Beineinu - Between Us

Now that Israelis have a government, they are very focused on the annexation debate. Netanyahu and Gantz support this idea, as do a slim majority of Jewish Israelis. This comes as a shock to many American Jews. It shouldn't.

The idea of annexation is hardly new. Yigal Allon, Yitzhak Rabin, Moshe Dayan and Ariel Sharon all held that Israel must hold on to control in the Jordan Valley in order to ensure Israel's security. The Etzion Block (Gush Etzion) was the location of Jewish communities before Israeli independence. The land was captured by Arab forces and recaptured in 1967. Yitzhak Rabin devised the plan of new neighborhoods ringing Jerusalem to ensure its security.

The Oslo Accords themselves envisioned Israeli retention of the larger settlement blocks. That would be offset by a land swap to maintain the potential size of a future Palestinian state. At the time, the idea enjoyed broad international backing. So did the policy of "convergence," promoted by Ariel Sharon at the time he pulled Israel out of Gaza. "Convergence" meant Israel would unilaterally withdraw from the West Bank, holding on to the larger settlement blocks and the Jordan Valley that was needed for security. If Sharon had not had his fatal stroke, the policy might have reached fruition.

President's Message

As social distancing continues through May and into June, the clergy, staff and leadership are working hard to keep our synagogue community strong and to keep our members connected, both to each other and to the synagogue. Whether you want to pray, learn, schmooze or eat, we offer ways to engage in those activities with others.

By offering our daily minyanim and Shabbat services on both stream and Zoom, we allow congregants to pray on their own terms. The streaming works for those who want to daven along with the clergy, hear the sermon and otherwise participate with anonymity. The Zooming allows our congregants to see each other, feel less isolated and schmooze a bit after services with one another.

The same can be said about our classes and programs, which have increased in number over the last few weeks. We hold classes over Zoom every day, which allows for interaction between the teacher and the students. We have been able to hold a Zoom Bar Mitzvah in a way that is meaningful to the B'nai Mitzvah family, without anyone feeling unsafe. We have had many successful Zoom programs, including cooking classes, game nights, happy hours, lunch and learns and lectures, and the number of participants has grown as well.

The last weekend in May has several important events scheduled, all still possible thanks to our technology, including our Tikkun Leil Shavuot, our Confirmation service and our annual meeting, involving the installation of board members and giving of awards to a few very deserving congregants.

At the same time, we are taking care of those among us who are food insecure and lonely. Our Chesed committee has been supplying kosher meals to those who are homebound as well as grocery gift cards to those who are able to shop themselves. Many congregants continue to regularly reach out and call those who live alone, especially our older congregants, so that they continue to feel like part of the B'nai Jeshurun community.

Thank you to everyone who made contributions, whether time or treasure to help us to better keep our community engaged, connected and healthy. It has literally been a lifeline for many of our congregants.

From the Rabbi

My favorite graduation present was the book "Oh, the Places You'll Go!" by Dr. Seuss. I think it has great guidance for each of us, especially our 2020 graduates:

"Congratulations! You're off to Great Places! You can steer yourself any direction you choose. You're on your own. And you know what you know. And YOU are the guy who'll decide where to go. You'll join the high fliers who soar to high heights...Except when you don't because, sometimes, you won't. I'm sorry to say so but, sadly, it's true that Bang-ups and Hang-ups can happen to you. You can get so confused...headed, I fear, toward a most useless place. The Waiting Place. All Alone! Whether you like it or not, Alone will be something you'll be quite a lot. But on you will hike..."

As we face continued uncertainty, graduates "usually" begin plans for the next place. The completion of studies is "usually" marked by a large celebration and walking across the stage in front of classmates, family and friends. And yet, we remain in place, sheltering as we begin our re-entry as states begin to re-open.

Our "usual" gift to graduates is a mezuzah. As they begin the next chapter, the mezuzah is our holy marker for transition. It is a blessing and promise of protection, that G-d is our safeguard and shelter when we travel out and when we return home. The word mezuzah means "move" recognizing that we never remain static. Even when sheltering in place, we each can grow. The mezuzah is our guidepost, as the scroll inside is a partial Torah scroll carrying the instructions for how best to live our lives.

The mezuzah is placed high up on our doorpost reminding us to always look up and look forward, and that G-d's sheltering protection is above. The rabbis debated the positioning, some say it should be hung vertical and others horizontal. We follow a compromise

Education & Youth

This has undoubtedly been one of the most challenging years our community has faced. Practically overnight, our in-person classes, services and tutoring were moved online in our effort to stop the spread of Covid-19. I have tremendous gratitude for all of our students, families, teachers and staff for their flexibility and understanding as we quickly adapted to our new realities. I have been awed by our teachers' continued commitment to each of our students, ensuring that even when we can't be together face-to-face, we are still busy learning and making connections with one another. It was particularly meaningful to see our 4th grade students chant Torah and our 3rd grade students lead our virtual Youth Service for the first time.

As this school year comes to a close, we are working hard to plan for the uncertain days ahead. At the same time, we also want to be sure to look back at our many successes. In particular, I want to thank Barbara Rosenfeld for 23 years of dedicated service to our congregation, our Youth & Learning Center and Bessie Hershey Religious School. Barbara has been involved in so many facets of our program over the years: our high school and Confirmation, family programs, Shabbatonim, early childhood programs, holiday programs and more. Most recently, Barbara has been instrumental in implementing our ever-popular High Holy Day activity stations for young children and Dive into the Sea of Torah Family Shabbat program series, alongside many long-standing programs. We are very sad to see Barbara go and wish her the best in all her future endeavors.

While this year has proven challenging for all of us, and we are anxious to know when our lives will go back to normal, I am reminded of the ancient Jewish folktale about King Solomon, who wore a ring bearing the words Gam Zeh Ya'avur, "This too shall pass." According to tradition, every time he felt sad or depressed, he would look down at his ring and his mood would become cheerful, knowing that better days were ahead. Let us allow King Solomon's wisdom to brighten our day, knowing that the difficult times we are in now are only temporary, and I look forward to the time I can join all of you once again in our congregation.

There are reasons one may support or oppose annexation, but the plan deserves cool-headed analysis in its historical context. For me, the problem lies not in whether to annex, but in what to annex. Mr. Netanyahu wants to annex every small settlement and outpost, including those that are illegal. That would leave small disconnected "cantons" that would not have the territorial integrity needed for a one-day Palestinian State. For this reason, I personally oppose the plan as it stands.

Still, in the face of a Palestinian leadership that refuses to negotiate in good faith, the debate should not be over whether to annex territory. It should be over defining which territories should be a part of Israel. In other words, what are the morally and militarily defensible future borders of the Jewish State that would live side by side with a Palestinian State? That discussion needs to happen.

position by angling it tilting inward, showing the importance of finding middle-ground and working together to move forward. Perhaps, it is tilting to show that our success isn't gained from being perfect (straight up or down) but rather leaning in to a situation and through hard work, dedication and working together. Then, in the words of Dr. Seuss, "Step with care and great tact and remember that Life's a Great Balancing Act... And will you succeed? Yes, You will, indeed! You'll move mountains!"

We'll Get Through This Together!

B'nai Jeshurun Congregation has focused on becoming a virtual place of worship and learning by offering streamed services as well as Zoom classes and Zoom social gatherings in response to the Coronavirus. If the COVID-19 outbreak has made it difficult for you to get the meals you need, B'nai Jeshurun's Chesed committee will assist by delivering kosher meals to you. From check-in phone calls to Zoom classes and streamed service, to the delivery of kosher meals, your synagogue is there to help you through this difficult time. If you need assistance, please call or email Rabbi Rudin-Luria so we can get you the help you need.

Ways to Help:

1. If you would like to support the important work being done by the Chesed committee, please consider making a donation through the synagogue's website or by mail earmarked for the Joel Schwarz Memorial Chesed Fund. If you would like to help in other ways, please contact Rabbi Rudin-Luria.
2. If you enjoy the Zoom classes and streamed services and would like to help offset the synagogue's increased technology costs, please contact Lorna Siegal to make a synagogue donation toward B'nai Jeshurun Congregation's Zoom and streaming efforts or to discuss other ways to help.

We'll get through this together. Thank you for your support.
