From the Rabbi

Thank you for such a special weekend celebrating my installation as Senior Rabbi. I am deeply honored to be B'nai Jeshurun's Senior Rabbi. The weekend was truly a celebration of us; the community that we are and the community we can be. A community that is committed, strong, vibrant, inclusive, dynamic, kind and inspired. A community built on the strong foundation of more than 150 years with more than 900 families and excited for where we are going and growing; whether it is our Downtown community The Bridge, our Wellness Center, or our commitment to learning, caring, building community and healing in order to serve our diverse community and our pledge to be there for all ages and stages. A community that values driven, whose mission is to infuse our rich Jewish tradition, wisdom and learning into our lives. Our community aims to build connection in this world which seems more divided than ever. Together, we dare to imagine a world and community that is better and to strive to make it so.

Rabbi Lord Jonathan Sacks of blessed memory at his installation as Chief Rabbi of the United Kingdom spoke about the Mishnah from Pirkei Avot: "Know from where you come and know where you are going." In order to be a visionary community with a shared mission, we must look backward and forward at the same time. I pledge to this congregation to work in strengthening our deep roots, our foundation, our core and our core values. At the same time, we must dare to dream where our community can go and grow; and we will do that all together. Rabbi Sacks said this in closing his remarks at his installation: "I approach my task with open eyes. I will make mistakes, but I will learn from them. I will never give up or despair - it is not up to us to complete the task, neither are we free to desist from it. Together we have great things to do." I couldn't say it any better, together we have great things to do.

Thank you to Installation Co-chairs Rabbi Melinda Mersack & Mark Jacobs, Allison & Jason Wuliger and Cindy & Louis Chaiten who worked tirelessly with our program and membership director Shani Kadis, along with Rebekah Dorman and Scott Matasar. Thank you to the Honorary Co-Chairs, our synagogue staff and volunteers who made the weekend so incredible. I am so appreciative of the generosity of all those who have contributed in my honor to the Fund For Our Future, the Wellness Center Fund and my Discretionary Fund.

Rabbi Hal Rudin-Luria

President's Message

Greetings, and happy spring! The change in season has had me thinking a lot about renewal and growth—and I couldn't be more excited. For the first time in a generation, we have a new senior rabbi in Rabbi Rudin-Luria, and in just a matter of weeks Rabbis Josh Jacobs and Alex Rosenbaum will be joining our dynamic clergy team. There is a real buzz in the community about our congregation right now. My goal is to ensure that we capitalize on all this positive energy and help the new initiatives both planned, and those already underway, flourish and take root. This includes the opening of our new Wellness Center, Rabbi Rudin-Luria's signature initiative, and supporting Rabbi Rosenbaum as she takes on her role as the Center's inaugural director. We'll also be working to support the continued growth of the Bridge program for young Jewish adults living downtown and other programs that are attracting many new members and young families.

Over the last year, I've learned a lot about what our congregation is made of, and I truly could not be prouder to be a member of this community. The events of last year could have torn a lot of synagogues apart. But in our toughest time, we all drew together to support one another and Rabbi Rudin-Luria. I believe our institution is on the cusp of an inflection point, an opportunity for us to evolve and address the changing needs of our congregants and of Conservative Judaism in the city. I am confident that, together, we can reinforce B'nai Jeshurun's position as an institution of both thought leadership and moral leadership in the Jewish community, and I am excited to see what the future holds for all of us.

Thank you for the trust you have placed in me as your next president. I'm incredibly humbled to have been charged with assuming responsibility for the lay leadership of the synagogue, and I look forward to doing all I can to help ensure it continues to thrive and to grow during my tenure.

Cantor's Corner

I wasn't always consistent about counting the Omer until recently in adulthood. I found that the best way for me to maintain the practice of counting down the days from Pesach to Shavuot was to build it into my nightly ritual. I have used a couple of different books of poetry/meditation relating to the Omer (and the s'firot connected to their counting), so that I would look forward to uncovering a new perspective each night. Then, I found that beyond the meaning and personal pride I take in this practice, I would suddenly feel bereft after Shavuot has come and gone, with the counting over.

By this point, we're into the Torah book of Bamidbar, the recounting of our lengthy desert-dwelling days. We call this book 'Numbers' in English, because numbers and the counting of people factor heavily into this book. I've never been too keen on Mathematics, but I know there is significance in the way we count. Whether it's counting ten Jewish adults in a minyan, counting down the days to Shabbat or the minutes until three stars are seen in the night sky at its conclusion, or counting down from one holiday to the next. It's not just a recognition of the constant shift in our lives between the holy and the mundane, but it's also an awareness of how precious time is. Moreover, within the book of Numbers, our ancestors' roles were a part of how they were counted. What we do, how we act shapes how we count.

Though the counting of the Omer is concluded, I now find myself counting down the days to a significant milestone: my installation! It is incredibly meaningful to me that this community, my spiritual home, is taking this opportunity to officially install me as Cantor here. It will be especially momentous to have my mentor, Cantor Perryne Anker, who grew up at Temple on the Heights and has been a big part of my cantorial journey, here to install me. I hope to see you there June 9th/10th and may we all continue to make these precious moments in our lives count!

Education & Youth

State of our Youth & Learning Center

This is truly an exciting time here at B'nai Jeshurun! From The Innocence Project speakers on Yom Kippur to performances from the improv-comedy duo The Bible Players, our brand new Soul Tide Shabbat featuring music and teaching from Rabbi Josh Warshawsky to our Hineni Fellowship trip, an immersive high school experience this year exploring the Civil Rights Movement through a Jewish lens, there is so much for our congregational community to be proud of. Our students delighted us with their Purim spiel, led our Shabbat youth services and chanted from the Torah with eloquence, prepared for Havdalah with Young Families Engagement Director Julie Sukert, learned to be leaders through our Leadership Incubator with Youth Director Sydney Ungar, and so much more!

And learning at B'nai Jeshurun is not only for children, teens and families – we take learning and engagement seriously for congregants of all ages – this year has brought the successful returns of Shabbat on the Circle, our congregation Shabbaton, Mind-Full Shabbat, our Shabbat dinner series with presenters speaking on meaningful Jewish and community topics, and Scholar-in-Residence weekends, including with Professor Andrew Porwancher, Rabbi Jeremy Markiz and Rabbi Matt Berkowitz during Rabbi Rudin-Luria's installation weekend. The success of our Hineni Fellowship trip has even spurred us to run this same trip for adults this coming fall. More information will be coming soon.

We are blessed to have a congregation filled with lifelong learners, people ready and eager to give of themselves to strengthen our community – and your energy has put a buzz throughout the Jewish community about everything happening here at B'nai Jeshurun. This is a time of perhaps unprecedented new beginnings at our congregation. And so, while we are immensely proud of everything we have accomplished this year, together with newly installed Senior Rabbi Hal Rudin-Luria, soon to formally be installed Cantor Alyssa Rosenbaum, incoming Assistant Rabbi Joshua Jacobs and inaugural Wellness Center Director Rabbi Alex Rosenbaum, our Youth & Learning Center is ready to flourish even more moving forward.

Have a great summer!

Rabbi Josh Foster

Social Justice/GCC

This month, I am excited to step into the role of Chair of our Social Justice/Greater Cleveland Congregations Committee. Lee Markowitz, our outgoing Chair, has done an amazing job of shaping the committee to provide more avenues for involvement in issues that have deep roots in Judaism and a great deal of interest in our congregation. I look forward to working with the committee to build on this framework and provide opportunities for all who would like to be involved, including families, children, teens and young adults. Our four areas of focus are now Food Insecurity (led by Shelley Scher and Carol Willen), Environmental Action (led by Laura Vexler and me), Youth Bindover, in partnership with GCC (led by Lee Markowitz), and Pre-Trial Services, also in partnership with GCC (led by Theresa Markowitz). We would love to hear your ideas and have you join us as we work towards social justice. If you have any questions, or are interested in joining us, I can be reached at cabdab4@sbcglobal.net.
