Am December-April Charles E. Smith Sanctuary April-August Lobby and Beit Midrash (most complicated part but our quietest time)

We have informed our neighbors and community representatives of our plans. We encourage our members to serve as ambassadors should any questions arise. Please refer to our website, www.adasisrael.org, for all updates, progress reports, and photos.

The Vision of Renewal is more than a building renovation; it will cultivate innovative programming and community building, including:

- New programming for our Beit Midrash, Jewish Mindfulness Center, and Lifelong Learning is being developed to complement our renewed spaces.
- New approaches to our religious services are being explored.
- Creative uses of our improved spaces are challenging our creativity!

All programming is supported by our Kol Nidre Appeal. We appreciate the extra level of generosity our members have demonstrated through their support of our total vision for Adas Israel.

Watch for in invitation to the groundbreaking on October 14. O projects and activities cannot convey to our young people. It's the element that is most perfectly expressed in our experience of the High Holy Days—our deeply felt understanding that we are not alone.

There is a series of moments that often happen at the service of Ne'elah at the end of Yom Kippur. The room is full. We have come through so much during the long day of fasting and prayer. Individuals and families come and stand in front of the open ark and pour out their hearts one last time. Members of the congregation, one last time, beat their chests with the repeating phrase, "Al cheit shechatanu lefanecha," "For the sins that we have committed before You..." In those moments, there is the experience of something personal and yet communal as well. We acknowledge our mistakes and fears not just as ourselves, but as a Jewish people. And then finally, the shofar sounds, we drink a glass of orange juice, and we have made it through. We feel relief, we feel changed, accomplished, humbled.

And there's one other thing we get from this experience: we're liberated. And I don't just mean liberated from long services. I mean liberated from the burdens that have weighed on us in life. We're liberated from all the ways we have lied to ourselves and others. We're liberated through the simple acknowledgement of our mistakes, our human frailty. Most important, we're liberated because we have felt how we are not alone in the burdens of life. We share our burdens, our mistakes, our sins with everyone. The result of that great catharsis is such relief and gratitude. There is also a tremendous feeling of connection and empathy with all of humanity.

I would argue that this uncanny experience of personal/communal liberation is the most important element in social action. When I am confronted with someone in need, in pain and suffering, I am very different with that person when I have experienced my own personal liberation from suffering and burdens. It's no longer an act that smacks of a kind of noblesse oblige. It's an interaction of two equals, two fellow travelers, struggling to find our way through life.

For now, I'm the one in the position to help and to serve, and I do so with gratitude. I'm not there with the other because I'm "doing Tikkun Olam." I'm there because—how could I not be there? The most important part of social justice and chesed is the quality of presence we each bring to our lives, to every interaction. To live life with gratitude for the t'shuvah, the cathartic return to truth, is the essence of a life of service.

Our children receive great rewards for their social justice projects, as do those whom they serve. Equally, if not more important, our children deserve the spiritual core of Tikkun Olam—the liberation of t'shuvah, the sense of personal connection to all those who struggle for relief from their burdens. The wisdom of t'shuvah can't be facilitated in a class or project. It can only come as we grow and mature as Jews and as human beings. It comes when we're mature enough to acknowledge our limitedness, and our yearning for compassion. The generations of adults in our community can model this humility—the very essence of the High Holy Days. May we pass the power and beauty of our personal/communal transformation on to future generations, so that we, our children, and all people can indeed repair the world.

L'Shanah Tovah Tekateivu—May you be inscribed for a happy and healthy New Year. ○

Shalom and Shalom: Summer Staff Changes

This past summer we bid shalom to two staff members, Kate Bailey and Randy Asbury.

Since 2008, Kate served in a variety of capacities in our school office and, most recently, as our communications director responsible for our monthly Chronicle, website, weekly Kesher Ishi, flyers, and general publicity. This fall Kate is beginning a PhD program in Jewish history at the University of Maryland. We wish her well in her studies and beyond.

Randy Asbury, our building manager, only worked with us for one year but made many friends in the congregation. He has taken a construction job in Saudi Arabia, and we wish him a safe and productive experience.

This summer we also said shalom to two new staff members, Carole Klein and Suzanne Klein Davidson.

Carole joined our staff this summer as synagogue administrator and membership coordinator working in a variety of areas, including membership recruitment and engagement, facility management, life cycle events, cemetery administration, and synagogue projects, and will be working on Sunday mornings during the school year to assist the schools and committees with their building needs. Carole worked for nine years as the synagogue administrator of Congregation B'nai Israel in Basking Ridge, NJ. She and her husband moved to the DC area to be near their children.

Suzanne has been hired as an executive assistant and development staff member. She will assist us with the Vision of Renewal Building Campaign, Kol Nidre Appeal, Torah Dedication Project, High Holy Days, and multiple other projects throughout the year. Suzanne was a member of Adas Israel before moving to the suburbs. She became an Adult Bat Mitzvah at Adas and had a child in our Gan. She has been working at Washington Hebrew Congregation in various educational capacities and has worked at the Religious Action Center in Washington.

This summer also welcomed school office manager Talya Schultz's new baby, and we thank Laura Bloomberg Rosh for her help in the school office during Talya's leave.

Please help us welcome Carole and Suzanne to the Adas Israel family.

From the President

For anyone who's ever been six years old and arrived for the first day of school, September probably remains a magical time. No matter how many years separate me from that first day of first grade, the arrival of fall always returns my senses to Alexander IV Elementary School—the smell of newly sharpened pencils, the taste of a peanut butter sandwich, the sight of a bright construction paper alphabet, the sound of the first bell calling us into class, and the feel of stiff, new "school shoes" (whatever happened to those once-essential autumn purchases—school shoes and Sunday school shoes, anyway?).

Not every September since that first grade year has been quite as exciting as that first day of school, but this one, the fall of 2012 at Adas Israel, surely is. There is much to experience to rival even the most eagerly anticipated first day of school! The beautiful sound of our new Cantor, Arianne Brown, is filling our services, no—our entire building— with joy and warmth. And speaking of our building, the commencement of construction (after the holidays) will turn our Vision of Renewal into a reality and will be a thrilling project to experience. I know that the construction will occasion inconvenience, but I am confident you'll feel that the satisfaction of being part of this transformative project will far outpace any small aggravation caused. So many more exciting things are happening at Adas that I'd need the entire Chronicle to outline them all, but just look around and you'll see—and even more important, you'll feel—the magic going on inside 2850 Quebec Street. Stop in to welcome Sheri Brown as she assumes her role as Gan director (following her service as interim director). Attend one of Rabbis Steinlauf and Holtzblatt's "Making Torah Personal" classes or Rabbi Feinberg's Boker Ohr study group. Join the Havurah for its 41st year of fellowship and davening. Experience the powerful waters of our mikvah or the powerful yoga class of Adas's Mindfulness Center.

As perhaps you can guess from reading the above, we have focused this year on supporting these and all of our activities with two fundraising efforts—our annual Kol Nidre Appeal and the Vision of Renewal campaign. I know we've asked a lot of this wonderful community this year. Supporting our annual campaign enables our synagogue to serve so many diverse needs and the seemingly "everyday" services, programs and educational offerings that would be far from routine without your support. I cannot emphasize enough how critical your continued support of the Kol Nidre Appeal is to our congregation's needs—this year and every for that commitment alongside your Kol Nidre Appeal donations. Please accept my thanks for your generous giving.

And to turn back to my first grade year once last time . . . my elementary school has a Facebook page, which I joined. A few classmates also joined, and while I remembered most of them, it seems that almost none of them remembered me, even though I was the third grade multiplication champion (for one day). I am not really bitter about that (much), but it was an inconsequential lesson in how easy it is to belong and matter to an institution, and then not. In a far more consequential way, communities like ours also risk having members lose that important sense of belonging. Sometimes, rarely, this happens by choice, but sometimes neither we nor our fellow members even realize it has happened. If you're a member who's the "multiplication champ" of your circle at Adas (for a day or a lifetime), please reach out to someone you may not have seen before, whether at services, in a meeting, at a program, or in a class. And if you are someone who is new to Adas or a friend we've missed seeing for a while, please reach out to me; our wonderful clergy and staff; or our officers, board, and voluteers, to give us the chance to make you feel at home.

I look forward to an amazing year at Adas with all our members—I believe the excitement of the new "shul year" will rival the best new school year I ever had. Wishing you and those you love a year of sweetness and fulfilment—a shana tova to you and all.

High Holy Days

Home Observance of Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur, 5773

Rosh Hashanah at Home

The celebration of Rosh Hashanah, like all Jewish holidays, takes place both in the synagogue and at home. The mood of the holiday combines solemnity and joy. The commemoration of Rosh Hashanah at home can be enhanced by the following preparation and ceremonies: the table should be set in a festive manner, with a white cloth (symbolic of purity and joy), candlesticks, wine, apples and honey, and challot (usually round to symbolize a full, complete year). The family gathers for the lighting of the candles.

Rosh Hashanah begins on Sunday evening, September 16; candles are lit and the blessing is followed by the Shehechiyanu: :

בָּרוּךְ אַתָּה יִיָּ אֱ-לֹהֵינוּ מֶלֶדְ הָעוֹלָם, אֲשֶׁר קִדְּשְׁנוּ בְּמִצְוֹתָיו, וְצִוְּנוּ לְהַדְלִיק וֵר שֶׁל יוֹם טוֹב.

Baruch ata Adonai Eloheinu melech ha-olam, asher kid-shanu b'mitzvotav v'tzeevanu l'hadleek ner shel Yom Tov. Praised are You, Lord our God, Master of the universe, who has sanctified us with Your commandments and commanded us to light the festival candles.

ַבָּרוּדְ אַתָּה יִיָ אֱ-לֹהֵינוּ מֶלֶדְ הָעוֹלָם, שֶׁהֶחֱיֵנוּ וְקִיְּמֵנוּ וְהִגִּיעֵנוּ לַזְּמַן הַזֶּה.

Baruch ata Adonai Eloheinu melech ha-olam, she'hecheyanu, v'kee'manu, v'heegee anu lazman hazeh. Praised are You, Lord our God, Master of the universe, who has kept us in life, sustained us, and enabled us to reach this season.

Blessing of the children: It is a beautiful tradition for parents to bless their children before reciting kiddush. Parents place their hands on each child's head and say the appropriate blessing.

For sons:

For daughters:

יִשְׂמִךְ אֵ-לֹהִים כָּאֵפְרַיִם וְכִמְנַשֵּׁה.

Y'simcha Eloheem k' Efrayim v'chi Menashe.
May God make you as Ephraim and Menashe

יִשִּׂמֵךְ אֱ-לֹהִים כְּשָּׂרָה רִבְקָה רָחֵל וְלֵאָה. Y'simech Eloheem k' Sarah, Rivka, Rachel, v' Leah. May God make you as Sarah, Bebecca, Bachel, and Leah Rebecca, Rachel, and Leah. For all children, continue with the Priestly Blessing: Y'va-rekh'kha Adonai v'yish-m'-rekha. May the Lord bless you and keep you; Ya-er Adonai panav ele-kha vi-hu-neka. May the Lord's goodness shine on you and be gracious to you; Yisa Adonai panav ele-kha v'ya-sem l'kha shalom. May the Lord turn with favor to you and give you peace. Amen.

On the first night of Rosh Hashanah, it is traditional to dip apples in honey and recite the following prayer:

וִיהִי רָצוֹן מִלְּפָנֶיךּ, יְיָ אֱ-לֹהֵינוּ וֵא-לֹהֵי אֲבוֹתֵינוּ, שְׁתְּחַדֵּשׁ עָלֵינוּ שָׁנָה טוֹבָה וּמְתוּקָה.

Y'hee ratzon milfanecha, Adonai, Elohaynu v'elohay avotaynu, she'ti-chadesh aleynu shana tovah u'metukah. May it be Your will, Lord our God, and God of our ancestors, that the New Year be both good and sweet.

- Kiddush for Yom Tov
- Motzi

On the second night of Rosh Hashanah, it is customary to eat a new fruit (mango, pomegranate, etc.) so that the She-hecheeyanu may be recited. However, the She-hecheeyanu may be recited even without eating a new fruit.

The traditional greeting for Rosh Hashanah is:

לְשָׁנָה טוֹבָה הִּכָּתֵבּוּ L'shanah Tova Tikatevu.... May you be inscribed for a good year.

Kever Avot Memorial Services & Cemetery Hours

Jews worldwide mark the approaching High Holy Days with visits to the graves of departed loved ones. An ancient custom, Kever Avot, literally "graves of the fathers," dates almost as far back as Jews themselves. Gathering at the grave facilitates healing within families by creating an opportunity to grant forgiveness to one another. Others visit graves to connect with their past and to contemplate the life they want to live. The Adas Israel Kever Avot schedule is as follows:

- Kever Avot Memorial Cemetery Service, Sunday, September 9, 10:00 am Adas Israel Cemetery, 1400 Alabama Avenue, SE, Washington, DC, with Rabbi Gil Steinlauf. Bus leaves from the congregation at 9:00 am. Call Carol Ansell at the synagogue, 202-362-4433, to reserve a seat. Space is limited.
- Judean Memorial Gardens Kever Avot Service, Sunday, September 23, 10:30 am, with Rabbi Charles Feinberg participating

The Adas Israel Cemetery on Alabama Avenue will be open on Sunday, September 9 from 10:00 am until 2:00 pm. If you wish to visit at any other times, please call Carole Klein, 202-362-4433, ext. 157.

May the memory of your loved ones forever be a blessing and inspiration. •

Memorial Candle: It is customary to light a memorial candle for departed members of the family before lighting the holy day candles.

In the Jewish tradition, there is no official blessing recited upon lighting a yahrzeit candle. The reason for this is that the act of kindling the yahrzeit light is not the direct fulfillment of a specific mitzvah. The light reminds us of the neshamot, the souls of our beloved departed who brought light to our lives. There is a power in having nothing to say at all upon kindling the yahrzeit candle. As Jews, we are used to having something to say at a special moment—a blessing or a prayer. At this moment, however, when the memory of a whole life is before us, there are no words. There is only silence. When Aharon the High Priest witnessed the death of his two sons, the Torah says "Vayidom Aharon," "And Aharon was silent" (Leviticus 10:3). Silence does not necessarily represent the lack of pathos and love. It can also be the fullness of those feelings, so full in fact that no words can adequately capture them. As we light the yahrzeit lights, we can notice this silence and feel the depth of love for those whom we have lost.

Blessing of the candles on Tuesday, September 25

בָּרוּדְ אַתָּה יְיָ אֱ-לֹחֵינוּ מֶלֶדְ הָעוֹלָם, אֲשֶׁר קִדְּשֵׁנוּ בְּמִצְוֹתִיוּ, וְצִוְּנוּ לַהַדְלִיק גַר שֶׁל יוֹם הַכִּיפּוּרִים.

Baruch ata Adonai, Elohaynu melech ha-olam, asher kid'shanu b'mitzvotav, v'tzeevanu l'hadleek ner shel Yom HaKippureem. Praised are You, Lord our God, Master the universe, who has sanctified us with Your commandments and commanded us to kindle lights for Yom Kippur.

Blessing the children on the Eve of Yom Kippur: It is traditional for parents to bless their children as the candles are lit on the eve of festivals. This is a special additional prayer for the Eve of Yom Kippur:

May it be God's will to sustain you in life and health. May your eyes not lead you astray, may your mouths speak with wisdom, may your hearts meditate with reverence, may your hands be engaged in commandments, and may your feet hasten to do God's will. May the Almighty grant you children who will grow up to be righteous, occupying themselves with Torah and commandments all their days. May the Almighty enable me to meet the obligations of parenthood, to provide amply for your needs, and to guide you toward good and upright character. May you be inscribed and sealed in the Book of Good and Long Life, together with all of the righteous. Amen.

A traditional greeting for Yom Kippur is:
הַלְּמֵר חֵתִימָה טוֹבָה
G'mar Hatimah Tovah, May you be sealed in the Book of Life.

Yom Kippur Afternoon Speakers Hanna Rosin and Mark Leibovich

Turning to Each Other: Jewish Women and Jewish Men in the 21st Century

A generation ago, it was uncommon to find female rabbis, especially in the Conservative Movement. Now, at Adas Israel and elsewhere, women are well integrated in leadership. And not just as rabbis. Jewish women are taking on more synagogue leadership roles at every level, at the same time that Jewish men are stepping back from those lay leadership roles. Why is that? Are men ceding spiritual leadership to women? Is "rabbi" on its way to becoming a feminine profession, the way secular "teacher" did a century ago? After all, other arenas of leadership—business, politics—are full of Jewish men. So why not synagogue leadership?

We will discuss what it's like to be a Jewish man and a Jewish woman in our time, and what kind of Jewish legacy are we leaving to our Jewish sons and daughters.

We are very pleased to have Hanna Rosin of the Atlantic Monthly and author of the forthcoming, The End of Men, along with Mark Leibovich, New York Times magazine chief national correspondent join us at 3:30 pm in Kay Hall on Yom Kippur afternoon. Together, they will discuss these issues and offer their unique perspectives. •

Kol Nidre Appeal from the Vice President for Development

I am vice president for development at Adas Israel, but more important, I am the mother of three children who have been through the Gan, two of whom (so far) have become b'nai mitzvah at Adas; I am a member of the Garden of the Righteous Committee and the Education Committee; I am an occasional reader of Torah; and I am a consumer of those programs at Adas that really speak to me (like a class in Torah in Food!). In short, I am a 2012 Conservative Jew living in Washington, DC, seeking to enrich my experience with Judaism and share and sustain with my children the connection to my religion that my parents, grandparents and their grandparents—even before they lived in Vilna—preserved so carefully and shared with me.

You are probably not so different. And that is really what the Kol Nidre Appeal is about. It's not an empty plea to send in dollars. It is a concerted, important way that we all participate in the continuation and enrichment of our personal connection to Judaism, and to the bigger picture of Conservative Judaism in America. When we participate in a community appeal like our Kol Nidre Appeal, we are voting to keep our community alive. We are both demanding and authorizing our leadership to enrich and improve our offerings to congregants to keep them relevant and responsive to the kind of Jews we are today, without losing the traditions we've carried with us for generations. We are saying that "Yes, we want Conservative Judaism, through our community, to thrive for our own children and into their future."

Usher Request for the High Holy Days

The Adas Israel Men's Club has the honor and responsibility of coordinating volunteers to serve as ushers on the High Holy Days. This important role serves a number of important functions, including welcoming members and guests, orienting attendees as they enter the service, and assisting during an emergency.

This year, we are again enlisting the support of the entire congregation to assist in our planning for Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur. Would you consider sharing an hour (or more) during the holidays to assist your fellow members during this special High Holy Day season?

Even if you traditionally daven elsewhere, we especially need more volunteers for the Charles E. Smith Sanctuary services. Even if you've never ushered before, we'd be delighted to have your help.

You are cordially invited to accept the invitation below to help ensure meaningful and safe holiday services. We hope you will accept this invitation for the High Holy Days. NO experience is necessary. We'll provide instructions and mentors. We need your help!

Any questions? Please contact Elinor Tattar, 202-362-4433, ext. 147 or elinor.tattar@adasisrael.org. We look forward to hearing from you.

Education

Gan HaYeled

The Gan celebrates its 40th year with an energy and vibrancy usually reserved for teenagers. The Gan was recently reaccredited by the National Association for the Education of Young Children (NAEYC), the nation's leading organization of early childhood professionals. NAEYC accreditation lets families in our community know that their children are getting the best care and early learning experiences possible.

To earn NAEYC Accreditation, the Gan went through an extensive self-study process, measuring the program and its services against the 10 NAEYC Early Childhood Program Standards and more than 400 related Accreditation Criteria. The program received NAEYC Accreditation after an on-site visit to ensure that it meets each program standard. NAEYC-accredited programs are also subject to unannounced visits during their accreditation, which lasts five years.

In the 25 years since NAEYC Accreditation was established, it has become a widely recognized sign of high-quality early childhood education. More than 7,000 programs are currently accredited by NAEYC—approximately 8 percent of all preschools and other early childhood programs. For more information about NAEYC Accreditation, visit www.naeyc.org/academy.

Public or Private? Secular or Not? DC? VA? MD?

If you've been wondering about which school will be the best fit for your child after preschool, please join us for an information-packed event Friday, September 21, at 9 am in Wasserman Hall. An educational consultant will present an overview of the process, and representatives from a number of schools will be on hand to answer questions.

If you have questions about this event, please e-mail its chair,

Susan Weinstein, spweinstein@hotmail.com. This event is open to all Adas families, whether or not their children attend the Gan. Save the Date: Honoring Babies Born in 5772The 15th annual Shabbat Tinok/Baby Shabbat, honoring all babies born during the Hebrew year 5772 (September 2011 through September 2012), takes place October 15 as part of our Shabbat morning service. On this Shabbat, babies, along with their parents and siblings, are called to the bimah for a blessing and a special gift, compliments of the Sophie Silfen Shalom Tinok Fund.

Shabbat morning services begin in the Charles E. Smith Sanctuary at 9:15 am, with our "Baby Ceremony" taking place around 11:30 am, followed by a wonderful kiddush in the sukkah. We look forward to including as many babies and families as possible. Please call Becki Walters at the Gan office, 202-362-4491, if you plan to join us.

Ma'alot DC Students Return from Two Amazing Weeks in Israel

The Second Annual Abe and Minnie Kay Israel Experience was truly transformative for our 20 Confirmation students who participated in this amazing journey. We are beginning to plan for our 2013 trip where we will have 25 Adas Israel teens joining us for this unforgettable experience! We thank Jack and

Israel's statehood.

NEW! Conversational Hebrew Initiative for 2012–2013

The Religious School Committee has worked closely with our staff to implement a new Conversational (Modern) Hebrew Initiative this fall, which will reach all of our religious school age groups. Below is an overview of this exciting new project, which will build on our existing siddur Hebrew curriculum. Students will now have the chance to learn Hebrew as both a sacred and "living" language. Please direct questions or comments to Josh Bender, at josh@adasisrael.org or to Susan Kay, chair of the Religious School Committee, susankaysk@gmail.com.

Gishron Pre-K-2nd Graders: Milat Hayom (Word of the Day) through Movement

Josh and Elie will introduce a modern Hebrew component during our Shacharit Live service every Sunday for pre-K–2nd grade students and parents. They will introduce a milat hayom (word of the day) that will have a movement associated with it. For example, they will introduce lakum (get up or rise) or lalechet (go or walk) and demonstrate the word by getting up or walking to the door. A short dialogue will include a bit of humor to helps make things "stick." Teachers will also use the milim (words) in class to encourage a modern Hebrew culture and to reinforce words.

3rd-6th Graders: Hebrew Chug (Special)

We will offer our 3rd–6th graders Conversational Hebrew as part of our new chugim program on two Sunday mornings a month. The chug will give students an introduction to Conversational Hebrew through engaging and fun activities.

6th and 7th Graders:Two-year Ulpan Experience

By 6th grade, students will have had four years of siddur Hebrew and are now ready to experience Hebrew as a "living" language. This new ulpan program will focus on conversational Hebrew in familiar and practical settings. The students will be introduced to 5-10 modern Hebrew vocabulary words each week and will have the opportunity to converse with one another using Hebrew associated with restaurants, traveling and airports, the grocery store, school, and many more settings. The two-year ulpan program will include multimedia and the use of technology and Hebrew apps.

9th-12th Graders: Ma'alot Conversational Hebrew Online Platform

Last year we had a focus group as part of Parents' Corner with some of our high school teens who expressed a keen interest in doing some serious and formal learning of Modern Hebrew. We will implement a Modern Hebrew program for 9th–12th graders that uses some of the latest online technology in teaching Hebrew. A teacher will facilitate the course and provide review activities so students can practice their skills with each other. More details coming soon.

Ivrit (Hebrew) ONLY Table for Ma'alot Dinner

We will have a Hebrew-speaking table at Ma'alot during the dinner portion of the evening, and our shinshinim (Israeli teens) will facilitate weekly discussions at the table rak b'ivrit (only in Hebrew)!

Adas Welcomes New Youth Advisor, Sasha Block

Please join us in welcoming our new youth advisor, Sasha Bloch. Sasha grew up in Wilkes-Barre, PA, where she was very active in her synagogue, Temple Israel. She joined USY as a high school junior and fell in love with the entire youth group experience. As a member of the Eastern Pennsylvania Region of USY, Sasha served on the Regional Executive Board as Social Action/Tikkun Olam (SATO) VP during her senior year of high school. She also studied abroad in Israel for two months during her senior year through USY High, and again during college at the Hebrew University of Jerusalem for six months.

After graduating from American University with a BA in international studies and an MAT in English as a second language, Sasha spends her days as a middle-school ESL teacher for Alexandria City Public Schools. Some of her fondest memories from her high school and college years were involvement in Jewish programming and groups. Sasha looks forward to making our children's time in Youth@Al as memorable as her own was. From Chaverim to USY, Sasha looks forward to sharing experiences that will make Adas Israel a place where children embrace and enjoy their Judaism!

NEW! Gishron Sunday Morning Pre-K Program Learning through doing! Using the synagogue as a learning laboratory on Sunday mornings from 9:15 am to 12:15pm, students in the Gishron (Little Bridge) program will learn about Jewish traditions through fun and interactive activities. Music, dance, art, and storytelling will bring Judaism alive for our children. Every week starts off with Shacharit Live, a spirited musical morning service where the children can begin to build their Hebrew and prayer skills. Students will also enjoy playground time and a healthy snack. Tuition is FREE for Adas Israel members (thanks to the generosity of the Sandra and Clement Alpert Fund); there is a $50 supply fee only. For nonmembers, tuition is $250 as well as the $50 supply fee.

This program is meant to act as a bridge for students who leave Gan HaYeled for a secular Pre-K program but are not yet ready for the Religious School Kindergarten class. Limited space available.

Our Gishron Pre-K program is made by possible by the Sandra & Clement Alpert Family Education Fund. If you are interested in learning more about this program, please contact Josh Bender, 202-362-4449 or josh.bender@adasisrael.org. •

Volunteer Orientation, October 10

The Adas Israel Community Mikvah is seeking a new cadre of volunteers. This opportunity is open to women and men of all ages, from all levels of Jewish observance. No experience is necessary.

A background in social work, therapy, or health care might be useful, but anyone with the right amount of sensitivity to others can be a good guide. This is a great opportunity for learning, growth and connection.

Some occasions when your guidance might be called upon: life cycle events, infertility, healing, aging, conversions, monthly cycles, and recovery.

You also don't have to be a mikvah user to become a mikvah guide, and no minimum time commitment is required. There will be an orientation at Adas on October 10 at noon and informal trainings at your convenience.

For questions or more information, or to express interest even if you can't come on October 10, please contact Naomi Malka, 202-841-8776. •

Sisterhood

Sisterhood in 5773

By now every woman in the synagogue should have received the Sisterhood membership mailing (back by popular demand) reminding her to join or renew and also asking her to contribute as generously as possible to Torah Fund. We hope everyone will respond promptly so we can move with financial confidence into the new year.

Indeed, Sisterhood has planned an exciting year. First up is the joint program with the Library Committee, a Book Chat in the Sisterhood library on Sunday, September 23. The book is Comedy in a Minor Key. Our collaboration with the Library was very successful last year, and we look forward to bringing to everyone's attention the marvelous books selected by Librarian Robin Jacobson.

Sukkah decorating follows the next week, scheduled by the dictates of the calendar right before Sukkot—Sunday, September 30. The pressure is on! Please collect your friends and bring them and your talents and enthusiasm as so many of you did last year. Check Kesher Ishi or the website for start time. Sukkah decorating may be a Sisterhood activity, but the entire congregation benefits. Indeed, it is our gift of beauty to the synagogue each year.

October's dance card is filling up. Sunday, October 14, sees Sisterhood's official opening event to welcome our new Cantor, Arianne (Ari) Brown. Let us turn out in force to enjoy "A Musical Interlude" and light refreshments from 1:00 to 3:00 pm at the synagogue. The entire congregation is invited. RSVP to Carol Ansell at Carol. Ansell@adasisrael.org.

Every purchase benefits Adas Israel Congregation.

Tanach, resumes Tuesday, October 16, at 10:00 am. Every month, usually but not always on the second Tuesday, Rabbi Steinlauf leads a timely discussion of the Bible and Jewish values. This regularly scheduled event is also open to all members of the synagogue.

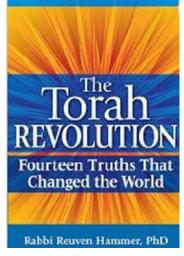

Stay tuned for more happenings with Sisterhood . . . and join today! •

Rabbi Hammer to Introduce The Torah Revolution

Rabbi Reuven Hammer, who is returning to Adas Israel for the High Holy Days, is speaking on Shabbat morning, September 15. During his talk, he will introduce his latest book, The Torah Revolution: Fourteen Truths That Changed the World, published by Jewish Lights.

This work demonstrates that radical, revolutionary ideas that transformed human society were the result of Moses's rejection of the beliefs and practices of the pagan world of his time as he attempted to form a new society for the Israelites leaving Egypt. Rabbi Irving "Yitz" Greenberg called the book, "Masterful . . . speaks to our generation with important and powerful ideas. Persuasive, inspiring and rewarding reading." Rabbi David J. Wolpe wrote, "To distill the essential truths of the Torah requires both learning and vision. Reuven Hammer has achieved this in superlative style."

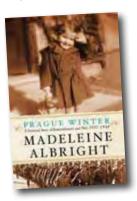

Signed copies of the book will be available at the Ruth & Simon Albert Sisterhood Gift Shop. O

Madeleine Albright's Journey to Her Jewish Past

by Robin Jacobson

In January 1997, Madeleine Korbel Albright made history by becoming the first female secretary of state. Almost immediately, a startling Washington Post story shattered Secretary Albright's lifelong beliefs about her ostensibly Catholic Czechoslovak heritage. The Post reported that Albright's parents were Jewish, and that three of her grandparents, as well as many other relatives, perished in concentration camps. In her engrossing new memoir, Albright confronts these revelations and explores World War II history. You can find Prague Winter: A Personal Story of Remembrance and War, 1937–1948 in our library.

The Infamous Munich Agreement

The early years of Albright's life in Czechoslovakia were pivotal ones in the history of World War II. In 1938, Nazi Germany demanded the right to annex part of Czechoslovakia—the Sudetenland—on the pretext of liberating the ethnic Germans who lived there. Still haunted by the horrors of the Great War, Britain and France were reluctant to wage war over Czechoslovakia, a "faraway place that few people in such capitals as London and Washington had visited or even knew how to spell." To the Western powers, says Albright, "Czechoslovakia was not thought to be worth fighting for, so it was sacrificed in the quest for peace."

The sacrifice failed to appease Hitler. Less than six months after Britain, France, and Italy (Czechoslovakia was not represented) signed the Munich Agreement ceding the Sudetenland to Germany, Hitler seized the rest of Czechoslovakia and embarked on his conquest of Europe.

A Family in Exile

After the Nazi takeover of Czechoslovakia, Albright's diplomat father, Josef Korbel, escaped with his family to London. There, Korbel served the Czech government-in-exile. He directed wartime radio programs, broadcast to partisans in Czechoslovakia who risked the death penalty for tuning in to a foreign radio station.

While in England, the Korbels and four-year-old Madeleine converted to Catholicism, although Albright does not remember the baptism ceremony. Her parents never mentioned their Jewish heritage to Albright and her younger siblings. Albright grew up a believing Catholic, but became Episcopalian when she married to please her husband's family.

Trying to fathom her parents' conversion from the distance of more than half a century, Albright speculates that her parents felt no religious connection to Judaism [the Korbels' 1935 marriage certificate identified them as bez vyznani (without religious confession)]. She suspects that her parents decided that their children's lives would be easier if they were Christian. Says Albright, "The reasons for such a conclusion, in the Europe of 1941, need little explanation."

Journalists often ask Albright whether she is tempted to embrace Judaism now that she has discovered she is genetically Jewish. Albright responds diplomatically, saying that her Jewish heritage is one new thread in her multifaceted identity—American, Czech, Democrat, mother, grandmother, and practicing Episcopalian. Nonetheless, there is new Jewish life on Albright's family tree. Albright's youngest daughter is married to a Jewish man, and the couple is raising their children as Jews. In interviews, Albright has noted with pride that her grandson, Benjamin, will celebrate his bar mitzvah.

Adas Book Chats Resume!

Join us on Sunday, September 23, 10:30–11:30 am in the Library to discuss Comedy in a Minor Key by Hans Keilson, praised as a short "masterpiece" in a front-page review in the New York Times Book Review. Copies are easily obtainable from libraries and booksellers. In addition, we have a few remaining hardcover copies that you may purchase for $5 each (a fabulous deal); all proceeds benefit the library. To purchase a copy, contact librarian@adasisrael.org.

Save the Date for Superman

Sunday, October 28, 10:30 am in the Library

Marc Tyler Nobleman, popular local speaker and author of Boys of Steel: The Creators of Superman, will present "Superman: The Jewish Story," followed by a book-signing.

This event is co-sponsored by the Library Committee, Sisterhood, and Men's Club.

Become a Part of This Very Important Cadre 34rd Annual Community CPR Program, Sept. 11 High Holy Day Usher Light Supper Precedes CPR Course

For the 35th consecutive year, the Men's Club is sponsoring a community CPR program on Tuesday, September 11, in Kay Hall, providing a chance to learn or brush up on your CPR skills.

All High Holy Day and Shabbat ushers, and Kesher Ishi greeters, are encouraged to attend this year's training, especially new participants. The Men's Club will provide a free light supper, starting at 6:15 pm, during which we will thank and brief our High Holy Day ushers on important security, emergency, and procedure information. Training begins at 6:45.

To register, call Steven Miller, 703-408-5237 or 703-415-0684, or e-mail him at smiller173@aol.com. Registration is limited. There is no charge for synagogue members; for nonmembers, the charge is $5.

A Personal Letter to Each Member of the Adas Israel Family

by Rabbi Stanley Rabinowitz's Children

Dear Members of the Adas Israel Family,

As the surviving children of Rabbi Stanley and Anita Rabinowitz, we would like to express our gratitude to the Adas Israel Family. We have been a part of this congregation since 1960, and our lives have been intertwined with that of the congregation. Even though we have long since left Washington, whenever we are in town or during the holidays, we always have enjoyed attending services and celebrating family s'machot with you. So many milestones and events of the Adas Israel history are a part of our family history.

We would like to mention and remember a few that are important to us:

- Rabbi Rabinowitz's outspoken and courageous stand for civil rights back in the '60s.
- His insistence on offering women equal roles in the service as well as in leadership positions.
- Establishing Camp Tel Shalom to emphasize the value and importance of the Jewish Summer Camp as a means of "living Judaism" and not just learning about it.
- Hosting numerous families and dignitaries from the Israeli embassy as well as building personal relationships with these families.
- Insisting on renewing traditional prayers and appealing to all ages with the production of "The Hush of Midnight" Selichot service.
- Helping and accompanying murdered Israeli embassy official Joe Alon back to Israel.
- Protesting for the liberation of Russian Jewry and placing placards in front of the synagogue building in the '70s.
- During Yom Kippur services in 1999, speaking for an hour in the Kay Auditorium about "The Jews during this Last Millennium" without any written notes. (He was "only" 82 at the time.)

More recently, in 2007, we were fortunate to celebrate Rabbi Stanley Rabinowitz's 90th birthday with the congregation at the old Adas Israel building. At that modest gathering, he spoke for 45 minutes (without notes) about the congregation's connection to the U.S. presidency and the White House from his arrival in 1960 up to Jimmy Carter's administration. He said, "I will tell you about the other p-residents at my 95th."

That horrible stormy icy winter night in 2008 when Rabbi Rabinowitz insisted on being released from the hospital to attend Rabbi Wohlberg's installation as president of the Rabbinical Assembly, which took place at Adas Israel. Rabbi Rabinowitz addressed the entire RA, again with no notes whatsoever. His standing ovation was unforgettable.

In December 2009, we were thrilled and honored to be at the dedication of the Rabbi Stanley Rabinowitz Confirmation Hall—and most of our family was able to attend. Our father was so pleased.

And we, ourselves, had walked down that very hall for our own Confirmation ceremony one hot Shavuot morning many years ago, back in the 1960s.

We have so many memories of the synagogue—at different times and during different chapters. Whether it was Jimmy Young's apartment or candy store, Stanley Weiner's kippah collection and the never-ending supply of candies in his pockets, the delicious gefilte fish balls on Saturday morning kiddush and the yummy Friday night fudge brownies, exploring the various passageways of the building—even daring to climb up to where the choir sat. Chicken Bucket pizza after Sunday school. Running down the halls before Hebrew School and Rachel Frank or Dr. Ashrei, the educational directors, trying to slow us down. Yiggi Barkan (Bruckenstien) may have even run with us. Jean Title—the Rabbi's secretary who remembered everyone's phone number by heart. Cantor Raphael Edgar who brought a young spirit and change to the congregation. In short—a collection of dedicated and wonderful people who seemed to be part of our extended family.

Judi's bat mitzvah was celebrated here. Sharon, Nat, and Judi were confirmed. Judi was married in the sanctuary. Baby naming of all four grandchildren. And Noa, Judi's youngest, also celebrated her bat mitzvah at Adas Israel. Maiya, Sharon's daughter, has had the honor of speaking at Adas Israel on several occasions. So the connection is still very strong.

When our mother, Anita, died three years ago, the congregation reached out to us and offered much comfort, love, and assistance—minimizing our geographical distance from Washington.

And now, our last chapter, laying our father to rest. Rabbi Stanley Rabinowitz. He never liked putting anyone out, so on his 95th birthday, he simply closed his eyes and made his final exit. Sharon and his beloved service dog, Joyce, were with him for this unexpected event.

The entire "operation" of transporting him to Washington, of waiting until we could gather our dear family from the four corners of the earth and getting everyone to Washington (all three generations), of arranging a "family funeral" for a community leader, and even for opening the synagogue doors to us as a place to greet visitors during shiva—how appropriate—Rabbi Rabinowitz really did belong to the synagogue and was an integral part of Adas Israel—so that the shiva should be at the synagogue.

We are grateful to so many people. But as our father always said, don't start thanking people by name because you are bound to forget someone. WELL, we will take that chance. The bereavement committee was on call constantly to make sure things went smoothly: Lucy Hassell, who coordinated the shomrim who volunteered to be at Rabbi Rabinowitz's side. Each shomer and shomeret who devoted his or her time for this task.

Glenn Easton, Rabbi Wohlberg, Rabbi Steinlauf, Rabbi Miller, and Cantor Saltzman were helpful and comforting. All of the baalei tefila who joined us for the evening minyan. The staff at the synagogue who set up each afternoon and cleaned after the shiva and minyan. If we have forgotten anyone, it was not intentional...

We have been touched by the outpouring of e-mails, letters, and contributions made by friends and members of the congregation. We have been comforted by the lovely articles and obituaries that have been written and have appeared in the Jewish press. We will always feel part of the Adas Israel Family, and it is clear that this wonderful group of families has been an important and integral part of our lives.

Ma Tovu

HONORING OUR LEADERS & VOLUNTEERS

Judith E. Heumann

The purpose of the Ma Tovu column now in its third year—is to honor and acknowledge congregants who work tirelessly behind the scenes to enrich our Adas Israel experience. Judy is one of our many congregants whose contributions to Adas and the community at large are what make our community so special.

Judy Heumann has been a lifelong advocate for civil rights of people with disabilities. Since 2010, she has served as the U.S. State Department special advisor on disability rights, the first person ever to serve in that role. She is the leading expert on the aspect of our foreign policy that works to remove barriers and create a world in which disabled people enjoy dignity and full inclusion.

Judy contracted polio at the age of 18 months and has used a wheelchair most of her life. Growing up, she had to fight repeatedly to be included in the educational system. The local public school refused to allow her to attend, calling her a fire hazard. Judy's mother, a community activist in her own right, challenged the authorities, and Judy was allowed to go to school in the fourth grade.

When Judy was denied her New York teaching license because the board did not believe she could get herself or her students out of the building in case of a fire, she took the case to court. The judge recommended that New York City's Board of Education rethink its decision, and Judy became the first person in a wheelchair to teach in New York City. Since then she has been instrumental in fostering legislation that protects people with disabilities and opens society to their full participation.

Judy is equally committed to disabled people having a fully participatory place in synagogue life. "A lot of work has gone on in the Jewish community over the past generation to make this real," she points out. "We are talking about physical accessibility, but also attitudinal accessibility. Everyone should be made to feel as welcome as possible."

Many of us remember that Judy Heumann was the featured Shabbat speaker during our first Tikkun Olam weekend in 2010, which informed us about the needs and rights of the disabled. This led to the creation this past year of Adas Israel's new Inclusiveness Task Force, dedicated to removing barriers and providing a more inclusive environment for all who want to participate. Judy helped found and is now co-chair of the task force.

Judy is also a member of the Vision of Renewal Design Committee, advising the committee on accessibility issues to ensure that the new Adas Israel building will be a welcoming place for everyone. Judy points out that we often don't think about how important it is to a disabled person to "just be there," to be fully a part of things and not feel different. For example, in the new building, seating will be moveable. Right now there are no places in the sanctuary, or the Kogod Chapel for that matter, where two or three people can sit next to each other in wheelchairs. "Where can I sit next to my husband?" Judy asks.

Judy came to Adas Israel in 1993, the year she moved into our neighborhood when she became assistant secretary for the Office of Special Education and Rehabilitative Services. It was the first time in her life she was able to come to the synagogue in her chair, at will. She grew up in a small German-Jewish congregation of 150–200 families and describes her initial experience of coming to a congregation as big as ours to be overwhelming. Nevertheless, she cherishes the opportunity to carry on the tradition, as her parents did, without having to rely on outside help.

And Judy is moving our inclusiveness agenda forward. Whether it is gender, race, disability, or gender preference, we need to be able to understand and reach out to others in the daily life of our congregation. We need to continue to be more explicit about what we want to do and to help our youth to be more aware of these issues.
We need to ensure that we are able to work with students with learning issues. We need to be ready to meet the needs of our growing number of aging members. And much more . . .

Judy says, "Disability should be seen as a natural part of life rather than as abnormal. Being able to participate actively in religious life, in a learning environment, and having the opportunity to meet new and interesting people is what I want I am interested in. I want people to see me as a Jew with a disability. Both have made me a stronger person. Adas is becoming a leader in removing barriers and creating itself to be welcoming community for all."

When you participate in the Kol Nidre Appeal at Adas Israel, you are doing something else, too. As we build a vibrant, interesting, connected community in the nation's capital, we are building a beacon for other communities that are struggling. Conservative Judaism is regaining its feet in America, and Adas is a model for Conservative Jews, and non-Jews, who look to our community for innovation and leadership. You need to be a part of that and help us lead.

Why should you give to the Kol Nidre Appeal? You should give because participating in this endeavor means you helping to maintain the future of our community in America. You should give because we cannot offer different kinds of services to our diverse congregation if we cannot fund our clergy, and we cannot fund a Bereavement Committee or an adult education class without your dollars. Most important, we simply cannot sustain our Jewish lives if we do not have a center to our Jewish religious learning and practice; and if we do not participate in maintaining that center—both physical and spiritual—then Judaism in America has lost its most important foundation. You have given to the campaign to build our physical house. Every year we need you to help keep Judaism's spiritual center alive and strong through your Kol Nidre giving.

How much should you give to the Kol Nidre Appeal? You should participate at any level that makes you comfortable. And if you can stretch it, you should. If you have never given before, and you can give at least $10 a week or more this year, please do that. If you gave last year, please try and give more this year.

Participating in the Kol Nidre Appeal, and participating in keeping this community vibrant, strong, and relevant, is about

Getting to know Cantor Ari Brown and Family

How did you decide to become a Cantor?

I started attending Shabbat morning services when I began Hebrew School at the age of eight. I was entranced by the beautiful davening of the Cantor—Hazzan Mitchell Martin. He always invited children onto the bima to sing with him, and after leading Mizmor Shir L'yom HaShabbat, I couldn't wait to come back. There was something incredibly special and powerful to me about the experience of singing on the bima. I came home that day and told my mom that I planned to go to services every week, and that I would to go to services every week, and that I would become a Cantor. Although many people laughed ("a female Cantor?!" they'd say incredulously), it was the beginning of a wonderful journey that led me to where I am today.

Did you ever consider another profession? What other road might you have followed?

I never seriously considered another profession. I always felt that I was meant to be a Cantor, and that my musical talents were gifts given to me for a specific purpose.

I have always also loved musical theater. Much of my childhood was spent on stage, and even while in Cantorial school, I made sure to attend auditions and to perform in theatrical venues whenever possible given my shomer Shabbat lifestyle. Though the theater has always had immense appeal to me, I always felt that pursuing theater alone would not be nearly as rewarding or meaningful as becoming a Cantor.

You and Randy are still fairly new parents to beautiful Yonah, who was just four months old when you moved to DC. Has anything about parenthood surprised you?

Becoming a parent is even more wonderful than I could have imagined. I expected to fall in love with my son, but did not realize that I would truly enjoy every minute spent with him.

When you sing to Yonah, what do you sing?

Yonah and I make up many songs together! He is quite the composer. I wrote a song called Yonati for his b'rit mila, and I love singing his own song to him. Yonah knows lots of Yiddish, Hebrew, and English songs for babies as well.

What are your hobbies, assuming you have "free" time to pursue them?

I love attending theater and opera. On an unrelated note, I enjoy crossword puzzles, Scrabble games on Shabbat, and cardio kickboxing. Anything we, as a community, can do to help your transition to making

Anything we, as a community, can do to help your transition to making DC your home?

and I are truly touched by the warmth of the Adas Israel

Randy and I are truly touched by the warmth of the Adas Israel community. The Shabbat meals, offers of help, and friendly introductions have been amazing. All I ask is that you join me and sing along as we embark on a musical journey at Adas Israel! Washington seems to have two current dessert obsessions: cupcakes and frozen yogurt. Which side are you on?

Isn't there any water ice here?

Anne Frank House Update

From Anne Frank House to the entire Adas Israel family, best wishes for a sweet and healthy new year.

AFH has much to be grateful for this year. Thanks in part to your support, we have been able to purchase a new apartment, adding one more to the number of clients we currently serve. As is the case with most of our apartments, the furniture ANNE FRANK HOUSE and furnishings come largely from items donated by members of this congregation—and we thank you for your help.

Watch this space or the Adas website (adasisrael.org) for details about this year's Help the Homeless mini-walk.

If you have questions about AFH, or want to become more involved in our work, please contact Sue Ducat, stansue@verizon.net.

To learn more about AFH, or to make an online contribution, visit our website, www.theannefrankhouse.org/ or send your check to Anne Frank House, Inc., c/o Adas

Israel Congregation, 2850 Quebec Street, NW, Washington, DC 20008.

Ezra Pantry Yom Kippur Food Drive

Collection on Kol Nidre and Yom Kippur Day

"This is the fast that I desire . . . It is to share your bread with the hungry...Then shall your light shine in darkness..." (Isaiah 58: 6a, 7a, 8a)

How do you manage being hungry while you fast Yom Kippur? Are you uncomfortable? Do you accept your discomfort? Do you think about food a lot? Or do you force yourself not to? The haftarah portion for the day, from the book of Isaiah, offers some direction for handling thoughts about food during this day of solemn fasting.

All around us in the city of Washington, thousands of people have little or no access to regular meals. In this season of reflection, as we anticipate our own hunger pangs on Yom Kippur, let us heed the words of Isaiah and mobilize to ease their plight. Please support Ezra Pantry by making a cash donation or by depositing cans or boxes of nutritious, nonperishable food in the collection bins that will be in the synagogue lobbies over the High Holy Days.

Ezra Pantry is an Adas Israel partnership now with SOME (So Others Might Eat), a nonprofit, interfaith organization that for nearly 40 years has been helping District residents who are homeless or at risk of homelessness to transition to self-sufficiency. For further information about SOME, see some.org.

Thank you and g'mar chatimah tovah.
