Make the Old New and the New Holy

Rabbi Daniel A. Schwartz

In the January 2020 Scribe, we announced that in September, we would be using a new machzor – a new High Holy Day prayerbook. Unlike the red Gates of Repentance, the new prayerbook would ensure that the language used in our sanctuary would be consistent among everyone in attendance – something it had not been.

Little did we know that a pandemic was looming which would postpone its introduction and use. It was decided that change in an uncertain time would add difficulty to an already complicated time. So we waited. And in 2021, again, we waited.

For our High Holy Days this year, we are excited to share that we are finally introducing and will be using the Reform Movement's new machzor, Mishkan HaNefesh, "Sanctuary of the Soul."

Though we are looking forward to literally being on the same page, we are even more excited about a prayerbook whose language reflects who we are and contemporary beliefs. You see, when Jewish prayerbooks are composed, we often begin with fixed texts in Hebrew. Editors and composers will then read, delete and add to ensure that the liturgy speaks to present beliefs and circumstances.

... we hope the entire work will make these Days of Awe even more special and holy.

Next, they work on translating the texts and inserting additional poetic readings. Here, too, is an opportunity to make sure the prayers resonate with our modern sensibilities. In the end, the hope is that all who use it will find new meaning and inspiration in both the prayers that were written thousands of years ago and those that were composed specifically for the prayerbook.

This idea reminds me of a popular teaching by Rav Kook, the first Ashkenazi Chief Rabbi of what would eventually become the state of Israel. In reference to Biblical agricultural commands, he wrote, "The old shall be made new, and the new shall be made holy."

This is our hope with our new machzor. With Mishkan HaNefesh, we hope that the ancient prayers with which we are familiar will continue to roll off our tongues and that we will find deeper meaning in them. We hope that the newly translated and composed prayers provide us with new insights and opportunities to reflect and grow. And we hope the entire work will make these Days of Awe even more special and holy.

To help this become a reality, as you will read in the pages that follow, thanks to the estate of Jan Landsberg, z"l, copies of Mishkan HaNefesh will be available for everyone in attendance in our pews.

Additionally, we will have copies available for purchase for anyone who would like their own set. And, feel free to drop by Temple during normal office hours to thumb through the book.

In addition to the prayerbooks being available, during the Hebrew month of Elul, there is a tradition of beginning preparations for the High Holy Days. We will be kicking off that period with a series of lunch and learns and evening Zoom sessions to learn about the evolution of our liturgy and our new prayer book. This Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur we look forward to making the old new and the new holy with you.

A Librarian's Legacy

Brian D. Fishman
Executive Director

As Rabbi Schwartz shared in his cover article, we are so excited to finally be making the transition to the Mishkan HaNefesh prayerbooks for the High Holy Days! It has been something that we have been contemplating for literally years! It is such a positive feeling seeing something like this come to fruition. And this wouldn't have been possible without the generosity of Jan Landsberg (z"l).

I didn't have the opportunity to get to know Jan although the photo (that I took) of her scribing her letter in the Torah we created is carefully placed in my office. As Rabbi Moskowitz likes to point out, she is always watching over me. I know that she was a librarian – literally a woman of books – and she had a very special relationship with Temple. What I've come to realize is that Shir Shalom was her family. This was the community not only that she treasured, but where she very much felt at home.

... she was a librarian – literally a woman of books – and she had a very special relationship with Temple. What I've come to realize is that Shir Shalom was her family. This was the community not only that she treasured, but where she very much felt at home.

Jan was one of the first people to commit to Temple's Vision 2020 Program, which is Shir Shalom's vehicle for testamentary giving. Her hope was that one day her generosity would make an impact for our temple. When Jan passed away in the Spring of 2019, the magnitude of her gift showed us all that her dream would very much become a reality. So incredibly generous!

One of the challenges before the Board in the decision to move to these new prayer books was figuring out how best to make this happen. The hope was to find a way so that we all could benefit from using this machzor while not having to burden everyone with an additional expense. In hearing of the need, Jan's closest friends who brought her gift to Temple all agreed she would have been honored to see this possibility. As a result, we were able to purchase books for our congregation so that everyone who attends the High Holy Day services will have one to use. Amazing!

This is a perfect example of the impact that a testamentary gift can have. There are countless ways to set this up. As we talk about securing our future, no doubt this can have a dramatic effect on the what awaits the next generation. As you can imagine, juggling the finances of Temple can be challenging. Dues, security fees and SHORESH tuition do not generate enough revenue to balance the budget and we count on the generosity of our members through donations to even things out. Testamentary gifts, quite possibly, are the easiest way to give.

If you are interested in joining the Vision 2020 group and setting up a testamentary gift to benefit Temple and have any questions or I can help with anything else, please don't hesitate to contact me.

Shir Shalom Believes in You

Learning Director

“Fight for the things that you care about but do it in a way that will lead others to join you.”

– Ruth Bader Ginsberg

Anybody remember selling lemonade at the end of their driveway? There seemed to be neighbors that supported the cause, stopping to buy a cup of lemonade even though they weren't thirsty, and the lemonade probably was awful. Those that stopped knew it was important to the kids and fostered the “I believe in you” concept.

A lot has changed since lemonade stands existed. Documenting any of the reasons would take more than the length of this article allows. Parents and children need more experiences that can offer them the sense of “I believe in you.” Shir Shalom has always offered these experiences and now we are screaming it from the roof tops! Literally, with the building additions that include a new preschool setting, assorted classrooms, and meeting places the connections are endless.

There is something for everyone to stay connected, empowered and grow. I can vouch for the early learning piece. The Learning Center has programming for families with babies through five-year-olds. Our Bim Bom Baby program is for babies through 5 year olds and their favorite adults. Fall enrollment for our preschool is going on right now. Keep an eye out for more information as we hang out at local community splash pads.

And there is more to come!

We are here for you!

Hamnet | Maggie O'Farrell

England, 1580: The Black Death creeps across the land, an ever-present threat, infecting the healthy, the sick, the old and the young alike. The end of days is near, but life always goes on. A young Latin tutor – penniless and bullied by a violent father – falls in love with an extraordinary, eccentric young woman. Agnes is a wild creature who walks her family's land with a falcon on her glove and is known throughout the countryside for her unusual gifts as a healer, understanding plants and potions better than she does people. Once she settles with her husband on Henley Street in Stratford-upon-Avon, she becomes a fiercely protective mother and a steadfast, centrifugal force in the life of her young husband, whose career on the London stage is just taking off when his beloved young son succumbs to sudden fever.

The Midnight Library | Matt Haig

Somewhere out beyond the edge of the universe there is a library that contains an infinite number of books, each one the story of another reality. One tells the story of your life as it is, along with another book for the other life you could have lived if you had made a different choice at any point in your life. While we all wonder how our lives might have been, what if you had the chance to go to the library and see for yourself? Would any of these other lives truly be better? Nora Seed finds herself faced with this decision. Faced with the possibility of changing her life for a new one, she must search within herself as she travels through the Midnight Library to decide what is truly fulfilling in life, and what makes it worth living in the first place.

Social Action News

Sallyjo Levine | TSS Social Action Committee Chair

In the last several months we have been working on the Noah Project, making complete lunches for the homeless population near Comerica Park. We had the help of the Pine Hill Congregational Church and our ladies get together to assemble the sandwiches, fruit, drinks, cookies and chips.

We were just afforded the opportunity to collect clothing that was donated by customers of the store Guys and Gals. Linda Ketterer and several of her church volunteers worked tirelessly with Diane Jacobs and me to go through dozens of large black bags filled with clothing and toys. The recipients of this largess were the Oakland County Foster Closet, the Detroit Precinct 9, and several other clothes closets. Several of our members also went to the Foster Closet and sorted clothes.

Diane and I invite you to become a part of the Social Action Committee. Please reach out and join us.

A loss within our community is a loss no matter where it occurs, and we wish to extend our support and sympathy during this difficult time. To have a family member's name read during the Shabbat Service and Sunday morning minyan of their yahrzeit, please go to www.shirshalom.org/form/shabbat-yahrzeits.

Many of our members have asked to be informed about a death in our congregational family in a more timely fashion than the bimonthly publication in our Scribe. Call Temple at 248.737.8700 to sign up for e-mail notifications of Shir Shalom families' funerals sent directly to your inbox.

SIGN UP FOR DAILY FUNERAL SERVICE EMAILS

The Detroit News and Free Press have cut daily delivery to three times a week, but you can sign up to receive daily email each day updating current and new services in our community. To sign up, please visit:

The SSTY Effect

As a parent of a high school senior, I have found these past few months to be a whirlwind of award ceremonies, last banquets, and final performances. Of course, each was special to my daughter and to us. But I am not exaggerating when I say that our very own SSTY high school graduation blew us all away. It got me thinking that many of our families most likely do not know that their kids are missing out on something truly fantastic. I suspect that the generational stigma of a stern (out of touch) religious high school program has shaped some thinking. But I assure you that our Sunday night program is entirely relevant, fun and social. At a time when teen life can be so challenging, it is intended to offer support, direction, and strength. Last month's SSTY graduation service proved this for everyone in attendance.

Allison Parr
President

Each graduate got up and spoke from the heart about their SSTY experience. The reflections were personal and poignant. One graduate said SSTY offered her the strength to cope with difficulties of the coming week. Others talked about Sunday nights being an anchor at the end of their week, as an opportunity to process our world's difficulties among friends. Others mentioned Sunday night school as the antidote to Covid's isolation. Each graduate mentioned that our Sunday night school gave them an extra network of people and fostered an added sense of belonging to their daily lives.

My own daughter surprised me with her heartfelt graduation reflection. She shared that at the time of the Tree of Life Synagogue shootings she was at her school play rehearsal surrounded by friends and classmates. But for her, the horrific events felt even more traumatic as her peers carried on rehearsing, seemingly unfazed by the anti-semitic violence. She recounted that when she attended SSTY the following day, she was "finally able to exhale." She went on to explain that on that Sunday night, she truly needed SSTY's safe space to process her feelings among the support of peers who understood.

My daughter's words at the SSTY graduation underscore and affirm my thinking. I believe the beauty of Shir Shalom is that it offers us all the power of belonging. With this in mind, if you have a highschooler, I urge you, parent to parent, to take a leap and make your student try our Fruman Youth Program's SSTY on Sunday nights. Just ask our Shir Shalom teens who have. Their resounding answers are that within no time, the "have to give it a try" inevitably becomes a "would not miss it" situation!

I hope to see you at our outdoor picnics and services this summer. Please feel free to reach out to me with your thoughts and comments at alparr617@gmail.com or 248-931-6832.
