The honor due to parents is like the honor due to God.

The most difficult part of being a rabbi is to comfort the mourner. What am I to say? What words can possibly console the inconsolable? How do I respond in the presence of another’s pain?

We read in the Talmud, Rav Pappa said: The primary reward for attending a house of mourning is for the silence, which is the optimal manner for those consoling the mourners to express their empathy” (Berachot 6b).

As difficult as it may be for us in the house of shiva, it is sometimes just our physical presence, a silent presence, that is the most helpful to a mourner. Listen, don’t speak and often a story will emerge about the life of their loved one now gone. When we listen, we will likely hear about the life of the deceased that made a difference while they were alive; you will hear about a life that loved and was loved; a life that moved family and friends to be better in the world. Listen to a mourner’s story and you will provide for them a deep and abiding comfort.

Jews are all about telling stories. Our stories save us. They perform miracles. “When the great Rabbi Israel Baal Shem-Tov saw misfortune threatening the Jews it was his custom to go into a certain part of the forest to meditate. There he would light a fire, say a special prayer, and the miracle would be accomplished, and the misfortune averted. Later, when his disciple, the celebrated Magid of Mezritch, had occasion, for the same reason, to intercede with heaven, he would go to the same place in the forest and say: “Master of the Universe, listen! I do not know how to light the fire, but I am still able to say the prayer.” And again the miracle would be accomplished. Still later, Rabbi Moshe-Leib of Sasov, in order to save his people once more, would go into the forest and say: “I do not know how to light the fire, I do not know the prayer, but I know the place and this must be sufficient.” It was sufficient and the miracle was accomplished. Then it fell to Rabbi Israel of Rizhyn to overcome misfortune. Sitting in his armchair, his head in his hands, he spoke to God: “I am unable to light the fire and I do not know the prayer; I cannot even find the place in the forest. All I can do is to tell the story, and this must be sufficient.” And it was sufficient.”

Mourners in the house of shiva will most likely not have the wisdom of the Baal Shem Tov. They will never attain the spiritual heights of the Magid of Mezritch. They are not like Rabbi Moshe Leib of Sasov. But they can all be like Israel of Rizhyn; they can tell a story. To bring comfort to the mourner, we provide a quiet space for the them to tell the story of the important life of their loved one now gone.

In the next few moments of the Yizkor Service, we will provide the silence for you so that you can provide the story. May the memory of our loved ones be for us a blessing.

During the time that our son Koby was battling brain cancer, and in the time after his death, feelings of grief, anger, and sadness arose in me often. Nonetheless, I managed to continue living life and putting energy into whatever was needed at the moment. We experienced sadness often, but we also had moments of joy, celebration, and the whole gamut of human emotions.

Through mindfulness practices, I’ve come to observe that we don’t have to be defined by our emotions and we can become aware of our feelings and choose our response. Grief has become my friend – a compassionate companion who visits me to offer some relief. I came to understand that I could actually plan on having a good cry. I can schedule myself to grieve.

Through the course of my day, feelings of sadness or anger arise. If it is appropriate or necessary, I express those feelings – I’m not afraid to cry in front of others, in fact I do it often. But, if I am occupied in some other task or simply don’t wish to experience the feelings at that moment, I gently put the grief in what I call “the box.” I don’t imagine it like a safe box or some deep dark place in my heart. It’s more like an old cardboard cigar box on the nightstand – just a place to hold my feelings until a later time of my choosing. Sometimes when I conduct a funeral or a bar mitzvah – I become aware of all the things that are “triggering” me. That’s ok – I’ll just save that for a little later, I say to myself. I don’t need to stuff the feelings down or deny them, just deposit them quietly in the box.

Then, when I’m ready, I open “the box” and revisit the feelings that had arisen for me that day. In our old house, I used to sit in Koby’s vacant room, on the floor in the dark. Then the grief would come and fill my heart and flow like rivers out of my eyes. Melanie came to understand this. She would pass by and ask, “you ok?” “Yes, I’m good,” I’d call out, “just crying... I’ll be ready to watch Netflix in 10 minutes.”

The pain of a child’s death is as awful as you might imagine (and much worse). But I relish when grief visits me. I welcome grief like an old friend who knows me better than I know myself. I invite grief to visit so we can sit together and cry and laugh about the old times. The pain in my heart and the lump in my throat are the most tangible and palpable thing I have left of my son.

During this Yizkor service, open the box of your memories and hold each one for a few moments like an old souvenir. Let the feelings arise as they will, without self-judgement. Give thanks for your emotions, for they remind you that your soul is alive.
I have never attended a Yizkor service. My family observed the custom of leaving the sanctuary during Yizkor as both of my parents are still alive. A few years ago, right before a Yizkor service, my rabbi suggested that I stay in the sanctuary for the service. He explained that while this custom of leaving the sanctuary is rooted in the superstitious tradition of keeping away the evil eye, we also have an obligation to support those who are grieving or remembering those that they have lost.

Rabbi Sharon Brous taught me that the Mourner’s Kaddish is not just a prayer that mourners say when they have lost someone, but it is a conversation between the mourner and their community. The mourner begins with “Yitgadal v’yitkadash sh’mei raba” and the community says, “Amen.” Then, the community responds with a new line of text. The subsequent lines said by the mourner are each followed by a communal, “Amen.”

The word “Amen” comes from the Hebrew word for belief. When we end a prayer or blessing with the word “Amen,” we acknowledge our agreement or belief in the prayer. In the context of the Mourner’s Kaddish, “Amen” symbolizes more than just an agreement, it elucidates that the community understands and is listening to their story. With each “Amen,” the mourner becomes more and more aware of the community surrounding them. This affirmation of loss is the essence of Yizkor. In some ways, experiencing Yizkor together is a communal hug.

Yizkor is not only a time for remembrance but a time to support, comfort, and acknowledge the losses in our community. As hard as it is to feel that sense of community this year, I hope that we will all still be able to support each other and always say “Amen.”

Your Sun Shall No More Go Down

And the days of your mourning shall be ended.

The Two Ships

Two ships were once seen near land. One of them was leaving the harbor, and the other was coming into it. Everyone was cheering the outgoing ship, giving it a hearty send-off.

But the incoming ship was scarcely noticed. A wise man standing nearby explained the people’s reaction. “Rejoice not,” he said, “over the ship that is setting out to sea, for you know not what destiny awaits it, what storms it may encounter, what dangers lurk before it. Rejoice rather over the ship that has reached port safely and brought back all its passengers in peace.”

It is the way of the world that when a human being is born, all rejoice; but when he dies, all sorrow. It should be the other way around. No one can tell what troubles await the developing child on its journey through life. But when a man has lived well and dies in peace, all should rejoice, for he has completed his journey successfully and he is departing from this world with the imperishable crown of a good name.

Midrash

Life’s Lesson

I learn, as the years roll onward
And I leave the past behind,
That much I had counted sorrow
But proved that God is kind;
That many a flower I’d longed for
Had hidden a thorn of pain
And many a rugged bypath
Led to the fields of ripened grain.
The clouds that cover the sunshine,
They cannot banish the sun,
And the earth shines out the brighter
When the weary rain is done.
We must stand in the deepest shadow
To see the clearest light;
And often through wrong’s own darkness
Comes the welcome strength of Right.

A Truth

I hold it true, whate’er befall;
I feel it when I sorrow most;
‘Tis better to have loved and lost
Than never to have loved at all.

Alfred Tennyson

What God Hath Promised

God hath not promised
Skies always blue,
Flower-strewn pathways
All our lives through;
God hath not promised
Sun without rain,
Joy without sorrow,
Peace without pain.
But God hath promised
Strength for the day,
Rest for the labor,
Light for the way,
Grace for the trials,
Help from above,
Unfailing sympathy,
Undying love.

Acceptance of the Unanswerable

“Why did it have to happen?” everyone asks. The answer to this is the test of the individual’s religious conviction. If his faith is deep and sincere, he replies simply: “This is God’s will. This is divine wisdom. There is a higher judgment.” Such a man possesses the faith which comforts and heals.

In others, an important recognition must be made—that there are things to which we have no answers at all, and that it is possible to accept what has happened without knowing why. For them, in that acceptance of the unanswerable, is the beginning of wisdom.

Faced with Trouble

Oh, face to face with trouble, Friend I have often stood, To learn that pain hath sweetness, To know that God is good. Arise and meet the daylight, Be strong and do your best, With an honest heart and a childlike trust That God will do the rest.

Meeting Sorrow Upright

According to ancient Jewish custom, the ceremony of cutting our garments when our nearest and dearest on earth is lying dead before us, is to be performed standing up. This teaches: meet all sorrow standing upright. The future may be dark, veiled from the eye of mortals—but not the manner in which we are to meet the future. To rail at life, to rebel against a destiny that has cast our lines in unpleasant places, is of little avail. We cannot lay down terms to life. Life must be accepted on its own terms. But hard as life’s terms are, life (it has been finely said) never dictates unrighteousness, unholiness, dishonor.

Joseph H. Hertz

Life is...

Life is too brief Between the budding and the falling leaf. Between the seed time and the golden sheaf, For hate and spite. We have no time for malice and for greed; Therefore, with love make beautiful the deed; Fast speeds the night. Life is too swift Between the blossom and the white snow’s drift, Between the silence and the lark’s uplift, For bitter words. In kindness and in gentleness our speech Must carry messages of hope, and reach The sweetest chords. Life is too great Between the infant’s and the man’s estate, Between the clashing of earth’s strife and fate, For petty things. Lo! We shall yet who creep with cumbered feet Walk glorious over heaven’s golden street, Or soar on wings!

The Grave
The grave itself is but a covered bridge leading from light to light, through a brief darkness.

Henry Wadsworth Longfellow

God’s Garden
God looked around his garden
And found an empty place.
He then looked down upon the earth
And saw your tired face.
He put his arms around you
And lifted you to rest.
God’s garden must be beautiful
He always takes the best.

He knew the roads were getting rough
And the hills were hard to climb.
So he closed your weary eyelids and whispered
“Peace be thine.”

It broke our hearts to lose you
But you did not go alone
For part of us went with you
The day God called you home.

We Remember Them
At the rising of the sun and at its going down, we remember them.

At the blowing of the wind and in the chill of winter, we remember them.

At the opening of the buds and in the rebirth of spring, we remember them.

At the shining of the sun and in the warmth of summer, we remember them.

At the rustling of the leaves and in the beauty of autumn, we remember them.

At the beginning of the year and at its end, we remember them.

As long as we live, they too will live; For they are now a part of us, as we remember them.

When we are weary and in need of strength, we remember them.

When we are lost and sick at heart, we remember them.

Sylvan Kamens and Rabbi Jack Riemer
Some people whose parents are living have a custom of leaving the service at this time, but even those who do not yet need to say the personal prayers of remembrance might remain and recite prayers for others as well as join in the communal prayers.

Introduction. Yizkor is a time set aside to formally include in our thoughts and prayers family and friends who have passed away. Though Yizkor is recited on each of the festivals, on the High Holy Days we may feel a special connection to those who have played a significant role in our life’s journey. The themes and somber ambience of the Yom Kippur service make this day especially appropriate for contemplating life and death. Thus, in reciting Yizkor, the veil between the worlds of the living and the dead becomes more transparent, less opaque. May the memory of those we recall be a blessing in our lives.

On this solemn day we each make judgments about the quality of our life. We re-examine our deeds and relationships with our community and with others. We express our yearnings for a new year, a new beginning, a year during which we commit ourselves to work toward bringing health and peace to all. We long for a year when individually and communally we shall strive to live in a way that is more reflective of the ideals that we cherish.

Now, in the midst of looking at our life and assessing its quality, we pause to reflect and to remember, and to dedicate ourselves anew.

God is always before me, at my right hand, lest I fall. Therefore I am glad, made happy, though I know that my flesh will lie in the ground forever.

The deaths of those we now remember left holes in our lives. But we are grateful for the gift of their lives and we are strengthened by the blessings that they left us and the precious memories that comfort and sustain us as we recall them this day.

YIZKOR

When I stray from You, Adonai, my life is as death; but when I cleave to You, even in death I have life. You embrace the souls of the living and the dead. The earth inherits that which perishes. The dust returns to dust; but the soul, which is God’s, is eternal. Adonai is compassionate to all creation, granting us a share in unending life. God redeems our life from the grave, joining us forever in the unending chain of life.

May we preserve the memory of those we love and are now gone, through charity in deed and thought. May we live unselfishly, in truth and love and peace, so that we will be remembered as a blessing, as we lovingly remember, this day, those who live on in our hearts.

—JULES HARLOW

Backwards and Forwards

Yizkor:
Looking backward, we recall our ancestry.
Looking forward, we confront our destiny.
Looking backward, we reflect on our origins.
Looking forward, we choose our path.
Remembering that we are a tree of life, not letting go, holding on, and holding to, we walk into an unknown, beckoning future, with our past beside us.

—HAROLD SCHULWEIS (adapted)

WE RECALL

Some of us recall parents who watched over us, nursed us, guided us, and sacrificed for us.
Some of us lovingly call to mind a wife, husband, or partner with whom we were truly united—in our hopes and our pains, in our failures and our achievements, in our joys and our sorrows.
Some of us remember brothers and sisters, who grew up together with us, sharing in the play of childhood, in the youthful adventure of discovering life’s possibilities, bound to us by a heritage of family tradition and by years of togetherness and love.
Some of us call to mind children, entrusted to us too briefly, to whom we gave our loving care and from whom we received a trust that enriched our lives. So many of us recall beloved relatives and friends whose affection and devotion enhanced our lives, and whose visible presence will never return to cheer, encourage, or support us.
Though they are gone, we are grateful for the blessings they brought to our lives. We are sustained and comforted by the thought that their presence in our lives remains an enduring blessing that we can bequeath to others.
We can show our devotion to them by our devotion to those ideas that they cherished.
O God of love, make us worthy of the love we have received by teaching us to love You with all our heart and with all our soul and with all our might, and to spread the light of Your divine love on all whose lives touch ours. Give us strength to live faithfully, for we are cheered by our confidence that You will not permit our lives to be wasted, but will bring all our worthy strivings to live on, even as we may not see their fulfillment.

The Yizkor service was called seder matnat yad, the service of expressing generosity on behalf of those who have died. That name comes from the closing line of the Torah reading for the final day of the pilgrimage festivals (when Yizkor is recited): “Every person giving a gift according to the blessing they have received from Adonai” (Deuteronomy 16:17). Offering charitable gifts and performing acts of justice, love, and care in memory of those who have died provide us with ways of honoring their memory and continuing their influence for good.

Though I stared earnestly at my fingernail
Yesterday when I was on the #7 bus
I happened to look at the cuticle of my right forefinger
and for a moment
I thought not that it was mine but that it was my father’s—the same small confusion I have from time to time when I catch sight of my daughter in her denim skirt, size 3,
and I feel lean, willowy, in her clothes.
So there I was on the #7 bus overtaken by a longing very close to love staring at the cuticle of my right forefinger.
I remembered how clean and short he kept his nails and suddenly there was the whole man reconstituted from a fingernail standing before me, smiling broadly, his face flushed with pleasure.
But then just as suddenly he was gone and though I stared earnestly at my fingernail
I failed to bring him back.

IN MEMORY OF THE SIX MILLION:

IN PARADISE

Literally, “in the Garden of Eden.” We imagine that the soul, which connects all living beings with their divine source, returns, after the death of the body, to God's care.
A Yizkor Meditation
in Memory of a Parent Who Was Hurtful

Dear God,

You know my heart. Indeed, You know me better than I know myself, so I turn to You before I rise for Kaddish.

My emotions swirl as I say this prayer. The parent I remember was not kind to me. His/her death left me with a legacy of unhealed wounds, of anger and of dismay that a parent could hurt a child as I was hurt.

I do not want to pretend to love, or to grief that I do not feel, but I do want to do what is right as a Jew and as a child. Help me, O God, to subdue my bitter emotions that do me no good, and to find that place in myself where happier memories may lie hidden, and where grief for all that could have been, all that should have been, may be calmed by forgiveness, or at least soothed by the passage of time.

I pray that You, who raise up slaves to freedom, will liberate me from the oppression of my hurt and anger, and that You will lead me from this desert to Your holy place.

IN MEMORY OF MARTYRS:
May God remember the souls of the martyrs of our people, who gave their lives for the sanctification of God’s name. In their memory do I pledge tz’dakah. IN MEMORY OF CONGREGANTS:
May God remember the souls of our friends, members of this holy congregation, who have gone to their eternal home. May their souls be bound up in the bond of life. May these moments of meditation strengthen the ties that link us to their memory. May they rest in peace forever in God’s presence. Amen.

...Exalted, compassionate God, comfort the bereaved families of this congregation. Help us to perpetuate everything that was worthy in the lives of those no longer with us, whom we remember this day. May their memory endure as a blessing. And let us say: Amen.

IN MEMORY OF THE SIX MILLION:
Exalted, compassionate God, grant perfect peace in Your sheltering presence, among the holy and the pure, whose radiance is like the heavens, to the souls of all the men, women, and children of the House of Israel who were slaughtered, strangled, and burned in the Shoah. PSALM 23

A PSALM OF DAVID.

Adonai is my shepherd, I shall not want.

God gives me repose in green meadows, and guides me over calm waters.

God will revive my spirit and direct me on the right path—for that is God’s way.

Though I walk in the valley of the shadow of death, I fear no harm, for You are at my side.

Your staff and Your rod comfort me.

You prepare a banquet for me in the presence of my foes:

You anoint my head with oil, my cup overflows.

Surely goodness and kindness shall be my portion all the days of my life,

And I shall dwell in the house of Adonai in the fullness of time.

My Peace

My peace is tied by a thread to yours.

And the beloved holidays and glorious seasons of the year—with the wealth of fragrances, flowers, fruit, leaves, and winds, the fog and the rain, the sudden snow and the dew—are suspended on a thread of longing.

I and you and the Sabbath.

I and you and our lives in the last incarnation.

I and you and the lie.

And the fear.

And the breaches.

I and you and the Creator of the heavens that have no shore.

I and you and the riddle.

I and you and death.

We are sustained and comforted by the thought that their presence in our lives remains an enduring blessing that we can bequeath to others. We can show our devotion to them by our devotion to those ideas that they cherished.

O God of love, make us worthy of the love we have received by teaching us to love You with all our heart and with all our soul and with all our might, and to spread the light of Your divine love on all whose lives touch ours. Give us strength to live faithfully, for we are cheered by our confidence that You will not permit our lives to be wasted, but will bring all our worthy strivings to live on, even as we may not see their fulfillment.

—mordecai M. Kaplan, Eugene Kohn, and Ira Eisenstein (adapted from Mahzor Hadash)
Mourner’s Kaddish

May God’s great name be exalted and hallowed throughout the created world, as is God’s wish. May God’s sovereignty soon be established, in your lifetime and in your days, and in the days of all the House of Israel. And respond with: Amen.

May God’s great name be acknowledged forever and ever!

May the name of the Holy One be acknowledged and celebrated, lauded and worshipped, exalted and honored, extolled and acclaimed—though God, who is blessed, b’rikh hu, is truly far beyond all acknowledgment and praise, or any expressions of gratitude or consolation ever spoken in the world. And respond with: Amen.

May abundant peace from heaven, and life, come to us and to all Israel. And respond with: Amen.

May the One who brings harmony on high, bring harmony to us and to all Israel [and to all who dwell on earth].

And respond with: Amen.

Mourners:

In Memory of the men and women of the United States Armed Services who lost their lives during the past year.

In Memoriam
They are not dead, our sons who fell in glory
Who gave their lives for Freedom and for Truth.
We shall grow old, but never their great story.
Never their gallant youth.
In a perpetual springtime set apart,
Their memory forever green shall grow,
In some bright secret meadow of the heart
Where never falls the snow.

Joseph Auslander

In Memory of the Israeli citizens and the soldiers of the IDF who lost their lives defending their people and the State of Israel.
Thank You to our Plus Level Members

We acknowledge the following people for their dedication and commitment to the HEA through their generous Plus Level Memberships. Their additional contribution ensures the HEA is able to continue offering engaging programming, meaningful worship and sustain our policy of “never turning a child away from the religious school or a person away from membership because of financial need.”

Front Cover
The photograph on the front cover, taken by Neil Rosenfeld, is of the Ark in the Sanctuary. The Ark was dedicated by Jordon and Essie Perlmutter and Family and was designed by Ira Sherman. Pictured above the Ark is the Ner Tamid, Eternal Light, created by artists Jay Wolf Schlossberg-Cohen and Lucinda Shaw. The design of the light is symbolic of Keter or Crown and mystically represents the earthly domain of God.

Back Cover
The photographs on the back cover, taken by Janet Purvis, are of the Witkin Family Windows, by artists Jay Wolf Schlossberg-Cohen and Lucinda Shaw. The windows include images of Jewish holidays, prayers, mysticism, as well as the history of the Hebrew Educational Alliance. The windows, dedicated April 29, 2000, were a gift to the congregation by the Witkin family given in memory of Lou Witkin and in honor of Ann Witkin.
