To Know and Be Known

In John Ortberg, Jr.’s book, Everybody’s Normal Til You Get To Know Them, he writes, “One can only be loved to the extent that they are known.” A powerful statement of truth, and yet how often do we wander through our world, and in how many places, and feel unnoticed or unknown? How many rooms do we enter and no one turns around? How many times have we spoken when no one answered? In how many instances have we acted and our actions were deemed unimportant?

Even in our highly advanced society, we have missed a very important piece of the puzzle – the deep satisfaction and joy and sense of belonging we get from being known by others (and by others, I mean those people outside of our families and co-workers). Our species evolved in tribal societies, and our brains, scientists tell us, crave the security and love and variety that those 40-50 people provide. After our physiological needs and the need for safety are met, Maslow’s pyramid says that we literally need that sense of love and belonging to survive; we gain confidence through the respect of others and respect for others; we cannot become actualized human beings without our extended community.

There are two types of revelation in Jewish thought: the Mt. Sinai variety, filled with thunder and lightning that we celebrated last month during Shavuot, and Elijah’s still, small voice, the voice from within that is revealed only when quiet combined with time allows truth to bubble up in our consciousness. If love comes through being known, it’s this second kind of revelation that we need more of in order to create a healthier individual and a healthier community. It’s the kind that takes intentional conversation and time spent together, such that knowing and being known emerge as the result of revealing more about ourselves, whether it is during prayer or while pursuing justice or through joining a Temple Connect group. I won’t sugar coat it; it is an investment of time and an overcoming of inertia. But just like going to the gym, the results outweigh the effort and the little endorphin high feels great, too. You’ll experience life more deeply and more sweetly, if you’ll join us on this journey.

The Temple can be a hospital for the spirit. It can be a retreat for the soul. It can be a mirror for the self. It can be a yardstick for life’s journey. The Temple is attended to by the rabbis and executive director and staff, but in order to be transformative in these ways, The Temple needs you. We need you to be known to us, because we all need each other and the gifts we can offer one another. So this is an open invitation—if you have not yet attended an Age and Stage opportunity or you have not yet joined a Temple Connect group, if you feel unknown and you want to be known, please reach out to me. Even if you have not stepped foot in The Temple since your Bar/Bat Mitzvah, now is the time to come home again. It would be an honor to know you and help you find the perfect next Temple step for you to be inspired and help to transform our world.

- New Member Shabbat Service
  Friday, November 18 • 6:00 PM • Dinner to follow
- Blessing Boxes • Sunday, April 2 • 1:00 – 3:00 PM

Save the dates now; more information to follow. If you know anyone who would like to speak with a rabbi on staff, please tell them to call the Director of Engagement Rabbi Lydia Medwin at 404-873-1731 or email lmedwin@the-temple.org.

MACoM

Know anyone getting married? Want to celebrate a special occasion- a number of years being cancer free, a milestone birthday, a birth of a child? Mikvah might be an option for you.

In recent years Mikvah has been used for creative expressions that acknowledge personal milestones and journeys. MACoM (Metro Atlanta Community Mikvah) takes a unique view of the time held traditions we observe year after year. Our interdenominational Mikvah is a one of kind facility in Georgia; all are welcome.

Since our doors opened in November, we’ve had more than 120 immersion guests. Located at 700 A Mount Vernon Road in Atlanta, the look and feel are modern and inviting. Immersion guests, clergy, volunteers, donors and staff each bring something unique to this holy place. MACoM meets the highest aesthetic and ritual standards, and is located in a central setting for Atlanta Jews across the spectrum of observance seeking spirituality and education.

“We honor tradition, but invite innovation,” states Executive Director Barbara LeNoble. “Please visit our newly constructed Mikvah facility and organization dedicated to providing a safe, welcoming and inclusive space for all members of the Jewish Community to find spiritual meaning, healing and renewal.”

If you’re interested in learning more about our community outreach and education programs, or just want to schedule a tour for yourself, students, or other interested groups please contact me: blenoble@atlantamikvah.org.

Infant-Toddler Programs at The Temple

MINI SHABBAT MORNING WITH A SPLASH

Saturday, July 9 & Saturday, August 13 • 9:30 AM
Join us this summer for some fun in the sun and casual Shabbat Services that are kid-friendly! Following services we’ll have a bagel snack and time on the WELC’s amazing and refreshing real SPLASH PAD (or the indoor playgrounds if the weather doesn’t cooperate). Please come dressed casually and (for the kids) in your bathing suit – don’t forget towels and sunscreen!

Infants through preschoolers and their families are invited to join us on the second Saturday of every month at 9:30 AM in the Covenant Chapel for music and a story with our puppets. There is no fee or RSVP required. Questions? Please contact either Rabbi Loren Fishon Lapidus at lapidus@the-temple.org or Rabbi Lydia Medwin at lmedwin@the-temple.org.

Caring at The Temple

Our Caring at The Temple program reaches out to fellow congregants during times of hardship or pastoral need, providing homemade chicken soup and challah to members who are bereaved, ill, recently discharged from the hospital, or are celebrating the arrival of a new child. We have delivered more than 500 soups, and nearly every step of the program – from soup preparation, to delivery (within your zip code), to letting us know about fellow congregants in need – is led by members of our congregation.

Thank you to our Caring at The Temple volunteers who delivered soup this month: Robbie Levin, Hank Kimmel and Debbie Shelton

To be a part of this program and to fulfill the mitzvah of bikkur cholim (visiting the sick) or to let us know who needs soup, please contact Rabbi Lydia Medwin at lmedwin@the-temple.org or 404-873-1731.

Find Your Tribe Event

BIG THINGS HAPPEN IN SMALL GROUPS

Sunday, September 18 • 5:00 – 7:00 PM
Big things really do happen in small groups. After all, we were created to experience life in community with others. That’s why, at The Temple, we encourage you to get into a Temple Connect small group so that you can find your tribe. A Temple Connect group is a group of three or more people who gather each month in a home, workplace, or at The Temple. In a Temple Connect group you’ll meet new people and spend time with old friends. You can do the activities you love or learn from our rabbis from the comfort of home. You can discuss the things that inspire you and transform your life. The best way to experience a small group is to start one of your own. It’s simple! Just grab two friends, find a place to meet, and you’re good to go! Or join us at the Find Your Tribe event to see all of the Temple Connect groups starting this fall and find your own!

Babysitting available upon request. Join us for music, hor d’oeuvres, and other refreshments. Please RSVP by September 12th to Joya Schmidt at jschmidt@the-temple.org or call 404-873-1731 to get started in finding your tribe.

THE WELL AND SUMMER SOUL SHABBAT

Friday, July 8 • 8:00 PM

We will see you on Friday July 8 at The Well and again on Friday August 5 for Summer Soul Shabbat, our annual outdoor summer service featuring an oneg with Fox Brothers Bar-B-Q. Inspired by the power of the well in the Jewish tradition as a place for community and for physical, spiritual, and emotional nourishment, The Well at The Temple aspired to be the same for our young professional community. Join Rabbi David Spinrad, singer/songwriter Sammy Rosenbaum and other musicians for an evening of soulful spirituality and inclusive services that one participant called, “Southern preaching meets great music meets Judaism” To RSVP, email Engagement Associate Summer Jacobs: sjacobs@the-temple.org. For questions or for more information email Rabbi Spinrad: dspinrad@the-temple.org.

STORYWELL:

EVERYONE HAS A STORY. WHAT’S YOURS?

Wednesday, July 20 • 6:30 PM

Edgewood Speakeasy • 327 Edgewood Ave SE, Atlanta, GA 30312

Our second installment of StoryWell is Wednesday, July 20, from 6:30-9 PM. Although it is too late to register to be a storyteller in this cohort, we invite you to join us at the Edgewood Speakeasy (327 Edgewood Ave SE, Atlanta, GA 30312 -- inside Bone Lick) to listen to those of the second StoryWell cohort, whose July stories will revolve around the idea of “Hope.” Cost of the evening is $10 and includes light food. For more information or to RSVP, email Engagement Associate Summer Jacobs: sjacobs@the-temple.org.

Interfaith Programs

DINNER ON THE BELTLINE FOR INTERFAITH COUPLES

Wednesday, July 20

Come meet other interfaith couples during a fun evening strolling and eating along the Beltline. More details to come...to RSVP or ask questions, please contact Rabbi Lapidus at llapidus@the-temple.org or Scott Edlein at youshouldeat@comcast.net.

Tikkun Olam & Social Justice Opportunities

HELP FRED A. TOOMER THRIVE!

As The Temple renews our commitment to quality public education for every child, we invite you to be a part of our community partnership with Fred A. Toomer Elementary School (FATE). Mark your calendars and join Rabbi Spinrad on Tuesday, September 13 at 8:30AM for a special informational Open House led by FATE principal Ashley Adamo. Meet students, teachers, and administration and discover for yourself what makes this Atlanta Public School a special place to learn. Opportunities to help at FATE include mentoring and tutoring students, periodically aiding with preparing bulletin boards and other one-time needs, donating school-based learning materials and new or gently-used children’s clothes to FATE’s clothing closet, and much more. Located in Kirkwood, the address of Fred A. Toomer Elementary School is 65 Rogers Street, NE, Atlanta, GA 30317. To volunteer, contact Tishy Vincent, APS Community in Schools Liaison: tvincent@cisatlanta.org. To RSVP for the Open House or for questions, email Rabbi Spinrad: dspinrad@the-temple.org.

READING RACE: STANDING AS WITNESS AND ALLY

The Temple’s recent “Hearts and Minds” conversations on racism and race revealed a considerable number of people in our congregation who care deeply about racial injustice and who want to work together as Jews to create a more just society. These conversations also demonstrated that, while our intentions are good, to become capable witnesses and competent allies first necessitates further internal learning and reflection. For these reasons, our next logical steps are small group discussions of the following titles on the dates below:

- Monday, August 29, 6-8pm, Between the World and Me by Ta-Nahisi Coates
- Monday, September 26, 6-8pm, America’s Original Sin by Jim Wallis
- Monday, October 24, 6-8pm, The New Jim Crow by Michelle Alexander

Before each discussion, participants will be required to purchase and to have read the book in advance. In good faith, we ask each participant to commit to attending all four sessions of the series. Small group discussions will be led by trained lay facilitators and each evening will open and close with your clergy in the Covenant Chapel.

For more information or questions, please email Rabbi David Spinrad: dspinrad@the-temple.org. To participate in this series, RSVP with Joya Schmidt: jschmidt@the-temple.org.

Engagement Corner

During our Shabbat On the Road Comes Home service on June 3, we were blessed by those leading our Engagement work who ‘testified’ before a packed house about their experiences this past year. If you missed it, we wanted to let you hear their stories, too, and be inspired to join a Temple Connect group or Age and Stage opportunity this fall! Please email Rabbi Lydia Medwin, Director of Engagement (lmedwin@the-temple.org) or Summer Jacobs, Engagement Associate (sjacobs@the-temple.org) with any questions or ideas for future groups and events!

“New connections, new interests, new friends, new horizons. It has been fun to learn a new game but it has been wonderful to connect to these women that would not otherwise be on our small Temple circle. We come from many paths and an age that spans 20 years, crossing different corners of our congregation. Our Mah Jong group has connected a group of women who are friendly, caring and...
Boy, we could tell you some stories:
Stories of being in the forefront of the civil rights movement 50 years ago to advocating for LGBTQ rights today; stories about members whose families have been here for five generations and stories of the 500+ preschool and religious school families who have chosen to make this their home; stories about cutting edge thinking and a dynamic senior rabbi who was ranked in the top 50 rabbis in our nation; stories about what we imagine our community to be in the next 150 years. But what we care most about is your story: who you are, what’s most important to you, how we can help you make this YOUR home.

If you are interested in a deep sense of community, a way to engage in meaningful, relevant Jewish learning, a team with which you can change the world, a quiet sanctuary from the daily grind, or just a place to call your Jewish home, we are here for you.
