

This class is open to all, regardless of affiliation. Benefits of this class include the fact that it not bound by geography, and each session is taught by a different rabbi.

Class will meet on Zoom on Sundays from 7:00-8:30 p.m. beginning on October 3 and running through the end of March for a total of 21 sessions. Full schedule and Zoom links will be provided to registrants closer to the start of the course.

Cost is a sliding scale of $180-$540, and includes all books and materials. No one will be turned away for financial reasons.
