Passover In One Word

Those who opt for a shortened Passover seder often begin with a famous joke: All Jewish holidays can be reduced to three brief sentences: They tried to kill us; we won; let’s eat!

Nine words to tell the story of Passover (or most Jewish holidays for that matter) are quite economical, but I can do better! I can reduce the Passover story to a singular word.

The word is adam—person. To truly understand the word adam (human being) we have to look at the foundational text of the Hagaddah that explains why this holy season is central to us as Jews. Chayav adom lirot et atzmo ki’eelehu hu yatza mi’mitzraim—each person is obligated to see herself or himself as if she or he personally went forth from Egypt. That sentence is the essence of Passover. Once a year we gather together at our seder tables not only to remember Passover but to relive it. We are reminded that had God not taken our ancestors out of Egypt we might still be there today. By tasting the bitter herbs and munching on history in the shape of matzah, we experience both slavery and freedom.

But here’s the rub. The Passover story is not only about us. It’s no accident that the key passage in the Haggadah begins with the phrase “each person is obligated.” It doesn’t say “everyone at the table is obligated” nor does it say “every Jew is obligated” to see him or herself as if he or she went forth from Egypt. The Haggadah uses the word adam (every human), and there is no more universal or inclusive word than adam. Each of us is a ben adom—a human being who is literally the child of Adam.

The first human is called adam not because his name is Adam, but because he was the first human being. We have, after all, another Hebrew word for a man (ish). Adam is a generic term that includes all human beings. Adam is of this world and represents every human being. Adam is a frail creature who came forth from the earth and will eventually return to the earth.

When we say “every adam” at our Passover seders, we are saying that the story of the Exodus is not more than our personal and national saga as Jews. If it is the story of every person, then it ought to remind us loudly and clearly that before we can be Jews we must understand what it means to be a human being. The story of the Exodus is the story of cruelty that human beings sometimes show towards one another. It reminds us that we are humans first who have a responsibility to every other human on the planet.

The story of the Exodus, then, is a paradigm. It is not about our unique experience as a nation but about our experiences as human beings. We Jews do not have a monopoly on suffering and oppression. Every page of human history has known blood and tears, and we cannot close our eyes to pain when human suffering exists.

The beauty of Passover is that, by telling our own stories, we become aware of our connection to other people; we are also challenged to develop a deep sense of empathy for all human beings who are subject to suffering and victims of injustice. As we celebrate at our seders this year, let us speak the only word that really matters at this moment: adam. We are all human beings. We cannot be Jews if we are not humans first. We cannot tell our own stories unless we are willing to live our stories in the present. Elie Wiesel teaches that the opposite of love is not hate, it is indifference. This year, let us speak this word and remember that it includes all of us: adam.

Karen and I wish you a zissen Pesach—from our home to yours.

Everyone’s fine motor skills were put to the test! The morning was complete with professional photos for everyone to take home. We are so thankful for all who joined us—Our students are the luckiest and so well-loved!

SAGES—Join us for ...
A tour of Cyclorama: “The Big Picture,” followed by a guided tour of the Swan House and Lunch at The Swan Coach House with Rabbi Lydia Medwin
Wednesday, April 17
Bus departs at 9:30am
Cost: $20/pp (not including lunch)
On February 22, 2019, Atlanta History Center opened Cyclorama: The Big Picture, featuring the fully restored cyclorama painting, The Battle of Atlanta. At the center of this new multi-media experience is a 135-year-old hand-painted work of art that stands 49 feet tall, is longer than a football field, and weighs 10,000 pounds. This painting is one of only two cycloramas in the United States—the other being the Battle of Gettysburg cyclorama—making Atlanta home to one of America’s largest historic treasures. Two levels of exhibitions look at truths and myths of the Civil War, explore the untold stories of the painting, and examine the role movies and visual entertainment has on shaping perspectives of the Civil War.

Following our guided tour, we will have lunch at The Swan Coach house together. Lastly, we’ll enter the iconic blue doors of Atlanta’s Swan House and discover a world of culture, commerce, quality, and comfort. Constructed in 1928 at the end of the Jazz Age, the house missed the Depression by mere months. Pause for enamoring mansion views from the Swan House Lawn, stop by to see the classic cars - both luxurious and industrial, then meet the Inman family and travel back in time. Come join us for a day not to be missed!

Space is limited. Please RSVP to Joya Schmidt at 404-873-1731 or HYPERLINK "mailto:jschmidt@the-temple.org" jschmidt@the-temple.org by April 10. For questions, please contact Summer Jacobs at 404-873-1731 or HYPERLINK "mailto:sjacobs@the-temple.org" sjacobs@the-temple.org

Counting the Omer: Making Each Day Count
A Turbo-charged Temple Connect Experience
Monday, April 22 • 6:30-8:00 pm at The Temple
Wednesday, May 22 • 7:00-8:30 pm at the Home of Rabbi Medwin
Sunday, June 9 • 9:30-11:30 am at The Temple

*Includes daily reflections and weekly phone conference check-ins
The Omer is the time between Passover and Shavuot, known as an auspicious time for turning inward, a spring cleaning for the soul. Jewish tradition has created a kabbalah based framework, inspired by the biblical injunction to count each day during this time, through which we are able to explore the values of love, discipline, beauty, balance, and more. The goal is to move from unconsciously serving our baser selves into a revelation of what it means to serve our higher selves and even The Most High.

Questions? Contact Rabbi Lydia Medwin at lmedwin@the-temple.org or 404-873-1731 if you’d like to join this turbo-charged Temple Connect small group experience.

Celebrating Our Leaders and Volunteers
Friday, April 26 • 5:00 pm; Nosh • 6:00 pm; Worship Service

You have contributed so much and in such extraordinary ways that…there’s a book about it! Get your first glimpse into The Relational Judaism Handbook, co-authored by Rabbi Lydia Medwin, which shares the ways in which you are teaching Jewish around the country about engaging meaningfully in synagogue life. We cannot wait to celebrate you!

Temple Connect

Formed around interests, needs, geography, demographic or profession, group meetings take place in the home, in an office, or anywhere in the city. Groups meet regularly (usually monthly), are led by your fellow Temple members, and consist of anywhere between 3-18 people. Temple Connect is designed to inspire us and transform our lives and the world around us. We want to help you get connected!

Respite Care Atlanta
A collaboration of 7 faith congregations in Buckhead has formed Respite Care Atlanta, Inc., to offer a safe place for adults with mild cognitive impairment to engage with others in stimulating activities. This program provides their dedicated companions with some much needed respite time. This respite care model is staffed exclusively by volunteers. At full launch, the program will operate four days a week from 10:00 am to 5:00 pm. Volunteers are needed to make this endeavor happen! There are many options and time frames to become involved… from greeters, lunch servers, office assistants, companions, piano players, art instructors, cooking demonstrators, flower arrangers, physical fitness instructors, gardening and dance instructors, story tellers (travel, book review, history, etc.). The list goes on and on! If you have a special talent, interest, or knowledge that could help entertain our participants with interesting, fun activities, please contact Lola Battle at batlola@att.net.
Confirmation Class of 2019

This year, we will celebrate on Friday, May 3 at 6:00 pm with the following confirmands and their families. Then join us on Sunday, May 5 at 10:00 am as our confirmands lead us in their confirmation service, followed by a luncheon at 12:00 pm. All of our Temple members are invited to join in this joyous occasion with us.

An Update from Your Temple Green Team

It is April, Spring is in the air and it is Earth Day is April 22. What better time to update our congregation on our greening efforts!

NO MORE STYROFOAM at Temple meetings and events! This past November our Temple staff worked with their supplier to immediately procure eco-friendly/compostable products for hot and cold cups, plates, bowls and cutlery. Thank you to the Temple staff for this change!

WASTE WISE RECYCLING WORKSHOP was held this past October where congregants learned about the many ways to reduce their carbon footprint by 1) diverting hard to recycle materials from the landfill with https://livethrive.org/about/" CHaRM, 2 composting to reduce methane gas in our landfills and create organic soil with "https://compostnow.org/" CompostNow and eliminating use of single use plastics and how to become Buy Wise with "http://www.gipl.org/" GIPL.

TREE PLANTINGS were held in 2 locations in January on MLK Day and Tu B’Shvat, conveniently on the same day this year. Participating with Tu B’Shvat Atlanta and "https://treesatlanta.org/" Trees Atlanta, Temple members helped to plant over 150 trees along Proctor Creek in the neighborhood of Grove Park, on land where houses stood 100 years ago adjacent to the Proctor Creek Greenway Trail.

GREEN TEAM SUMMIT by GIPL, was hosted at The Temple, in January, welcoming over 130 faith-based congregation members, enabling them to contribute to the greening of their own faith communities throughout Georgia.

In honor of our Earth and in stewardship of God’s creation here are 10 things you can do to celebrate Earth Day:

• Get outside and spend time in nature—did you know there is a Temple Connect Hiking Group?
• Eat vegetarian—did you know there is a Temple Connect Vegan group?
• Say NO to Plastic Bags and Plastic Straws
• Get a programmable thermostat
• Opt out of Junk Mail to save trees
• Use a reusable water bottle and coffee mug
• Plant a Tree
• Buy Local Foods
• Buy and use eco-friendly cleaning products
• Fix leaky faucets

We have much more work to do at The Temple, in our homes, and on our way. If you have ideas for eco activities, sustainability education, the greening of our Temple and transforming our world, please join us by contacting our group through ruth.menter@gmail.com.

Chalom L’atid: Dream for Tomorrow

Zaban Paradies Center

Zaban Paradies Center is looking forward to their resident’s graduation and transition into independent living in April. They graduate on April 1st at 7:30 pm and begin to move in the following two weeks. After months of financial and job readiness training, the couples that have been experiencing homelessness will move into apartments. The Center likes to send off residents with Graduations Baskets full of needed supplies for their new homes. Please help us in supporting these couples by donating to the Center. Items needed for the baskets include:

- Toilet paper
- Dish soap
- Dish towels
- Dish rags
- Broom
- Mop
- Dust pan
- Gloves
- Cleaning products (like Fabuloso)
- Paper Towels

Donations for the Graduation Baskets can be delivered directly to ZPC and are needed by April 15th. The center also accepts donations of furniture in good condition. Basic furniture such as sofas, sectionals, coffee tables, dining room sets, or bedside tables are very useful to the residents as they begin to set up their new home. If you have any furniture you wish to donate, please contact Marc Green at marc.green@zabanparadiescenter.org. Other questions or interest in donating to the Graduation Baskets may be directed to Mary Wesley at mary.wesley@zabanparadiescenter.org. As always, the Board of Directors, Staff, and of course our Residents greatly appreciate the continued support of our program as we strive to effect as sustainable change in the homeless community in Atlanta.

Caring at The Temple

Our Caring at The Temple program reaches out to fellow congregants during times of hardship or pastoral need, providing homemade chicken soup and challah to members who are bereaved, ill, recently discharged from the hospital, or are celebrating the arrival of a new child. We have delivered more than 500 soups, and nearly every step of the program—from soup preparation, to delivery (within your zip code), to letting us know about fellow congregants in need—is led by members of our congregation.

Thank you to our Caring at The Temple volunteers who delivered soup this month: Susan Banner, Sandy & Duane Cox, Scott Chalk, Brooke Dickerson, Jennifer Fritz, Libby Gozansky, Eden Kaye, Polly Marchbanks, Debbie Shelton, Jill Spasser, Shayna Steinfeld, Ronnie van Gelder, Eric & Lisa Vayle

To be a part of this program and to fulfill the mitzvah of bikkur cholim (visiting the sick) or to let us know who needs soup, please contact Rabbi Lydia Medwin at lmedwin@the-temple.org or 404-875-1731.
