

Here is an abridged Matbeah – service – for Shabbat morning prayers. As I explain on our homepage, while most of this abridged service is designed as if one is davening – praying – alone, I have included the recitation of Mourner’s Kaddish for those who are in mourning or observing Yahrzeit. Ideally, all of us will begin praying at 9:30am on Shabbat morning with a kavannah – intentionality – towards one another. In this way, we will form a community even if we are not standing together in the sanctuary.

All of the pages on this outline refer to our Sim Shalom prayer book; however, all of these prayers appear in most traditional prayer books. There is a link to a scanned document with all of the following pages on our homepage.

- p.10 - Birkot HaShachar
- p.16-18 - Rabbinic Texts
- p. 20 - Kaddish D’Rabbanan (for those in mourning or observing Yahrzeit)
- p.32 - Psalm for Shabbat
- p. 52 - Mourner’s Kaddish (for those in mourning or observing Yahrzeit)
- p.54 - Barush She’amar
- p.72 - Hodu
- p. 80-82 - Ashrei
- p. 88 – Halleluyah (Psalm 150)
- p. 92-94 - Shirat Hayam

- p. 340-352 - Shema and its surrounding prayers before and after
- p. 354-364 - Silent Amidah (without Kedushah, insert Atah Kadosh paragraph instead)
-  Skip the Torah Service **
- p. 415 - Prayer for Our Country
- p. 416 - Prayer for the State of Israel
- p. 430-440 - Silent Musaf Amidah (without Kedushah, insert Atah Kadosh paragraph instead)
- p. 510 - Aleinu

After this service, I then encourage you to open up a Chumash or some printed version of the Torah reading for the week and read it in Hebrew or English. I plan to continue to send a sermon or teaching out each Friday via an email blast that will enhance our Shabbat experience. Torah Study and Jewish learning must continue on Shabbat. I hope this outline and all of our online resources help enrich all of our Shabbat experiences during this challenging period of time.

B’Shalom,
Rabbi Nolan Lebovitz
