New Year, New Programs at CBI

Hopefully the new secular year will bring health and prosperity and better times to all of us and all our neighbors and friends.

As we continue to work towards a more just, more equitable, and healthier world, I am truly excited to announce two new programs that will begin in January at CBI.

The first is called "Fourth Friday" and as the name suggests, will take place on the fourth Friday night of every month. Fourth Friday is a new 6:00 PM service lasting about 20-25 minutes designed for families and children-and anyone who wishes to join! The service will consist of Shabbat prayers, stories, and songs and will be led by Rabbi Sagal. The Zoom link will be sent out before every service. The first Fourth Friday will be Friday, January 22, 2021.

On the night that there is a Fourth Friday service there will be a regular 7:30 Kabbalat Shabbat service.

The second new program is "Women's Spirituality Group." This program, open to women only and taught by Rabbi Sagal as well as guest instructors, will delve into the mystical/spiritual/Kabbalistic traditions of the Jewish people and will concentrate on how the Jewish spiritual tradition has helped people navigate the challenges of life for millennia. This is open to CBI members and others who are interested. In order to participate you MUST register your interest with Gayle Stamer at gaylestamer@gmail.com. Dates and zoom links will be sent to those registered to participate.

It is a new (secular) year and there are new opportunities for growth and spirituality. Join us at CBI!

President's Message

Dear CBI Family:

The below Bulletin Article was written prior to the violence that erupted on January 6th - the violence that tore at the heart of the values this nation was built upon – and the core that has made the United States a democratic society. Each week at Shabbat services we recite a Prayer for our Country and in recent months we look to the alternative prayer in our Lev Shalom Siddur – which can be found on page 177. The prayer begins: “Our G-d and G-d of our ancestors, grant to our country the will and wherewithal to fulfill its calling to Justice, Liberty, and Equality.” The prayer concludes: “May the one who brings peace on high bring peace and prosperity to our world and keep us in safety. And let us say Amen.”

It is my hope and prayer that our great nation will move forward in the spirit on which it was founded.
L'Shalom - Fran

As I sit in my kitchen and contemplate what message I can share as we kick off 2021 and say good-bye (and good riddance) to 2020, I want to send a positive message with hope for a better and brighter 2021. I looked again at the beautiful scrapbook prepared lovingly by Erin Blum and the Membership Committee, and realize in the throes of the pandemic, our CBI families and CBI itself went the extra mile during the pandemic to make the best of times happen. And I know that we will continue to do just that.

With the Covid-19 vaccine being given to our healthcare workers and then hopefully to the rest of the population, there is a light at the end of the tunnel. It might seem a little dim as the rollout has been anything but efficient, but distribution will improve. You can now register online for the vaccine at <https://covid19.nj.gov/>

CBI's leadership and committees are busy at work to bring our community the best programs, exciting GAN and SHMA experiences, lively and thoughtful services and so much more. Our Community of Caring volunteers have been calling congregants to check in and say “hello”, have been busy cooking soup and baking challahs, and delivering to those who might be suffering some difficult times and to welcome new members. Notes of Mazel tov and sympathies to those who have lost loved ones continue to be mailed to let our families know we are thinking of them – in good times and in troubled times. As we often say, “the building is closed, but CBI remains open.”

In the midst of virtual learning, virtual services, virtual programs, our amazing Holiday Boutique stars - Marissa Kay and Jamie Sztoser- made the impossible happen. The virtual Holiday Boutique was a huge success and raised needed funds for our GAN and SHMA. New local businesses were introduced to our community and we helped them as they helped us.

In the spirit of keeping our community close and busy, our Cultural Programming and Library committees are busy at work, planning outstanding programs – please check your emails for updates. Purim is around the corner (February 25–26) and although we will not be able to have our celebration in person – we will be engaged in the reading of the Megillah and a fun-filled event - so get those costumes ready and stay-tuned for updates. We will continue to have food drives to help those in need - and if you have ideas how we can reach out to the greater community, please let us know.

Very dedicated members are busy working on plans for the roll-out of our 100th anniversary celebration - a year filled with great events to not only celebrate our 100-year history, but to plan and work to secure the next 100 years. Please let us know how you want to be involved – there is a place for everyone to help launch the celebration of our Centennial anniversary.

When we celebrate the Jewish New Year on Rosh Hashana, we wish our friends and family “Shanah Tovah u'metukah” – a good and sweet year. As we begin the secular new year - we wish each and every one of you a healthy, safe, peaceful, good and sweet year.

L'Shalom

President

Book Review from our CBI Library Committee

An Unorthodox Match by Naomi Ragen

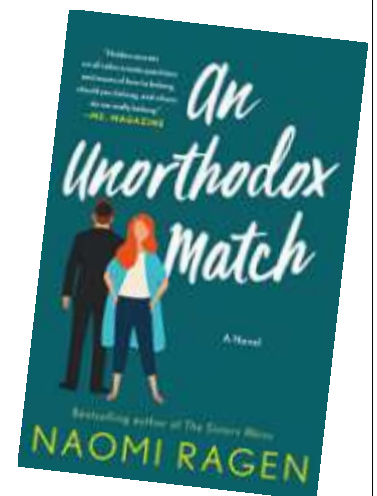

Review by Susan Glynn

Naomi Ragen has been described as the most popular novelist in Israel. Her books are always compelling, and she has dealt with many portions of the Jewish religion that many of her readers know little about.

In An Unorthodox Match, Ragen positions many disparate characters where they communicate, and fail to communicate on several levels.

Mother and daughter in the novel can't find a philosophical meeting ground, and the Orthodox community as well as the assimilated Jews in the story are outraged by one another.

The story moves swiftly along to its conclusion leaving the reader with new insights into the different groups within Judaism and the way many of them live.

From the Education Director

For those of you wondering if we can run our SHMA program virtually for a full year, the answer is yes. And I'm happy to report that, thanks to incredibly dedicated teachers, parents, students, lay leadership, and an inspirational Rabbi, SHMA is running quite successfully, in spite of the challenges.

I can now report that we have made tremendous progress in harnessing the power of online learning. In fact, I have been saying that this adaptation is nothing short of a revolution in Jewish education. When we return to the classroom, we will be incorporating many of the technologies and methodologies that we learned during the pandemic.

To that end, we have enhanced our Hebrew curriculum with all the technology available. Students now learn to read prayers on an app called PrayerTech, customized for each grade level. The app provides games that improve Hebrew reading skills and explore the meaning of the prayers. Behrman House Publishers has made the primary Hebrew textbooks available in a "turn-page" online version so that students can read and do activities at home while the teacher displays and annotates the book on their computer screen. Quizlets provide flash cards and other games to learn vocabulary. And the list of online resources goes on and on.

Our Judaics curriculum -- following the timeline of Jewish History -- brings us to Judaism in the present day. In the leadup, students will create projects on any of three important periods in the 20th Century: Jewish Immigration to America, European Jewry (including the Holocaust) and the foundation of the Jewish State. Teachers continue to inspire creative and informative projects (Project Based Learning).

The semester in January begins with a school wide look at the Holocaust, delivering age appropriate lessons, based on the guidance of the US Holocaust Memorial Museum and other experts in the field. For our youngest, we are advised to focus students' attention on the concept of tolerance, to shine a light on the danger of prejudice and hate. For our older students, we will look at the factors that led to the rise of the Nazis and then explore stories of survival and defiance.

For our Immigration unit, we are planning a major initiative to involve all our SHMA families. We will ask parents to make a brief video telling the story of how their family arrived in America. All SHMA parents will be invited to participate and I predict that we will have a bounty of stories to share with each other. Just as we utilize Project - Based Learning, there is another equally important model known as "Narrative - Based Learning."

I personally think that this model will have the greatest impact on our students studying such recent history and will create lifelong memories both personal and in empathy with one another.

The unit will culminate in a virtual Ellis Island. Students will take on the role of one of their ancestors and we will use all the features of Zoom to send students from station to station as they complete their journey to America.

Our Shabbat Experience continues to be flexible and robust. For one brief period of time, when Covid cases were low and student sports were in full swing, we actually held a live Shabbat Experience in the CBI parking lot, with all Covid precautions in place. This latest surge has sent our Shabbat back onto Zoom. The virtual Shabbat Experience does have a lot to offer, with our resident ukulele Chazan, Sam Levine and a wide variety of prayer styles to keep kids actively engaged. Still, we can't wait to be back in the Chapel and back in the classrooms as well.

CBI Boutique

Dear CBI community:

We are so thrilled with the success of our Holiday Boutique. We are so grateful for the enormous efforts and energy of Marissa Kay and Jamie Sztoser, and their team. We are so proud and lucky to have them representing CBI and can't wait until 2021's Holiday Boutique! This year has been unlike any other year - and we are grateful also to the wonderful vendors who supported us and hope you will continue to shop at their stores and websites.

Please read the message from Jamie Sztoser below reporting the Boutique's results.

L'shalom,
Fran Semaya, CBI President

THE RESULTS ARE IN!

We realize this year just does NOT look like years past...but we still managed to make some magic. Our community helped 33 #smallbusiness vendors reach nearly $20,000 in sales! We posted, we called, we emailed, we decorated our lawn (Card My Yard Lincroft), we had contests and winners and partners and more. And as much as we (and some of our vendors) would've loved to have seen more sales, we are grateful for what we managed to accomplish in 2 weeks and we couldn't have done it without our extraordinary volunteers and staff.

$20k in sales!

THE RESULTS ARE IN!

Nearly $20k in sales and close to $4,000 raised for our kids...during a pandemic!

Congrats to

- Meredith Muffy Barber (@themuffreport) for winning our social media contest - you will receive the big ticket wine prize from GoAved Wine!
- Physhion for being our top vendor and winning a "surprise" prize from Coco Kiki Events!

Virtual Cooking Class with Chef Margo Sunday, February 21 at 11am

CBI's resident chef teaches us to make Purim Treats!

Hamentashen

- 4 cups flour
- 2 tsp baking powder
- Pinch of salt
- 2/3 cup neutral oil
(i.e. canola, avocado etc...)
- 2 large eggs and 1 egg yolk
- 1 cup sugar
- Zest of 1 lemon
- Zest of 1 orange
- 2-3 tbsp fresh lemon juice (half a lemon)
- 4-5 tbsp fresh orange juice (or bottled orange juice)
- Raspberry or apricot preserves, poppy seed filling or prune filling or any filling you desire
- 1 egg for a wash

Note: This is a parve version and the dough itself needs to be made and chilled the day before if anyone is interested in making this along with me. It's very simple - mix all the dry ingredients in a bowl, add all the wet ingredients and zests and mix until well incorporated. Then form into a disk, wrap in plastic and refrigerate.

Chocolate Babka Demo

This will be a demo only. Making a babka is a very time intensive process with three separate risings. Thus it doesn't lend well to a follow along cooking demonstration.
