Subject: 5 weeks for our children: Teach NJS Take Action NOW

Teach NJS is dedicated to securing state funding to ensure that nonpublic schools are safe and fairly funded. The budget is set to pass on June 30, and we need your help. We work in coalition with many nonpublic school communities including Catholic, Jewish, Islamic, and other religious and secular schools throughout New Jersey to advocate for equitable funding for all children. Activists advocate for equitable government funding by educating the New Jersey legislature on why nonpublic schools in New Jersey need to be safer, stronger and sustainable.

FACT: Today, there are approximately 150,000 total nonpublic school students throughout the state of New Jersey. 10% of K-12 students in New Jersey attend a nonpublic school, yet the state spends less than 1% of education funding on nonpublic schools. By comparison, neighboring New York and Pennsylvania both invest well over five times as much as New Jersey in their nonpublic schools.

For the 2019 budget, we are requesting a $282 per student increase of nonpublic school funding.

Our request totals a $546 per student allocation.

$190 for security aid

$150 for nursing aid

$146 for technology aid

$60 for textbook aid

Again, we are asking for $546 per student for all nonpublic schools in the FY 2019 budget. Email Jackie Kelly (KellyJ@ou.org), Teach NJS Director, to find out how you can help!
