The Games That We Play

I recently stumbled upon a college textbook from a graduate-level counseling course that I took when I was a student at The George Washington University. The book, written in 1964 by a well-respected psychiatrist, Dr. Eric Berne, is called Games People Play. It’s not a book about board games we play on family game night, rather this is a book about the psychology of human relations. Berne describes one hundred and twenty-five different games that people play in their relationships with other humans, either to attack others or protect themselves. Whether consciously or unconsciously, we use these devices to express hostility, inferiority, frustration, egocentricity, narcissism and so much more. Unlike those fun games we like to play, these games are often neurotic rituals, tensions discharged, and satisfactions gained—always at the expense of others.

I’d like to suggest, after over twenty years in the rabbinate, that I have observed some specific games that we Jews tend to play with each other. The first common Jewish game is called "What have you done for me lately?" This well-known ritual derives from the psychological term narcissism. Why are we, as a people, so demanding? One reason is that many of us have come up the hard way. For some, life has always been a battle. Whatever we have earned has been achieved through the merit system. Many of us have "made it." We have learned the hard way that in life everything has a price. When we pay for something, we own it, and consequently if we pay for a service then we own ownership in the dispenser of that service. If we remit a fee to the doctor, then in consequence we have partial ownership of the doctor. Never mind that the physician has loyally served the family for over twenty years, and once saved a child’s life. How often have we called the doctor when she or he is out of town and reacted with anger? "What have you done for me lately?" Or also the case of an attorney who has helped us with a challenge in the past but is unable to help in the present dilemma. "What have you done for me lately?" There are consequences when we play this game; we discover that those we love and those we count on are not so easily replaced.

The second game that some Jews play: "What's In It For Me?" Undoubtedly this is a form of psychological exploitation. Many Jews are committed and affiliate with Jewish organizations because of a sincere desire to serve, belong to a Temple, participate in a campaign, a charitable cause or humanitarian need because they believe in it and are motivated by the considerations of altruism. Nevertheless, some people participate in the life of the community for personal gain. The game "What’s in it for me?" encourages people to join causes to find new customers or clients or accounts. It is a game in which the payoff is the enhancement of the reputation as the ultimate gain—and the motivation often affects the conduct of the players. Our rabbis teach us that we are to perform mitzvot (commandments) as part of a community not for the purpose of personal reward.

A third game that Jews often play: "After All I have Done For You!" Parents particularly indulge in this popular pastime. This game is predicated upon frustration. A friend spurns our request for a favor or hurts us deeply and we react: "After all I have done for you, I can’t believe it! I will never talk to you again." A parent refuses to advance the money for a badly need loan, an individual serves an organization for several years and is casually replaced—how normal it is to react, "After all I have done for them!" A child suddenly drops out of school, refuses to enter the family business or marries against parental wishes. Inevitably we cry out, "After all I have done for you, I sacrificed for you, deprived myself, saved and skimpted and now this is what you do to me!"

There are countless games that we play in our lives and while the rules may be different for each game, the result is often the same. Those who play are constantly disgruntled and dissatisfied, bitter and hostile. Dr. Berne teaches that it is good for us to subject to analysis these devices, for when we openly discuss the games that we play, we are provided with the opportunity to look at ourselves in order to better understand what we are doing, why we are doing it, and how we are doing it. And most importantly: if we can even laugh a little bit at ourselves, then the games we play are merely games and never become more serious than amusing pastimes. As 2019 unfolds before us, may we play well!

We Welcome Guest Speaker
Cantor Patti Linsky Who Shares Her Journey Of Addiction and Recovery

Friday, February 1 • 6pm
After years of self-medicating with pain killers and alcohol, Cantor Linsky found herself with two choices; to succumb to the addition that was killing her...or to fight like mad to reclaim her life!

Join us as Cantor Linsky shares her story with a brutally honest and open account of her journey.

Mini Shabbat
Saturday, February 9 • 9:30am: Puppets • 10:00am: Bagels and Coffee • 10:30am: Playground
Join us on Saturday, February 9th at 9:30 AM as our puppets help us build our very own Sanctuary. We will all the help we can get!
We begin in Covenant Chapel with our puppets, clergy, and friends for prayers and guitar music. Then, we move to the Motor Lobby for bagels, juice and coffee, followed by playtime on Sonia’s playgroup outside (weather permitting) or WELC indoor playground. Please dress casually. There is no fee or RSVP required. Questions? As always, please contact Rabbi Lydia Medwin (lmedwin@the-temple.org). Songs, stories, bagels, coffee & friends? An unbeatable Shabbat combination. We can’t wait to see you there!

The Temple's Marriage Retreat
March 1-2 at Chateau Elan
Facilitated by Rabbis Loren and Micah Lapidus and Rabbis Lydia and Dan Medwin, this marriage retreat gives an opportunity to relax and reconnect as a couple, and also to meet other couples from The Temple. Every year, participants leave with new friends and ways to participate in the community. This retreat is primarily designed for those in their first 7 years of marriage. Through the generosity of the Leven Family Jewish Identity Institute, there is a significant discount for the retreat and an additional subsidy for interfaith couples. For more information or to register, please go to www.the-temple.org/marriageretreat or contact Rabbi Lapidus.

Respite Care Atlanta
A collaboration of 7 faith congregations in Buckhead has formed Respite Care Atlanta, Inc., to offer a safe place for adults with mild cognitive impairment to engage with others in stimulating activities. This program provides their dedicated caregivers with some much needed respite time. This respite care model is staffed exclusively by volunteers. At full launch, the program will operate four days a week from 10:00 AM to 3:00 PM. All hands on deck!!! The soft opening is near… the end of the month! Volunteers are needed to make this endeavor happen! There are many options and time frames to become involved… from greeters, lunch servers, office assistants, care givers, piano players, art instructors, cooking demonstrators, flower arrangers, physical fitness instructors, gardening and dance instructors, story tellers (travel, book review, history, etc.). The list goes on and on! If you have a special talent, interest, or knowledge that could help entertain our participants with interesting, fun activities, please contact Lola Battle (batlola@att.net) or Dell Rearden (dellrearden@gmail.com). Many thanks!

Annual College Outreach
Sign up your student again!
Do you have a college-age student, a child at college, on a gap year, or pursuing other paths? The Temple would like to reach out, send holiday greetings and gifts, and remind them that they are still part of our Temple family, wherever that may be! Please send us your student’s new mailing address for this year so we can continue to be a part of their life. Contact Jacqueline Morris at jmorris@the-temple.org for questions and more information.

Zaban Paradies Center
THANK YOU!!!! As you know, Zaban Paradies Center sent out a letter in November to all Temple members asking for financial support. WOW did you respond! We are so grateful that so many of you stepped forward and gave to our efforts. We raised over $55,000 from the one mailing. You really helped push our year-end fundraising efforts forward.

As we are in the midst of our Residents season, we still need assistance with lunch and dinners (both providing and serving). Please email volunteer@zabanparadiescenter.org if you are interested. We would also love to show you the magic of ZPC by inviting you on a tour. Please email us with your desired times. We are there most days between 9:00 am and 5:30 pm and then the evening team is onsite.

Please be on the look out for more news from ZPC coming your way very soon. Thank you, again!

Temple Sages
Tellus Science Museum with Rabbi Sam Kaye
Wednesday, February 27 • 9:30am-4:00pm
Cost: $20/pp. (Does not include lunch)
Enjoy a day at the museum with Rabbi Sam Kaye! Tellus Science Museum occupies more than 125,000 square feet (the length of one and a half football fields), and features galleries devoted to minerals, fossils, transportation technology, and hands-on science experiences. We will view a dazzling show in the 120-seat digital Planetarium, stop for lunch in the café, and explore all the museum has to offer. To RSVP, please contact Joya Schmidt at jschmidt@the-temple.org or 404-873-1731.

Mornings with Bob: Israel At 70—Public Perceptions In The Media Age
6 weeks: Wednesdays, March 6–April 10, 2019
10:30am–12:00pm • Cost: $49
Bob served as a reporter, producer, and news executive for CBS News where he worked with Walter Cronkite, Dan Rather, Diane Sawyer and other important figures in broadcast journalism. He was nominated for a national Emmy award for his reporting in Central America. He later served as managing editor of CNN’s special projects documentary unit in Atlanta. As an independent documentary producer he produced a feature length documentary about the life of Ronald Reagan for MGM and Turner Broadcasting and award winning documentary projects for PBS’s News Hour, Entertainment Tonight and National Public Radio.

An examination of how public perceptions in both Israel and the United States over the past seventy years have shaped our understanding of a series of important Israeli historical events in a modern era dominated by feature film entertainment, historical documentary production and television.

RSVP to Joya Schmidt at jschmidt@the-temple.org or 404-873-1731. Questions? Contact Summer Jacobs at sjacobs@the-temple.org or 404-873-1731.

Temple Connect
For a complete listing of Temple Connect groups, visit www.temple-connect.com.
Joining a Temple Connect group is the best way to get to know a small group of people well. Formed around interests, needs, geography, demographic or profession, group meetings take place in the home, in an office, or anywhere in the city. Groups meet regularly (usually monthly), are led by your fellow Temple members, and consist of anywhere between 3-18 people. Temple Connect is designed to inspire us and transform our lives and the world around us. We want to help you get connected!

RSJI: Homelessness
Homelessness is an issue that has long been a focus of The Temple. Founded in 1984, the Zaban Paradies Center for Homeless Couples (originally called the Temple Night Shelter for the Homeless) was the first and only shelter for homeless couples in Atlanta. The RSJI "Homelessness" group works closely with the Zaban Paradies Center, but also spearheads and collaborates on other projects.

The "Homelessness" group along with the "Education" and "Women's Rights" RSJI groups will team up and host the first Period Pack Party to collect feminine hygiene products for girls in Title I schools in Georgia. We will gather at The Temple to pack these items on February 10 at 12:30pm. Please donate items by signing up at: https://www.signupgenius.com/go/10C0C45AFAA28A0F58-period

The Hunger Walk will be held on April 28th at 2pm starting at Home Depot Backyard (behind the Mercedes Benz Stadium) Come join us as we partner with Zaban Paradies Couples Center in marching and raising money for the Atlanta Community Food Bank. To register, visit https://acfb.org/about/our-programs/hunger-walk-run. Go to support the charity of Jewish Federation of Greater Atlanta, then pick The Temple as your team. ZPCC and The Temple will march together as one unified team.

Join the Homelessness RSJI Group! If you are interested in the plight of the homeless members of our community, please contact Scott Edlein at s.edlein@gmail.com to help us achieve our goal of ending homelessness for all of those who wish to achieve independent housing.

Period Pack Party hosted by the Rothschild Social Justice Institute
Sunday, February 10 @ 12:30pm • Schwartz Goldstein A
Did you know: Education is disrupted for many, many girls in our schools who do not have access to feminine hygiene products? Food stamps cannot be used to purchase these necessary items. Feminine hygiene products are the least donated items to homeless shelters. For numerous women the implications of living without these necessary supplies are serious... it's the difference between attending school or not, between peace of mind and humiliation or between infection and health. You, your friends and family have an opportunity to make a REAL difference! The discreet packages we will be assembling at our Period Pack Party will be provided to school girls at no charge.

RSVP at www.the-temple.org/event/homeless-period-project-meeting.html. For families and teens. We will also have games and activities for small children. Lunch and Snacks will be provided.

DONATE items to be assembled into packages at the Period Pack Party. Sign up at: https://www.signupgenius.com/go/10C0C45AFAA28A0F58-period. Drop off your items during religious school hours on January 27 and February 3.

Caring at The Temple
Our Caring at The Temple program reaches out to fellow congregants during times of hardship or pastoral need, providing homemade chicken soup and challah to members who are bereaved, ill, recently discharged from the hospital, or are celebrating the arrival of a new child. We have delivered more than 500 soups, and nearly every step of the program—from soup preparation, to delivery (within your zip code), to letting us know about fellow congregants in need—is led by members of our congregation.

Thank you to our Caring at The Temple volunteers who delivered soup this month: Sandy & Duane Cox, Ariela Ehrens, Jennifer Fritz, Bill Goldstein, Libby Gozansky, Stacy Hyken, Randy Hyman, Ellen Kaplan, Judy Maziar, Sharyn Mulqueen, Shanya Steinfeld, Ronnie van Gelder.

To be a part of this program and to fulfill the mitzvah of bikur cholim (visiting the sick) or to let us know who needs soup, please contact Rabbi Lydia Medwin at lmedwin@the-temple.org or 404-873-1731.

We're Collecting Things!
Don’t know what to do with those empty plastic medicine bottles? We do! MedShare, a Mitzvah Day Agency, collects surplus medical supplies and used equipment from U.S. hospitals and manufacturers and sends them to hospitals and clinics in third world countries. Peel or soak off the label and bring the bottles to The Temple. A collection box will be in the motor lobby.
