Rabbinic Reflections

RABBI JORDAN HERSH | RABBI@BETHSHOLOMFREDERICK.ORG

By the time this article is released, Pesach (Passover) will be less than a week away. Undoubtedly, the majority of us are in the midst of our holiday preparations, which may range from shopping and cooking to the intense spring cleaning that rids our homes of chametz, or leavened products.

Throughout my own life, Pesach has always been a time to which I look forward with great joy and anticipation. Like its American counterpart Thanksgiving, Pesach is a time when family and friends gather to share a wonderfully bountiful meal in a spirit of gratitude and an awareness of the blessings with which we have been provided.

For many families, in order to get to the “good part” of the seder during which we can simply relax with those we do not see often enough, we must suffer through everything in the Haggadah that precedes the meal. On one hand, perhaps this feeling of suffering is actually quite appropriate; after all, we are meant to be re-creating the experience of bondage. Of course, I say this in jest.

The truth is that the Haggadah is not a book of liturgy which was designed to be read word for word from one cover to the other. Much of this ancient text of ours is designed as a means of fostering conversation around the central theme of the day. The Pesach Seder is supposed to be a time when we gather for a guided conversation around our national and personal experience of freedom.

To illustrate this point, I draw your attention to the “Four Questions.” If you take out your Haggadah and look, you will find that, first of all, there are not four questions being asked. There is only one question (“Why is this night different from all other nights?”) which is followed by four answers. Even that one question is not actually a question at all! In Hebrew the word “Mah” means “what,” but it can also mean “how,” as in “How wonderful,” “How awful,” or in our case, “How different.” Our Haggadot misunderstand and therefore mistranslate a statement that should read: “How different this night is from all other nights! For on all other nights we do that, but tonight only this!” If we look at the Mishnah, the foundational text of Jewish law, we can more clearly understand what the Four Questions are and for what purpose they were included in the Seder.

“They pour for him a second cup [of wine]. Here the son asks. And if the son has insufficient understanding his father teaches him: “How different this night is from all other nights! For on all other nights we dip once.... According to the child’s ability to comprehend should the father teach.” (Mishnah Pesachim 10:4)

The most striking point of this Mishnah is that, unlike our modern custom, it is not the child who “asks” the four “questions,” but the person leading the seder. And they are only “asked” if the child is not already naturally asking questions. What the leader is doing by mentioning all the things that are so different about this night is setting up the kids, and adults too, to ask the question, “Why?”

So much that we do during the Pesach seder is extremely different from the way we have meals every other night of the year. To a very large degree, many of the ritual items and procedures of the evening are consciously designed to encourage the asking of questions and the development of the ensuing conversations.

What I hope each of us takes away from this understanding is the notion that we can, and indeed ought to, create a seder experience in which we and our guests are truly engaged in discussions that are real and meaningful. One way to do this is to ask in advance that each of your guests come with a story of how they experienced a feeling of freedom from something that was holding them back. You can also ask each guest or family member to share the story of a group who is currently in need of redemption. Including topics like this will enliven your seder by adding new dimensions. Give yourselves permission to not read every single word of the Haggadah. In fact, I would argue that if you simply read the words as quickly as possible to get through it, though you may be doing so because of the belief that this is how it is properly done, the whole purpose of Pesach and the seder is being lost. What is most important is that real conversations around freedom are taking place and that we leave with a feeling of redemption, or at least that freedom is possible.

Wishing you all a Chag Sameach and the ability to arrive at that place where you feel as if you personally went out of Egypt.

Message from the President

SHARON EDELSTEIN | SMABEG@GMAIL.COM

Dear Beth Sholom Community,

I hope everyone is enjoying these beautiful signs of spring and getting ready for Pesach, my favorite time of the year!

I wanted to give you an update of the goings-on at Beth Sholom. As you probably realize, we've been very busy! We've worked hard to continue our progress in offering new, fun programming. In March we held a fabulous Purim bash, had our first successful game night at Frederick Social, and held a wine tasting with our own Garry Cohen. In April we will celebrate Rabbi's promotion to Captain in the US Army, will hold our annual Yom Hashoah service in conjunction with Kol Ami, and will celebrate Yom Haatzmaut together with a picnic at Staley Park. It's certainly wonderful to see you all in 3-D again. We've also made great strides in identifying a new Executive Director. The top candidates will visit Beth Sholom during an upcoming Shabbat. Our subcommittees are hard at work as well. The finance committee is working hard to create a sustainable budget for next year, and an ad-hoc committee is looking into solar panels which will reduce our long-term electricity costs. And, this month we started using a texting system to help keep all congregants in the loop about everything Beth Sholom. Be sure to add the texting contact in your phone.

As always, I also want to remind you that there are many ways to donate to make sure all this activity is sustainable. Donating covers our costs for programming and makes it possible for everyone to participate in congregational activities. There are many reasons to donate to Beth Sholom throughout the year. A donation may be made to celebrate life events such as birthdays, engagements, weddings, anniversaries, Bar/Bat Mitzvahs, and the birth of a child. Donations can also be made to honor someone's memory. Your donations help to ensure Beth Sholom continues to provide a welcoming and inclusive presence in the community. You can easily provide a monthly donation of any size by contributing using our Sustainable Operations Support (SOS).

Sharon Edelstein
Beth Sholom President
2022-2024

RELIGIOUS AFFAIRS COMMITTEE

The RAC will be meeting April 20 at 11:15 am in person and by Zoom to study source material about when Kaddish can be said and who can be counted in the minyan. We will also start planning for next year. Anyone interested is welcome to come but please let Monda know if you are coming at Monda.Sagalkin@gmail.com.

BINGO VOLUNTEERS NEEDED

Volunteering at Bingo is both a great way to help the finances of the congregation and to get to know both the broader Frederick community and Beth Sholom congregants. It's an excellent opportunity to meet new people, and have fun while also helping our community. Please get in touch with Marcia Newfeld (Mknewfeld1251@gmail.com) or Sharon Edelstein (smabeg@gmail.com) about volunteering.

WHAT ARE THE OPPORTUNITIES TO SUPPORT THE BETH SHOLOM COMMUNITY AND ITS MISSION?

MEMORIAL & HONORARY GIFTS

Throughout the year, memorial or honorary gifts may be made in memory or in honor of a person for a birthday, anniversary, holiday, or for a personal achievement. Gifts may be made to the General Fund, to a named fund or to the Beth Sholom Legacy Endowment Fund, and will be acknowledged each month in our Bulletin.

MONTHLY SUPPLEMENTAL DONATIONS

You can set up a monthly supplemental donation which will help Beth Sholom meet our day-to-day operating expenses, which we call our "SOS Fund". These may be made in honor of a person as described above. Such gifts will be acknowledged each month in our Bulletin.

LIFE INSURANCE POLICIES

Life insurance policies are often an advantageous way to fund an endowment gift because a large donation can be created through relatively small tax-deductible premium payments.

CHARITABLE TRUSTS

One flexible method for leaving a contribution to Beth Sholom is through a Charitable Remainder Trust, which also provides tax-free benefits to the donor.

CHARITABLE GIFT ANNUITIES

Similar to charitable remainder trusts, gift annuities provide another way to contribute to the future of Beth Sholom, take advantage of tax-free benefits, and ensure a continual stream of investment income for the congregation.

If you have any questions regarding donations, please do not hesitate to contact our Executive Director Rob Allen and/or your financial advisor.

April 1 / 10 Nissan

Seven years after the cornerstone was laid, on April 1, 1925, the Hebrew University campus on Mount Scopus in Jerusalem officially opened in a gala ceremony attended by leaders of the Jewish world, and international dignitaries that included Winston Churchill. The University's first chancellor was Judah Magnes, who served in that capacity until 1935, after which he became the school's president. Among the University's first Board of Governors were Albert Einstein, Sigmund Freud, Martin Buber and Chaim Weizmann. Since its founding, Hebrew University has grown to three campuses in Jerusalem, and one in Rehovot. The world's largest library for Jewish studies, the National Library of Israel, is located on one of the Jerusalem campus sites. Today's Hebrew University also has five affiliated teaching hospitals, including Hadassah Medical Center, seven faculties, more than 100 research centers and 315 academic departments.

April 8 / 17 Nissan

Following the exposure of an illegally held United States bank account, Israel's fifth Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin resigned from government service on April 8, 1977. Rabin succeeded Golda Meir after she resigned in 1974. Under Rabin's leadership, Israel and Egypt formulated the Sinai Interim Agreement that eventually led to the peace treaty between the two countries that was signed in 1979. It was on Rabin's orders that the Israel Defense

Forces carried out Operation Entebbe, the undercover raid that rescued the passengers of an airliner in Uganda which was hijacked by Palestinian militants. Rabin was re-elected in 1992 for a second term as Prime Minister. With Rabin in attendance as the keynote speaker at the Jewish Federation of North America General Assembly in 1994, I had the honor of singing "HaTikvah" along with the Colorado Hebrew Chorale. It is a moment I will always cherish. Rabin was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize that year, along with Yasser Arafat and Shimon Peres, for his role in the creation of the Oslo Accords. Sadly, Rabin was assassinated in 1995 at a mass rally in Tel Aviv by a right-wing Israeli extremist who opposed the Accords.

April 15 / 24 Nissan

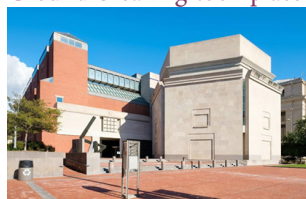

On its maiden voyage from Southampton to New York, the British luxury passenger liner Titanic sank on April 15, 1912, after striking an iceberg. Some 1,500 people died, and according to records from the White Star Line who operated the ship, several hundred of the passengers were Jewish. It is speculated that there may have been many more Jews who were fleeing the religious persecution and pogroms of Russia using forged documents and altered names. Among the more prominent Jews who perished on the Titanic that night were famous American mining magnate

Benjamin Guggenheim, and Isidor and Isa Straus, owners of Macy's Department Store. Straus' brother, Nathan, was also supposed to have been on the ill-fated ship but made a decision to remain in Israel to help the impoverished Jews who were struggling in Jerusalem. He credited that decision for saving his life. The city of Netanya is named for him.

April 22 / 1 Iyar

Ground-breaking took place eight years earlier, but it was on April 22, 1993 that the Holocaust Memorial Museum was officially dedicated in Washington, D.C. It was under the administration of President Jimmy Carter that the concept of the memorial museum was established, and 1.9 acres of land adjacent to the National Mall in D.C. was made available for the museum site. The construction cost was nearly $200 million dollars (which probably would have been more than twice that amount based on today's economy) and was paid for by private donations. At the time of the ground-breaking, two milk cartons containing soil and ashes from several concentration camps were buried on the site to symbolize the Museum's mission and historical message. Among those in attendance at the dedication of the Museum were President Bill Clinton, Israeli President Chaim Herzog and Nobel Peace Prize winner Elie Wiesel, who was one of the children rescued by my father's Army unit when they liberated Buchenwald in 1945.

April 29 / 8 Iyar

We've heard and used the term "ghetto" for many years in reference to the horrific conditions under which European Jews found themselves living in the years leading up to World War II. But the word itself actually traces its beginnings to the date of 8 Iyar 5276 (April 20, 1516), when it was first used in reference to a restricted area of the Jewish Quarter of Venice, where the city's Jews were forced to move by decree of Doge Leonardo Loredan and the Venetian Senate. The area was formerly the site of a foundry which manufactured weapons for the government of Venice. The Italian term for foundry is "ghetto."

Growing Up With Holocaust Survivor Parents

Laizer was 16 and Lili was 12 when the Nazis wrested them away from their homes in Poland. Unbelievably, they met in 1945 through the barbed wire fence of a concentration camp, got married, and moved to New York City, where they've been since 1949. They will join us by video while their older son, Dr. Harvey Levy, a local dentist, author, lecturer and martial arts master, tells their story and describes the impact of the Holocaust on his family.

Sheriff Chuck Jenkins will describe hate groups and activities in Frederick County. There will also be a candle lighting, proclamations from the City and County, appropriate Readings and Music.

Religious School News

DR. JENNIFER NEWFELD | RSPrincipal@BethSholomFrederick.org

March came in like a Purim carnival and went out with preparations for Pesach in our Religious School. We kicked off the month with a student-created spiel (skit) and an amazing Purim carnival (a huge thank-you to Katelyn Vaughan who organized it and to all the parents who ran it). The social hall was packed with Purim games, food, and community. It was truly incredible.

Throughout the rest of the month, we focused on the value of recognizing the good, or Hakarot Hatov. Our 1st and 2nd graders took home their Havdalah boxes filled with crafts they had been working on, and our Pre-K and Kindergarten classes discussed Shalom Bayit, or how to create peace in the home. Before we knew it, the halls were filled with the sweet sounds of Mah Nishtanah as we prepared for Pesach.

We ended the month with a fantastic morning of family learning to prepare us for Passover. As a reminder, please check the April calendar as we will be closed for Passover and Spring Break. Chag Sameach, and may we all enjoy our journey from slavery to freedom this year.

"THANK YOU, THANK YOU, THANK YOU!!!!..to the wonderful folks who made sure that neither Jim nor I went hungry while he "stepped & fetched" for his ailing wife when I was freshly post-op last February!

Not only did we avoid starvation but, WOW!...you proved yourselves to be darn good chefs! I'll try to avoid the temptation to repeat the bothersome surgery just to get a few more DELUXE meals out this way!

Much love to you all!!
