

THE 2019 MAIN EVENT

February 7 | 7:30 pm | Temple Israel

AFTER PITTSBURGH: PRIDE, PEOPLEHOOD, & POWER

Featuring Bari Weiss, New York Times Editor & Writer

Co-chairs Emily and Sam Zimmern & Angie and Bill Zimmern, invite you to join them at the Federation's 2019 Main Event on Thursday February 7, 2019 at 7:30 pm at Temple Israel. Dessert reception following the program.

Bari Weiss was raised in the Squirrel Hill neighborhood of Pittsburgh. She grew up down the street from the Tree of Life Synagogue and became a bat mitzvah there as well. Following the recent shooting, Bari has written and spoken extensively about issues of antisemitism and Jewish identity.

Bari is a passionate thought leader, staff editor and writer for The New York Times opinion page. Previously, she was an op-ed editor and associate book review editor at The Wall Street Journal, and a senior editor at Tablet, the online magazine of Jewish news, politics, and culture. Bari regularly appears on shows like Morning Joe and Bill Maher and is also the winner of the Reason Foundation's 2018 Bastiat Prize, which annually honors writing that "best demonstrates the importance of freedom with originality, wit, and eloquence."

Tickets are $36 per person and can be purchased at www.jewishcharlotte.org.

Jewish Federation
OF GREATER CHARLOTTE