RABBI DR. GIDEON M. GOLDENHOLZ

The 15th day of the month of Shvat is the new year for trees. This year it is celebrated on January 25, 2024.

Tu BiShvat became the date for calculating the beginning of the agricultural cycle for the purpose of biblical tithes, and also marks the beginning of the season in which the earliest-blooming trees in Israel (namely the almond trees) begin to bloom, signifying a new fruit-bearing cycle.

In the Middle Ages the custom developed to celebrate Tu BiShvat with a feast of fruits, and in the 16th century the Kabbalist Rabbi Yitzchak Luria and his students instituted a Tu BiShvat Seder (in the image of the Pesach Seder) in which the fruits and trees of the Land of Israel were given symbolic meaning. These customs have been renewed in modern Israel, and are widely celebrated by religious and secular alike, due to a deep connection to the land in Israeli society. This day is also celebrated as an ecological awareness day, and trees are often planted in festive ceremonies.

The Torah in Genesis Chapter 2 describes humans and their place in the Garden of Eden. The first person is set in the Garden “to work it and take care of it.” The two Hebrew verbs used here are significant. The first – le’ovdah – literally means “to serve it.” The human being is thus both master and servant of nature. The second – leshomrah – means “to guard it.” This is the verb used in later biblical legislation to describe the responsibilities of a guardian of property that belongs to someone else. This guardian must exercise vigilance while protecting and is personally liable for losses that occur through negligence. This is perhaps the best short definition of humanity’s responsibility for nature as the Bible conceives it.

We do not own nature – “The earth is the Lord’s and the fullness thereof.” (Tehillim 24:1) We are its stewards on behalf of God, who created and owns everything. As guardians of the earth, we are duty-bound to respect its integrity.

PRESIDENT CHERI ROTHSCHILD

As this is my last bulletin article as the president of Temple Sinai’s Board of Trustees, I have much to reflect on. When I took this position two years, I was excited by the new challenges I faced. My goal was to make Temple Sinai the best it could be. Today I am very proud of that which has been achieved, that which I have learned, and most of all the many people who assisted me along the way.

~ I learned to be a prouder Jew from the Rabbi whose patience, encouragement, and trust have advanced my Jewish knowledge.

~ I learned that I could rely on Rosanne any day, anywhere and at any hour to provide just the right advise. She is truly a professional administrator and has become one of my dearest friends.

~ I learned to trust my predecessors who were always there to help me with major decisions and difficult tasks. Special thanks to the Barrys, Sylvia and Miriam.

~ I learned finance and budgeting (or rather attempted to learn) as much as I could from Jackie Greenberg, our treasurer, who, along with Marcie in the office, made sure we had a balanced budget, made our payments on time, and enabled the synagogue to remain debt free.

~ I learned that the future of Temple Sinai depends on new leaders with new visions who are willing “to step up” and volunteer their time... Members like Janet Workman and Hugh Goldstein.

~ I learned from our Early Childhood Education team under Lina’s direction that handling crises and offering quality instruction takes lots of time and “out-of-the-box” thinking.

~ I learned that, when I made a mistake, there were veteran members of our community there to gently and encouragingly help me along... a special thanks to Lloyd Edelstein.

~ I learned about our maintenance and building, not only from Alberto, but from Bob Patron as well.... from special permits to negotiating contracts and more. And I learned that nothing is impossible from termite tenting our huge sanctuary building to replacing the plumbing underneath it.

~ I learned to respect loyalty and commitment as daily minyan occurred every day on Zoom with members located around the state and around the world. A special thanks to Gilda Oran

~ I learned that an inactive arm of the temple can be reborn and given a new name with a multitude of activities.... a special thanks to Joan Lefkowitz.

~ I learned that I could “lean-on” my life-long friends and temple members whenever I needed them... a special thanks to Joe and Joan Esterson.... from bima to buffet.

~ And I learned from my “chief counsel” and “life’s partner” to question, research, and to compromise when all else fails. Thanks Ron!

I’d like to conclude this message thanking all of you for the honor of serving as your president and by inviting you to attend the hybrid Temple Sinai Annual Meeting on Sunday, January 28th when I will hand over the gavel. A sponsored brunch will be served afterwards.

*Shalom

FROM THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

Rosanne Mendelowitz

Happy New Year! As we welcome 2024, I am excited for a successful and healthy year ahead for all. 2023 allowed us the opportunity for some long-awaited reunions as a community! We came together to celebrate Shabbat, special events and, of course, many holidays, including our fantastic Chanukah event to round out the year. We have all embraced a new appreciation for being together with our Sinai friends and family and as we step forward into a new year, we will continue to reflect that same momentum.

Our staff and committees are hard at work planning! This bulletin, as well as our website and regular eblasts, will detail all of our events and celebrations. We look forward to seeing more and more of you back on campus!

Be sure to Save-the-Date for...PURIM! Let's celebrate this festive holiday together as one Sinai Family! Please join us for Megillah Reading on Saturday, March 23rd at 8:00 p.m. and our amazing, better-than-ever Purim Carnival on Sunday, March 24th!! More details will follow soon.

The Temple Sinai Annual Meeting will be held on Sunday, January 28, 2024, at 10:00 a.m. via Zoom. A link for this meeting will be sent a few days prior.

I encourage all our Sinai members to please open and read the emails we send, as they contain important information on all that is happening! Don't hesitate to reach out to any of us in the office; we are here for you!

Stay well!

All the best

KASSELMAN SCHOOL NEWS

Lina Jezo, ECE Director

It is hard to believe that we are halfway through the year! Where has the time gone? We are thrilled to have more families join our Sinai family as we start the new year! We are grateful to all the families that attended the Temple Hanukkah dinner and our ECE Hanukkah performance! The gathering of all our ECE families was wonderful.

With great pleasure, we announce that registration for Summer Camp 2024 will open this month! We will also offer an early bird special for the 2024-2025 academic year registration and summer camp enrollment! Enrollment fills up quickly, so be on the lookout for our email and ClassDojo post!

Every Friday during the academic year, we will still hold our ECE Tot Shabbat in our sanctuary. Our ECE families are always welcome to join us for an enjoyable interactive Shabbat with all of our students, which includes live music performed by Marcelo - a great pianist and guitarist. Every week, kids put a lot of effort into earning a mitzvah, and on Shabbat, they are honored with an award ceremony. These days, we provide after-school enrichment programs in soccer, swimming, cooking, Spanish, S.T.E.M., ballet, and Israeli dance in addition to Judaica, and physical education.

I'd like to give you a glimpse into my approach to early childhood education as well as a day in the life of your preschooler at Sinai. Numerous studies have demonstrated that kids who receive early childhood education perform better in high school and college and are much better equipped for elementary school. They also have considerably superior social abilities. I want each one of you to know that your kids are developing and learning while they are here, even during playtime. Our curriculum aims to bring out the best in each of our pupils. Our preschool days are packed with planned activities. It includes morning greetings (including a sign-in activity), "work time," small, and large group activities, message boards, snacks, lunch, clean-up, outdoor, and recall times. We also guarantee to incorporate Judaica studies through Shabbat, holidays, and daily prayers.

We offer a comprehensive weekly curriculum that includes skills and objectives, encourage family involvement in school events, hold parent conferences to discuss each child's development and exchange ideas for bringing classroom learning into their homes. Teachers report that as a result, parents are more aware of their children's growth and learning. Our main objective is to provide a healthy, safe learning environment that fosters growth. We anticipate that your youngster will: express their feelings and interests; feel comfortable and independent in achieving their objectives; have a good attitude toward the joy of learning and be driven to study. Do not hesitate to ask us questions concerning your child's learning and activities daily. Knowing about your child's home life will help us support him or her more effectively. By collaborating, we can help your child be on the right path to a happy, healthy childhood filled with exploration and discovery.

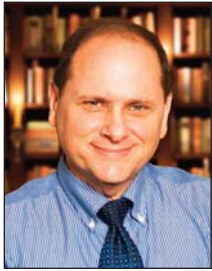

We're excited for an amazing remainder of the year! We at Temple Sinai are eternally grateful to all ECE families for their unwavering support. Best regards,

Lina Jezo

RELIGIOUS SCHOOL NEWS

Eliot Tillinger, Director

Winter months are filled with engaging, fun packed learning activities. Sincere gratitude to our religious school teachers; they majorly invested their energy and expertise to ensure every classroom enjoyed a wide array of varied holiday activities. Our Intermediate grade classrooms (3rd through 7th) will be immersed in age appropriate, current events, which is designed for students to relate lessons learned.

Parents, please remember to help your children achieve their best potential by investing at least 15 minutes per week reading and/or reviewing the week's lessons with your child(ren).

In February, our students will hand braid and bake challahs. (Hopefully they will save some to bring home!) This will be a rewarding experience for all to enjoy! Please look for further communication about this soon.

Upcoming highlights will include inspiring lessons on the following:

Rosh Chodesh, Tu BiShvat, Purim, Pesach, Yom HaShoah, Yom HaZikaron, Yom HaAtzma'ut and of course Shabbat, Havdalah, Tefillah and more. Every family makes a difference in our school and community's success. Attend our school and synagogue events; it's one of the best investments you can make!

YOUTH GROUP NEWS

AJ Hochsztein, Director

Shalom y'all!

Can you believe it's already the halfway point in the youth group year?? So far, it's been so dang fun and I've loved getting to do all sorts of neat events with the kids. I truly think this has been the best year yet of youth groups! This past semester, we solved a murder mystery, painted some pumpkins, did some of the wackiest olympic games, and caught some donuts. Every event was just so wild and so fun lol.

I'm so excited to be able to share the initial spring calendar with everyone soon! I have already started planning events!! I'm still waiting to hear about the great regional and subregional events coming at us for the rest of the year, but otherwise, everything's coming together for a great second half!!!

I hope everyone has a safe and happy holiday season and I can't wait to see what 2024 has in store for us! Don't forget that the Sinai Stars is open to getting new members at anytime! Please reach out if you want your kid to come to events! The more the merrier!!

P.S. Please follow us on instagram! @templsinaiyouthgroups
