The following Plan updates the 2013-15 Strategic Plan that was adopted in 2012.

Approved by JRC Board of Directors March 11, 2015.

Introduction

I am very proud to present the revised strategic plan for 2015 through 2018. Although the current plan has one year remaining, a strong organization must keep a vigilant eye towards the future needs of its stakeholders. As we are fond of saying, the strategic plan is a living document and we will continue to make the necessary changes as the situation demands, for example, adding the goal of seeking new staff (including a Rabbi and Early Childhood Director). In addition to this new goal, this new plan updates several existing goals.

The sign of a good strategic plan is that it builds on previous strategic plans and continues progress towards established goals. I am particularly proud that we have not made major changes to the previous strategic plan, which means the work we did in 2012 was thorough and well-conceived. That plan involved the work of dozens of JRC board, committee chairs and members who based their discussions around a major survey that was completed by more than 40% of adult members.

In this new iteration of planning, we reexamined our missions, vision and values via a survey and the Forum on the Future meetings. This information is essential to selecting an appropriate rabbi. It is gratifying to see the widespread support for our current mission and vision. JRC is not as fractured as some have posited.

As I am sure you are aware, this excellent plan is the result of many hours of work by our intrepid Strategic Planning Committee: Linda Mathias Kaskel, Vice President of Strategic Development, Emily Harris, Chair of the Strategic Planning Committee and committee members, Cindy Aaronson, Reese Gratch, Barbara Pinzur, Sheri Young, and Sharon Diaz.

Yasher Koach to all.

David Tabak, President
Mission

JRC’s mission is to create an engaged Jewish community that practices a Judaism responsive to the times and culture in which we live.

Vision

JRC will be a vibrant, warm, and welcoming Reconstructionist Jewish community and spiritual home that engages its diverse members in lifelong learning (Limud), repair of the world (Tikkun Olam), acts of kindness (Gemilut Hasidim), joyful celebrations (Simcha) and the sacred work of community building. The congregation will be known for its spirituality, intellectual curiosity, inclusivity, respect for diversity, and deep commitment to social justice and sustainable coexistence between people and the environment.

JRC’s Core Values

In a 2014 congregational survey, respondents were asked to select the values most important to them at JRC from a list of 20 values that had been compiled from various policy documents for the 2012 Strategic Plan. Appendix A lists these 20 values in order of their importance to JRC members based on the survey results. The values that received the highest number of mentions are incorporated in the Vision statement.

Goals and Objectives

The Strategic Plan sets six broad goals for JRC. Specific objectives identify categories of action to achieve each goal. Work to realize these goals and objectives will require collaboration throughout JRC’s board, committees, task forces, volunteers and staff.

GOAL 1 - SERVE, ENGAGE, AND RETAIN OUR DIVERSE MEMBERSHIP

Rationale – A central tenet of Reconstructionism is “belonging.” JRC strives to be a warm and inviting community that serves its diverse members, with their distinct needs, talents, and opinions. In order to succeed, we must be intentional about how we foster community, monitor members’ experiences, and plan for long-term and sustainable growth.

GOAL 2 – PROVIDE DIVERSE AND ROBUST OPPORTUNITIES FOR LIFE-LONG LEARNING, SPIRITUAL FULFILLMENT, AND TIKKUN OLAM

Rationale – Our distinctive Reconstructionist educational, spiritual, and tikkun olam programming are the lifeblood of JRC and provide our members multiple opportunities to be part of our Jewish community. One of the major findings of the strategic planning research was that these areas need to be better connected to enhance our congregational life.

GOAL 3 - BUILD A SUSTAINABLE AND FINANCIALLY SOLVENT COMMUNITY

Rationale – Maintaining and enhancing our programs at JRC require responsible financial practices and strategic fundraising efforts. Our current financial obligations make the need particularly pressing. New funds must be secured to meet our building loan obligations and operating costs and to allow for program enhancements. JRC’s building loan comes due in 2013 and the plan is to refinance. Most of the commitments from the first capital campaign have been fulfilled.

GOAL 4 – DEVELOP A MORE STRATEGIC AND TRANSPARENT GOVERNANCE STRUCTURE RESPONSIVE TO CURRENT AND FUTURE NEEDS

Rationale – JRC has a strong history of volunteer leadership. Congregational growth, staff transition, and an increasingly complex world have placed more demands on existing and potential volunteers and systems. We must put structures in place to make decisions based on agreed-upon priorities, create better “institutional memory,” avoid volunteer burn-out, nurture new leaders, ensure the best use of staff and resources, and continually adapt to changing needs.

GOAL 5 – IMPROVE INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL COMMUNICATIONS TO PROMOTE JRC AS A DYNAMIC AND WARM COMMUNITY.

Rationale – Improved communication underlies all of our goals. The fabric of our congregational life is deeply affected by how we share information both internally and externally. It is important for us to enhance how our community knows about the resources and opportunities JRC offers. We must honor JRC’s core value of Kavod Sicha (Respectful Conversation). Our members especially want to intentionally find respectful ways to address the topic of Israel/Palestine, a challenge faced by congregations throughout the nation and the world.

GOAL 6 – WELCOME NEW PROFESSIONAL STAFF, AND IMPLEMENT SYSTEMS TO SUPPORT THEM AS EFFECTIVE SPIRITUAL, EDUCATIONAL AND COMMUNITY LEADERS

Rationale – In 2015 JRC will welcome a new early childhood director, programming staff and interim rabbi, and begin the process of searching for a long-term rabbi with the goal of having that person in place by 2016. While our staff supports our congregation, we must also be intentional about providing support to our staff and creating a balance between professional and volunteer contributions to our vibrant community.

Appendix A – Core Values

In a 2014 congregational survey, respondents were asked to select up to seven values that are most important to them at JRC from the following list of 20 values. The values are listed here, highest to lowest, by percentage of mentions received in the survey. The first four values on the list were named as most important by over 50% of respondents. The survey results are available here.

Tikkun Olam, Repair of the World: We are committed to creating a just world and supporting others in this mission.

Gemilut Hasadim, Acts of Kindness: We extend ourselves to comfort the sick, provide hospitality, share in mourning, and provide for the needs of others within and outside our community.

Limud, Learning: We value Jewish learning as a means toward spiritual growth and communal connection.

Simcha, Joy and Celebration: We come together to share joy in our communal celebrations.

K’vod Sicha, Respectful Conversation: We use an intentional process to discuss difficult issues in order to honor our diversity, remain respectful, encourage a cohesive congregation, and allow authentic conversations ...

Tzedakah, Righteousness: We share our resources to make the world more equitable.

Kehillah, Community: We value our collective life as a congregational community.

Living in Two Civilizations: As Reconstructionist Jews we understand that we live in both American and Jewish civilizations - and that the values of each support and strengthen our identity as Jewish Americans.

Minhagei Yisrael, Customs of Israel: We value Jewish customs, which connect us to our tradition, our culture, our history, and our Jewish community.

Sh’lom Bayit, Peace of the Home: We live together in our spiritual home in a spirit of mutual respect and cooperation.

Bal Tashchit, Do Not Waste or Destroy: We take seriously our responsibility not to waste, destroy, or squander the Earth’s limited resources.
Klal Yisrael, The Togetherness of Israel: Our home and communal practices reflect and connect us to our tradition and to Jews throughout the world.

K’vod Michpacha, Honoring Family: We value the honoring of our members’ extended families.

Zicharon, Memory: We regard the memories of significant times in our lives to be sacred and holy.

Tzniut, Humility: We value respectful behavior, language, and attire in our synagogue.

Kedushat Shabbat, The Holiness of Shabbat: We seek to make our home a sacred Shabbat space.

Kedusha, Holiness: We seek to create a meaningful division between mundane and sacred activities.

Shabbat Menuchah, Shabbat Rest and Renewal: We step back from consumerism and consumption to make space for contemplation and healing.

Hachnasat Orchim, Welcoming Guests: It is a mitzvah to welcome guests into our home.

Kavanah, Intention: We value mindfulness and intention during our prayer services.
