If You Build It, They Will Come

By Susan Michels

I first stepped foot in Or Ami's preschool in September of 1989 when my daughter Jamie entered the class for two-year olds. Back then it was simply called Or Ami Nursery School and was located in a now unused section of the synagogue. There were maybe 35 children. Drop off was at 9 a.m. and pick up was no later than 3 p.m. Today I am astounded each time I walk through the halls of our preschool, now state licensed and called Or Ami Early Childhood Education Center (ECEC).

Seven years ago, when Michelle Ruder took over as our preschool director, there were 45 students and she had a staff of 12-15 teachers. Today, we currently have 110 children, with waiting lists in several age categories, and 10 classrooms. (A third class for two-year olds is slated to open for the 2019-20 school year.) Michelle oversees a staff of 36 and usually starts her day before the first children are dropped off at 7 a.m. and is very often the last to leave after the final pickup at 6 p.m. Under her direction, we obtained licensing by the PA Department of Human Services and can accept children as young as 3 months old. Washers and dryers were purchased, a nap room established and practically every square inch of the school wing of our synagogue utilized.

In addition to music, sports and Hebrew, to name a few subjects that are part of the normal curriculum, the extra-curricular activities offered make it understandable why the children in the ECEC love coming. Students can sign up for yoga, dance, soccer, karate, gymnastics and snapology (Lego and Kenetics building). When registration opens for extracurricular activities at the beginning of each school session, the line to sign-up starts to form at 7 a.m. There is so much going on during an average school day that Michelle carries a walkie talkie so she can be accessible to every staff member.

As the synagogue treasurer, I periodically meet with Michelle to review the finances of the ECEC. From those meetings I have come to realize that our school is like a gigantic machine with more moving parts than anyone could possibly imagine. In addition to our two, three and four-year-old classrooms, we have Baby Steps (3 to 12 months), Bright Beginnings (12 to 18 months) and Little Learners (18 to 24 months). We have children that come three days a week, four days a week and five days a week. Some only come for half a day while others are there for the full day and some are somewhere in between. When the traditional school year ends in June, we roll right into camp where each week has a specific theme. Activities and programs are all designed around that theme. Staffing is quite a challenge since the state licensing dictates how many children per square foot can be in a classroom and how many teachers per class we are required to have. Michelle's meticulous records and organizational skills makes it seem like running this 'machine' is easy but, trust me, it is a monumental task and a challenge every single day.

I had the opportunity to chat with Michelle to get more insight into the ECEC and ask her some questions that I wondered about.

What is the biggest challenge you face as the director of our ECEC?

"As large as the program is growing, trying to make sure we retain the feeling of community and family that we are known for."

What brings the biggest smile to your face?

"Anytime with the kids."

What do you think differentiates our ECEC from other neighboring preschools?

"The quality of our programming and staff and that our children get to experience learning through play in our multi-faceted curriculum. Our atmosphere is warm and inviting, our physical property is extensive and offers opportunities for exploration and investigation. Our staff is kind, caring and creative and challenge our children to reach their full potential."

If you had one wish for the school what would it be?

"To continue to grow and to meet the needs of our community."

What do you like to do in your very limited amount of free time?

"Spend time with my family, go to the gym and read."

Or Ami is so incredibly fortunate to have Michelle at the helm of our ECEC. I cannot think of anyone more deserving to be recognized for their dedication and commitment to Or Ami. I hope our entire community will join together at our Spring Fundraiser on June 1 to honor Michelle.

John Marks, MD COLORECTAL SURGEON

Whether you need a screening, initial consult or second opinion, the team at Lankenau Medical Center, part of Main Line Health, is known for its expertise in colorectal care. A heritage built by Dr. John Marks—one of the world's foremost colorectal surgeons whose experience includes more than 3,000 minimally invasive colorectal procedures—and his father before him, whose techniques remain the gold standard in colorectal surgery. What's more, with his partner Dr. Henry Schoonyoung, sphincter preservation here at Lankenau is achieved 93 percent of the time vs. the national average of 40 to 60 percent. Which means most of our patients avoid a permanent colostomy bag.

So whatever your colorectal concerns, let's face them together. Here at Lankenau Medical Center. Visit mainlinehealth.org/markscolorrectal or call 610.645.9093
