Rabbi Schrier to Examine Fundamentals of Our Faith In Pre-Shavuot Lecture Series

Inherent in our celebration of the Shalosh Regallim is the need for extensive preparation. We can observe Sukkot only after the acquisition of the daled minim (the lulav and its appurtenances) and the construction of a sukkah.

Pesach necessitates a thorough search for all manner of chametz and the baking of matzah (not to mention the pre-Yom Tov social negotiations, when we had the Beis HaMikdash, as to who would dine with whom for the paschal lamb).

And Shavuot is certainly no exception, though it seems the most challenging, for the preparation is mostly mental and spiritual. Our tradition teaches the preparations for matan Torah- HaShem's pre-Sinai offer of the Torah and our acceptance, physical cleansing and purification, spousal separation, attaining the a priori mindset of Na'aseh V'Nishma. (We will act even before we fully understand.) Once again, the need for spiritual preparation for Shavuot 5783 is not being taken lightly at Bnai Yeshurun. Many, if not most of our regular shiurim will relate to the upcoming chag and Rabbi Schrier will again present a three-part shiur on one of our foundational mitzvot. This year he will explore the second of the Aseret HaDibrot.

Beginning on Monday evening, May 1st and continuing on the following two Mondays, the Rabbi's topics are:

- May 1st – Not Just an Aveirah: Why is Avodah Zarah Really THAT Bad?
- May 8th – Interfaith Relations in a Cosmopolitan Society
- May 15th – Scientific Atheism: The Modern World's Avodah Zarah?

All the lectures will begin at 8:30pm and will be held in our Social Hall. Light refreshments will be served. Those who attended last year's series will remember that it was very well attended and well received. You might consider coming a bit early for choice seating.

For those readers who have urged that we provide more advance notice for shul events, we note that Rabbi Schrier plans, b'ezrat HaShem, to continue the series each year with a subsequent dibra. Mark your calendars accordingly.

The lecture series is sponsored by Jennifer and David Miller, commemorating the eighth yahrzeit of Rochelle Shoretz, the founder of Sharsheret, an organization that provides emotional support, mental health counseling, critical education, and financial subsidies to women suffering from breast cancer. Rochie's unshakable emunah and her commitment to help others continue to inspire so many in our community. Additionally, the May 1st shiur, is co-sponsored by Hedy and Jay Richman, in commemoration of the yahrzeit of Chaim Feigenbaum, Chaim Yissachar, z"l. For additional sponsorship opportunities please contact our office.

Ascending to the Makom Kadosh
Message from Rabbi Schrier

I write this week's bulletin דבר תורה from ירושלים עיר הקדש. It is my first time back in ארץ ישראל in several years, and I have had the privilege of joining Mizrahi's World Orthodox Israel Congress in celebration of Israel's 75th birthday. It has been a remarkable and emotional trip in many ways, and I intend to share some of my experiences with you all in the weeks ahead.

But, for now, let me share a quick thought that struck me as I was on the plane en route to ארץ ישראל.

This week's פרשה describes the עבודת יום הכפורים that would be performed by אהרן הכהן, and subsequent גדולים, each year on our holiest day. Of particular significance is the עבודה that the would perform ולפניו, in the innermost sanctum of the בית המקדש. That innermost sanctum – the קדש – was the most sacred place on earth, and was only entered by the כהן גדול on this most sacred day.

Also noteworthy is one very important component of this עבודת יום הכפורים that is all but absent from the Torah's description: יום כיפור itself. For the first 28 פסוקים of the Torah's description of the עבודה, it makes no mention of יום כיפור whatsoever. After those 28 פסוקים, towards the very end of the Torah's treatment of the topic, it does mention that the procedure is to be repeated each year on the tenth of תשרי. But even then, the date of יום כיפור seems like a passing minor detail, rather than a central component of the described Temple service.

The Vilna Gaon, noting this, offers a novel interpretation of the פרשה. He argues that, in truth, אהרן הכהן himself was allowed to enter the קדש הקדשים whenever he wanted; his access was not restricted to one day a year. He would have to perform the entire service any time he wanted to enter; he could not just march in without the proper sacrifices in place. But, for him, the service was not restricted to one particular calendar date; he could perform that service any day, and it was only in subsequent generations that it was confined to the tenth day of the seventh month.

The Gaon does not tell us how often אהרן הכהן availed himself of the opportunity to enter the קדש הקדשים. Of course, there is no way of knowing. But his approach has been sitting with me since my arrival here in ארץ ישראל.

The truth is, we too live in a generation where we have virtually unfettered access to a מקום קדש. No, it is not the קדש הקדשים; we do not have a rebuilt בית המקדש, and the שכינה does not directly rest in that place as it once did. And, yes, it does require effort, time and, most prohibitively, significant expenditure to get to our מקום קדוש. But it can be done. Previous generations dreamed of the direct access to our holy sites that we have. They could not come to our sacred places once a year or even once in a lifetime. The door was simply shut. They spent their entire lives never witnessing or experiencing the unique sanctity of the כותל, ארץ ישראל, or the very earth of ירושלים, or the city of המערב.

And, as human nature would have it, now that we have the opportunity, we take it for granted. It has become another

פִּיבִּיזֵם הַיּוֹם יִכַּפֵּר עֲלֵיכֶם לַטְהָר
 ...אתכם

For on this day atonement shall be made for you to purify you...

The הלכות תשובה in רמב"ם, based on חז"ל, teaches that we learn from here that עצמו של יום כיפור of the day, even without קרבנות, provides atonement (תשובה, א:א).

But על פי חסידות, the Kotzker Rebbe, Reb Menachem Mendel, understood this פסוק differently. If you simply move the comma over one word, the meaning of the פסוק changes. פִּיבִּיזֵם הַיּוֹם יִכַּפֵּר, on this day atonement will be made, עליכם לטהר אתכם, yet it is upon you, it is your responsibility, to purify yourselves.

יום כיפור is a powerful day, but purity only comes to people who actively try to achieve this lofty level. What an apropos message to hear during ספירת העומר, the time when we actively work on ourselves and prepare ourselves for מתן תורה! The עיקר is our effort within the realm of self-improvement. May we be זוכה to taste the sweetness of hard earned טהרה!
