Behavior Management Policy

JEEP Camp strives to provide a fun, safe, and secure environment for all of our campers. To ensure that our camp is always operating at the highest quality and that campers are being cared for in a positive environment, counselors and staff will follow the behavior management policy below. These rules have been set in place to protect every camper's freedom to learn and have fun as a valued member of our camp community.

Campers are encouraged to practice those social skills that will allow them to peacefully resolve conflicts without the use of harmful or destructive behaviors. When disciplinary situations occur that require intervention, camp staff provides the child(ren) with clear explanations as to why specific behavior is inappropriate.

They then help the child find alternative ways to behave in a situation that fits within the camp guidelines of appropriate behaviors. These guidelines revolve around concerns for the safety of all members in camp. When a camper misbehaves, counselors will manage the issues while still having the bandwidth to run the program they are engaged in with the other campers.

We will aim to deal with all behaviors "in-house" and will call parents if a camper shows violent tendencies or is making the environment unsafe for themselves or others. We believe that you, as a parent/guardian, will appreciate being aware of any problem that your child may experience.

Please include any learning or behavioral challenges we need to be aware of and any strategies you employ that have been successful:
