From the Purim Shpiel Director’s Chair...

As the temperatures warm and the buds appear on the trees, we start to anticipate the next Jewish holiday: Purim. Here at The Temple, Purim is an entire weekend, where we have our adults-only Purim shpiel and cocktail party on Saturday, March 16, and then a Purim shpiel performed by our religious school students and a family-friendly Purim carnival on Sunday, March 17. While some of you may know some of what goes on behind the scenes for our adults-only Purim shpiel, I want to give you a little insight as to how and why we get to that performance each year.

But first, an admission: Purim is actually one of my least-favorite holidays. As a child, I didn’t really like costumes, acting silly, carnival games, wearing face paint, and eating hamantaschen...and it was not until I was a student rabbi and thus responsible for Purim revelry at a congregation that I realized that as long as it was in my job description, I could get past my dread and discomfort. Now I have the dubious honor of being the director of The Temple’s adult Purim shpiel. This actually started in 2010, when I was pregnant with my first child and watching Glee, the TV show about a high school glee club. Realizing that the Purim story could be easily told through this show, and realizing this was my only opportunity to appear as a pregnant cheerleader, I wrote an original Purim shpiel that was performed by my clergy and staff team in 2011. The reviews were positive, our team had a great time, and like the Maccabees in the Chanukah story, we thought it was worth repeating every year. In 2012, we told the Purim story during Shabbat services in the style of The Voice and The Real Housewives of Shushan County. But then, in 2014, everything changed when Purim landed on a Saturday night...so we got Purim Night Live! An Adults-Only Purim shpiel in the style of Saturday Night Live. Since then, we have maintained the tradition of an adults-only Purim shpiel, followed by a family-friendly Sunday morning experience.

Why adults-only? Well, if you go back to read the story of Esther, you’ll find that the Purim story is actually rated “R.” Themes of palace intrigue, antisemitism, misogyny, sex, and murder are woven together into a story of Jewish survival that does not explicitly mention God. Instead, the ancient rabbis teach, we are supposed to understand that God is hidden (hester) like Esther, the heroine of the story, hides her Jewish identity until she is required to risk her life to save her people. In an age of #metoo and rising antisemitism, we are supposed to understand that God is hidden like Esther, the heroine of the story, hides her Jewish identity until she is required to risk her life to save her people. In an age of #metoo and rising antisemitism, one could question whether we should be celebrating the complicated Purim story at all. The answer is that we celebrate Purim, but we are also mindful of the balance of festivity and education. By having a space that is set apart for adults, we can push the boundaries of telling the story in a way that does not shy away from some of the mature themes and the challenges they present.

This year’s adult shpiel is “Jewflix,” telling the Purim story through parodies of popular shows such as The Marvelous Mrs. Maisel, The Good Place, and others. Just as television and movies can entertain, challenge, educate, and inspire us, it is our hope that “Jewflix” will do the same for the adults with the Purim story. We will that we are commanded to laugh and let loose for one day, but we are responsible every day to combat antisemitism, misogyny, and xenophobia.

Our Purim celebrations acknowledge that everything is topsy-turvy: we wear costumes that hide our true identities, we make merry with food and drink, we act silly and tell the story in humorous ways. For the kids, we focus on Mordechai and Esther who proudly defended their Judaism. For the adults, we can highlight some of the more complicated and mature themes as well. But amidst all of it at any age we are reminded of the resilience of the Jewish people, God’s enduring presence in our world, and our responsibility to act with courage and strength against the forces of hate.

I hope to see you for some of the Purim festivities, and pray that when the costumes are put away, the hamantaschen crumbs are vacuumed, and the graggers silenced...we all continue to work together for a peaceful and more loving world. Chag Purim Sameach!

TAMID Monday Night Elective
Talmud for the Beginner

Mondays, March 4, 11, 18, 25 • 7:00-7:55pm • Instructor: Rabbi Sam Kaye
Join Rabbi Kaye for a deep dive into Massechet Shabbat, a section of the Babylonian Talmud. Learners of all levels and experiences welcome as together we will explore the thought process, stories, and logic of the Amoraim, the Babylonian sages who constructed the Talmud. Discover the Talmud’s origins and expand your familiarity with one of Judaism’s core texts. Materials provided with English translations.

Wild Times at WELC!
The Chattahoochee Nature Center visited WELC! The kids learned about the great outdoors and all the wonderful things found in nature. The highlight was getting to meet a live turtle—Ask the kids if they remember how to tell if a turtle is a boy or a girl! Next month, our 3’s and preK students are going to see Three Little Birds at the Synchronicity Theatre—right next door! Special thanks to our WELC Assistant Director, Sarah Shinsky, for coordinating this, and many other, enrichment activities for our kids!

Beineinu (The Two of Us): The Temple’s Marriage Retreat
March 1-2 at Chateau Elan
Facilitated by Rabbis Loren and Micah Lapidus and Rabbis Lydia and Dan Medwin, this marriage retreat gives an opportunity to relax and reconnect as a couple, and also to meet other couples from The Temple. Every year, participants leave with new friends and ways to participate in the community. This retreat is primarily designed for those in their first 7 years of marriage. Through the generosity of the Leven Family Jewish Identity Institute, there is a significant discount for the retreat and an additional subsidy for interfaith couples. For more information or to register, please go to www.the-temple.org/marriagereffect or contact Rabbi Lapidus.

Trading (Holy) Spaces
Join us for this unique interfaith initiative between The Temple and First Presbyterian Church. Throughout 2019 members of both congregations will have four opportunities to experience firsthand the worship and ministry of their Midtown neighbors. Each gathering will be followed by a time of guided reflection and open Q&A over a shared meal or coffee. All are welcome. Cost: $50/person. For more information and to sign up, email Joya Schmidt at jschmidt@the-temple.org.

Gathering #3 – Ash Wednesday Service
Wednesday, March 6 • 6:30-9:00pm • First Presbyterian Church
Have you ever wondered what Ash Wednesday was all about? Join us for this third session in our series to experience the ways that our neighbors at First Presbyterian Church celebrate this central Christian holiday, and then stay after for coffee and desserts with our FPC friends who will answer all of our questions. It is an interfaith evening you will not want to miss! RSVP to Joya at jschmidt@the-temple.org.

Gathering #4 – Shabbat Torah Study
Saturday, March 23 • 9:00-11:00am • The Temple
Our Trading (Holy) Spaces series concludes back home here at The Temple as we invite our First Presbyterian Church neighbors to experience the thrill and debate of our Torah study class. Just because we read some of the same texts does not mean we read it the same way. Join us to learn a little Torah and share about our different learning styles as we explore this type of holy space together. RSVP to Joya at jschmidt@the-temple.org.

We’re Collecting Things!
Don’t know what to do with those empty plastic medicine bottles? We do! MedShare, a Mitzvah Day Agency, collects surplus medical supplies and used equipment from U.S. hospitals and manufacturers and sends them to hospitals and clinics in third world countries. Peel or soak off the label and bring the bottles to The Temple. A collection box will be in the motor lobby.

Temple Sages – Mornings with Bob
Bob served as a reporter, producer, and news executive for CBS News where he worked with Walter Cronkite, Dan Rather, Diane Sawyer and other important figures in broadcast journalism. He was nominated for a national Emmy award for his reporting in Central America. He later served as managing editor of CNN’s special projects documentary unit in Atlanta. As an independent documentary producer he produced a feature length documentary about the life of Ronald Reagan for MGM and Turner Broadcasting and award winning documentary projects for PBS’s News Hour, Entertainment Tonight and National Public Radio.

The Well
Friday, March 8 @ 8 PM
The Well has grown a lot in the last 6 months, and we're going to grow again this year. If you haven't been recently we hope that on March 8, at 8pm, you'll try it anew. To RSVP or if this is your first time at The Well, please email Summer Jacobs: sjacobs@the-temple.org.

Well Done
At the Well we've been asking you to come with spirit and leave with soul. Now we want you to come hungry too! A renaissance of Jewish cookbooks, restaurants, and food programs has shown us that Jewish cuisine doesn't have to be just matzah ball soup or hummus. Food tells the story of a people, and Well Done is our hope of sharing that story with you. On March 8th join us at Temple at 6:30pm to learn to make a unique Jewish meal. Then wash it down with a custom cocktail. Help us make these incredible dishes and then share them with your friends at The Well’s Shabbat service! To save your spot in the Kitchen, please be in touch with Rabbi Kaye:skaye@the-temple.org.

Mini Shabbat
Saturday, March 9 • 9:30am: Service
10:00am: Bagels and Coffee • 10:30am: Playtime
Join us on Saturday, March 9th at 9:50 AM as our puppet friends celebrate Esther and the story of Purim. Feel free to try out your Purim costumes early during this awesome Shabbat! We begin in Covenant Chapel with our puppets, clergy, and friends for prayers and guitar music. Then, we move to the Motor Lobby for bagels, juice and coffee, followed by playtime on Sonia’s Playground outside (weather permitting) or WELC indoor playground. Please dress casually. There is no fee or RSVP required. Questions? As always, please contact Rabbi Lydia Medwin (lmedwin@the-temple.org).

Blood Drive at The Temple
Sunday, March 10 • 10:00am-12:00pm • Schwartz-Goldstein B
Saving a life is the greatest mitzvah in Judaism. One very direct way to do so is by donating your blood. If you are able, please consider a blood donation on Sunday morning, March 18th during religious school. You'll get a cookie and the satisfaction of knowing that YOU saved a life.

The Temple's New Member Kahal goes to Atlanta Community Food Bank
Sunday, March 17 • 1:00-4:00 pm
Product Rescue Center:
732 Joseph E. Lowery Blvd NW, Atlanta, GA 30318
Calling all new Temple members! Join the rest of our Temple family for this day of action as we help out the hungry in our very own community. Hunger and food insecurity plagues millions of people around the US and Atlanta is not immune. The Atlanta Community Food Bank is here to help them, and they need OUR HELP! Come be a part of The Temple’s historic legacy of service and compassion. Children welcome ages 8 and up. Wear comfortable clothes and get ready to restock the warehouse and meet some new friends along the way!

Muslim-Jewish Relations

The mission of the Muslim-Jewish Relations Group of the Rothschild Social Justice Institute (RSJI) belies the complicated nature of our eponymous title. What distinguishes this small group from the other small groups of the RSJI is that it is not looking to address a defined issue or resolve a particular social injustice. Our goal is in building bridges between The Temple and our neighboring Muslim communities. And this begins with education in all of its forms.

We have twice sponsored tables at the Islamic Speakers Bureau Change Makers Awards Gala; one of these honoring Arthur Blank and both having prayers led by our clergy. We have attended iftar (the Ramadan break-fast) at the home of Soumaya and Mohamed Khalifa. We have co-hosted with the Islamic Speakers Bureau and the Roswell Community Masjid a four-session course entitled "Jews and Muslims: Intimate Strangers," and we’ve offered a crash-course, Islam 101. Each of these events was well-attended and offered the members or our communities an opportunity to meet, discuss, learn, and get to know one another.

These are the key driving forces at this time: establish and maintain meaningful relationships with our Muslim neighbors and engage in mutual educational opportunities. This familiarity leads to amity, and this amity leads to mutual respect and commitment. From this place of commonality, we have stood with our Muslim neighbors when the Newton County Commission barred Al Maad Al Islami from building a new mosque. Our Muslim neighbors stood with us in the wake of the Tree of Life massacre, offering to provide additional security during our vigil and Shabbat services.

Our next major event is a Muslim-Jewish Seder, which will be held at The Temple on April 15th. Be sure to mark this on your calendars and join us as we introduce our Muslim neighbors to our own journey from slavery and explore, as we do every year, how this is the impetus of our march for social justice in all of its forms. What better way to celebrate our exodus than building bridges of friendship and understanding! RSVP: www.the-temple.org/event/muslim-jewish-seder.html

Women’s Health in Georgia Teach-In

March 19, 2019 • 6:30-8:30pm • Schwartz Goldstein Hall C

Did you know that women in our state are more likely to die in childbirth than they are in the country of Uzbekistan? Did you know that access to almost all family-planning options in Georgia is vanishing? The Rothschild Social Justice Institute Women’s Rights Group invites you to a Women’s Health in Georgia Teach-In, where we will take lessons from past Women’s movements and apply them to taking action in the present. Round table discussion and Q&A panel will center on Women’s health, with a special focus on maternal mortality and access to family planning. You will learn about the issues from fellow Temple members and from an esteemed panel of guests, and together we will learn how to turn knowledge into action to support Women’s health and lives in Georgia!

Zaban Paradies Center

Zaban Paradies Center (ZPC) is proud to introduce our new Behavior Health Specialist, Dr. Michael A. Jones who joined ZPC in September 2018. He volunteered at ZPC as a life skills training facilitator for the 2017-2018 class of residents. In addition to being a Certified Life Coach, Michael holds a Doctorate in Ministry with a concentration in Church Administration. He is currently pursuing a second Doctorate in Biblical Leadership. Michael has served the Metro-Atlanta community in many areas, such as Georgia Parole Board as a trainer for re-entry to ex-offenders. He has also partnered with Goodwill hosting Job Fairs. Having served both Gwinnett and Fulton counties as a Reserve Deputy Sheriff, he became a chaplain with the Atlanta Police Dept. In addition to being the pastor and founder of Living Life Worship Center, Dr. Jones has specialized in working with those that are broken coaching them to recovery. His recognitions have included the Congressional Black Caucus. ZPC serves a unique need in the Metro Atlanta area and seek to improve the mental, physical, behavioral, and financial well-being of Homeless Couples. Our population is vulnerable and at risk because they are homeless. The residents of ZPC are often homeless due to several factors, including mental, physical, and/or behavioral health issues. The Mental Health Initiative (MHI) was started in 2014 after an analysis of our records of ZPC’s residents from 2009-2013 showed approximately 40%-50% of these individuals suffer from multiple mental health problems. The primary objective of the MHI is to help residents identified with Mental and Behavioral Health conditions to manage these conditions so they can acquire the skills to secure and maintain employment and permanent housing and achieve self-sufficiency.

Dr. Jones currently serves as the Intake Coordinator for ZPC and provides mental health screening for each of the residents. Then, in close coordination with Dr. Karyn Woods, the Director of Operations, and Marc Green, the Director of Programs, Dr. Jones provides Case Management and Individualized Service Plans to each of our residents. Together our highly trained staff provide individualized life skills education and psycho-educational groups that increase residents’ ability to manage finances, communication, health and wellness, relationships, behavioral health, and stress. Groups led by coaches recruited from among ZPC’s social service partner agencies, volunteers, and professional facilitators are provided four evenings per week. ZPC’s staff effectively collaborate to make referrals to outside agencies and coordinate procedures for managing individuals from intake through discharge from the program.

The purpose of the Mental Health Initiative is to improve the percentage of residents who enroll in ZPC who gain employment and permanent housing during their enrollment. It is part of our mission to help Couples experiencing homelessness in the Metro Atlanta area become stable and independent.

The Staff and Board of Directors for Zaban Paradies Center really appreciate the continued financial support of our program and the volunteers who provide lunch and dinner to our residents. Also, we are very grateful for the generous donations of coats and clothing that have been very helpful to our residents during this season of cold weather. Please make sure you mark your calendars to join us for our 2018-2019 Graduation Ceremony scheduled for April 1st at 7:30 pm in the Schwartz Goldstein Hall.
Caring at The Temple
Our Caring at The Temple program reaches out to fellow congregants during times of hardship or pastoral need, providing homemade chicken soup and challah to members who are bereaved, ill, recently discharged from the hospital, or celebrating the arrival of a new child. We have delivered more than 500 soups, and nearly every step of the program—from soup preparation, to delivery (within your zip code), to letting us know about fellow congregants in need—is led by members of our congregation.

Thank you to our Caring at The Temple volunteers who delivered soup this month: Susan Amsler, Nancy Apatov, Scott Chalk, Sandy & Duane Cox, Lara Geller Church, Brooke Dickerson, Bill Goldstein, Libby Gozansky, Judy Maziar, Rebecca Siegel, Jill Spasser, and Debbie Wexler.

To be a part of this program and to fulfill the mitzvah of bikkur cholim (visiting the sick) or to let us know who needs soup, please contact Rabbi Lydia Medwin at lmedwin@the-temple.org or 404-873-1731.

Temple Connect
For a complete listing of Temple Connect groups, visit www.temple-connect.com.

Joining a Temple Connect group is the best way to get to know a small group of people well. Formed around interests, needs, geography, demographic or profession, group meetings take place in the home, in an office, or anywhere in the city. Groups meet regularly (usually monthly), are led by your fellow Temple members, and consist of anywhere between 3-18 people. Temple Connect is designed to inspire us and transform our lives and the world around us. We want to help you get connected!

Respite Care Atlanta
A collaboration of 7 faith congregations in Buckhead has formed Respite Care Atlanta, Inc., to offer a safe place for adults with mild cognitive impairment to engage with others in stimulating activities. This program provides their dedicated caregivers with some much needed respite time. This respite care model is staffed exclusively by volunteers. At full launch, the program will operate four days a week from 10:00am to 3:00pm. All hands on deck!!!

The soft opening is near... the end of the month! Volunteers are needed to make this endeavor happen! There are many options and time frames to become involved... from greeters, lunch servers, office assistants, care givers, piano players, art instructors, cooking demonstrators, flower arrangers, physical fitness instructors, gardening and dance instructors, story tellers (travel, book review, history, etc.). The list goes on and on! If you have a special talent, interest, or knowledge that could help entertain our participants with interesting, fun activities, please contact Lola Battle (batlola@att.net) or Dell Rearden (dellrearden@gmail.com). Many thanks!

Our arms are open to nurture your infant with warmth and love at the WELC. Providing a safe and secure environment is always The Temple’s top priority.

Play-based curriculum:
- Daily Activities
- Sign Language
- Infant Yoga
- Story Time
- and more!

Parents will receive daily reports and each infant will have an individualized daily schedule and his/her own crib.

We have a 3:1 ratio of highly trained, loving, and experienced teachers.

For more information:
Please contact Annetta Kornblum or Sarah Shinsky at 404-872-8668.
