A Time for Healing

Rabbi Gregory S. Marx, Senior Rabbi

The fall is a time for doing one particular mitzvah that most of us don’t want to do. It has nothing to do with fasting on Yom Kippur or going to synagogue on Friday night. It has less to do with what one does and more to do with how we rethink our lives. Of course, I’m referring to forgiveness, one of the hardest mitzvot to perform.

We have come to the point that hatred based on our refusal to forgive is motivating citizens to shoot police as they protect peaceful protestors, and prompting police to shoot first and ask questions later. Hatred destroys our hope and robs us of our rights.

Michelangelo was a genius of the first order. He could carve statues that fill our hearts with amazement; he could paint pictures that fill our souls with wonder, but he simply could not forgive anyone who ever hurt him. The papal master of ceremony, Biagio da Cesenae, once dared to criticize his work of art. To seek revenge, he painted the man’s face as the devil in the Sistine Chapel.

Conversely, Abraham Lincoln had a noble heart that allowed him to forgive. There is no president in all of American history who was as mocked and as maligned as he. The South mercilessly ridiculed him. Yet, when the war was coming to an end, Lincoln gave that incredible Second Inaugural Address, in which he said: “With malice towards none, with charity towards all, let us go forward to bind up the wounds of the soldiers on both sides and to care for their widows and for their orphans.” He was a man of great wisdom and heart.

Maybe we don’t like to forgive because we enjoy the taste of revenge. Maybe we hold on to our grudges because we maintain a sense of “I’m better than him.” Refusing someone’s apology gives us a certain amount of power over that person and that power can feel good.

But the truth is, our failure to forgive poisons ourselves. One of my favorite stories comes from Rabbi Harold Kushner. A woman once came to him, and poured out her anger against her husband. “Do you know what he did to me?” she said. “I got him through medical school and then he left me and married that no good floozy of a secretary?” She explained in gory detail how he had mistreated her and how he had neglected the children and how he had to be chased to pay the children’s tuition. Finally, Rabbi Kushner said, “I think you should let it go.” She resisted. He replied “Forgive him not for his sake but for yours. For ten years, you have been holding a hot coal in your hand, waiting for your ex to walk by so that you could throw it at him. And for ten years now, he has been living a happy life with his new wife and you have been burning your hand.”

As we approach the High Holy Days, let us forgive each other, because our failure to do so, only hurts ourselves. Let us forgive each other, so that, if our lives have to have tsores in them, let it not be tsores that we inflict upon each other, but rather the kind that is built into creation. Let us forgive each other because that is the only thing that will save us on the streets of Dallas, Minneapolis, Baltimore and Chicago.

The poet, Peter Himmelman, says, “I have believed in money, and all I got was greed. I have believed in vengeance, and all I did was bleed. I have believed in fame, and fame turned its back on me. If I had only learned to love, I would have been set free.”
A Jewish Journey

Ira Secouler, Beth Or President

Last May, twenty two members of Congregation Beth Or started a journey that would take them throughout Europe, from Budapest to Prague, through time and Jewish history. My wife Robin and I, were fortunate enough to be part of this amazing group.

We left Philadelphia on a Thursday evening and arrived in Budapest on Friday afternoon. We had arranged for a Shabbat service with two local reform (progressive) synagogues in Budapest. This joint service of three congregations was a joyous and bonding experience that introduced us to wonderful Jewish families of the area. There is nothing like being in a far away place with no connections, and then finding yourself at ‘home’ with fellow Jews. They welcomed us with open arms and allowed us to be part of their community. It was a beautiful and moving experience to pray, sing, and enjoy each other in a Shabbat service, held in Hebrew, English, and Hungarian!

Saturday, Sunday, and Monday were spent touring Budapest. This included emotional trips to area Jewish sites including the famous Dohány Street Synagogue, burial sites, and monuments. Part of a walking tour included a stop at the Jewish memorial along the banks of the Danube River. There we found a display of shoes... shoes of all sizes and shapes. This was the site of Nazi horror, as Jews were tied together, shot, and dumped in the river. Throughout our trip, we witnessed such memorials, but this display was really overwhelming.

From Budapest we boarded our riverboat cruise up the Danube. We traveled to small towns such as Bratislava, Melk, and Salzburg, and larger cities such as Vienna and Passau.

In Bratislava Slovakia, we visited the Chatam Sofer Memorial. This is an underground Jewish burial shrine erected over the graves of prominent rabbis and scholars that ran a Yeshiva in Europe for over 700 years. It was interesting to see how the Jewish people in the area help to maintain, manage, and run the facility, even with limited government support.

In Vienna, we walked to the Judenplatz to see the Holocaust Memorial, which opened in 2000. During WWII, over seventy five synagogues were destroyed and over 240,000 Jews of Vienna were virtually wiped out.

In Prague, we visited the Jewish area of the city, including the area’s six synagogues and the Old Jewish Cemetery, a graveyard used between the 1400s and 1700s with over 12,000 visible tombs. We toured the Jewish Museum with its collections of maps, artifacts and documents that chart the history of Jewish people in the Czech lands.

Finally on our last day, we boarded a bus for a trip to Terezin, a concentration camp established by the SS during World War II, as a deportation site for Auschwitz and Treblinka. This was an overwhelming journey into the horror of the Nazis, as this “false” propaganda town was really the final solution for thousands of Jews, including children. Finally, the day ended with a spiritual miracle, as we entered the “hidden synagogue” in Terezin. This synagogue was created in a home basement, hidden from the Nazis, so that Judaism could continue and Jews, even in a ghetto and deportation camp, could practice their faith.

As we enter the Holiest of seasons with Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur, take a moment to think about the past history of our people, their struggles, their resolve, and their dedication to their faith. May this year bring you good health and happiness. And may we rededicate ourselves to our faith, just as our people have done throughout history.

L’Shana Tova
Where Does God Exist?

Rabbi David Gerber, Associate Rabbi

A wise rabbi gathered his students close to him as they neared the end of their studies. “Where does God exist?” he asked them. His students, on the verge of becoming rabbis themselves, responded confidently “God exists everywhere.” “No,” their teacher said, “God exists only where man lets Him in.”

During the High Holy Days, we are often reminded of the covenantal nature of Judaism. The Torah portion we read during the holidays begins with Abraham sitting at the entrance of his tent. Suddenly he looks up and three men appear before him. Abraham welcomes them into his tent for food and respite. As it turns out, these three men are angels who bring words of prophecy to Abraham and Sarah.

What if Abraham had not looked up to see these men? How many tents did these men pass by before someone noticed? How many people saw them in need of respite and closed their tent prior to their arrival?

We read from this Torah portion as we start the new year, partially because we need to be reminded that we have a responsibility to hold up our end of the bargain in our covenant with God. As the wise rabbi taught his students, it is entirely up to us whether or not God is a part of our lives. We have to be willing to engage in this covenant. We have to work for it.

Jews are taught that we cannot be passive in our pursuit of faith. We cannot wait for inspiration to strike or a life-changing event to enlighten us to God’s presence. For Abraham, it was not a booming voice from the sky that taught him faith, but rather a chance encounter on an inconspicuous afternoon. Abraham had put himself in a position to receive this divine encounter by stationing himself at the entrance of his tent.

So how do we position ourselves correctly to find God? How do we ensure that we recognize the divine when its presence appears before us? Perhaps Rabbi Harold Kushner said it best, “When I pray I talk to God; when I study Torah God talks to me.”

The High Holy Days often bring us a renewed sense of faith. For a few days out of the year we suspend our lives and immerse ourselves in the sacred texts and traditions of Judaism. It is essential that we remember that this sense of holiness can be accessed anytime, anywhere. Our Torah, Talmud, and millennia of philosophical texts are always at our disposal.

Let us dedicate this new year to putting ourselves in position to hear the sacred words of our tradition and allow God’s presence to be part of our lives.
High Holy Days and Reflecting on Surviving Cancer

David Green, Cantor

During this time of the High Holy Days and surviving cancer, I wanted to share with the congregation some thoughts about my experiences this past year. First, I am happy to tell you that at this time, my Non-Hodgkins Lymphoma is completely cured. Modern medicine has enabled me to continue to work during most of my illness and successfully treated this form of cancer. The medical staffs and hospitals, including many physicians who are members of Beth Or, not only provided excellent, professional medical care, but were equally wonderful in their “bedside” manner and “personal” contact with me throughout the treatments and follow-up visits.

Most importantly, I want to thank everyone for the hundreds of emails and get well cards as well as donations to my Discretionary & Music Funds wishing me a “speedy recovery.” Your love and well wishes were so important to my healing and recovery. You kept my spirits and morale very high during some difficult times. I also found that coming to work during my chemo treatments and soon after my surgery kept my mind busy on the passions of Judaism that I love to pursue here at Beth Or. The professional and support staffs of Beth Or were also instrumental in covering for me when I could not be here and providing for the needs of the congregation in my absence.

While the old “fire & brimstone” message of the U’netakeh Tokef is part of our tradition at the High Holy Days, it does not personally speak to me. I do not believe in the God that “predetermines” who is going to live and die and who will have bad and good fortune.

I do not believe that God gave me cancer. I believe, rather, in the God that Rabbi Elie Kaplan Spitz talks about in her book, Healing From Despair. This concept of God is Talmudic in Interpretation. The Rabbis believed that God “views the world as good, but not perfect.” In Rabbi Luria’s description of creation, “God is left incomplete once the divine sparks left behind have become intermingled with the shards of the shattered vessels… We are to partner with God in the work of repairing the world.”

I believe all human beings experience “shattered vessels” in their lifetimes. What is most important is “how” we “choose” to respond to those “shattered vessels.” At this time of reflection during the High Holy Day period, I am so thankful to the Beth Or community for your many gifts of well wishes and support and helping me manage and overcome my “shattered vessels.”

How much time do you spend looking at or thinking about your calendar? For many of us, our calendars figure quite prominently in our lives; we often have many things to juggle, between our own appointments and our friends’ and loved ones’ activities. Add it to the mix the combination of different calendars in our lives — work, family, fun — and all of a sudden, those little boxes fill up fast.

With all of these busy moments, we haven’t even mentioned the Jewish calendar. Our cycle of holidays can complicate our secular lives. Remember last year, when the holidays occurred early in September? As the school director, I had to figure out the best day to start Sunday School and we didn’t start until late in September. This year, the holidays fall at the beginning of each week in October, meaning that we’ll have no Monday or Tuesday Hebrew or Academy for almost the whole month!

While we struggle with how to fill those little calendar boxes, perhaps we can take time to remember that the Jewish calendar is supposed to fill us up. While our other activities can take a lot out of us, the holidays are supposed to put life back into us. Deuteronomy 30:19 reminds us that we are supposed to follow a Jewish life “so that you and your children will live.” And isn’t that the essence of our school? Our children learn and embrace Judaism as a way to enhance their lives, to bring more meaning and fulfillment to it. That way, as they grow older, they can learn that while the calendar can demand a lot from them, making room for Jewish holidays can add to them.

May we all have a year that fills us up and brings us meaning!
We are excited that school is back in session for the 2016-2017 school year. Art is an important part of our ECE program. We are continuing to engage our kids with age appropriate art activities focusing on process rather than product. What does this mean you ask? Our goal is to encourage children’s creativity through their own lens. Process art is letting a child explore materials without a set of teacher expectations and models. What does this promote? This promotes creativity — there is no right or wrong way to explore and construct; the art is focused on the experience and on the exploration of techniques, tools, and materials. The art produced is unique and original, and the experience is relaxing and calming. When finished, a child feels a sense of accomplishment and possesses feelings of ownership. Our children love participating in process art activities and are proud of the art they create.

How can you bring process art into your home? Try these fall themed activities with your young children!

- Take a nature walk, collect fall leaves and small sticks and use them to paint with.
- Collect acorns and pinecones, roll them in paint and stamp them or glue them together to make a fall sculpture.
- Instead of painting pumpkins this year, consider some sensory play with the insides. (Then bake and salt the seeds for a yummy snack!)
Welcome Back, Beth Or Youth!

Jillian Glick, Director of Member & Youth Engagement
Cantor Jaime Murley, Junior Choir Director

At Beth Or there are many ways to be involved and have fun. Two of the best ways to be involved are with BOFTY (Beth Or Federation of Temple Youth) and/or Beth Or’s Junior Choir. BOFTY is open to all members in grades K-12; Junior Choir is open to all members in grades 2 thru 12. Both groups hold social events together and separately.

Junior Choir is an integral part of our family services! They lead our youth and families in prayer in the most joyful of ways! Choir members also get to participate in a welcome back DJ lunch, laser tag and more. In addition to being led by Cantor Jaime Murley, they have a dedicated group of youth leaders known as the Junior Staffers. The choir is a great way to build confidence in leadership and song leading while making friends!

BOFTY members have so many opportunities to make friends and have fun! BOFTY is divided into 4 sub-groups: Bitty BOFTY (K-2), Mini BOFTY (3-5), Junior BOFTY (6-8) and Senior BOFTY (9-12). Not only does each one of these sub-groups have its own monthly activities, but we are also a part of a bigger youth group- NFTY. NFTY is the Union for Reform Judaism’s national youth program. We are a part of the Pennsylvania Area Region (PAR). NFTY PAR hosts events for teens and tweens in grades 6-12, either locally or at URJ Camp Harlam. Our Beth Or youth has an amazing opportunity to connect with teens from all over North America! In addition to that, like Junior Choir, BOFTY is led by a dedicated group of youth leaders- the BOFTY Board. Alex Green is this year’s president.

You may be asking: What next? How do I learn more? How do I register? Those answers are easy!

- Register online! www.bethor.org
- Call us! Cantor Murley and Jillian Glick are available to answer any of your youth questions!
- Come to our welcome back parties on the first day of Sunday School, Sunday, September 11:
  - BOFTY All Youth Kickoff — BOFTY Lounge is open from 9am-1pm with snacks, games, prizes and more!
  - Junior Choir Welcome Back and Parents Party! 1pm-3pm featuring a pizza lunch, DJ, games and an informational parents meeting!

Any way your child wants to find a home at Beth Or- we want to help them! Check the website calendar as we update youth events for the 5777 year. We look forward to seeing you back on Sunday, September 11!

What Is Beth Or Troop Connections (BOTC)?

BOTC is an effort of the Beth Or Social Action Committee that began in 2006. We are dedicated to sending holiday packages to Jewish soldiers serving in the U.S. armed forces overseas at Rosh Hashanah, Chanukah and Passover. There are many ways to participate. Congregants can donate items that are relevant for each holiday, such as macaroons and matzah to help celebrate Passover. Religious School students create holiday greetings, and Brotherhood and Sisterhood support us financially to cover postage and specialty items for the packages. The Beth Or Knitting Circle donates afghans to the Chanukah Bazaar to raffle and the proceeds ensure that each package is filled with as many goodies as possible. To lift the spirits of our servicemen and women, letters are written by Rabbi Marx and Rabbi Gerber.

For the last few years, our packages have been sent to the U.S. AFRICOM (United States Africa Command) which is one of the U.S. Defense Department’s geographic combatant commands responsible to the Secretary of Defense for military relations and operations with the African continent, its island nations, and surrounding waters. It has approximately 2,000 assigned personnel.

BOTC assists in other ways too. Earlier this year, we learned that members of the AFRICOM Command were in need of a particular cell phone that would allow them to communicate with their families but not have the calls traced. Thanks to the generosity of Sisterhood, Brotherhood, and the Beth Or clergy, we were able to support this need.

A vibrant, meaningful, and delicious place

Have you been in the synagogue on a Sunday morning? If so, you have felt the hustle and bustle of a busy building — young people laughing and running to classes, adults rushing to their kids, reminding them to give tzedakah, or other adults chatting on their way to various meetings. Amid this excitement, the Shmear Café has arisen as an oasis in the heart of the synagogue. Located downstairs, we sell delicious New York style bagels, schmears of whitefish and cream cheese; coffee and tea; along with interesting sweet delights, chips and candy. We are a place to meet a friend, your child, or gather for an informal meeting. Cocoon yourself within the heart of Beth Or and enjoy the calmness of the area.

This year Randi Copman, Stephanie Webb, and Laurie Marx will continue the management and coordination of the Shmear Café. Though the café has become a social hub, it is also a vehicle for tikkun olam, repair of the world. Any profits received are donated to various food-related causes such as Meals that Matter and Soup Squad. The café is also volunteer run — coordinated by Laurie Marx (lgsmarx@icloud.com), who is always happy to welcome a new volunteer. Come to see the Shmear Café as a vibrant, meaningful, and delicious place — a place to meet, a place to eat, or a place to volunteer.
A Warm Welcome to Judy Trias

our new Director of Marketing & Communications

We are happy to announce that Judy Trias has joined Congregation Beth Or’s professional staff as the new Director of Marketing & Communications.

Judy is an experienced marketer who has most recently worked as a consultant helping professionalize, customize and improve the effectiveness of her client’s communications — from brochures to websites to social media. Prior to that she held positions of increasing responsibility at PREIT where she became their senior marketing professional responsible for both business-to-consumer and business-to-business communication strategies.

Effective communications are an important part of engaging you, our members, in our community and helping you find the programming and activities that best meet your needs. It is said that, “To effectively communicate, we must realize that we are all different in the way we perceive the world and use this understanding as a guide to our communication with others.” Judy will focus on making our communication relevant and customized to ensure you know about what interests you the most.

Please join us in welcoming Judy to the senior leadership team of our congregation.

Hello to My New Beth Or Family!

Judy Trias, Director of Marketing & Communications

I’ve already met several of you and I am excited to work with such an amazing group of people committed to serving the congregation. In my role as Director of Marketing & Communications, my goal is to build upon the best of Beth Or’s existing tools and add new ways to enhance the quality and consistency of how we reach and engage members with information that is important to you. Whether it is worship services, educational programs, holidays, youth activities, or fun-filled family events, there truly is something for everyone at Beth Or. We want to make sure you are in-the-know and the broader community is aware, too!

Prior to joining Beth Or, I enjoyed a wonderful marketing career rising through the ranks in the shopping center industry, ultimately holding the Vice President, Marketing position for PREIT – a Philadelphia based shopping center company, where I led the corporate and property marketing teams as well as an internal advertising agency.

Two years ago, I became a free-lance marketing consultant so I could follow my passion for directly helping others. I’ve partnered with business owners in small to medium sized companies, start-ups and family-run firms to customize branding, marketing and communications strategies designed to impact their business results. When the opportunity came up to do this for Beth Or, I felt I had come home!

A few fun facts about me:

- I was born and raised in Roslyn and went to Abington High School.
- I studied Communications and Business Administration/Marketing at The University of Delaware, where I met my husband, Jim.
- We live in Montgomery Township with our three children/young adults: Danielle, Alex and Jason, ages 24, 21, and 19.

I’m super excited to roll up my sleeves and get to work!! Please stop by my office to say hello (I’m in on Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays). I look forward to meeting you.
Meet Our B’nai Mitzvah Students

Emma and Sam Baker
September 3

For their B’nai Mitzvah project, Emma and Sam Baker raised money for the Epilepsy Foundation Eastern Pennsylvania by selling concessions at Beth Or’s Summer Movie Series movie nights outside on the Lakeside Terrace. They sold pizza, popcorn, candy and drinks while their friends and Beth Or members enjoyed Zootopia, Princess Bride and The Sandlot on three different nights throughout the summer. They raised over $500 to support their cause. Sam Baker was diagnosed with Juvenile Myoclonic Epilepsy in 2014. Additional donations can be made to Epilepsy Foundation Eastern Pennsylvania, 919 Walnut Street, Suite 700, Philadelphia, PA 19107.

September 10

I have been volunteering with the Beagle Rescue League, Inc. “BRL” for my Bat Mitzvah Project. My family and I love beagles. BRL has a program where they work with laboratories who are releasing beagles of all ages so they can become pets. This program is called “Lab to Leash.” We are lucky enough to have two Lab to Leash beagles: Cosby and Spree. I have been volunteering at BRL with my mom and sister for the past three years. In the past, we had a lemonade stand and donated the money we made. We helped with intakes when new dogs first arrive. My favorite part is playing with the puppies.

This summer I volunteered by going to one of the volunteer’s homes and made the going-home blankets for adopted dogs. In one afternoon I made 10 blankets and delivered them to BRL. I also bathed all of the dogs that were in foster care and helped them learn how to walk on leashes. I am so glad there are rescues like BRL that provide a positive environment and upbeat experiences for children who are diagnosed with cancer. I volunteered and set up a booth at Beth Or. I sold a variety of items including: t-shirts, hats, bracelets, key chains, and rubber bracelets that were provided by Sara’s Smiles. All of the money I raised goes to “Inspirational Kits.” These kits include: coloring books, toys, brain games, and other fun things for the kids to do! The kits also help parents to organize their bills and paperwork. These kits encourage children and family by brightening their spirits and empowering their frame of mind while battling cancer. I’d like to thank all of my family and friends who helped support me. To support Margot, please go to this website: www.saras-smiles.org.

Morgan Tabas
September 10

For Morgan’s Bat Mitzvah project, she decided to donate to 100% non-profit organizations such as: Cradles to Crayons (for children 0-12 years old) and the Laurel House (for women attempting to escape domestic violence). Morgan hosted a clothing drive to collect new and like-new items for a wonderful cause. Morgan has worked hard collecting all kinds of items and necessities to help out women and children who are less fortunate and in need. Morgan has collected all kinds of items: diapers, clothes, toys, school supplies and toiletries. Morgan demonstrated what it means to be committed to a worthy cause without personal gain.

Laili Poisson
September 17

For her Bat Mitzvah project, Laili has been volunteering at Wags rescue adoption events. She is also collecting much needed supplies for the rescue, including dog food, collars, and leashes. She will also be donating a portion of her Bat Mitzvah money to the organization.

Margot Klein
September 24

For my Mitzvah project, I participated in an organization called Sara’s Smiles. Sara’s Smiles is a foundation that provides a positive environment and upbeat experiences for children who are diagnosed with cancer. I volunteered and set up a booth at Beth Or. I sold a variety of items including: t-shirts, hats, bracelets, key chains, and rubber bracelets that were provided by Sara’s Smiles. All of the money I raised goes to “Inspirational Kits.” These kits include: coloring books, toys, brain games, and other fun things for the kids to do! The kits also help parents to organize their bills and paperwork. These kits encourage children and family by brightening their spirits and empowering their frame of mind while battling cancer. I’d like to thank all of my family and friends who helped support me. To support Margot, please go to this website: www.saras-smiles.org.

This past March, I took an unforgettable trip to Israel with my parents, siblings and grandparents. The trip made me feel connected to the land of Israel and I wanted to bring that connection back home. I was able to take photos and video of my journey with a 360 degree camera. During the upcoming Hebrew school year, I will be helping to organize a virtual trip for the students at Beth Or, as well as for the residents at the Abramson Center. Students and seniors will be able to view my pictures and video with the help of a smartphone and cardboard google glasses to give them the sensation of actually being there. In this way, I am hoping to spread my love of this amazing country to others.

Noah Lambersky
September 24
For my Mitzvah project, I decided to raise money for The Crohn’s and Colitis Foundation. My brother was diagnosed with this disease in 2015, and I wanted to raise money because I want a cure to be found. I just want my brother to be able to do all the things that he used to do without being in pain. I raised money by having a bake sale, which was held at the synagogue. I hope the money I raised really helps research to find a cure for this disease.

October 1
For my Bat Mitzvah project I went to the YMCA and donated books to Impact. I also collected gently used and new soccer equipment. The equipment will be donated to children who cannot afford it. This project is important to me because I love soccer. It made realize how lucky I am to have what I have.

Lily Frezel
October 1
My Bat Mitzvah project is collecting school supplies for children that attend Whitwell Middle School in Whitwell, Tennessee. I chose to help because I went to visit the Children’s Holocaust Memorial at the Middle School. It was an incredible trip. From meeting and talking to so many of the students and teachers during my time there, I found out that the teachers buy supplies for over 50 of the students, because their families can’t afford them. I collected over 30 backpacks and lots of school supplies and will be sending them to Tennessee.

For my mitzvah project I volunteered with the Challenger Program. The Challenger Programs are sports programs that are designed for mentally and physically disabled youth to enjoy the full benefits of little league participation in an athletic environment structured to their individual abilities. As a buddy, I helped the players in the field, helped them run the bases and also helped them with batting. I also served as a buddy in the basketball program. I met many great kids and dedicated volunteers. I hope to stay involved with this charitable organization long after my Bar Mitzvah.

My Bat Mitzvah project is volunteering with Mitzvah Circle Foundation. They assist people through tragedy and crisis by providing individualized material support. After learning what people need most, Mitzvah Circle Foundation delivers care packages and provides ongoing assistance. Along with my family, I spent time volunteering in the warehouse compiling items and packing boxes to be sent to families in need. I know that some children do not have the necessary tools to begin the school year. Therefore, I have collected various school supplies from the community and have helped distribute them to families before the new school year. I have made a connection to this foundation in helping the community and I will continue to donate and participate in this wonderful program. Please look for opportunities to support Mitzvah Circle Foundation as your generous contributions will truly make a difference in someone’s life.

Sarah Schleinkofer
October 15
Sarah’s mitzvah project was to raise money for Autism Speaks. Autism Speaks is the world’s leading autism science and advocacy organization whose goal is to change the future for all who struggle with autism spectrum disorder. They are dedicated to funding research into the causes, prevention, treatment, and a cure for autism; to raise public awareness about autism; and to bring hope to all who deal with the hardships of this disorder. For Sarah’s mitzvah project, she sold home-baked goods at two bake sales and helped to organize a walk for Autism Speaks held at Mondauk Park. She also created a social media campaign with her friend called “Every Piece Makes you Special” on Facebook. Through this campaign, people “Like” the Every Piece Makes You Special Facebook
Annabel Hellman
October 29
Annabel is planning to hold a bake sale, as well as solicit donations for Circle of Tapawingo. This organization provides a free week-long Maine summer camp experience in August at Camp Tapawingo for girls ages 9-14 who have experienced the death of a parent. Circle of Tapawingo supports an environment that empowers girls to address their grief while year after year enjoying the adventures and fun of living and playing together. Annabel attends Camp Tapawingo’s 7-week summer program and it is incredibly special to her. She has known about Circle of Tapawingo for as long as she’s been a “Tap Girl,” and is eager to help this amazing organization. Her goal is to raise $1,000 to cover the costs for one additional camper. If you would like to support Annabel’s Bat Mitzvah project, please contact her at lauren_hellman@yahoo.com or 215-340-5025.

This summer I have been busy participating in two activities for my bat mitzvah project. First, I visited the Mitzvah Circle Foundation. Along with my family, I volunteered my time to package boxes of clothing, books, toys, and household items for families in need. Following my Bat Mitzvah, I will be providing art supplies to help children express their creativity through Mitzvah Circle Foundation.

Second, I have been fortunate enough to volunteer as a Counselor-in-Training at Beth Or’s Camp Chaverim. I have enjoyed making a difference in the lives of the children as they have made a difference in mine. I am already excited to volunteer again next year.

October 29
I volunteer at a soccer camp on Friday nights to help the Variety Club fulfill its mission to build independence and self-confidence in adults and children with physical and developmental disabilities.
It is hard to top “Icky Can Be Good” but I will try. I set aside some time this morning to tap out my column, anticipating inspiration from last night’s Beth Or Board meeting. I found inspiration there, and while watching the ESPYS on TV. During the meeting, Rabbi Marx reported that Elie Wiesel came to ask himself after the Holocaust, “Why am I here? What is my purpose?” We all know the answer to his question.

The ESPYS reminded me of the bravery of Jimmy V. and Craig Sager during their fights against cancer. Craig said last night, “If I’ve learned anything through all of this, it’s that each and every day is a canvas waiting to be painted — an opportunity for love, for fun, for living, for learning.” I can identify with Elie, Jimmy, and Craig. While I have never been challenged as they have, when my wife Carol died in January 2014, I, too, asked “Why am I here? What is my purpose?”

Part of the answer has been to become a better brother-in-law and uncle to Carol’s family. When some of my groups needed someone to “step up”, I answered the call. Drake the Cat is grateful that I adopted him. But there is much more we can do to answer the call for purpose. Men who come to Brotherhood monthly meetings will find opportunities for purpose. One item on my agenda is to add more social opportunities for brothers to get to know each other better and build relationships.

A quick personal update: My cardiologist was not able to clear the right coronary artery blockage. However, the two collateral arteries are largely compensating for the blockage. New prescription drugs have cleared up my symptoms.
Create an Extended Family of Sisters

Marilyn Ackerman and Ellen Mirbach, Sisterhood Co-Presidents

By the time you read this, the cooler days of autumn will be approaching with the High Holy Days not far behind. September is a time of rebirth and renewal as Jews. It is also a time to find new ways to connect with the Beth Or Community. We hope that you will find your way to one of our many Sisterhood events! To get the year started off right, join us for an evening of drinks, food & fun at Trivia Night on September 27 at P.J. Whelihan’s in Blue Bell. We also invite you to participate in the Women of Reform Judaism’s Atlantic District Convention from November 3-6 at the Wyndham in Florham Park, NJ. This year’s theme is “Parashat Noach, Visions through a Rainbow, New Challenges, New Opportunities.” You can attend all or part of the Convention. If you have never attended a WRJ Convention, we promise it is a wonderful learning experience as well as a way to meet women from across our region and to celebrate Shabbat together. Contact either one of us if you’re interested in participating.

In addition to honoring a “Woman of the Year,” this year Sisterhood will recognize a “Woman of Valor.” The Woman of Valor will also be honored at the WRJ Convention. All members of the Congregation may nominate a woman for each of these honors. Both the Woman of Valor and the Woman of the Year must have demonstrated support of and contribution to Sisterhood, Beth Or, the community; and, if applicable, her chosen profession. We encourage everyone to submit a nominee. Please call Marian Wolfert (610-825-1620) for further information and to submit your nominee in either category.

We’re also bringing back our Paid-Up Membership event so get your Sisterhood dues in by the beginning of November and there’s no charge to attend! Our program will be held on November 13 and will feature Leah Koenig, author of Modern Jewish Cooking. Leah is a leading voice of the new generation of young Jewish cooks who are reworking traditional recipes.

Please give either of us a call with any questions about Sisterhood events. We hope to see you!

The Klezmatics — On Holy Ground is where a Quaker bassist and Reform Jewish trumpeter, Yiddish language, Hasidic dance, gospel music and Woody Guthrie meet. The feature-length documentary is the crown of a four-year journey alongside the band members, their music and their creative process.

Time Out, New York magazine announced, “The Klezmatics aren’t just the best band in the klezmer vanguard; on a good night they rank among the greatest bands on the planet.” From New York’s Lower East Side to Krakow, Poland, this film shows why.

Don’t miss this documentary of the Grammy-winning band, which has screened in over 70 cities in the US and abroad.

Artist – Susan Stefanski

Opening Reception: Friday, October 14

The Olitsky Gallery is pleased to present the lovely paintings of Susan Stefanski from Friday, October 14 through November 8. Please join us at the opening reception to meet the artist on Friday, October 14, at the Preneig from 6 to 6:30 pm.

Award winning artist Susan Stefanski has studied art at Villanova University and local art centers since 1999. Susan has had solo shows at Thomas Moser Gallery, Waverly Heights, Jenkin’s Arboretum and Villanova University.

Susan’s representational work, predominately landscapes, captures light, color and feelings falling under an umbrella of “God’s Gifts”. She has recently delved into Encaustic Abstract Expression.

Susan says, “I have always enjoyed taking raw materials and turning them into something beautiful. Painting has made me see the world differently, paying attention to shadows and colors like never before. I am more aware of my surroundings and drawn to painting outside. Fields, streams, flowers in the landscape, and shorelines call me to take brush and knife to canvas. I get lost in the cool and warm colors, the soft and hard edges of my representational, slightly impressionistic work. I hope to convey to the viewer feelings of peace, contentment and serenity.”

Even though the weather reports called for storms, the rain held off and our 11th Annual Oy Vey 5K/10K was successful. With over 250 participants running and walking in the race, we raised nearly $10,000 for Congregation Beth Or and STARS of Ambler.

STARS is an after school program that supports the academic, personal, and social development of Wissahickon School District students in grades 3 – 6, primarily living in Ambler borough. STARS provides mentoring, tutoring and nutritious snacks 3 days a week to these students. Several Beth Or congregants volunteer for STARS and it is managed in part by Sally Hurwitz.

The Oy Vey 5K committee led by Steven Wheatman would like to thank all of the committee members and race day volunteers who showed up in spite of the “iffy” weather to help make the event a success.

Celebrating Your Simcha

Our beautiful building provides the perfect place to celebrate your family’s simchas.

For your child’s Bar/Bat Mitzvah, you can host an extended Kiddush following the morning Shabbat service, a family Shabbat dinner before or after Friday night Shabbat worship or a luncheon or dinner party the day of the Mitzvah itself.

Our Sanctuary is a beautiful and spiritual place for a wedding and our Social Hall, Lobby/Rotunda and Lakeside Terrace provide ample space to have an afternoon or evening event to celebrate the couple.

We can also provide the proper setting for other lifecycle events – celebrating a special birthday, baby namings and many more.

Our catering partners on the Approved Caterer List – shown below and published on our website (www.bethor.org) stand ready to provide delicious food for all of these events. They can provide menu options at a range of prices designed to meet your specific needs and budget.

We hope that you will consider having your celebrations at Beth Or. To learn more about hosting an event at Beth Or, please contact Amy Abrams or Genevieve Yanity at 215-646-5806.
