Three Misplaced Holy Days

Following closely after the conclusion of Pesach, three Jewish Holy Days will occur during the month of April. April 8 is Yom HaSho’ah, Yom HaAtzmaut on the 16th and Lag B’Omer April 28. Their importance is often lost because none of these three Holy Days are Biblical in origin. Yet each of them is amazingly connected to Passover by the meaning they bring to Jewish life.

Yom HaAtzmaut is Israeli Independence Day. The holiday is a joyous celebration of Jewish Sovereignty in a Jewish State for the first time since the destruction of the Temple in Jerusalem in the year 70. The establishment of the modern state, gives Jews throughout the world a sense of security in the knowledge that a Jewish State exists as a refuge and defender for Jews everywhere. From the miraculous Entebbe rescue to the return of Jews from Yemen and Ethiopia, we have already experienced the full force of Israel in the life of world Jewry.

Yom HaSho’ah is Holocaust Commemoration Day. We mourn for the loss of the Six Million and Jewish culture in the nations of Europe. Yet in reality, Yom HaSho’ah is celebrating the continued existence of the Jewish People. Despite the horrors of Nazi Germany, we are still here. Our losses can never be replaced, but we are a free people with love for and pain over the loss of our family, friends and people.

Yom HaSho’ah and Yom HaAtzmaut teach us that not only do we survive torture and cruelty as we have for centuries, but that our commitment to Jewish Life is as strong as ever.

Lag B’Omer is the 33rd day in the counting of the days between Pesach and Shavu’ot. It is not completely clear why the holiday is celebrated. Many foundation stories for the holiday exist. Two of them are connected. The Talmud suggests that it was the 33rd day of the counting of the Omer in Rabbi Akiva’s time that a plague which had killed thousands of his students began to abate. That was the first day on which no one died. Interestingly, the cause of the plague may have been due to Roman persecution which forced them to meet in close quarters far from the eyes of Roman spies. During the same time period, Roman persecutions caused a major rebellion against Roman control under the leadership of Shimon Bar Kochba. The same Rabbi Akiva, whose students had been victims of the plague, was the major rabbinic supporter of the rebellion. Legend has it that Bar Kochba’s cavalry were expert marksmen with bow and arrow, even while galloping on horseback. Additionally the myth that has grown up around him relates that each of his personal guards were able to pull a tree from the ground while riding at a full gallop. Their strength was enough to break Rome’s choke hold on Israel. An independent Jewish State existed with Bar Kochba as Nasi for a short time.

Rabbi Akiva’s efforts to garner support from the other leading Rabbis of the day is even found in the Haggadah. The story of five martyred rabbis in B’nai B’rak is meant to remind us that if we are not willing to fight for our freedom to live Jewish lives, then freedom will be lost. I believe that each of these three holidays are connected to Passover. Freedom brings great obligations. Everytime one of us steps into the synagogue to study, to pray, or to celebrate a holiday, we prove that our freedom is worthwhile. If the freedom we enjoy guides away from our heritage and covenant, what value do we invest in it?

Hag HaAviv, Pesach, Passover teaches us about the value of freedom. Only our use of that freedom proves if we truly understand it. May we celebrate the freedom of our people with Jews throughout the world in joy, health and commitment to the future of Jewish communities throughout the world.

Mechina Retreat – On March 1st-2nd the Mechina (6th gr.) students enjoyed an exciting retreat at Camp Mindy and the National Whitewater Center. Parents joined their children for the first part of the program, including Havdallah and competitive games designed to teach Bar/Bat Mitzvah etiquette. After the parents left, the students enjoyed ice cream and a movie, and slept over at Camp Mindy. The next morning they had a blast on the ropes course at the Whitewater Center, while learning valuable team building skills. Todah Rabbah to our staff: Rabbi Raucher, Emmanuel Kaunitz, Eliana Berger, and volunteer, Emi Miller; and to our parent volunteers: David Levin, Risa Miller, Wendy Petricoff, Stacey Slomka, and Debra Van Glish!

Pesach at TIRS – Every grade enjoyed special Pesach programs to prepare for the holiday: T-K had Pesach-themed stories, games and crafts; Gan and Alef had a round-robin of story-telling, singing, charoset-making, and crafts; Bet and Dalet had model seders; Gimmel and Hey worked together to make order-of-the-seder charts and artistic renditions of the Four Children; Vav held a candy seder and 10 Plagues Relay Race; and Zayin cooked and served a Pesach meal to the Jewish residents at Carriage Club. In addition, the Gimmel class had a Pesach-themed Family Education program in March, and created beautiful seder plates. We want to especially thank Sisterhood for making the charoset and providing many of the supplies for the Pesach programs.

Where everyone is accepted and the best memories are made.

Close your eyes and imagine this: traveling in a bus for hours on end with some of your closest friends in the world. You arrive to a magical place called Memphis, only to be greeted by some of the most entertaining people you will ever meet. Now open your eyes. The scenario that was just described is what every TI-Y USY’er experienced. TI-Y traveled with other USY chapters in Atlanta (DUSY, KUSY, and Sababa) and Charleston’s COSY; to spend our weekend praying, laughing, partying and of course eating with our friends from Hamelech (Memphis’ USY’s chapter) and MTUSY (the Nashville chapter). An Ein Gedi USY convention is something magical, it’s the only place where teens can be teens, just let go of all the troubles of the week and hang out with friends and share a common bond: the love of Judaism.

Remembering the Holocaust
A Charlotte Community Day of Arts and Dialogue
Sunday, April 7, 2013, 4:00-5:30pm
Shalom Park, 5007 Providence Road

As much of the Jewish world observes Yom Hashoah (Holocaust Memorial Day) on Sunday, April 7th, the greater Charlotte community is invited to Shalom Park for an engaging afternoon of workshops. This is a perfect opportunity to introduce your neighbors and friends to the culturally rich spirit of Shalom Park.

The program will begin at 4:00pm in the Sam Lerner Center of Cultural Arts with music, reflections and the lighting of memorial candles by survivors. Participants will then disperse to one of the workshops listed below, which will occur simultaneously around the Park. (You will no doubt have trouble selecting just one to attend!) Finally, the afternoon will conclude with the recitation of the Kaddish and a light reception at the Margaret & Lou Schwartz Butterfly Garden Holocaust Memorial.

This Community Day of Arts and Dialogue is co-sponsored by Temple Beth El, Temple Israel, the Levine JCC, the Levine-Sklut Judaic Library and Resource Center, the Jewish Federation of Greater Charlotte, and Hadassah.

*Dr. Seuss Goes to War – Theodor Seuss Geisel (better known as Dr. Seuss) not only authored and illustrated countless children’s books that lifted our childhoods, but he was also a political cartoonist during World War II and a powerful voice of conscience. Rabbi Ezing of Temple Israel and Rabbi Schindler of Temple Beth El will lead a discussion on Geisel’s influential cartoons, which advocate for political and social change and attack racism and discrimination. This program will take place in the Sam Lerner Center.

Please visit www.templeisraelnc.org to see listing of all events.

Binocular Vision: New and Selected Stories
By Edith Pearlman

Discussion Leader: Dr. Jay Jacoby

Elizabeth Pearlman writes about the odd, wry, funny, and painful predicaments of being human. In these eighteen short stories her favorite themes of dislocation, relocation, and accommodation continue as well as the themes of young love, old love, thwarted love, and love denied, of Jews and their dilemmas, of marriage, family death, and betrayal.

Although she has published over 250 short stories and four prize-winning collections over the past forty years, Edith Pearlman has long eluded attention, but this changed when her fourth book, Binocular Vision earned splendid reviews, and many awards.

How fortunate that the May 7 Temple Israel book club discussion will be led by special guest Jay Jacoby. Jay, founder of the Temple Israel Book Club, travels to Charlotte from his home in Asheville just for the purpose of leading a TI book club discussion!

Pearlman’s “quiet, elegant stories add something significant to the literary landscape,” and under Jay’s leadership, book club discussion participants will surely have an enriching and significant experience.

Binocular Vision is available at the Levine-Sklut Judaic Library, the public library and at book stores or on-line for about $15.

All Temple Israel book club meetings, including the May 7 discussion, are open to the entire community. “Drop-ins” are welcome, even those who haven’t read the book. For additional information contact Linda Levy at 704/366-6362 or levyollie@aol.com.

Art Exhibit Open House

The Levine-Sklut Judaic Library & Resource Center invites you to join us for a wine and cheese Art Exhibit Open House as we honor Florence Jaffa and support the LSJLRC on Sunday May 5 from 2:00 to 5:00pm in the Library. For more information and to RSVP please contact Talii Dippold at 704-847-3427 or tdippold@shalomcharlotte.org.

Birthdays, Birthdays, Birthdays
“My father, Harry, founded Swimmer Insurance Agency nearly 60 years ago offering security to the community and helping families through times of trouble. Today, we continue that tradition of service with everything we do. We will be there for every milestone, every hardship and every transition your family or business experiences.”

- DAVID SWIMMER
