Hunger Awareness Shabbat Shabbat, April 28

In conjunction with MAZON and the Rabbinical Assembly, we are dedicating this Shabbat to hunger awareness, the SNAP program, our efforts to combat hunger as a synagogue and opportunities for advocacy. Rabbi Rudin- Luria will be speaking.

At The Crossroads: Jewish Law for Our Time Weekly Lunch & Learn Commerce Park IV (corner of Chagrin and Green) Room 130 Thursdays • 12:10 - 1 pm

Bring a brown bag lunch and join Rabbi Weiss or Rabbi Rudin-Luria for a lively study of Talmud and Responsa (Jewish Law) examining what Judaism has to say about contemporary issues. Topics covered include personal, business, legal and medical ethics as well as areas of Jewish belief and ritual. Each session is complete in itself. To be on the group's mailing list, please contact David Shifrin (semaninc@ameritech.net).

We welcome your children in the Main Sanctuary!

Shabbat Rocks!

Fridays, April 20, May 18, June 15,
July 20 and August 17 • 7 pm

This season has been generously underwritten by The Jan & Ron Moskowitz Family, Phyllis & Sidney
Reisman and Jocelyn & Peter Saltz.

Bring your families to this wonderful evening, with a live band playing some of today's most upbeat Jewish music. You will find yourself tapping your toes, clapping your hands and dancing to these contemporary melodies. Multiple musical genres are woven through the service, highlighting text from each of the Psalms, which creates an energizing and engaging service. A special prayer book offers Hebrew, transliteration and English to make this service user friendly. Listen to and download tracks from our website. Services will be held in the Linden Family Courtyard, weather permitting.

Thank you to our oneg sponsors: Lynda Silverberg and Charlotte Kurland in honor of the Bar Mitzvah of their grandson, Ryan Silverberg, and Phyllis & Sidney Reisman (April), The Jan & Ron Moskowitz Family (May), Jocelyn & Peter Saltz (June), Men's Club (July) and Sisterhood (August).

Israel @ 70 Shabbat Dinner

Friday, April 20 • 5:45 pm

Celebrate Israel's birthday together! We will have a special Israeli-themed Shabbat dinner with dessert made by the children attending. Then, stay for the first Shabbat Rocks! of the season, a ruach-filled Friday night service with our live band. $10/adult; $6/child; under 2 free; $32/family cap per household. RSVP by April 17 to Julie Sukert or bnaijeshurun.org/IsraelShabbat.

Kiddush or Oneg Sponsorships

The mitzvah of a donation for sponsorship of a kiddush or oneg is a beautiful way to share the happiness of your milestone or remember a loved one with the congregation. Sponsorships are acknowledged in the Shabbat handout and in Tidings. The cost of a kiddush is $500 and an oneg is $250; partial sponsorships are available and they are tax deductible. Please contact Paula Botkin.

Sisterhood and Men's Club proudly present
Knife Skills

Sunday, April 29 • 3 pm

Please join us for a screening of this Oscar® - nominated short documentary. The film tells the inspiring local story of the initiative to launch an authentic French restaurant, EDWINS, with a group of ex-convicts. Through their Leadership & Restaurant Institute, formerly incarcerated adults have a chance to learn valuable skills in the hospitality industry which gives them a better chance at a brighter future. The Institute also includes a support system to assist in obtaining employment, legal services, medical care, job coaching, literacy programs and more.

The screening will include discussions before and afterwards, and a graduate of the Institute will be on hand to tell his story of incarceration and redemption. Open to all. Free.

The Invisible Bridge* by Julie Orringer

Monday, May 7 • 7 pm

This month's Men's Club book discussion follows the Levi brothers from Budapest as they are forced to leave their native country in the late 1930's. The story follows each one through his adventures and difficulties as Europe is torn apart by war and anti-Semitism. How far would you go to pursue your dreams? Would you risk never seeing your family again? Free. RSVP to Harvey Wasserman (hpwasserman@sbcglobal.net).

Marcus Leadership Guest Scholar Weekend with Rabbi Sid Schwarz Friday & Saturday, May 4 - 5

Rabbi Schwarz is a Senior Fellow at Hazon, an organization playing a leadership role in promoting Jewish inspiration and sustainable communities. He is founding rabbi of Adat Shalom Reconstructionist Congregation in Bethesda, MD where he continues to teach and lead services, and he directs the Clergy Leadership Incubator (CLI), which trains rabbis to be visionary spiritual leaders. He also created and directs Kenissa: Communities of Meaning Network which builds the capacity of emerging spiritual communities.

He founded and led PANIM: The Institute for Jewish Leadership and Values, received the prestigious Covenant Award for his pioneering work in the field of Jewish education and was named by Newsweek as one of the 50 most influential rabbis in North America.

Friday, May 4

7 pm Service

8 pm Charting the Course of the American Jewish Future

This talk identifies the social trends challenging today's Jewish institutions and offers a formula that can lead to a Jewish Renaissance.

Saturday, May 5

9 am Service; Graduation: The Edna and Nat Marcus Leadership Institute Class of 2018

12 pm Congregational Lunch

1 pm Judaism, Justice and Holiness

What is the purpose of Judaism? We often focus on the "how to" of Judaism, but rarely on the "why?" This talk suggests ways to enrich our lives by engaging with Judaism's core mission.

*Free and Open to the Community.
No reservations required.*

Presented through the generosity of the Edna and Nat Marcus Leadership Institute.

D'var Torah: The Silence of Aaron

Zushe Wiener, Conservative Yeshiva & RRC Rabbinical Student

In Parashat Shemini, we see that holy service is not without its perils. This portion of Leviticus sees Aaron's sons Nadav and Avihu killed after using their fire pans to bring a "strange" offering to the mishkan, consumed by the fire that emerges from the holy altar. Commentators like Ibn Ezra observe that the two brothers were not instructed to burn incense, nor they did use a consecrated fire (one that would not have been "strange"). Ultimately, Nadav and Avihu's offering was not "one commanded to them" by God, and the misdeed proves to be fatal. What the text does not shed light on, however, is Nadav and Avihu's exact intentions—was it deliberate misconduct or human error? Reading these actions with a more contemporary lens, I would suggest we read Nadav and Avihu's deaths as a Tanakhic account of an industrial accident.

Immediately after the tragedy, Moses steps in to "deal" with the situation - both by explaining it and cleaning up the mess. He tells Aaron that this was apparently what God meant when he said: "Through those near to Me I show Myself holy, And gain glory before all the people" (10:3). I imagine the scene outside the mishkan tent, Aaron half-listening to Moses and then watching as resumes, the text tells us: Vayidom Aharon. Aaron holds his peace. He is silent.

In a book of Torah known for its unfeeling lists of rules, Aaron's silence shows us an unspoken but relatable moment of grief. Using my own family story as a way in, I have tried to listen a little more closely. As I see it, the silent moment shows Aaron seeing the bleak reality of his new job for the first time. In this new world of priestly service, not even the death of his sons will defer his obligation to serve God at the mishkan. Looking over this moment of profound loss, I imagine Aaron coming to terms with the significance of holy work and the high price he will pay for it. It leaves him speechless.

While my forefathers were not kohanim, they nevertheless worked perilous jobs as coal miners in Pennsylvania's Anthracite region. As a child, my mother always impressed me when she could glance at a black stone I brought her and tell me if it was coal or shale. Because of the mines, practically everyone in her hometown could do the same. Like Aaron and his sons, her town's relationship with their industry was total and all-consuming.

As with Nadav and Avihu, my family's relationship with mining is not without accidents and tragedies. The Pennsylvania state government still maintains records of the hundreds of men who suffered in mining accidents in the region between 1899 and 1972. In these state records, I found new pieces of my own family's history. At the age of thirteen, my great-uncle Jimmy had one of his fingers crushed by a falling sack of coal. Joe Rompalo fell from a roof. Albert Norris was struck and killed by a runaway coal car. While I did not find my grandfather listed among the injured, I know well that he died of coal miner's emphysema—"black lung" from prolonged exposure to dust in the mines. Holding these stories in mind, I have a fuller sense of the sacrifices my ancestors made to their work, and like Aaron, fall quiet to appreciate the gravity of their commitment.

Whether as holy service or daily labor, each of us in the Jewish world take up some form of avodah (work). When I hear Parashat Shemini through my own family's past, I find that Aaron's silence provokes me to examine the significance of my own work. I ask myself: What can I offer? Whom do I really serve? Inasmuch as we can hear in Torah the story of our own lives, in Leviticus we can hear the story of our lives' labor. Parashat Shemini shows us that even holy service can come with costs. In Aaron's silence, I hear Torah's call to hold my peace and make my avodah something bigger.

For Discussion: Living lives of much greater comfort and freedom than our ancestors, how can we understand and connect to the idea of avodah - work/service and dedication to God? Can we emulate Aaron? Do we wish to?

Parashat Shemini Self-Study

Vered Hollander-Goldfarb, Conservative Yeshiva Faculty

After 7 days of preparations, Aaron and his sons arrive at the Eighth (Shemini) Day - the final stage of becoming Kohanim. Following this, in chapter 11, we receive instructions about animals that we may and may not eat.

1) On the eighth day, after the preparation period was over, Moshe calls over Aaron and his sons, and the Elders of Israel. He instructs Aaron regarding his sacrifices, and tells him to tell the people what to bring (9:1-4). Why do you think that Moshe did not tell the people directly?

2) The exact role of Aaron and of his sons in the sacrificial process is told many times in detail (9:8-21). Why not simply state that the Kohanim did the sacrificing?

3) Nadav and Avihu, two of Aaron's sons, bring before God 'a foreign fire that He did not command' (10:1). What does 'a foreign fire' mean? Looking at the context might help you reach a deeper answer. What happens to Nadav and Avihu as a result of this?

4) Aaron changed the rules of the Hatat sacrifice on his own (10:16-20). What was his reasoning? How does Moshe react when he understands the reasoning? Why might we think of Aaron's action as daring, considering what happened earlier with Nadav and Avihu?

5) We may only eat animals labeled as 'pure' (today we use the term 'Kosher'). What are the signs of a 'pure' animal (11:3)? How about the signs of 'pure' fish (11:9)?

May He who blessed our ancestors and is the source of all healing bless and heal those who are ill. May the Holy One Praised Be He mercifully restore them to vigor and lift the burden of anxiety from their loved ones and friends.

On this (Sabbath, Festival, Judgment or Penitence) day we pray that they be spared further pain. May God grant them health of body and health of spirit and mind. May we speedily be privileged to greet their return to good health by welcoming them once again into our midst. Let us say: Amen.

Anyone wanting to add a name to the list should contact Diane Shalom (216-831-6555 ext. 104 or dianeshalom@bnaijeshurun.org) by Thursday afternoon at the latest for inclusion in that Shabbat's program. We will also pause during the prayer for people to recite additional names from their seats.

Volunteer Shabbat
Saturday, April 21

This year's Volunteer Shabbat will recognize congregants who generously give back to the shul with their time, treasure and talent. A sweets-filled kiddush will be sponsored by Bob Cohen and Sue & Jeff Nash in everyone's honor. If you would like a part in the service, please contact Shani Kadis or Sue Nash (440-759-3042).
