Rabbinic Reflections

Dear Friends,

As I am writing this newsletter article, I am sitting on the plane coming back from Chicago and the Union for Reform Judaism Biennial convention. Mike and I both had the amazing opportunity to attend this fantastic conference on behalf of CDT and were amazed at the breadth and depth of the learning we experienced. We heard from the leaders of the Reform movement, brilliant scholars, and some of the Jewish world's most creative and talented musicians. Oh . . . and we also managed to get some Chicago style pizza as well.

The URJ Biennial is a place where we were challenged to think of the possibilities for our own synagogue's growth and progress. We were asked the questions, and sought the answers, of how CDT was going to continue providing high level programming and relevant and inspiring worship, and how we can continue to transform who we are to continue to connect to each one of our members in meaningful ways. The conference merely began a conversation in which I hope to engage with each of you over the coming months.

As we are just coming out of Chanukah, a holiday whose name means "rededication," now is the perfect time to rededicate yourself to CDT. If you haven't been to services in a while, come worship with us. Open up to new learning and attend a Lifelong Learning class, join us at any of our upcoming social events, or do a mitzvah and engage with our social action committee and their holy work.

I hope that in this New (secular) Year, we will all find ways to rededicate ourselves to our community as we continue to grow and deepen our relationships to CDT and to each other.

B'ahavah.

Rabbi Jordan

An Interfaith Perspective Friday, January 31, 2020 at 7:30pm

Rabbi Jordan has invited his friend and colleague, Dr. Shaun King, Senior Pastor, Johns Creek Baptist Church, to deliver the sermon. Come join us in prayer and learn from our neighbor and friend.

As part of this pulpit exchange, Rabbi Jordan delivered the sermon at Johns Creek Baptist Church on December 29.

President's Message

Wow! As we enter the New Year, I am still amazed at all of the amazing Chanukah celebrations CDT just had, highlighted by our congregational Chanukah party and dinner. Thank you to our Director of Education, Molly Peled, who so ably planned and coordinated this wonderful evening. This was truly an amazing evening, as more than 250 CDT members and friends came together for a night filled with music and songs, latkes, sufganiyot, a huge potluck, and the most creative menorah-building contest I have ever seen. Cantorial Soloist, Mike Zuspan, led us in incredible music and who was joined by The CDT Band featuring Joel Britan,

Zohar Chen, and Preston Kerr. Thank you as well to Marty Duke, Gary Kerr, Annette Shulman, Lisa Oxman, and David Oxman, who sacrificed having their clothes smell like oil as they cooked hundreds of latkes for everyone to enjoy. Stacey Jahanfar, Ellie Rosen, and Sarah Rosen decorated the social hall and sanctuary for the festivities. The evening was capped off with a teaching from Rabbi Jordan and the lighting of the first candle together. And, finally, thank you to everyone who came to celebrate and contributed to our amazing potluck dinner. I have never seen so much food at CDT. Check out this photo of the food table which stretched down the entire hallway. The amount of food alone signals a successful Jewish event in my opinion!

We didn't stop there! The CDT Sisterhood also had a Chanukah celebration with a delicious dinner and white elephant gift exchange. This was their largest Chanukah party ever. The Primetimers also had a great time celebrating in style with a special dinner celebration of their own.

The Social Action Committee, in the spirit of the holiday season, donated more than 20 hand knit beanies and octopuses to the Northside Hospital NICU. Thank you to everyone who contributed cookies and other baked items, so that we were able to deliver cookies to the Johns Creek Police Department and donuts to the Johns Creek Fire Department.

Another highlight from December was the annual 9th grade religious school field trip to the Paper Clips Holocaust Museum in Whitwell, Tennessee. If you are not familiar with the story behind this amazing 8th grade project at Whitwell Middle School dating back to 1998, I highly suggest a visit or watching the documentary movie. Our entire 9th grade class, which was led by Mike Zuspan and Molly Peled, spent the weekend touring the area and of course spending time at the museum. Mike even led a Havdalah service in the hotel. Our oldest daughter, Sarah, was among the teenagers on the trip. Normally when I ask her about an event she attends, I get the standard teenager response, "It was good." However, after returning from this trip, I knew from her response, this was something very special. She described to me an experience that was emotional, powerful, impressive, and inspiring. This is undoubtedly an experience that will stick with our teenagers for a long time to come.

Last, but certainly not least, I want to update you on the CDT High Holy Days Appeal. It is true that we were not tracking to hit our goal this year. However, due to the generosity of the Slovin family and another anonymous family, I am proud to announce we have achieved 100% of target. I can't stress how important this annual appeal is for the operations of CDT. We are so fortunate and thankful to our many donors.

B'Shalom, Dan

Daniel Rosen, President

Cantorial Soloist's Message

Shalom Chaveirim - Hello my friends!

I hope you are all doing well and looking forward to a new secular year. How the time flies!

This past December, Rabbi Jordan and I had the wonderful experience of attending the URJ Biennial conference in Chicago. There was a tremendous amount to take in and digest, but, to put it succinctly, it is fair to say that Reform Judaism today is vibrant, healthy, and innovative (ing!). On the flight back to Atlanta, I confess that I couldn't help but feel excited about my return to CDT — about how I would take all that I had experienced — the music, the learning sessions, the incredible plenaries, the unplanned but impactful conversations with colleagues and friends, the moving services, and so forth — and attempt to bring it to our congregation in a meaningful way. After all, that is why I went to Chicago — to bring back to our wonderful community the best that Reform Judaism has to offer, so that our community, our family, might become stronger, more connected to each other and the Jewish community as a whole, and filled with a deeper sense of our place and purpose in this world. As we enter a new secular year, I look forward to working as a community to incorporate some of what Rabbi Jordan and I experienced in Chicago, so that we can continue to strengthen our connections to each other and make our belonging to this wonderful congregation meaningful and enriching.

Shalom,

Mike Zuspan

Education Director's Message

Last month I had an amazing opportunity to chaperone the 9th grade class on their overnight trip to Tennessee. We spent the entire first day sightseeing, having fun and bonding! First we went to the Chattanooga Aquarium, had lunch sitting by the beautiful river, ate a traditional 'Moon Pie' snack, and of course did some shopping! We ate so much that the students preferred a late dinner, so we went first to the movies. Before the movie, Mike Zuspan, who is our 9th grade teacher in addition to being our Cantorial Soloist, ran a beautiful and memorable Havdalah service with all of us. The movie we saw was "Jojo Rabbit", a parody on the Holocaust. We then continued to talk about the movie over a great dinner, and the kids couldn't stop talking about it all night. I highly recommend that you all see the film. To end the day, we couldn't go back to the hotel without a midnight snack from Ben and Jerry's ice cream.

The next morning we woke up knowing that the day's activity was the main purpose for this trip — a visit to the Paper Clips Project and Holocaust memorial in Whitwell Tennessee.

In 1998, something amazing happened in the town of Whitwell, a small, rural community of fewer than 2,000 people nestled in the mountains of Tennessee.

Whitwell Middle School principal Linda Hooper asked language arts teacher Sandra Roberts and associate principal David Smith to begin a Holocaust education class that would be the basis for teaching tolerance and diversity in a voluntary after-school program. When the students, mostly white and Christian, struggled to grasp the concept and enormity of the six million Jews who died during the Holocaust, they decided to collect six million paper clips – one for each soul who perished.

Why paper clips? The students' research found that Norwegians wore paper clips as a silent protest and symbol of resistance against Nazi occupation during World War II. It was this simple idea that eventually, and quite unintentionally, turned into a worldwide phenomenon, drawing international media attention and letters of support from literally every continent.

The "Paper Clips Project" extended over several years, and in 2001 the school dedicated a Children's Holocaust Memorial, which includes an authentic German railcar filled with a portion of the more than 30 million paper clips they eventually collected. A moving documentary, entitled Paper Clips and originally released theatrically in 2004, captures how these students responded to lessons about the Holocaust and how a committed group of children and educators provided hope and inspiration to countless others around the globe.

Our 9th grade class had an uplifting experience full of hope that will last them for a life time. I am already getting excited about next year's trip. I am a very lucky person that I get to do this with the students and also call it my job. Thank you CDT, and thank you to our amazing students who make it an honor to go with them!

Our Bar Mitzvah

Noah Boaz — January 11, 2020

Noah is a seventh-grade honor student at Vickery Creek Middle School and has multiple hobbies, including taking care of animals, building things, soccer, airsoft, and cooking. He enjoys spending time with his mother and father along with his older brother Nathan, his younger sister Isabella, his dog Max, and his two hamsters Edel and Feedle. Noah has an extremely witty sense of humor and is able to do amazing impressions. While entertaining us with his talent, he also concocts gourmet entrees and desserts that impress anyone lucky enough to be his taste tester. His mother feels very fortunate when the mood strikes him to be in the kitchen. Noah also makes gourmet food for his dog, Max.

His great love for animals is manifested in his bar mitzvah tikkun olam/social action project for which he is a volunteer in the puppy nursery at Canine Assistance and goes on outings with the dogs to train them. He also has developed and built elaborate structures for his hamsters, which keep them entertained for hours.

Noah has a great sense of family and is very close to his grandparents and cousins, too. We are extremely proud of Noah and look forward to helping him continue to grow and mature into a young man who pursues and achieves his goals.

There is so much we can do as a congregation to make the world a better place.

ZABAN PARADIES CENTER (ZPC) — Only one date left, so please let us know if you can help on March 18th. It's a very rewarding experience. Take your child, grandchild, friends, or spouse with you. This is a great Bar/Bat Mitzvah project.

The Zaban Paradies Center assists couples transitioning from homelessness to resettlement and independence by providing shelter, basic necessities, and counseling services.

CDT provides and serves dinner to the residents on specific dates throughout the year.

Contact Lesley Radov @ Iradov85@gmail.com to reserve this date.

HOMES AGAINST HUNDER — Our next pick-up date will be January 12th. If you want to have us pick up at your home, email Jackie Berger at jackieb.berger@gmail.com to let her know. Please place your bags outside by 8:30AM. If you prefer to bring your donations of non-perishable food to CDT, please place them in the barrels. (NO glass containers in the bags picked up or in the barrels).

Remember, there are families who are in need of food. Please give generously and with your heart, if you are able. Perhaps even ask friends if they can gather some food for you to donate. Some families have had their neighborhoods donate food. What a great idea!

BEANIES FOR PREMATURE BABIES — I made our first delivery on December 12th to the Northside Hospital NICU in Sandy Springs. Thank you to our group of volunteers who crocheted and knitted beanies and octopuses. We are looking forward to making more and are asking congregants who crotchet or knit to help us fulfill this need. We can provide an easy pattern. Contact Sharon Rocco at srocco1951@gmail.com .

Just a reminder, THE HUNGER WALK, is scheduled for the afternoon of March 15th in the afternoon. Paula Bloom is asking to meet with our congregation teens and have one co-chair with her. This would be a wonderful Bar/Bat Mitzvah project. If you are interested contact your Social Action Committee for more details.

Shalom,
