Saturday, September 19 - 4 pm - Andre Ivory

Andre Ivory will discuss the intersections of race, Judaism and existing in the world as a Jew of color.

Andre grew up in Los Angeles. He was raised in a Lutheran/Baptist family but challenging experiences as a teenager led him on a quest for deeper spirituality and he was sparked to explore Judaism, ultimately deciding to convert at the age of 17. “It felt like I was going up the ladder,” he says.

“Everything became more and more clear. One thing was the fact that Judaism is not just a religion based on faith, but a religion based on actions – particularly Tikkun Olam.

Andre is a dynamic Jewish educator and motivator and will share his many experiences with us.

Yom Kippur, Monday September 28 - 4 pm - Rabbi Yonina Creditor

Lieutenant Rabbi Yonina Creditor serves as a chaplain for the Marine Corps, currently based at San Diego’s Naval Base, following 3 years of service in Okinawa. She will discuss share with us what Jewish life looks like in the military, experiencing Yom Kippur at sea, some of the recent challenges her base has gone through.
