Sisterhood Valued Volunteer Dinner & Installation
Honoring Rhoda Seifert
Thursday, May 23
6:30 pm Dinner; 7:30 pm Installation

Rhoda has been a longtime volunteer for Sisterhood, B'nai Jeshurun, Red Cross blood drives and The Jewish Federation of Cleveland. She even volunteered for the Israeli Army! Rhoda also has the unique claim to be the last Sisterhood president at the synagogue's Mayfield Road location and the first one at our current site.

Please join us as we honor Rhoda for her years of service during Installation. This is free and open to the community; there will be a dessert reception following Installation. To place an ad honoring Rhoda in our Tribute Book, contact Bonnie Huston (bnaijeshurunsisterhood@gmail.com) by May 6. The cost is $36/full page; $18/half page. The dinner prior to Installation is also open to the community. The cost is $25 per person. RSVP by Tuesday, May 14 to rsvpbnaijeshurunsisterhood@gmail.com.

We welcome your children in the Main Sanctuary!

D'var Torah: With Him I Cannot Dwell

Rabbi Andy Shapiro Katz, CY Director of North American Engagement

After referring back to the death of Aharon's sons, Nadav and Avihu, a few parashot ago, Aharei Mot goes on to cover three main topics: 1) Yom Kippur, including the activities of the Kohen Gadol in the Holy of Holies and the preparation of the "Seir L'Azazel" - the goat upon which the nation's sins are placed before it is sent away, 2) Kashrut, including the prohibition of consuming blood, and 3) Prohibited sexual relations.

Although there doesn't appear to be much of a connection between the three, I suggest that each represents one of the main categories of Jewish ritual law: 1) worship in particular times and places, 2) regulation of consumption and, 3) regulation of intimate relationships, even between consenting adults. Generally speaking, these are the areas where "ethics" is the least involved.

These are also the areas that make us most distinct as Jews, setting us apart from the non-Jewish world and dividing the Jewish people into different religious streams and sub-communities. We may have particular ways we understand and apply particular value-laden "ethical commandments," but we are not divided by questions of how much tzedaka we give.

It is within that context that we encounter a puzzling verse: "Thus he shall purge the Kodesh (the central area of the Mishkan) of the uncleanness and transgression of the Israelites, whatever their sins; and he shall do the same for the Ohel Mo'ed (Tent of Meeting), which abides with them in the midst of their uncleanness." (VaYikra 16:16). The simple meaning is that before the Kohen Gadol enters into them to perform the special Yom Kippur ritual to purge the nation of its sins, he has to perform particular rites to "purge" the Kodesh and the Ohel Mo'ed of the uncleanness they have accumulated due to Bnei Yisrael's sins. But that last phrase - "which abides with them in the midst of their uncleanness" - jumps out for being so obvious (Like, of course, the Kodesh and the Ohel Mo'ed are still there, where else would they be?) and asks us to dig deeper.

The Mishkan was built, as its name makes clear, as a place for God to dwell in the midst of Bnei Yisrael. As Shemot 25:8 says, "V'asu li Mikdash, v'shachanti b'tocham." We know that those entering the Mishkan must, therefore, take the utmost care to be pure. So we might have thought that the general impurity of the Israelite nation would make it impossible for the Mishkan to be there - or more exactly, for God's presence, the Shechinah, to dwell there. (Absent God's presence, the Mishkan isn't really a Mishkan). Our verse comes to communicate something quite important, as Rashi explains in his commentary: "...although they are unclean, nevertheless the Shechinah dwells in their midst." God is with us, individually and collectively, even when we sin. It is not how and when we worship, what we eat, and with whom we are intimate that drives away the Shechinah. Rather, as we see in Babylonian Talmud Sotah 5a, the issue is pride:

Rav Hisda says, and some say that Mar Ukva says: Concerning any person who has arrogance within him, the Holy One, Blessed be He, said: He and I cannot dwell together in the world, as it is stated: 'He who slanders his neighbor in secret, him will I destroy; he who is haughty of eye and proud of heart, him will I not suffer [oto lo ukhal]' (Psalms 101:5-6). These verses should be understood as follows: Do not read the verse as: "Oto lo ukhal"; rather, read it as: Itto lo ukhal, meaning, with him, I cannot bear to dwell.

All communities - right and left, modern and traditional - commit their sins and accumulate their impurities, but God dwells in our midst as long as we stay humble. And the best way to do that is to stay focused on what we get wrong and others get right, and not vice versa. Rabbi Irving "Yitz" Greenberg, an Orthodox rabbi often seen as the standard-bearer for pluralism and Jewish communal unity, captured this notion well when he said "I don't care what denomination you belong to, as long as you're embarrassed by it."

Parashat Aharei Mot Self-Study

Vered Hollander-Goldfarb, Conservative Yeshiva Faculty

During Pesach (Passover) we took a break from the regular Torah readings, now we are back to the book of Vayikra (Leviticus). We are picking up from the death of Aharon's sons in the middle of the preparations and festivities of the inauguration of the Tabernacle. This section is also the Torah reading for Yom Kippur.

1) This parashah opens with a statement of the timing of these instructions: after the death of Aharon's sons. Moshe is instructed "speak to Aharon your brother" instructing him as to when and how he may enter the holy area beyond the partition (16:1-2). How might the timing be related to the unusual term "speak to Aharon your brother"?

2) To go into the Kodesh (Holy), Aharon has to wear clothing made strictly of fabric, not containing any of the rich materials in his regular garments as Kohen Gadol (16:4). What might be the reason for that? (You can also consider what he might have looked like by the end of the process.)

3) The entire process of atoning for himself and the people is a lengthy process, involving a lot of physical work (16:3-24). Most of this had to be done by Aharon himself. What is the message in the Kohen Gadol doing the work rather than supervising it?

4) Chapter 17 deals with blood of slaughtered animals. If it is a sacrifice, the blood is burned as an offering. We may never eat it for the blood is the living-soul of every flesh (17:14.) How might this way of thinking inform our thinking about eating meat? (Which is not prohibited per se.)

5) Chapter 18 speaks about forbidden sexual relations, mostly incest. That part of the list begins with a general warning against such relations, closing with the statement "I am the LORD" (18:5). What do you think that the closing phrase is meant to convey?

May He who blessed our ancestors and is the source of all healing bless and heal those who are ill. May the Holy One Praised Be He mercifully restore them to vigor and lift the burden of anxiety from their loved ones and friends.

On this (Sabbath, Festival, Judgment or Penitence) day we pray that they be spared further pain. May God grant them health of body and health of spirit and mind. May we speedily be privileged to greet their return to good health by welcoming them once again into our midst. Let us say: Amen.

Anyone wanting to add a name to the list should contact Diane Shalom (216-831-6555 ext. 104 or dianeshalom@bnaijeshurun.org) by Thursday afternoon at the latest for inclusion in that Shabbat's program. We will also pause during the prayer for people to recite additional names from their seats.
