LOOKING AHEAD

As the situation in NY continues to improve, Governor Cuomo has outlined plans for a re-opening in four phases. In concert with other organizations in the Riverdale Jewish Community Partnership we will be following updated guidance from the city and state and consulting with local medical professionals to develop a comprehensive plan to reopen our shuls in a safe manner.

At this time, we do not know when we will reopen or all the limits and changes we will have to put in place to operate safely. Thank you for your patience and support as we go through this process.

Please continue to maintain current practices regarding social distancing.

BAYIT SOCIAL ACTION COMMITTEE

While we work together to protect ourselves and our Riverdale neighbors, there are things we can do to help the broader New York City community. Here are some suggestions:

Donate to an organization that is providing masks, gloves, and other medical gear to providers in need. Direct Relief is one such organization: there are many others.

Support your local food bank. Poor families have it hard in normal times; now, they are finding themselves with even fewer resources and in greater need than ever. One great local group is [Part Of The Solution \[POTS\]](#).

SEFARIM FUND

Thank you to our donors over the past few months. We apologize for not publishing donors in March and April:

- Ruth Schwartz & Jack Lew in memory of Irving Lew
- Sue Rudnick in memory of Marion Zierler, Bob Cohen and Gloria Eiseman
- Bonnie & Isaac Geld in memory of Donald Pollack

THE BAYIT

The Hebrew Institute of Riverdale – The Bayit – is an open Orthodox synagogue serving the entire Jewish community by warmly embracing all Jews, regardless of affiliation, commitment, orientation or background. It is affectionately known as the "Bayit," which is a home – a place of love and welcome. We are known nationally for bringing spirituality into the synagogue; activism on behalf of the oppressed; youth and teen engagement; learning programs; and work on behalf of the elderly, the homebound, and those with developmental and physical challenges.

If these words resonate with you, if our Bayit has touched your life, then please join our growing membership.

Shopping Volunteers Needed

As we continue to adhere to social distancing, we become aware of more members of our community who need assistance with groceries and essential supplies. We want to discourage "extra" errand running, and are looking to match up shopping buddies with others in their building or neighborhood. When you plan a shopping excursion or an online order, you would check in with your shopping buddy, and see what they need. We need more volunteers. If you can help, please email shiragordon25@gmail.com

COMMUNITYWIDE SOCIAL DISTANCING GUIDELINES LETTER

Dear Riverdale Jewish Community,

As the coronavirus crisis grows, we consider it our most basic duty to share the further guidelines for us all to practice to help save lives - to best ensure the welfare of each of us and each other. This document was prepared by doctors and community representatives based on national guidelines.

Social Distancing: At first, COVID appeared to be limited to certain travelers or individuals. It has now spread randomly in the community. Please keep this in mind as you read the information that follows.

To slow the spread of COVID-19, the CDC has encouraged us all to practice "social distancing." Social distancing is a public health strategy that aims to reduce the encounters healthy people have with those who have a communicable disease like COVID-19. Remember, more than 80% of people with COVID-19 will not have symptoms or the illness will be very mild. Additionally, there are also people who think they have the flu or a cold, but actually have COVID-19. These people will be walking around with COVID-19 and it can be spread directly to you if they cough or sneeze. Additionally, the virus will be on their hands and passed to door knobs, counter tops, etc. By keeping your distance from others, you decrease your chances of being exposed.

Please read and consistently follow the guidelines below. More information and background follows at the end of the document.

May we be blessed with healing and strength,

Rabbi Steven Burton, Congregation Shaarei Shalom

Social Distancing Guide

Below is a quick guide to what you should not do, what you should do with caution (remembering the 6-foot rule and washing or sanitizing your hands frequently) and things you can do with relative safety.

Please note: the following guidelines apply to those who are feeling healthy, have no underlying “at risk” conditions, and are younger than 60 years old, based evidence of those who are at higher risk from COVID-19. If you are sick, have one of the “at risk” conditions, or are 60 years old or older, CDC’s and other guidelines are clear that you should stay at home. This more restrictive approach for these populations, especially people older than 60 who feel healthy and well, can be tremendously burdensome and challenging. But we truly view this as what each of us can do to help save lives.

Do not:

- Gather in groups, including for such life cycle events as weddings and funerals, and home or synagogue minyanim
- Have sleepovers or playdates or hang out with friends (of any age)
- Play sports with non-household family members
- Have meals with friends and neighbors
- Do any non-essential driving with others (except household members not in quarantine)
- Have non-essential visitors or workers in your home
- Spend too much time in stores or places of business for any reason, get in and out as soon as possible
- Go to malls or crowded stores

Do with caution:

- Shop for groceries quickly and not in crowded stores, and shop during off peak hours when the stores are less crowded; opt for delivery by phone or utilize internet orders if possible
- Pick up a prescription at a pharmacy (if you cannot arrange for delivery)
- Go to work only if you must

In each of the above cases, try to keep to the 6-foot rule, wash or sanitize your hands frequently (especially as soon as you get home) and consider changing and washing your clothing upon returning home

Safe to do:

- Go for a walk or a run. Even if you live in an apartment building you can go outside and get some fresh air (keep in mind the 6-foot rule, and wash your hands frequently)
- Ride a bike
- Play in the backyard with household members not on isolation (if you live in a house), or sit outside on your balcony (if you live in an apartment)
- Go for a drive with household members (if not in quarantine)
- Cook a meal or bake together as a family
- Work from home
- Exercise at home
- Meditate
- Connect with others by phone, text, WhatsApp, FaceTime, Zoom

Please note: since this letter was complete, one additional guideline has been added (language taken from the Orthodox Union's synagogue communications):

*Many individuals - including thousands of students - are returning to their communities from areas with active communal transmission - including Israel, New York and New Jersey. These individuals should practice separation for 14 days in the family home, having a separate room for sleeping, a separate bathroom if possible, and otherwise keeping a safe distance. They should not be the ones doing the shopping trips or any ventures out into the community until they have been home for 14 days symptom-free.

We advise strongly against those returning from such areas - as well as all grandchildren - kissing or hugging or having other close contact with elderly grandparents or others considered high risk from COVID-19.

With regard to what specific steps to take within the family home to separate those returning from the other members of the family, parents should consult with their own medical advisors and should adhere to all governmental, public health and local medical guidelines for how to practice separation for returnees from areas of active transmission. Many local synagogues and communities are helping members to be informed and connected to appropriate sources of guidance.

FAQ

1) What does it mean to be in isolation?

In isolation, you should have no contact with anyone unless absolutely necessary. This is reserved for individuals who have tested positive for COVID-19 because they have the greatest likelihood of spreading the disease.

2) What does it mean to be in quarantine?

Quarantine is in order when someone has been exposed to COVID-19. Because people can transmit the disease before they have symptoms, in quarantine you should restrict yourself to your home and have contact only with individuals in your home. You should do your best to stay 6 feet from each other and you should not share utensils, beds, cups, etc. with them.

3) So how does social distancing differ from quarantine?

Quarantine is when you are restricted to your home and can be in contact only with those living there with you. Social distancing allows for minimal movement in the community if you focus on reducing contact with others. One of the main ways of doing this is by avoiding events and crowds, reducing meetings and other gatherings to a few members, working from home with video and phone meetings as necessary, and keeping a safe distance of 6 feet with anyone you are with for longer than 6 minutes.

If you do go out, try to stay 6 feet away from others. If you live in an apartment, try not to touch handrails or other items in the stairwell and avoid crowded elevators. In all cases, use hand sanitizer frequently and wash your hands thoroughly as soon as you return.

Not easy, we know!! But during this uncertain time, when we are all looking for ways to help out and keep our community, friends and loved ones healthy, social distancing is something simple we can all do. It is a selfless act that saves lives.

Feeling Connection and Combating Loneliness on Shabbat and Yom Tov: A Bayit Guide

“Social Distancing”, the commitment we have all made to save lives in this coronavirus pandemic, has had a profound effect on our lives. We miss the human interaction of one-on-one connection and physical touch and of sharing space with our Bayit community and other communities. During the week we combat these feelings by connecting with others via social media and technology.

¶There is a new phenomenon called “Zoom Fatigue”. Think about Shabbat as a real break from the non-stop chatter of technology and a time to unwind and recharge your screen-time batteries.

Shabbat brings with it an opportunity for quiet and reflection. While in many ways that can be welcome, it can also be a particularly lonely time, especially for those of us living alone. We understand the challenge of getting through this 25 hour period with no digital communication. We lovingly offer some ideas to help mitigate those feelings, and we invite you to share your ideas with us as we learn and grow together.

Pre-Shabbat Preparations:

Planning: In general, setting some type of structure or schedule for your Shabbat will help the time pass smoothly and comfortably. Break the night and the day up into sections. Consider even writing that schedule out and leaving it on the fridge or the table.

Reading: Shabbat is a perfect time to read books or articles, ones you've been wanting to read and catch up on or returning to old favorites. Perhaps choose a book to read together with a friend before Shabbat - you can discuss it after Shabbat and plan for that conversation on Shabbat.

Games/Puzzles: Jigsaw puzzles are great to work on, take breaks and come back to.

Here are some suggestions for games that you can play alone:

Friday: this card game was created to play solo!

The Game: This game is for the logically-oriented or mathematically inclined

Music: It is halakhically acceptable in this unique moment to leave music playing (radio or Internet) in one of your rooms. This can feel soothing and connect you to the outside world. We recommend finding a station with music that is calming such as soft jazz or soft classical music. It is about music not radio. It is not about listening to the news.

Eating: Prepare or order yummy food for your Shabbat meals!

Socializing:

If you can go outside, find a “walking buddy” and set times to walk together with social distancing.

Set a time to meet at a park with a friend and find a roomy place to sit or walk.

Get to know your neighbors. In apartment buildings you could leave your doors open and chat with each other from afar. Plan specific times you might meet up.

On Shabbat:

Ritual: When lighting Shabbat candles, take the time to think about setting aside your week and moving into a feeling of Shabbat. What are you grateful for? What are you praying for?.

Maintain the structuring rituals of Shabbat: Setting the table, Kiddush, HaMotzi...

Tefillah: Daven “together” at the times set for the whole community. If you attend shul on Shabbat, close your eyes and visualize being in shul. Look around at the people you usually see. In your mind’s eye, you can wish them Shabbat Shalom and wish them well.

Se’udat Shabbat:

Set the table and create a Shabbat atmosphere.

Eat with intentionality. Savor the food, think about where it came from. There are eating meditations that can bring calm and make extra meaning of our eating experience.

Sing aloud - having sound in the home can help us feel less alone.

Emotional Health: Practice breathing exercises to relax. Think of the people in your life who bring you strength. Send them, in your heart, messages of love and appreciation. You can share those messages directly after Shabbat.

Menuchat Shabbat: Enjoy the luxury of the opportunity to sleep a little later. Go to bed early and sleep a full night. If you feel tired during the day, take an afternoon nap.

Connect with nature: Make sure to sit by the window for natural light. Open your window if weather permits and wave to people you know who are walking by. Go for a walk - or more than one; bonus points for seeing greenery! The trees are starting to bud!

Sometimes when we are alone, we think that we are the only ones who are alone.

You are not alone in being alone.
