Message from the Rabbi

EMILY POSTSTEIN IT IS!

I do not know if there is an Emily Poststein of Jewish etiquette but if there isn't, there should be. We all know there are rituals and we all know there are laws but being aware of customs, conventions and protocol is also important. There always new things to learn. Here are some etiquette tips that you may not know....

1. When clearing the table for dessert at any holiday celebration, one should not remove the symbols of the holiday. The kiddush cups and challah remain on the Shabbat table until the end of the meal. Likewise, the seder plate remains on the table for the entire seder.
2. If you are sitting shivah, do not close your front door, rather leave it a bit ajar. It is wrong for a visitor to knock or ring the doorbell because the mourner is not a host who is supposed to greet the visitor.
3. Tip: If invited to a kosher home for dinner the easiest and safest gift is not food. Flowers are appropriate; kosher wine is appropriate. If you are bringing food don't bring it in a dish from home if you yourself do not keep kosher.
4. If you bring flowers to a home on the Sabbath, upon entering it is best not to say: "These are for you." Rather say, "These flowers are for Shabbat," for everyone participates in making Shabbat beautiful.
5. In conversation with another Jew on the Sabbath don't ask him or her to do an errand even if it is the smallest request and even if the errand is to be done after Shabbat. Rather, wait until Shabbat is over to call the Jew. One of the Ten Commandments is to do no form of work. Making another Jew think of work is also not appropriate.
6. Don't schedule a party or a social function on Shabbat or on a Jewish holiday because you never know who is saying Kaddish or who has a yahrzeit or who needs to come to pray on behalf of a loved one who is ill or for their own well-being.
7. On Yom Kippur the more appropriate greeting is not "L'shanah Tovah" (lit. "a good year") but "Tzom Kal" which means "[Have] an easy fast."
8. If asked to say the Motzi or recite Torah blessings and you are capable of doing so do not refuse for you have received a great honor. After you have recited the blessing, thank the person who extended the honor to you.
9. If you are not an official mourner (the spouse, son, daughter, brother, sister, husband, wife) of the deceased, you should not take food from the house of mourning, even if it is offered to you by a mourner. (Mourners should never offer food – rather extra food should be donated to the needy.)
10. If bringing a dish to share for a Temple dinner or luncheon on Shabbat or on a Festival and where the serving dish is to be set out on the table, a nice serving dish is better than a throwaway dish for the beauty of our holy festivals and holidays is to be augmented. This is the value of "hiddur mitzvah," i.e. the adornment of the mitzvah.

There it is! A few customs to learn!

L'shalom,
Rabbi David Katz

Message from the Cantorial Soloist

This month on Erev Shabbat, January 22nd, we will celebrate Shabbat Shira – the Sabbath of Song. The Torah portion for that week is B'Shalach, Exodus 13:17-17:16. In this portion, Pharaoh sends the Israelites out of Egypt but, in the last minute, changes his mind and sends his army to destroy the Israelites. Faced with certain death, the Israelites are pinned between an impassable body of water and Pharaoh's rapidly approaching forces. God saves his people by splitting the waters, allowing the Israelites to escape. Then, as the Egyptian army advances in pursuit, God allows the waters to fall on the Egyptians – drowning them in the process. Upon reaching the other side of the waters, recognizing that they have been liberated, the Israelites break into song (excerpts of which we still sing today – the Mi Chamocho) praising God for the miracle of their deliverance from slavery to freedom.

In synagogues around the world, Shabbat B'Shalach is celebrated by the creation of musically charged services that highlight this triumphant moment in our history. I invite you to join us on Shabbat B'Shalach as we celebrate the liberation of the Israelites from Egypt so many years ago with a special service in song. We will join the voices of our ancestors as we rejoice in the miracle of freedom.

So, come – clap your hands, raise your voices, join in the sounds of the drums, guitar, bass, and voice!!!!

L'Shalom,

Mike Zuspan
Cantorial Soloist

If you or someone you know in the Dor Tamid family is in need or may be ill, injured, or lost a family member, please contact the office at 770-623-8860. Your information will be given to the Rabbi, and if appropriate, to the Caring Committee.

We are here for you – meals, errands, companionship, and more.
Please call. We can only help if we know you need it!

Education Director Molly Peled

Shalom everyone,

I am very excited to be part of the CDT family. Everyone has been so warm and welcoming to me. It's a true honor to be working with all of you.

My husband and my 3 kids moved from Israel almost 5 years ago to Dunwoody GA. At the beginning of this school year we moved to Alpharetta, which we have quickly learned to love.

I have a lot of experience in the field of Education. I have been working with children from all ages most of my life. In Israel, besides being a middle school teacher, I was directing the Education department at a small but beautiful Museum in Tel-Aviv, I created a private afternoon English Center for kids of all ages and also developed and executed an Art and English enrichment course for early childhood education programs.

The future of the Jewish people, rest on our children's education. A good educational foundation, and enthusiasm for our heritage, is what I hope to be able to transfer to them.

With much appreciation,

Molly Peled

Attention 6th Grade Girls!
coming
January 2016
a great new program designed with you in mind!

If you are interested in Rosh Hodesh, please email religiouschool@dortamid.com.

Rosh Hodesh: It's a Girl Thing! is a program that uses Jewish teaching and engaging activities to help adolescent girls in 6th grade grapple with the life issues they care about most, including body image, popularity, friendship, romantic relationships, and decision-making. In the process, the girls are inspired to form personal Jewish identities. <http://movingtraditions.org>

Emily Miller
December 5, 2015

Emily is in the 7th grade at Autrey Mill Middle School, where she is an excellent student and a true leader. Her fellow students and teachers love her spirit and dedication. She plays lacrosse for the Johns Creek Junior Gladiators and is an excellent player. She is a true leader on and off the field.

Her teammates love being around her! When she is not on the lacrosse field, she can be found shopping at the mall, taking pictures, playing with LJ, hanging with her friends and family, and snapchatting. Emily loves to travel and always gets excited to learn about and explore new places. The tallit she is wearing was actually bought in Jerusalem this summer. Emily loves all kinds of music, her many friends and cousins, and Alabama Crimson Tide football games.

For her Bat Mitzvah project, she is working with Soles 4 Souls, collecting used shoes for worldwide distribution to those less fortunate. She plans to continue with this after her Bat Mitzvah.

Grace Kirschner
December 12, 2015

Gracie is a 7th grade student at the Davis Academy. She spends most of her time singing, dancing and talking. She also loves reading, spending time with her friends, and playing with her canine brothers, Winston and Howie. In her "spare" time, she likes to volunteer at the Georgia SPCA.

For her mitzvah project, Gracie has been spending time at The William Breman Jewish Home. Gracie uses her gift of gab to chat with the residents, and she listens to fascinating stories about their lives. Gracie loves seeing the smiles on their faces when she's there to visit. Gracie has made some very special friends at The Breman Jewish Home and plans to continue her visits long after becoming a Bat Mitzvah.

Happy 2016 !! It's a secular new year and a great time to renew our commitment to Tikkun Olam – Making the world a little bit better place! Thank you so very much to those people who worked along with our Social Action Committee and CDT to participate in our functions in 2015! A specific shout out goes to Lisa Winton, Leslie Radov, Steve Brumer, Leslie Fox, Shari Ursaner, Robyn Barocas, Kathleen Sable and Ruthie Siegal, and their families and friends, who so graciously and generously gave of themselves in the past month to help with the garden and the Zaban Couples Shelter. Thank you to those members of CDT who donated prescription bottles for Malawi and toys for the Children's Hospital of Atlanta. Those drives are over for this year. Over 4 million bottles were collected for medicine in Malawi and they are complete.

Please save the date for March 13th for the Atlanta Community Food Bank's HUNGER WALK. You will be receiving more information about this and other social action events and projects via E-blast and other CDT communications! Please remember that Food Collection is an ongoing project at CDT!! Shalom!

Tu B'Shevat

which means the 15th of Shevat, is first mentioned in the Mishnah, the code of Jewish law that dates back to around 200 C.E. There, in Rosh Hashanah 1:1, the text speaks of four new years, all of which are connected to an ancient cycle of tithes. Each year, the Israelites were expected to bring one-tenth of their fruits to the Temple in Jerusalem, where they were offered to God and also helped sustain the priestly class and the poor. Since fruit from one year could not be used to tithe for another, the Rabbis had to determine when a crop year would begin and end. They chose the month of Shvat as the cut-off date, for this is when, in Israel, the sap begins to run and the trees start to awaken from their winter slumber, before beginning to bear fruit.

Tu B'Shevat falls at the beginning of spring in Israel. It is for this reason that almonds and other fruits and nuts native to the Land of Israel - barley, dates, figs, grapes, pomegranates, olives, and wheat - are commonly eaten during the Tu B'Shevat seder.

In modern times, Tu B'Shevat was nourished by the rise of the Zionist movement in the late 19th and early 20th centuries. It was the Zionist pioneers who - with strong financial support from Jews throughout the world who donated trees to mark simchot (special occasions) - re-forested the land of Israel, largely under the auspices of the Jewish National Fund. As a result of this emphasis on tree planting - on Tu B'Shevat and all year long - Israel stands as the only country in the world with an almost constant net growth of trees.

Tu B'Shevat Recipes

15 Shevat 5776/January 25, 2016

We mark the day of Tu B'Shevat by eating fruit, particularly from the kinds that are native to the Land of Israel - barley, dates, figs, grapes, pomegranates, olives, and wheat.

Date Nut Truffles

- 1 cup dates
- 1 cup almonds
- 2 tbsp. chocolate chips
- 1-2 tbsp. honey

Directions

1. Put all ingredients in a food processor and pulse until combined.
2. Remove dough and roll into balls.
3. Refrigerate until ready to eat.

Hearty Barley Soup

- Half a diced onion
- 2 diced celery stalks
- 2 diced carrots
- Additional vegetables of your choice such as leeks, kohlrabi, parsley and celery root
- 2 tablespoons olive oil
- 8 cups water or vegetable broth
- ½ cup hulled uncooked barley
- ½ cup presoaked beans of your choice
- ⅓ cup crushed tomatoes or tomato sauce
- 2 large bay leaves
- ½ teaspoon of each basil, oregano and thyme
- ½ teaspoon sea salt and freshly ground black pepper
- 1 teaspoon onion powder (optional)
- ¼ teaspoon celery-salt (optional)

Directions

1. In a large soup pot, sauté the onions for five minutes or more until translucent.
2. Add celery, carrots and any other vegetables and continue to sauté for three to five minutes.
3. Add the remaining ingredients including the liquids and bring to a boil, then reduce heat to medium low.
4. Allow soup to simmer for at least one hour, stirring occasionally, until the barley is soft and somewhat fluffy.
5. Adjust the spices according to taste and enjoy!

Last month we had our Sisterhood Hanukkah party at Pearl Lian which was so much fun. We had a great dinner followed by a gift exchange. I am pleased to say that we are outgrowing restaurants – our group is getting too big for private rooms! Next year, we might need to move the event to someone's home. Thank you to Liz Kersh for organizing this event and Tammy Adler for her fabulous desserts.

We also had a Hanukkah celebration at the Cohen Home. We did a craft, played famous couples trivia and had snacks. The part I enjoyed the most was sitting with the residents and getting to know them. Thank you to Brooke Belodoff for organizing this event.

Plant a Tree in Israel – A special gift is the donation of a Tree for Israel to recognize or memorialize friends, family, and loved ones. Trees are $18 each. If you would like to purchase a tree, please contact Sisterhood@dortamid.com
