ATID Shabbat Rocks!, BBQ & Games Friday, June 21 • 7:00 pm

Bring your friends and your favorite board games as we welcome in Shabbat. We’ll join the congregation for Shabbat Rocks! at 7 pm, followed by a FREE Shabbat BBQ dinner. Afterwards, enjoy board games and fun. The dinner is only open to ATID. RSVP at bnaijeshurun.org/rocks\_bbq\_games.

This year’s Friday Shabbat dinners are supported in part by a Jewish Federation of Cleveland Young Leadership Division Microgrant.

ATID is open to all Jewish young adults in their 20s & 30s. RSVP through our Facebook page or contact Shani Kadis.

Guest Speaker Jacob Sztokman
Founding Director of the Gabriel Project Mumbai
Friday, June 21 • during and after services

Mr. Sztokman will discuss his organization, which is a grassroots response to poverty, malnutrition, ill health, hunger and child labor in India.

He is a high tech executive turned social entrepreneur. On a trip to Mumbai in 2011, he was deeply moved to work on issues of poverty and illiteracy. He believes one of the ways to break the cycle of poverty is through education. He formed GPM in 2012. Learn more at gabrielprojectmumbai.org.

Penny & Bob Greenberger's son, Josh<sup>בן</sup>, was in the first group of volunteers the JDC sent to India to work in the Kalwa slums in 2013. Today, the Joshua Jacob Greenberger Learning Center has grown to include 250 children.

Mr. Sztokman will speak briefly during the service and then provide a more in-depth talk after the oneg at 8:30 pm in Nickman Chapel.

Shabbat Rocks!
Fridays at 7 pm
June 21, July 19 and August 16

This season has been generously underwritten by
The Jan & Ron Moskowitz Family
Phyllis & Sidney Reisman and Jocelyn & Peter Saltz.

Bring your families to this wonderful evening, with a live band playing some of today's most upbeat Jewish music. You will find yourself tapping your toes, clapping your hands and dancing to these contemporary melodies. Multiple musical genres are woven through the service, highlighting text from each of the Psalms, which creates an energizing and engaging service. A special prayer book offers Hebrew, transliteration and English to make this service user friendly. Listen to and download tracks from our website. Services will be held in the Linden Family Courtyard, weather permitting.

Kosher Food Pantry
Sunday, June 16 • 9:30 am

Sort and pack food at the pantry that will go to Jewish families in need. Everyone volunteering should be over the age of 7. Located at 2004 S. Green Rd., South Euclid.

Hazak Shabbat
June 22 • 9 am

Hazak members will lead the service. If you are interested in participating, contact Ruth Dobres (440-449-5126 or rdobres@sbcglobal.net) or Sandra Lieber (440-565-5677).

Hazak goes to Chaplin the Musical
Sunday, July 7 • 2 pm

Based on Charlie Chaplin's life story, Mercury Theatre dramatizes his rise from the slums of London to the heights of Hollywood. $12 per person; RSVP by July 1 to Helen Wolf (4073 Bushnell Rd., University Hts., 44118).

Contact Arlene Harris (216-870-1390) for more information. Located at 1857 S. Green Rd., S. Euclid.

Mishpachot Splash Bash
Sunday, June 30 • 9:30 am

Join us for a private pool party at the Beachwood Pool! We will have time to use the water features including the family slide, play structure and lazy river – all to ourselves! Snacks and drinks provided as well. $10 per BJC family; $20 per non-member family. For more information or to register, visit our website or contact Julie Sukert.

Red Cross Blood Drive

Register at www.bnaijeshurun.org/golfouting2019 or contact Shani Kadis to learn more. Rain date - Monday, July 22.

D'var Torah: What is Our Path
Rabbi Juan Mejia, Conservative Yeshiva Alumni ('02-'04)

The word chok ("law") with which our parashah (Bechukotai) begins has a complicated nuance for modern Jews. Since Saadya Gaon (Babylonia, 9th C), chukim have been identified with the commandments of the Torah which we follow even if we are unable to understand the rationale behind them. This is an idea that runs against the grain of the modern democratic ethos, in which individuals consent to laws and ideas precisely because they understand them. In a brilliant tour de force, Rabbi Ephraim of Luntschitz (Poland, 16th C.), in his commentary Keli Yakar, uproots this traditional meaning and connects it to the word that follows "im bechukotai telekhu" "if you are to walk (literally) in my laws." For the Keli Yakar the first step in the ladder to perfection is to train (and in the beginning maybe even force) our legs, literally, to take us to the house of study and to the performance of mitzvot. The repetition of good habits, proper routines and correct actions will develop a "second nature" in which mitzvot will become part of our regular behavior. This is something that we know to be true both in our physical development (muscle memory is a key to any successful physical training) and in our intellectual growth (neural pathways that are repeated grow stronger with time). The same can be said of our religious and spiritual life. As the masters of Musar have claimed throughout the ages: repeated virtuous action leads to virtuous habits and, eventually, to a virtuous life.

This revised vision of the meaning of chukim might be more palatable, but still not fully harmonious with modern sensitivities. We are suspicious of rote and repetition in the areas of the mind and of the spirit. Spontaneity and authenticity are the watchwords of the age. And yet, the same people who refuse rote in their religious lives will gladly work out for hours on an exercise machine or mindlessly repeat functions on a computer to succeed at work. The difference is that the fitness and professional worlds have succeeded in creating a more vivid picture of the end goal of these repetitive actions. We are surrounded by posters and stories of how you will look at the end; how these concrete and even uncomfortable actions play a role in getting that ripped body, that degree, or that corner office.

Parashat Bechukotai offers a vivid description of such an endgame for Biblical Israel: bountiful harvests, rain in its due season, and uncontested military dominion over our land. The Talmudic rabbis, living in an age of vulnerability and precariousness, shifted the endgame metaphysically to the world to come. In later centuries, Jewish sages continued trying to find compelling frameworks for halacha that transcend it but do not do without it. The philosophers set the goal of intellectual enlightenment. The Kabbalists strove for the mystical reconnection of the world to the Godhead. The masters of Musar aimed for a life of ethical perfection. The Hasidim sought to frame Jewish Law in simple devotion and joy. In our days of sovereign selves, what would the final product look like? In what specific ways is Torah supposed to make us flourish? This urgent agenda must be addressed, individually and collectively, so that the forest is not lost among the trees.

Rabbi Juan Mejia is the South West Co-ordinator for Be'chol Lashon. He was born in Bogotá, Colombia in 1977. When he was 15, he discovered his converso roots which led him on a Jewish journey and eventually the Conservative rabbinate. He lives in Oklahoma City and teaches about Judaism to Spanish Jews around the world. His Torah can be found at: www.youtube.com/koltuvsefarad

Parashat Behukkotai Self-Study Vered Hollander-Goldfarb, Conservative Yeshiva Faculty

In this last parashah of Vayikra we find the rewards we receive for observing the Mitzvot (commandments) and the penalties we might get for transgressing them. If you listen to the reading in the synagogue, you will notice that the penalties are usually read without a break and in a low voice.

1) One of the rewards that we will be awarded is eating our food to satisfaction (26:6). How is that different from having plenty of food (which is suggested by the plentiful harvest described.)

2) The first punishment for breaking the covenant are illnesses that are described as 'destroying the eyes and depleting the soul (26:16)'. Whose eyes and souls are suffering? (There could be several readings here.)

3) While in the 'awards' part absence of war or victory in war is taking up a relatively large part, in the 'punishments' (26:16) there is little description of battle. Rather, there are descriptions of desolation, illness, lack of food and exile. Why?

4) A Leitwort (a guiding root in the Hebrew that repeats often, carrying a central message) of rewards and punishments section (26:3-46) is Eretz, land. Why?

5) The book of Vayikra ends with a statement "these are the Mitzvot that the LORD commanded Moshe to the Children of Israel at Mount Sinai" (27:34). Why do you think that the location is mentioned?

Kiddush or Oneg Sponsorships

The mitzvah of a donation for sponsorship of a kiddush or oneg is a beautiful way to share the happiness of your milestone or remember a loved one with the congregation. Sponsorships are acknowledged in the Shabbat handout and in Tidings. The cost of a kiddush is $500 and an oneg is $250; partial sponsorships are available and they are tax deductible. Please contact Paula Botkin.

May He who blessed our ancestors and is the source of all healing bless and heal those who are ill. May the Holy One Praised Be He mercifully restore them to vigor and lift the burden of anxiety from their loved ones and friends.

On this (Sabbath, Festival, Judgment or Penitence) day we pray that they be spared further pain. May God grant them health of body and health of spirit and mind. May we speedily be privileged to greet their return to good health by welcoming them once again into our midst. Let us say: Amen.

Anyone wanting to add a name to the list should contact Diane Shalom (216-831-6555 ext. 104 or dianeshalom@bnaijeshurun.org) by Thursday afternoon at the latest for inclusion in that Shabbat's program. We will also pause during the prayer for people to recite additional names from their seats.
