The Real Cost of Pranks

The Talmud equates embarrassing a person publically to a murder, and thus states “It is better for a man that he should cast himself into a fiery furnace rather than that he should put his fellow to shame in public” (Talmud Berachot 43b). I have been taught this lesson repeatedly since I was in first or second grade. On more than one occasion, either as a victim or as a witness, I had the unfortunate opportunity to fully appreciate the pain and agony resulting from public humiliation, but comparing it to a murder seemed a bit farfetched. That was until recently, when we all learned how real it could be when Nurse Jacintha Saldanha became the victim of a radio prank and committed suicide.

"We had the idea for a simple harmless call" said the now infamous DJs Christian and Greig. "At every single point it was innocent on our behalf. It was something that was funny and lighthearted and a tragic turn of events that I don't think could have been predicted" added Christian.

The DJs, who are not likely to be students of the Talmud, are right in their claim that it was hard to predict an outcome of suicide as a result of their prank. I even concede that it seems like there is a missing link between the cause and the effect. But calling their act "harmless" is misleading.

I don't know how radio stations work, but I assume that like any individual or organization, before they execute their plan they take time to consider some plausible outcomes. For such a prank, death would not make the list, but the top 3 would probably be: 1) Someone in the hospital would become a laughingstock, 2) Would be reprimanded by the supervisor, 3) May lose his or her job. The most likely scenario would be all of the above (and I am not even talking about the harm caused to the young royal expecting parents).

Another common theme in the Talmud is the prohibition against onaat d'varim (verbal wronging). In a list of examples (that includes cruel pranks) we learn that the psychological injury caused by words may be worse than a physical injury. Jacintha Saldanha, who dedicated her life to being a nurse and alleviating the physical pain of others, was not able to bear her own emotional agony. The public shame, the fear of losing the respect of her family and friends, and perhaps even her job, was just too much for her to handle.

The biblical phrase “an eye for an eye” was never meant to be taken literally, but it seems like the “harmless” consequences the DJs considered for their prank’s victim, befell upon them instead. They were reprimanded by their bosses, their show was cancelled and their future employment is unclear. They didn’t exactly turn into a laughingstock, as any hint of laughter vanished with the news of Saldanha’s death, yet they will be remembered as the irresponsible heartless pranksters who pushed an innocent woman to take her own life.

Humor is essential to our lives, and pranks are a legitimate way to induce laughter. But before we prank anyone we must consider the price its target may pay. A good laugh should never be a justification for shaming, or stripping one of his or her dignity. I hate to disagree with popular nursery rhymes, but in light of the sad event, a small change is necessary: Sticks and stones may break my bones, but words may even kill me.

B'Shalom,

Rabbi Alon Levkovitz

NOTICE OF TEMPLE BETH AM SPECIAL CONGREGATIONAL MEETING (with FREE Breakfast)

SUNDAY, JANUARY 13, 2013 at 9:30am

The Board of Directors, along with the Men's Club, invite you to a very special meeting on Sunday, January 13, 2013 at 9:30am. The Men's Club will treat you to breakfast, and Rabbi Alon will be our guest speaker. But before we can begin with the program, we have business to do that will only take a few minutes. We cannot take care of this important Temple business without YOU being at this meeting and casting your vote. We need YOU to be present to make a quorum.

Every few years, we take the time to review the Temple's bylaws. The Bylaws committee, with the approval of the Board of Directors, has recommended a few changes.

There are two major changes. One of the changes is to drop the total number of board members down from 17 to 15, which we feel will be a more efficient and effective number. The other change is to increase term limits from 6 years to 8 years which will allow directors a better opportunity to run for executive positions after gaining experience in various areas of the Temple. One minor change is that we have changed language that will allow us to hold our Annual Congregational Meeting earlier than the beginning of June.

We are holding this breakfast meeting on a Sunday during Religious School to make it easy for you to come help us do Temple business (which will not take up a lot of time!), eat with us and hear Rabbi Alon talk as our guest speaker.

I'm looking forward to seeing you at breakfast on Sunday, January 13th at 9:30am.

B'Shalom,
Bruce Cohen, President, Temple Beth Am

CANTOR TANYA GREENBLATT

The music of Israel is as rich and varied as the Jewish people. On Saturday night, February 2nd we'll celebrate the 65th Anniversary of the State of Israel with a Cantorial Concert. From Israeli Art Song by composers trained at the greatest conservatories of Europe before the founding of the State, to popular Israeli folk songs, to the Arabic influences of the Middle East and contemporary popular music, there will be something for everyone. All of the talented cantors who sang with me last year will be here again, along with the incomparable Dr. Alan Mason on piano. After the concert, the performers and the audience will schmooze over a lovely dessert reception.

Hope to see you there.

NOMINATING COMMITTEE

Hal Baseman

Hey!!! Read this important announcement about...

INTRIGUE * ADVENTURE * SWASHBUCKLING ACTION * DEATH DEFYING FEATS * THRILLS

EXCITEMENT BEYOND IMAGINATION

None of these things ever happens at Temple Beth Am Board meetings. But that means we are due. The odds are in our favor. And when it does happen, you won't want to be left out. So, why not consider ...

Temple Beth Am Board of Directors NOMINATION.

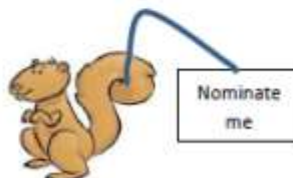

Just ask anyone who is or has been a Board member how rewarding it is. Go ahead, they won't bite. Some of them don't even have teeth. Here are some questions you might be asking:

- What are the qualifications for being a Board Member?
Answer: You need to be a member in good standing of Temple Beth Am.
- What are the duties?
Answer: You need to attend monthly Board meetings, come to Services, work on a committee or two, usher during Services, read announcements from the Bimah on Shabbat, give out B'nei Mitzvah gifts, vote on things like - programs, contracts, committees, and budgets. Sit around and talk about Jewish Synagogue stuff...
- What is the nomination process?
Answer:
 1. Let us know that you want to be considered (before January 21st, 2013).
 2. Attend a ½ hour confidential, Nominating Committee interview.
 3. Get selected by the Nominating Committee and the Board.
 4. Get elected by the Congregation at the Annual Meeting.
 5. Start living the dream.

If you want to be considered for nomination (and who wouldn't?), or if you have any questions about the Board qualifications, duties, or nominating process - give me a call at 561.676.3940, or email me at halbaseman@comcast.net, or let the office know, or tie a note to a squirrel's tail – but do something.

Thank you and B' Shalom,

Hal Baseman,
2013 Nominating Committee Chair

FROM THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

Carol Safran

Hello, hello, hello... Is there anybody out there?

Back in the day when computers were new and the internet was young, I thought technology would streamline my life and make it less complicated. In many ways, the reverse is true. On the one hand, software allows us to make quick work of many tasks (like editing and producing this Scribe). The internet allows us to know our world on micro and macro levels as we never have before. On the other hand, technology can isolate us in silos that prevent us from seeing things unless they're right in front of our noses. So it takes less time to put out the Scribe, but I have no idea if half our congregation is reading it. And it takes twice as much time to post events on the myriad electronic bulletin boards out there as it does to create a newspaper ad, but who reads the newspaper anymore? As for those electronic bulletin boards, who knows if we've chosen the right ones?

My daughters are both "Millennials". They have no recollection of life before the internet. Their primary method of social interface and communication with friends and colleagues is Facebook. They get nearly all their information online. If there's something out there that doesn't have a website or a Facebook page, it's invisible to my daughters. Their friends are exactly the same way. Social media are the basis of their community.

Despite his age, my husband shares many "millennial" characteristics with my kids. He keeps tabs on and stays in touch with dozens of friends and acquaintances via social media. These are real relationships and he invests real time in them. (The failure of Google Circles to catch on notwithstanding) social media allow Peter to keep up with members of his numerous and non-overlapping social circles; something he would have neither the time nor inclination to do if he had to rely on telephone conversations or (gasp!) face-to-face interactions.

Another thing about the millennial generation: research shows that they value disruption. For those of us of a "certain age", disruption may bring to mind protest in the streets, but that's not how the term is used these days. Disruption is anything that causes us to change the way we behave, either as a society or as individuals. New technologies are types of disruptions; that's why millennials are so fast to adopt new ideas like using social media.

Back in the twentieth century, people used to talk about a generation gap – how one could almost predict how people would behave based on their ages. I believe that the generation gap has been supplanted by a technology gap, with the divide falling between those who are perfectly comfortable with communicating electronically and those who like to hear the voice or see the face of the person they're talking with. Most of us probably fall somewhere on the spectrum between these two extremes.

In order to remain a vibrant and relevant congregation, we have to understand how to communicate effectively with each other. So here's the challenge: With all the different ways that we communicate today, what is the best way to keep YOU informed?

If you're reading this article, please let us know how we should be communicating with you. (It's important we hear from people who don't read the Scribe, too, so please help me get this question out there.) Email me. Call me. Get a conversation going on the Temple Beth Am – Jupiter Facebook page. Looking forward to hearing from you!

Temple Beth Am Men's Club wishes everyone a Happy and Healthy New Year "2013". A hearty thank you everyone for supporting our Men's Club activities in 2012. The Men's Club is committed to supporting our Temple whenever our help and support is needed. The only way we can continue to offer programs and activities is for you to show your support through your attendance.

In the last 3 months we've held several very successful programs. The Deli Dinner, which over 100 people attended, the presentation by the League of Women Voters, and the breakfast speaker from the Anti-Defamation League. These programs were interesting, well attended and offered lots of social interaction. We have received very positive feedback on our events.

On December 5th we conducted another "Men's Night Out" when we gathered at the Square Grouper restaurant. The food charge was $5 and drinks were on our own. Approximately 17 men attended. A wonderful time was had by all.

On Sunday, December 9th the Men's Club, under John Marzina's guidance, made and served the food for the Chanukah party. His team did a great job and there was food aplenty.

January Events

Sunday, January 13th: Two things are happening this morning. There is a very brief Special Congregational Meeting to approve a few changes to the bylaws, followed by a breakfast provided by the Men's Club where we will have a "One on One with Rabbi Alon". There is no charge for this breakfast, but an RSVP would be appreciated. Please RSVP to TBAMENSCLUB@gmail.com or by phone to Jerry Holinstat at 630-0297.

Friday, January 25th during Friday Night Services at 6:30pm: The Men's Club has arranged for a guest speaker from the US Holocaust Memorial Museum during the Service. Kyra Schuster, Curator of Arts and Artifacts at the Museum will join us and discuss the previously untold story of the American Servicemen who were held as Prisoners-of-War in a German Concentration Camp. This is a story of torture, bravery and survival during World War II.

Saturday Night, January 26th: Mixed Couples/Singles dinner out. The 3 course dinner will be at LeMetro Restaurant in Abacoa. The evening begins at 6:30pm with a cash bar with dinner served at 7:15pm. The cost is $30/person. See flyer on page 11 in this Scribe for additional details.

SISTERHOOD SCOOP

Lois Remick

Sisterhood wishes all its members and Temple family a Happy and Healthy New Year!

A good way to start out the New Year is to join us at both our Paid-Up Membership Brunch on Sunday January 27th, and then at our Krav Maga (Israeli Martial Arts) demonstration/participation event on Sunday, February 3, 2013.

Annual Paid-Up Membership Brunch, Sunday, January 27th at 12:30pm: Send in your RSVP for the Brunch on to TBA, Attn: Sisterhood. We hope you will also bring either your favorite salad, brunch dish, or dessert, enough for 20 people to have a small amount. For those who have not as yet paid their dues for 2012-2013, regular dues is $36; Miriam Level is $50. You have the opportunity to pay your dues at the brunch. See flyer on page 16 in this Scribe for details.

To RSVP for the Krav Maga, please email Lois Remick, lorem47@bellsouth.net or Carol Carswell at carolcarswell509@comcast.net. You may also call Lois at 627-7736, or Carol at 776-9239.

Events on the horizon are the Sisterhood Shabbat on Friday, February 15th, and our Morikami Museum/Lunch event on March 7th. Please see flyer on the next page to RSVP for the Morikami Event.

If it appears that Sisterhood has packed the calendar with events, you are right! Now we want to see our members coming out to support and enjoy these programs.

We welcome all members to our monthly meetings held on the first Thursday of the month (unless that Thursday is a holiday) at 7:00pm in the Social Hall. By coming to the meeting, you have the opportunity to help plan future events. Your input in planning is important...so we hope to see you on Thursday night, January 3, 2013 at 7:00pm.

B'Shalom

BOOK CLUB

Carole Meshil

The next meeting of the Book Club is on January 14, 2013 at TBA at 10:30am and we welcome everyone to join us. We will be discussing Unorthodox: The Scandalous Rejection of My Hasidic Roots by Deborah Feldman.

This is a rare glimpse into the Satmar world, unique among books because the author is the rare person who got out. She, also, had the courage or personal agenda to write about it. It exposes the darker side of the Satmar sect through the eyes of a young woman who comes from a dysfunctional family. It should be stated that the Satmar community depicted in this book is far different from Chabad Hasidism which has a more joyous and spiritual bend. This should not be a person's sole source on everything Hasidism. The story is about a culture that turned insular in an effort to survive, and became repressive and oppressive.

Howard Freedland

TBA Family members,

We all have times in our lives when we bite off more than we can chew. We only hope that there are people around that can bail us out at the time. Well folks, I just got lucky.

One of my responsibilities (as whatever my title is this week) was to plan and execute the Chanukah program on Sunday, Dec. 9th. If I said that my business prevented me from doing my usual work, I would be understating it immensely. I was not in town the week before, and was difficult to get with the prior month. Downright surly at times...just overextended. So, you all went to the program, and from what I heard, most if not all people enjoyed it. How did that happen? People stepped up.

Another great example of warm and welcome is when those around you know that they have to be there, and gladly go above and beyond. Carol Safran, Joey Abrin, David Sherman and Maureen Cohen all picked up the pieces and helped produce a great celebration! John Marzina, Rich Remick and Bob Feller handled the kitchen. Gideon Kroyter, Jeremy Ben-Israel and Jared Bucker grilled and served everyone with smiles. The list of volunteers that helped is beyond imaginable...the whole place stood up and helped when there was something to help with. People manned the inflatable slides and bounce houses. Others supervised the art projects. All in all, it took a village.

The teens were fantastic (Jordan Reich, Jacob Cornelius, Arthur & Amanda Gelman) and Lauren Brotsky-Abrin was plain awesome with the kid's art.

Others included Brian Cohn, Len Rubin, Mark Goltzbein, Nina Nemerofsky and Brett Tancer as well as Carol Sleeper, Margot Hauser and Debbie Baseman. I know that I am forgetting some, but please understand, there were so many people. It made me proud of how we operate when we need to.

A special thanks to Liz Cohn for her heady art work.

Thank you all for pitching in to make our Chanukah celebration a success.

SOCIAL ACTION

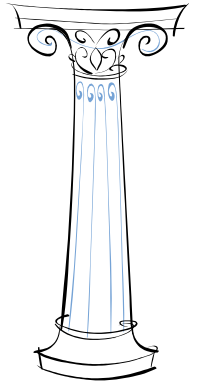

Audrey Ades, Debby Baker & Marcy Isdaner

December is always a busy month for Social Action at TBA!

The Head Start Food Pantry

The Head Start Food Pantry is off to an excellent start. Thank you to all of our Temple members including our Preschool and Religious School students who have been donating non-perishables and toiletries these last couple of weeks. With your continued support we will successfully be feeding 65 Head Start families on a monthly basis beginning in January.

Also starting in January Temple Beth Am will be affiliated with the Palm Beach County Food Bank located on Lantana Ave. The PBCFB will supplement our donations with fresh vegetables, fruits and additional non-perishables. This is a free service to agencies that run soup kitchens and provide food pantries to those in need in Palm Beach County.

The Head Start Food Pantry will be located in the back of Temple Beth Am next to the Youth Lounge. Temple volunteers will be needed in the following areas:

- Sort donations and stack on shelves
- Bag the donations according to the Head Start Family needs
- Weekly drivers will be needed to collect perishable/non-perishable donations from the Palm Beach County Food Bank
- Monthly drivers will be needed to deliver bags to Head Start

COMMUNITY SERVICE HOURS WILL BE GIVEN TO STUDENTS WHO VOLUNTEER THEIR TIME.

For more information on how you can get involved, please contact:

JAFCO Dreidels and our new “Adopted Family”

Jewish Adoption and Foster Care Options has come to depend on us to provide Chanukah gifts to the abused and neglected children who live at the JAFCO village in Ft. Lauderdale. Thank you to everyone who took a dreidel from the board and brought your gifts in on time. We received a lovely note of thanks from JAFCO.

Many, many people came forward with clothes, gift cards and cash donations to help the grandmother who asked us for assistance shortly before Chanukah. As many people know, this Jewish grandmother unexpectedly found herself caring for 10 grandchildren ranging in age from 3-14 years old. This was truly a family in crisis and our TBA family responded quickly and generously. In total, we provided over $600 in cash and Publix cards to this family. We also provided 3 Chanukah gifts for each child. Special thanks to the Sisterhood who lovingly purchased many of those gifts.

Family Promise

Thanks to everyone who attended the Chanukah Party at the Gardens Mall on Saturday, December 8th. It was a successful event; and we truly appreciate your support for Family Promise! If you were not able to attend, look for the date next year.

Thanks also to all of you who are helping to host the families from December 28th - January 6th. You are making a valuable difference in the lives of these families. We will be hosting again the week of March 10th, so stay tuned!

St George’s Soup Kitchen

We will resume our usual evening of serving in January (the third Monday of each month). Please contact Marcy Isdaner at 561-676-5251 if you would like to volunteer. This is a great social action activity for individuals and families.

Also, beginning in January, the Religious School children will be baking and decorating dessert cookies for St G’s. They will be learning about hunger and ways we can help remedy this problem as part of the Religious School curriculum.

RELIGIOUS SCHOOL

David Sherman, MJEd
Director of Education

Shalom!

As we head into the final stretch of this school year, I am pleased with what the students have learned thus far and look with anticipation to the rest of the school year!

Classes resume on Tuesday, January 8th for 3rd – 6th grades and Shalom Chai, and on Sunday, January 13th for the K – 6th grade students.

On Friday night, January 11th, we will celebrate “Grandfriends” Shabbat together with Rabbi Alon, Cantor Tanya, and guest artist Mark Bloom @ 5:30pm and then Friday Night LIVE @ 6:30pm.

Although there will be no classes held on Sunday, January 20th, in commemoration of Martin Luther King Day, we will be holding our 3rd Annual Congregational Beach Cleanup at Carlin Park, starting with a continental breakfast sponsored by the Men’s Club at 8:30am. Bring the entire family and help beautify our Jupiter Beach! (See page 13 for details.)

We will be celebrating Tu B’Shevat on Sunday, January 27th with special meals (seders) by grade, and also by taking a walk around the Temple (weather permitting) to take in the beauty and appreciate our Temple setting.

I have started making my mid-year calls to Religious School families and have had many good conversations with parents thus far. I am learning quite a bit in the process. If I have missed you and left you a message – don’t worry, I will try again. If I don’t reach you, however, I DO want to talk with you – please call or email me and we can set up a time. I just don’t want to fill up anyone’s voice mail with my ‘sorry I missed you’ messages. Another option is for you to grab me in the halls when you come to drop off or pick up your children – this is not optimum as I am often quite busy at those times, but we can at least touch base and set up a better meeting time.

I am always eager to hear your ideas about making our children’s time at Religious School even better for them – please contact me if you have any ideas – for programs, or just general ideas that you think might enhance the experience!

Lastly, please keep the weekend of February 8th & 9th open – we will be hosting our first (hopefully annual) Shabbaton in nature @ Jonathan Dickinson Park. First, Friday Night LIVE @ TBA on Friday night at 6:30pm with guest artist Dan Nichols and then a day in nature on Saturday at the park. There will be no classes on Sunday, February 10th. Please see the flyer on page 19 in the Scribe and be sure to keep up with the breaking news as it comes. This looks like a wonderful way to spend Shabbat with your TBA family – together in nature!

Thanks!
David

Join us for Shabbat Services on the 4th Friday of the Month at 6:30pm for “Simply Shabbat”
featuring a separate Prayer Adventure for ages 5 through 10 in addition to our regular Shabbat Service.
This month’s Simply Shabbat will be held on January 25th.

Shalom! A few weeks ago I sat in a room full of middle schoolers, mostly 6th graders, and attempted to teach them a class on communication – highlighting the “art” of making phone calls. First we brainstormed creative ways to express excitement, then we moved to writing a script (and of course editing/correcting it), clearing your voice to sound great, and finally making the call. As expected, there was a bit of resistance... but not for the reason that one would think. It was not because of the nervousness associated with putting yourself out there, like only a phone call can do – but because nobody returns calls and it’s an “ineffective way to communicate.”

I know I’m going to sound older than I want to but when I was in middle school, give or take 15 years ago, phone calls were not only the best way to communicate – it was really the only way. My family had just gotten AOL / AIM (AOL instant messenger) on Dialup and it wasn’t fully integrated into our lives. As nerve wracking as they were, for my personal life and my youth group – it’s just what we did.

As many of you have noticed, we (the youth group) have started to – and will continue to, make phone calls to your tweens/teens. Although the middle schoolers ended up teaching me a lesson, I will not give up on my “old school” ways. There is something about returning a phone call and being able to convey excitement in your tone that emoticons (above) on a text or caps on Facebook post just can’t convey. Please encourage them to return our calls. I look forward to not only meeting your teen/tween where they are, but actually having a conversation with them ☺

Respecting Grandparents

Children learn by example. If your children are to develop genuine respect for you, they need to know what respect looks like in action. More than listening to your words, they observe how you and your spouse treat your own parents.

An Old Jewish Story

The truth is elegantly expressed in the story of the burgher Schmuël, whose elderly father kept spilling soup on the tablecloth because of his trembling fingers. One evening, the old man dropped a fine teacup and it fell to the floor and broke.

Schmuël declared, "From now on, you will eat in your room Father. Here is a wooden bowl for you to use. This you cannot break!"

The next day Schmuël came home and saw his very young son sitting on the floor trying to carve a chunk of wood. "Dearest Yitzik, what are you doing?" Schmuël asked the boy. "It's for you, father," the son explained, "so you can use it to eat in your room when you are old and your hands start to shake."

For any of us with aging parents, this parable can be chilling. Do we give our parents the respect they deserve, or are we so busy accomplishing things and improving ourselves that it's more convenient to toss them a wooden bowl?

Many children do not share a close bond with their grandparents because they do not spend enough time around them. Arrange for your parents and your child to spend quality time together, preferably performing an activity that the child enjoys.

A great opportunity is to join us for Grandfriend's Camp Shabbat. Better yet, bring the entire family and enjoy Shabbat together. Our Shining Stars and Religious School Kindergarten through 2nd graders will perform at Grandfriend's Camp Shabbat.

Important Upcoming Dates:

- January 1-4 NO SCHOOL—Winter Break
- January 2-7 Winter Intersession
- January 6 Preschool Garden Planting
- January 7 Teacher Work Day
- January 8 School Resumes

Our sincerest thanks to Amy Russell and the PTO for once again sponsoring our Chanukah Latkes sale! This was a great fundraiser and the latkes are so popular that we outsold last year's record!

Get Ready to Create Something Beautiful

January will not only bring in the start of the New Year, but will also usher in the beginning of a new era of sustainability for TBA Preschool. Planting of our garden will begin on Sunday, January 6, 2013, and we welcome anyone who would like to volunteer to be a part of making our garden come to life! If you would like to join our Garden Committee or make a donation to sponsor our garden project, please call Liz Lefkowitz at 561-779-3552 or e-mail her at hydroperez@yahoo.com.

Share The Light Tzedakah Project

The generosity of our Preschool families never ceases to amaze! When asked to donate a gently used toy to benefit our friends at the Jupiter Head Start Program, our preschoolers and parents responded with a resounding, "Yes!" Our collection box overflowed with toys that were loved by one child and are sure to be loved now by another. Even better, our children have made the holiday brighter for someone their own age who might otherwise go without. We are truly proud of how selfless our preschoolers are, and that they each know to "Do the Right Thing!"

Registration for Summer Camp 2013, and Fall 2013, will begin in the middle of January, so keep watching for additional information. Registration for both the summer and next school year will be open first to currently enrolled students who will be returning, and will be offered to new students to TBA sometime in February. Also, be on the lookout for information about our special themed summer intersession!

JANUARY 19, 2013 BAR MITZVAH OF BENJAMIN FRIEDMAN

It is with great pleasure that we announce that our son, Benjamin Forest, will be called to the Torah as a Bar Mitzvah on his birthday, January 19, 2013. Benjamin is in 7th grade and attends the Arthur I. Meyer Jewish Academy along with his sisters Sara and Laura. Ben enjoys bicycling, skiing, and camping, but his two great passions are playing alto saxophone and producing iPad movie productions with his schoolmates. He can't wait to return to music camp in Maine as soon as the school year ends.

Benjamin began playing saxophone just over a year ago with the inception of the Meyer Academy Middle School Band. He plays by ear, and the first song he taught himself to play was the Hatikvah. It wasn't long before Meyer faculty began asking him to play Hatikvah at school functions. It was natural for Ben to choose to incorporate his musical talent as a key component of his Mitzvah project. Ben is arranging to visit local Jewish senior living facilities to play Shabbat for residents on Friday nights.

We have watched Ben's strong Jewish identity blossom over the years with tremendous pride. Surrounded by loving family and friends, we joyfully celebrate as Benjamin embraces the tradition of l'dor v'dor as a member of the adult Jewish community,

Robert and Pamela Friedman

JANUARY 26, 2013 BAT MITZVAH OF KAYLA PROLOW

It is with great joy and pleasure that we announce that Kayla Amanda Prolow will be called to the Torah as a Bat Mitzvah on January 26, 2013.

Kayla is a seventh grader at The Benjamin School and enjoys singing, dance, cheerleading, basketball, and spending her summers at the Jersey Shore. Kayla is very social and thoroughly enjoys spending time with her friends and family. It has been such an amazing journey to watch Kayla as she has transformed into such a bright, spirited, loving, and positive young lady.

Kayla was very touched by the number of students in our community who are hungry on the weekends, and has chosen to work with Blessings in a Backpack for her mitzvah project. This organization helps feed the children in our public schools who are on the Free and Reduced Price Meal program. For many of these children, school meals are their only meals. Every Friday, students receive their backpacks with staples that require little preparation. Better test scores, improved reading skills, improved health and increased attendance have all been attributed to the success of this program. Kayla has organized fundraisers and is currently adopting a local school in our area to provide these backpacks starting in the new year.

I would like to thank Rabbi Alon, Cantor Tanya, David Sherman, and all of Kayla's fabulous, patient, and inspiring teachers over the years for helping Kayla reach her goal of becoming a Bat Mitzvah. We feel incredibly fortunate to be part of such a warm congregation, and look forward to celebrating this momentous occasion.

As a woman, you play many roles for the people who are most important to you and, by choice or circumstance, wealth manager may be in your repertoire. In fact, in one out of four U.S. households with a net worth of $1 million or more, a woman is calling the shots when it comes to investing and spending money.¹

Since your wealth touches many lives in many ways, it's vital to get advice from a reliable source. At Morgan Stanley, you can expect to work with a Financial Advisor who invests time in understanding your specific situation and has the experience and resources needed to help you prepare for the future.
