As a synagogue, it is our duty to uphold the principle of Pikuach Nefesh -- the preservation of human life takes precedence over all other commandments in Judaism. With that in mind we have updated our Covid policies in an effort to maximize the health and safety of our community.

All faculty and administration at Temple Sholom were mandated to be vaccinated or provide proof of weekly PCR testing since September. Beginning November 1, we extended this policy to include our Temple members and guests. Please note: these requirements do NOT impact protocols already in place for the Learning Center or the Selma Maisel Nursery School.

Our Covid-19 policies are based on CT Government Regulations and CDC Recommendations, as well as advice from Temple Sholom’s Medical Task Force. We will continue to review and modify our protocols as appropriate and necessary for the community’s health and safety.

The Board of Trustees met and approved the following for entry into the building for any worship service, program or social event (ie: any non-school related event):

1. Mask mandate: Everyone (ages 2 and older) must wear a mask while inside the building, except while actively eating or when at the Bima table alone or amongst immediate family.

2. Individuals 12 years old and up: Everyone 12 years of age and older must either show proof of vaccination OR a negative PCR test administered within 72 hours of the event.

To make entry to Temple Sholom easier, Temple members can email a copy of their vaccine card to Eileen Robin at eileen.robin@templesholom.com to be added to a list of already screened individuals.

3. Children 11 years old and under: Unvaccinated children 11 and younger may enter the building for a non-school function if accompanied by a vaccinated adult.

4. Food service: Indoor food service will resume.

Please feel free to reach out to any of us if you have questions at this time.

Signed: The Temple Board of Trustees, Clergy and Staff
On November 28, we begin to celebrate our eight nights of Chanukah.

Another name for Chanukah is Chag Ha-Urim, the Holiday of Lights. The greeting for Chanukah is Chag Ha-Urim Sameach - Happy Festival of Lights.

Besides the Chanukah Menorah (Chanukiah), the dreidel is the other common component of our Chanukah experience.

Traditionally, the origin story of the dreidel is connected to the Greek prohibition of studying the Torah.

When Jewish students were gathering to study Torah, the Greeks would try to catch them in the act. Though they could hide their sacred texts easily, the Jewish students could not hide being in groups together. So they took out dreidels to show the Greeks that they were not gathered to study Torah; instead, they gathered to play a well-known spin-the-top game.

One of the unwritten rules of Chanukah is that as much as possible, we make food that highlights the ingredient of oil. Sufganiyot (doughnuts) and latkes (fried potato pancakes) are well-known staples of our Chanukah diet.

At the core of our Chanukah story is the notion that the Jewish people deserved to worship God in the way they saw fit.

When that right was denied, the Maccabees rose up to fight for what they saw as a just cause.

God plays a critical and central role in our Chanukah story because the Maccabees fought for the right to worship God in the Great Temple of Jerusalem, and the rabbis teach us the story of a single jug of oil that lasted miraculously for eight days.

The essential mitzvah of Chanukah is pirsumei nisa, which means “publicizing the miracle”.

To fulfill this mitzvah, we place our Chanukah candles by our front windows so passersby can see them, and we take the time to share the story of Chanukah with our family and the larger community.

At a time of year when light is at its scarcest, we can come together to add the lights that God created within each of us together to form one brilliant communal fire that will never cease to provide us warmth, support, and comfort no matter how dark it is outside.

Chag Ha-Urim Sameach,
Rabbi Mitch

Dear Friends,

This year the Jewish holidays came early!

We saw this with the High Holidays, as they aligned with Labor Day and the start of the school year, and now we have it again with Chanukah falling a few days after Thanksgiving.

Matching up Jewish and secular holidays can be complicated and it can also give us greater permission to dig deeper into the meaning of the holidays, and the Jewish practice of Tikkun Olam — repairing the world.

Thanksgiving is a celebration of our bounty and recognizing that which we are grateful for; family, friends, and our abundant resources. This duty to recognize that which we have in excess and find ways to give or share with others is at the heart of Thanksgiving. So when that combines with Chanukah, our festival of light, it takes on an even stronger meaning. Chanukah, of course, is joyful and fun with games and gifts, but it also has a poignant message. At the cusp of Winter, we are reminded that darkness can be replaced with light if we each participate by lighting a candle.

Symbolically these two holidays in combination means we are called to see that which is plentiful in front of us, AND are directed to create light where there is darkness. We can apply these concepts to ourselves, our loved ones and to our community at large; making the world a brighter and more loving place.

Temple Sholom regularly attempts to bring these ideas to life for our congregation. The Temple is here for the community; acting as a support system, as a light in the darkness, always available and ever burning. Our Temple is also a reminder of what is abundant to us, our sacred rituals and practices, just like the bounty that the Thanksgiving table represents. Through this, we are reminded of our duty as Jews to participate in the protection and healing of the world.

We also work hard to impart these concepts to our children and youngsters through our educational and social action programs. Each year, approximately 40 to 50 of our temple youth participate in a Teen Thanksgiving Program to cook 100 meals for low income Greenwich residents and seniors, who might not otherwise enjoy a home cooked Thanksgiving meal. We want our children to stop and ask themselves, “how can we bring warmth, light and more love into the world?” And we want to provide them with many opportunities to do so.

I wish you all a beautiful holiday season, filled with love, health and laughter. And, I thank you for joining us in all the ways that you bring light to the darker moments and for all the ways that you give generously from the abundance we are so blessed to have in our lives.

B’ Shalom

Alexandra Hochman

LEARNING CENTER STUDENTS VOLUNTEER AT JFS MEMORIAL GARDEN

On October 3, 7th & 8th graders from the Temple Sholom Learning Center (religious school) dedicated their Sunday morning to volunteering at Jewish Family Services of Greenwich. Working alongside their teacher Sarah Baden and CEO of JFS Rachel Kornfeld, the students directed their attention towards cleaning up the Memorial Garden, located outside the JFS offices at 1 Holly Hill Lane.

“The garden was full of weeds and completely overgrown. Students raked, pulled weeds and swept the grounds,” said Baden. “They also made a few Tik Tok dances too. We had a lot of fun while making a difference in our local community.”

This field trip is one of many scheduled for the group as part of their religious school “Social Action Sundays” curriculum. Over the course of the school year, students will learn about the variety of needs in the greater Greenwich community and about organizations available to help. Volunteering at JFS was their first project of the year and set the tone for upcoming community service opportunities.

Next, the group will host a school-wide food drive to benefit Neighbor to Neighbor and a bone marrow drive for Be The Match further down the road.

For more information about the Temple Sholom Learning Center’s “Social Action Sundays” program, contact Rabbi Kevin Peters at rabbikevin@templesholom.com.

TEMPLE SHOLOM LEARNING CENTER PARENT ASSOCIATION HOSTS OUTDOOR MIX & MINGLE

On October 28, the Temple Sholom Learning Center Parent Association hosted their first school-wide event of the year, an outdoor cocktail party for parents featuring wine, sushi and a coffee truck. Many new faces, as well as returning parents, were among the 75 people in attendance. For more information about the Parent Association, contact Hillary Rosenthal at hillaryrosenthal@gmail.com.

WHAT IS A YAHRZEIT?

Meaning “Time of Year” in Yiddish, this anniversary commemorates the death of a loved one. It is symbolized by the recitation of the Kaddish prayer and reading of the names of those dearly departed in the Temple. At home, a candle is lit on the eve of Yahrzeit to represent the soul and burns for 24 hours. Tzedakah, a Hebrew word for righteousness and signifying charity, is offered to the family in the form of gifts, donations, or simply emotional support. In this way, we remember our beloved.

Yahrzeit Candles are available for a small donation in the main Temple office.

The Abraham Accords: The New Peace in the Middle East

with Sarah Walsh, AIPAC Director, Southern CT

Thursday, December 16 at 7:00 pm
In-Person at Temple Sholom

It has been over one year since the announcement of the Abraham Accords agreement between Israel and the United Arab Emirates. Subsequently, Israel has reached agreements with three additional Arab states—Bahrain, Sudan, and Morocco.

The Abraham Accords have resulted in historic diplomatic achievements, people-to-people engagement, and bilateral cooperation including significant commercial agreements. The impact of the Abraham Accords—made possible by a strong U.S.-Israel partnership—demonstrates that engaging with Israel creates opportunities for peace, prosperity and progress.

While program is free, registration is required to 203-542-7165 or alice.schoen@templesholom.com. Note: All attendees must show proof of vaccine card or proof of negative PCR test 72 hours before attending.
