Beineinu - Between Us

My colleague, Rabbi Donald Rossoff, once wrote a sermon he entitled, "Kaddish Deficiency Syndrome." In it, he mourned the fact that so many people no longer choose to come to say kaddish for their loved ones on their yahrzeit (anniversary of death). Sadly, I see that same phenomenon in our congregation as well. Every Shabbat, I am saddened to see how many names we do not read, because no one is there to remember them.

There are also names we do read – because they were called in – but still there is no family member present to hear the name and honor their memory. It is a phenomenon that breaks my heart, because the recitation of Mourner's Kaddish is among the most sacred and significant of all our traditions, one which is also a deep expression of love for our family and of our faith in God. In eastern Europe, in the shtetl, it was common for fathers to refer to their eldest son as "mein kaddishel" – my little kaddish. Mein kaddishel refers to the fact that the oldest son (today as Conservative Jews we would say 'or daughter') will say Mourner's Kaddish for me – at the time of death, for the first year, and at every yizkor service and yahrzeit – when I pass. It is a nickname which brings great comfort and is an expression of love. It means I have trust and faith that you, my son, will not forget me, that you will maintain a sacred relationship with me even after I have left this world. It means you will advocate for me before God that I be forgiven for my sins and granted blessing and reward for my good deeds in this life. It means that you will maintain the faith and heritage I have passed down to you from my parents.

Some will say: I can honor and remember my loved ones who are gone without saying kaddish in synagogue. To those, I respond, yes. You honor them all year long in many ways. But, there is a singular indescribable power to the recitation of the ancient words of the kaddish. It is a public proclamation made in the midst of community. It is a moment of connection to their souls, and of connection to the Divine Spirit within which they are now embraced. To those who do not regularly come at the prescribed times to say the Mourner's Kaddish, I say to you, "Come back." Come back to your spiritual home and discover this incredible source of comfort and strength, guidance and inspiration. Come discover how good it feels to do something even now that helps your loved ones, to give back to them as they for so long gave to you. Discover the way in which saying kaddish can elevate their souls and change your life. Do it for them. Do it for yourself. Do it for your children, your "kaddishels."

President's Message

When the opportunity presents itself during the desert spring, I am eager to crouch over a patch of red soil taking too many photos of wildflowers in the Catalina or Tucson Mountains. It doesn't concern me that I am just an average point and shoot, autofocus photographer. I have always been amazed by the way these seemingly delicate and fragile blooms, gnarled trees and shrubs tenaciously grasp the soil at the edge of a cliff or stubbornly thrive near a footpath. In the memoir, Lab Girl, Hope Jahren writes, "if a root finds what it needs, it bulks into a taproot – an anchor that can swell and split bedrock, and move gallons of water daily for years..."

As members of BJC, we are deeply rooted in our congregation. Our congregants' engagement in synagogue services, activities and programming strengthens connections to Judaism and expands our connection to each other. Similar to the taproot that can split bedrock and move water, our participation strengthens the life of our kehillah and facilitates an exchange of ideas and new initiatives. Jahren continues, by stating, "The taproot sends out lateral roots that intertwine with those of the plant next to it..." Our roots extend outward, too, as we interact with our congregants and community. We are an organic and vital congregation whose in-reach and out-reach impact us and those we touch.

Strengthening your connections within our walls and through synagogue-sponsored community activities strengthens our congregation, too. Join in a congregational holiday celebration, attend a daily minyan, join us for Friday night, Shabbat and Festival services, enjoy a Torah study class, or offer to cook or prep with our kitchen team. You can also support a long list of Chesed activities with your time and energy which impact our members and greater community. Let's get connected and achieve wonderful things together! Please contact me if I can help you find your place at B'nai Jeshurun.

From the Rabbi

What is it about Purim that makes it the most joyous day of the Jewish year?

Purim is named for the Persian word for "lottery," the game of chance used by the wicked Haman to select the date to annihilate the Jewish people. It seems strange that we would name our festival, "lottery" or "lucky day," especially when it was intended to be a time of destruction. An ongoing theme of the Book of Esther is reversal (nahafoch hu), an almost comedic or farcical turning of reality on its head.

Purim, which was slated by the Persians to be the saddest day for the Jews, ends up becoming the happiest and wildest day on the Jewish calendar. As the Megillah unfolds, we find that the Jews are saved by somehow successfully defending themselves against the attacking Persian army. Throughout the entire Megillah scroll, the name of God never appears but we all believe that God did come to our rescue and save us. Though hidden in the story of Esther, God miraculously saved the Jewish people and we celebrate our redemption with parties, drinks and fanfare. We are also required to share the miracles of our life with others by sending gifts to the poor (tzedakah) and our friends (mishloach manot). The Midrash teaches that when all the other festivals will be abolished with the arrival of the Messiah, only Purim will remain - so we can always celebrate our miracles.

Our story is not just about miracles. Queen Esther does not rely on luck or wait for miraculous deliverance. Moved and inspired by the Jewish people, Esther stands up for her people and raises her voice of protest to the King. Would the story have ended the same if Esther did not approach the King and stand up for this injustice? As we celebrate Purim the entire month long with our super hero Purim celebrations, let us be reminded that we can each stand up to injustice and raise our voice to help those in need.

Hag Purim Sameach, wishing you and your family a very happy and joyous Purim!

The Eternal Light

Anyone who has set foot in a Jewish sanctuary has seen the Ner Tamid, the Eternal Light, illuminating the space. We teach our children that this light never goes out, welcoming all who enter and representing God's eternal presence. The light can be mystifying; it is something we simply take for granted will be lit, and we are drawn to it.

"The responsibility for the Ner Tamid lies in the hands of all the people."

In our Torah portion at the end of this month, Parashat Tetzaveh, God commands the people to bring oil for lighting this eternal light, which the priests will set up over the Ark of the Covenant in the Mishkan (Exodus 27:20-21). The light doesn't appear there through a miracle, nor can the Israelites simply take for granted that it will be lit. Furthermore, considering this Torah portion is largely focused on the priests and their role, it is particularly noteworthy that the Ner Tamid is not a responsibility reserved for priests alone. In fact, without the entire community providing the fuel, the priests would be unable to fulfill their task of kindling the light. The responsibility for the Ner Tamid lies in the hands of all the people.

The Ner Tamid doesn't simply represent God's eternal presence, as many of us were taught when we were young. It cannot only be a light that draws us toward it, a light that mystifies us, but must be a light that engages us directly. It represents the responsibility we have to ensure God's presence is felt around the world through the work we do. Too often, we view the challenges facing our world like we view the Ner Tamid: as a light hanging too distant for us to reach. Perhaps we leave it to the perceived leaders, the priests, to do the necessary work. But Parashat Tetzaveh teaches us that we must bring the light. The world won't become a better place unless we bring our light: through tzedakah, gemilut hasadim and tikkun olam. When we walk into the sanctuary this Shabbat, let the Ner Tamid not only welcome us, but also remind us of the responsibility we bear in keeping the light aflame.

Bequests FAQ

Why are the endowment and bequests important?

A strong endowment allows B'nai Jeshurun to achieve our greatest goals in the coming decades by creating a perpetual income source we can rely on for generations to come. Whether an outright gift today or a bequest upon one's passing, endowment support ensures a lasting legacy and an enduring impact.

Is there a minimum amount that I can leave to B'nai Jeshurun?

No. A minimum of $5,000 is required to establish a named unrestricted endowment fund and a minimum of $10,000 to establish a named restricted fund, but gifts of any size may be made to an existing endowed fund.

I am not sure how much will remain in my estate upon my passing, whether my spouse or I will die first, and what other financial considerations will occur. How can I commit to leaving a bequest to the shul now?

The first thing to know is that almost all estate planning tools are revocable (changeable). In addition, although you may choose to make a gift of a specific dollar amount or a specific asset, you can also make a gift of a percentage of your estate or make a gift from the balance of your estate.

Is it difficult to include the synagogue in my estate plans?

Absolutely not. Although there are certainly sophisticated estate planning tools that may be beneficial to you, it can be as simple as adding a codicil to your will stating "I give $_____ (or _____ percent of my estate, or _____ percent of the residue of my estate) to B'nai Jeshurun Congregation, located at 27501 Fairmount Boulevard, Pepper Pike, Ohio 44124, or its successor or successors for its unrestricted use and purpose (or to a specific endowed fund)." It can also be as simple as making B'nai Jeshurun a full or partial beneficiary of a life insurance policy or your retirement plan.

What is the Legacy Society?

B'nai Jeshurun's Legacy Society members are dedicated to ensuring the future of our beloved synagogue through support of the synagogue's endowment. The Society acknowledges donors who have chosen to support our endowment during their lifetime or in the future by leaving a bequest in their wills or by designating B'nai Jeshurun as a beneficiary of a trust, life insurance policy, retirement plan or other financial asset.

Please consider including B'nai Jeshurun in your estate plans, and notify us if you have already done so. We encourage you to discuss your philanthropic plans with your family, financial advisor, and/or attorney. Learn more at bnaijeshurun.org/endowment. Please contact Development Director Kim Cole, or Endowment Committee Co-Chairs Barry Feldman and Ike Yedid, to discuss your legacy gift to B'nai Jeshurun.

A Gift of Loving Kindness for our Chesed Fund

The synagogue recently received an anonymous donation of $10,000 to the Joel Schwarz Memorial Chesed Fund in memory of Joel and in honor of Rachel Schwarz, who remains dedicated to the committee's important work as its Chair. This generous gift will allow the Chesed Committee to serve our congregation and broader community for years to come. Todah rabah.
