Building Fund

Temple membership is the right of every Jewish family, regardless of ability to pay. And, temple membership is also a responsibility of every Jewish family. As you are aware, you are making a commitment when you join a congregation. One of your obligations is financial. In addition to annual dues and any applicable Religious School fees, each member makes a pledge to our Building Fund.

Our temple was built to accommodate existing and future members, with the cost to be shared by present and future participants. In order to provide for our future, the congregation has established a Building Fund requirement for each new family. This commitment is $7,000, payable over seven years at $1,000 per year (should the member decide to pay the Building Fund requirement in a lump sum, payment of $6,500 will satisfy the obligation). It is also provided that no one will be excluded from membership because of inability to pay. The principle remains: "From each according to his or her ability."

For families whose head of household is under age 28, payment of the Building Fund is deferred until after three (3) years of membership or age 30, whichever is sooner.

For those families that qualify for our one-year membership incentive program (whose children are not in the B'nei Mitzvah prep. years) the building fund can be deferred until either their child reaches the 3rd Grade or after three (3) years of membership, whichever is sooner.
