FASCINATING FACTS OF JEWISH HISTORY

This Sunday, June 3rd is the 20th day of the Hebrew month of Sivan.

The 20th of Sivan was historically observed as a Fast day. It was first instituted in 1171 after the first European blood libel which took place in Blois, France and resulted in the burning alive of the town's 30+ Jewish residents. Among them were: Isaac ben Eleazar (the "perpetrator"), Rabbi Yechiel the son of Rabbi David HaKohen, Rabbi Yekuthiel the son of Rabbi Judah HaKohen and Rabbi Judah the son of Aaron. All have Yahrzeits on the 20th of Sivan.

At that time Rabbi Yaakov Tam declared the 20th of Sivan to be a day of mourning and fasting. With time, this observance was forgotten. However, in the year 1648, a terrible national calamity, known in Jewish history as "Gzeros TaCh vTaT" (the Massacres of the years 5408-5409) struck the Jewish communities of Eastern Europe. The Cossacks, under the leadership of Bogdan Chmelnicki, y'mach shemo (may his name be wiped out), revolted against Poland.

When Chmielnicki was plotting his revolt, a Jew turned him in to the Polish authorities. After a period of incarceration, he managed to escape but his rabid hatred of the Jews was confirmed. His rebellion was against the Polish government, but punishing the Jews was his passion. The first attack on the Jews was on the 20th Sivan, when 6,000 Jews were slaughtered in the city of Nemirov. As the rebellion continued, he put to the sword and flame countless Jewish communities. Untold thousands of Jews (historians estimate 300,000 - 500,000, nearly 50% of the Jewish population of eastern Europe) were butchered by the Cossacks during their bloody march through the Ukraine, Volhynia, Podolia, Poland proper and Lithuania. The great city of Vilna also fell into the hands of the fanatical Cossacks. They ravaged the city and carried out a mass slaughter of the Jewish inhabitants.

In 1650 Rabbi Shabsi Cohen declared 20 Sivan as a fast for his community, and in 1652, the Council of the Four Lands which was the governing body of Jewish Eastern Europe mandated 20 Sivan as a fast for all Jews in Eastern Europe. The Shaarei Teshuvah 580:9 quotes the Shach as citing an additional reason why the Vaad Arba Ha'aratzos established the day of commemoration for the gezeiros Tach veTat on the 20th of Sivan: this date never falls on Shabbos and therefore would be observed every year. It is unclear when the custom to observe this fast ended, but the Mishnah Berurah (580:16) quotes it as being a common practice in Poland in his day early in the 20th century.

At Shalosh Seudos this week, Rabbi Friedman will discuss the halachic basis for the observance of commemorative fasts.
