2021 Confirmation Perspectives

During the Confirmation year, we discussed Jewish identity and our teen years. One of our times together via Zoom, we learned about the story of Daniel Pearl, a journalist who was captured and murdered in Pakistan following 9/11. His final words were: "I am a JewishAmerican. My mother is Jewish. My father is Jewish. I am Jewish." His last words have inspired many across the world to write their own statements about what it means to be a Jew. We were asked to write a paragraph to answer one or both of the following questions: Why am I a Jew? What does being Jewish mean to me? Below are our words, thoughts and feelings

Rena Berkowitz - I am Jewish because I grew up around Judaism and decided that I would want to continue to take part in the religion. Being Jewish has shaped me into who I am today and has always surrounded me. Being Jewish means supporting each other. It also means being supported by family. I feel like whenever there is something going on in my life I always have my family to support me. In good times and bad I can always count on my community to give me a hand. This community has played a huge part in my life because I know I always have someone to go to.

Nathan Claypool - I feel my Jewish identity is my sense of family and community around me. Shabbat dinner and holidays with my family are a major part of who I am. When we practice our traditions and customs, I feel most connected to Judaism. Spending time with my family and eating delicious food are important memories for me that I will never forget. When I am able to consult my fellow Jews in my community, it makes me feel like I belong and am accepted.

Morgan Leeson - To me, the reason that I am a Jew is both because my family is Jewish and that I choose to be Jewish. I feel that being Jewish is very much up to the individual, however, since I have grown up in a Jewish household it is a big part of who I am. In my opinion, being Jewish means that I am able to be a part of the community, observe traditions and holidays and have a deeper understanding of Jewish history and culture. Being Jewish also means standing up for what one believes is right especially dealing with issues such as antisemitism and persecution.

David Levine - To me, being Jewish means carrying on traditions that have been passed on for generations. Being Jewish is keeping a pact with G-d to uphold His teachings of how to live a life of strength and kindness. Being Jewish means sitting at the Shabbat table with the people you love and spending time with them and saying prayers. Finally, to be Jewish is to be the outcome of our ancestors surviving through adversity in order to stay Jewish, which emphasizes that we should cherish our Judaism and be proud.

Jonathan Loeb - For most people, any religion usually comes from family. For example, when you are little, most of the time you will not criticize your family traditions, or for that matter, not even understand them to make a solid opinion of your own. So why am I a Jew? There is a point in your life, where you realize you need to begin to have your own opinions and beliefs and make decisions for yourself when it comes to religion. I feel like I've reached that point in my life. Many people may view a Bar Mitzvah as committing to Judaism, but Confirmation (now that we are older) really dives into the question: why are we Jews and what is the purpose of all of this? Someone who is Jewish is dedicated, hardworking, cares and respects family, friends, traditions, etc. I'm a Jew because I aspire to be like that every day.

Lia Polster - I may have been born into Judaism, but I identify as Jewish by choice. To me, being Jewish is more than being part of a religion, it's being part of a community. Someone once described Judaism to me as about the questions and not about the answers, and I really liked this idea. In my mind, Judaism is a way of thinking and a way of bettering ourselves and the world around us. Being Jewish can mean something different to each individual.

One aspect of Judaism that is very important to me is the traditions. I eat Shabbat dinner with my family every Friday night, and many of our customs at each Jewish holiday have been shaped by the traditions that have been passed down through the generations. I also like hearing stories about what celebrating various Jewish holidays was like when my parents and grandparents were growing up. In this way, I feel connected to my Jewish ancestors when I'm with my family.

Bradley Rothschild - To me, being Jewish is having a connection with G-d and trust in G-d to guide you through life. It is about forming a connection to Israel and protecting Israel because it has been the homeland to the Jews for so long. Being Jewish to me is also about using that connection with G-d to help build up and better the community and people around you. It is about being part of a long history of traditions, dating back thousands of years, and being part of a new generation of Jewish leaders. Being Jewish to me is doing the right thing and making the world a better place.

Melissa Rothschild- As a child, being Jewish meant learning Torah, celebrating all the holidays with my family, and singing all the lovely songs. While my childhood memories and teachings are the mortar of my Jewish foundation, the Jew I am today is someone who asks a lot of quiet questions and is both pensive and contemplative. I am frequently in awe of how such an important thing to me can bring so many people around the world so much closer together. Being a Jew means lifting people up, asking for forgiveness, being the best version of yourself you can be, practicing kindness, and trying our best to do good in the world.

Eliana Wolf - The reason I am Jewish, is not just because I was born Jewish, it is because being Jewish means having a family wherever you go. It means being able to walk into a synagogue on any continent and being able to sing along and recognize the prayers. It is seeing someone in the grocery store with a kippah and immediately feeling bonded to them. The reason I am Jewish is the connection with G-d I have created. It is my feeling of home I feel when I hear the prayers I have grown up hearing my whole life. I am not just Jewish because I was born Jewish, I am Jewish because being Jewish is part of who I am, it makes me, me.

May He who blessed our ancestors and is the source of all healing bless and heal those who are ill. May the Holy One Praised Be He mercifully restore them to vigor and lift the burden of anxiety from their loved ones and friends.

On this (Sabbath, Festival, Judgment or Penitence) day we pray that they be spared further pain. May God grant them health of body and health of spirit and mind. May we speedily be privileged to greet their return to good health by welcoming them once again into our midst. Let us say: Amen.

Anyone wanting to add a name to the list should contact Diane Dronzek (dianedronzek@bnaijeshurun.org or 216-831-6555 ext. 104) by Thursday afternoon at the latest for inclusion in that Shabbat's program. We will also pause during the prayer for people to recite additional names.

The minyan will always have a minimum of ten participating by stream. Rabbi Weiss has ruled, based on rabbinic and halakhic sources, that – on a temporary, emergency basis, and not as a permanent change – a minyan may be comprised of ten Jews at different locations linked over the internet. Therefore, the services will still include those parts that require a minyan and will fulfill that obligation. This includes the mourner's kaddish.
