

The Value of a Jewish Education

By Sarah Shinsky, Director, Weinberg Early Learning Center

During my tenure at the Weinberg Early Learning Center I've had the privilege of taking part in the formative education of your children. From directly teaching your little ones the basics of reading, writing and math to the creation of engaging activities that showcase our wonderful Jewish heritage, my part as a WELC educator has been tremendously fulfilling. Now, as I step into my new role as the Director of the Weinberg Early Learning Center, I am excited to support our amazing staff as they endeavor to make learning fun and valuable.

Jewish Values

Jewish identity brings with it more than religious decree and tradition. Being a Jew means we are to live a purposeful life where human dignity, social justice and community are as important as preparing a Passover Sedar or lighting candles on Shabbat. At WELC, we instill these values in our children while fostering self-confidence and empathy. From tikkun olam (repairing the world) to yad v'yad (working hand in hand), at WELC we celebrate our differences while building a communal camaraderie. Every child receives special attention. Every child is cherished and celebrated. Every child learns not only to be a good student, but to be a good person.

Engaging Lessons

As we embark on the 2019-2020 school year at the Weinberg Early Learning Center, I am lucky to be able to support our teachers as they create interactive lessons and projects that will not only teach, but captivate the young minds of your children. We utilize theatrics and art to teach the stories of our ancestors and incorporate Jewish morals and values within our play based learning. WELC's Jewish education is weaved into the fabric of our solid academic curriculum. All our children graduate ready for Kindergarten and the community.

If you or someone you know are ready to place your child in a nurturing environment where they will thrive academically as well as socially and emotionally, The Weinberg Early Learning Center is the place for you!

We have limited space left at the Weinberg Early Learning Center. Don't wait to enroll your babies and pre-K children at WELC. Call or email Sarah Shinsky at 404-872-8668 or sshinsky@the-temple.org.
