Rabbinic Reflections

Dear friends,

We are coming up on one of my favorite times of the year: the holiday of Purim. This is a day where we are commanded to turn everything on its head, act silly, and rejoice in our salvation from the threats of the evil Haman. It is a time of merrymaking, hamantashen eating (I prefer cherry and apricot), giving of gifts and tzedakah, and of changing our identities by putting on costumes and masks. It truly is a time of joy at the synagogue.

Thinking of Purim and the masks we wear on this holiday led me to think of the masks we wear each day that hide who we truly are. Do we hide our true selves from one another? Do we hide our true Judaism? What leads us to hide our inner passions, emotions, thoughts, and feelings? Perhaps the stresses of every day life, the highs and lows of our existence and our relationships, force us to hide who we really are. But the beauty of Purim is that, when we put on our costumes and masks, we can let down our guard and let loose, be a little silly, and remember the joy that we hold inside.

So I invite you to join me in this off-the-wall celebration at our congregational Megillah reading on March 20 and the Purim carnival on March 24, put on a costume, eat some hamantaschen, and let your true self out as we celebrate this season which the rabbis teach should only let our joy increase.

Chag Sameach,

Rabbi Jordan

President's Message

Is he really still talking about the 50-50-50 Challenge? He sounds like a broken record.

By now, you have undoubtedly heard about our new 50-50-50 Challenge at CDT. Over the past few weeks, many of you have asked me why another fundraiser at this time. You are right to ask. Yes, it is an unusual time for a fundraiser at CDT. Yes, it comes on the heels of our End-of-year Giving Campaign. It's clearly not as exciting as a gala or other social-based fundraising event. The answer is simple.

One of our congregant families made a very generous offer with an unusual twist, and we jumped at this opportunity with open arms. We had no plans to reach out to you about fundraising at this moment, but we did and I want you all to understand why . . . and why this is the absolutely right time to come together as one community to match the donated $50,000 with another $50,000.

We started the fiscal year with an approved budget that doesn't allow for any wiggle room for spending. Your Board of Directors has spent considerable time and attention this year scrutinizing our budget and tightening our spending to ensure we are on solid financial footing for the future. While our congregation size is certainly lower than it once was, we continue to focus a great deal of attention to marketing and other ways to grow and retain members.

This effort is only part of the solution. The other part rests with you, our congregants, our CDT family. Philanthropy plays an important part in our success. Donations, combined with dues and religious school registrations, are essential to our annual budget, exceptional programming, the maintenance of our 'home,' and the retention of our dedicated clergy and staff.

Knowing that every dollar you contribute to the 50-50-50 Challenge will be doubled, I hope that you will donate generously and help us turn $50,000 into $100,000. I personally can't think of a better magic trick than this one!

Cantorial Soloist's Message

Shalom Chaveirim!

As we are now in the month of Adar, Purim is on its way!!! Yes, that's right. Our happiest of Jewish Holy Days is right around the corner. There will be singing, grogging, cooking, noshing, spieling, carnivaling . . . well, you get the idea!

Last year we celebrated with a very special Wizard of Oz themed Purim Spiel, and we had a blast! This year, our Purim Spiel will be the evening of Wednesday, March 20th at CDT. Look for more information to come!

I shared the following message with you last year. I feel that it is still relevant today. Please take a few minutes to watch the video.

A couple of years ago, Marty Kunofsky, a very-long-time CDT member, shared with me that he had in his possession an old Megillat Esther with a powerful and personal story to go along with it. Below is a link to that story. Please take a few moments and give it a viewing. I promise that you will be enriched by this amazing and beautiful story.

Education Director's Message

Dear Friends,

I was looking out of my office windows and saw the daffodils emerge from the ground; the daffodils that our religious school planted to commemorate the children who perished in the Holocaust. Many thoughts came to mind . . .

I would like to share with you something personal that I have been feeling lately and that I am sure you can relate to. I am hearing more and more about anti-Semitic remarks made in our children's schools and in our neighborhoods. As a third generation Holocaust survivor, a Jewish Educator and a mother of three, I am concerned. Even though I am concerned, I know that our religious school isn't just accepting this. We are fighting it in a very special way.

When your kids come to religious school, they aren't coming just to learn how to read Hebrew so they can chant at their Bar/Bat Mitzvah. They aren't coming to religious School just to do arts & crafts and to listen to a few different bible stories. They are coming to their synagogue to be with their extended Jewish family which shares with them the same values and history.

We are learning together what it means to be Jewish; we are learning to love being Jewish. The more informed our children become, the more capable they will be to deal with the anti-Semitic remarks that will come their way. We can't run from them; we need to confront them!

We planted the daffodils to learn, to remember and to respect. We must continue our actions by coming to religious school, doing mitzvot, and being together so we can grow as a Jewish family.

Yours always,

Molly

Benjamin Allen

Ben is a 7th grade honors student at River Trail Middle School. His favorite subjects are history and science, but really his favorite part of the day is lunch. Ben enjoys hanging out with his friends and playing soccer, basketball, and many other sports. He also loves video games and recently, with the help of his brother, built his own gaming computer.

Ben has enjoyed volunteering at The Cohen Home this past year with his 7th grade religious school class and plans to continue to volunteer at the Cohen home as part of his Bar Mitzvah tikkun olam/social action project. He would also like to get involved in other social action projects at his school and Congregation Dor Tamid.

Brooke Hartman

Brooke is a 7th grader at River Trail Middle School. She plays percussion in her school's concert band and is part of the Jr. Beta Club at her school. Brooke enjoys baking, traveling with her family, musical theatre, and hanging out with her friends. She goes to URJ Camp Coleman, a Jewish sleepaway camp, and has gone there for the past 5 years.

For her tikkun olam/social action project she did various community service and volunteering activities. Some include: serving food at a homeless shelter, packaging and sorting food at the Atlanta Community Food Bank, and helping out at Congregation Dor Tamid. Family and friends could pledge any amount of money per hour of service she did or make a flat donation. All of the proceeds will be donated to the Camp Coleman performing arts fund.

Hope Mishkoff

Hope is a 7th grader at The Davis Academy Middle School, where she enjoys learning, performing in the school play, and playing volleyball. Outside of school, Hope enjoys playing golf, doing yoga, and hanging out with her friends.

For her tikkun olam/social action project, Hope, with the help of her friends, will be working to clean up trash through the Rivers Alive Program. The mission of Rivers Alive is to create awareness of and involvement in the preservation of Georgia's water.
