CST Teens Learn Ways to Change the World at L'Taken in D.C.

Baruch Atah, Adonai, Eloheinu, Melech haolam, shenatan lanu hizdamnut l'takein et haolam.

Praised are You, Adonai, our God, ruler of the universe, who has given us the opportunity to change the world.

On a chilly, very early morning on January 29, eleven Shomrei Torah teens boarded a plane for Washington, DC. These teens were participants in the long-running L'Taken Social Justice seminar. This intensive weekend is run by the Religious Action Center of Reform Judaism, the social advocacy branch of the Reform Movement. During the weekend, our teens joined hundreds of their peers from all across the country to celebrate Shabbat and learn how to be an advocate for social change. Through various simulations and programs, they studied what makes advocacy inherently Jewish as well as delved into several national and global issues. The entire weekend culminated with each of the students getting to lobby our elected officials on Capitol Hill.

Our students spoke on topics they were passionate about such as LGBT equality, the raising of the minimum wage, climate change, stem cell research, voting rights, and supporting the State of Israel. With the support of the RAC staff, our students lobbied on these topics in the offices of our State Senators, Barbara Boxer and Diane Feinstein, as well as the House of Representatives, Jared Huffman and Mike Thompson, from their home districts.

Though the day of lobbying was truly the pinnacle of the experience, our teens were also able to take in the cultural side of D.C. They visited the Lincoln Memorial, spent an evening in Georgetown, and hopped around the National Mall visiting the various Smithsonian museums. On Saturday, they had the chance to tour the United States Holocaust Memorial and Museum, and then not four hours later, celebrated havdallah on the steps of the Jefferson Memorial. Rabbi Stephanie—who chaperoned the event with Malcolm McElheney, Youth and Music Coordinator—commented on the poignancy of the pairing of these two experiences. She said how incredible it is to be so publicly Jewish in our nation's capital after being reminded of the atrocities of the Shoah.

These teens, very few of whom had done intensive learning of this caliber before, showed their passion for justice and their willingness to try new things. They branched out, made friends from other congregations and other states and showed their courage to our national leaders. Mazel tov to our amazing teen advocates!

Our L'Taken participants were honored during Shabbat services on February 26 and a digital copy of their speeches can be found on the CST website.

Environmental Action Committee Marches On (excuse the pun)

Our small but eco-involved group continues to try to do good environment work on the following fronts:

- 1) We are meeting with Bessie Martinez, outreach coordinator of the Unicycler (CST's waste management company) to learn of changes in their parameters for recycling and compostables, so we may know better how to reduce the trash stream that goes to the Sonoma County dump—which is presently closed, requiring out-of-county hauling.
- 2) We are monitoring the CST utility bills (water, electricity and gas) to study the effects of the solar installation of last year on our electricity usage and overall costs, as well as looking for money and environment saving opportunities.
- 3) We are developing a recommended list of environmental organizations to partner with for their work days. This has been done in the past with City of Santa Rosa and the CST Community Involvement Day of cleaning Santa Rosa Creek that has seen as many as 131 of our congregation of all ages participate in a single event.
- 4) We are considering sponsoring a recently produced documentary film, "This Changes Everything," that takes a novel approach to the climate change crisis. A discussion would follow.

If any CST member wishes to express their opinions on these and other eco-related topics, contact Rick Reisman at rickcath@sonic.net or attend one of our monthly meetings.

LEGACY CIRCLE NEWS

Meet Member

Annette Elder Evins

Annette Elder Evins became a member of Congregation Shomrei Torah about four years ago because she had a Jewish background through her father, and she felt the welcome that CST offers all who wish to join in this community.

She has valued CST's openness and commitment to all life from the tiger salamanders to people of mixed-faith backgrounds or cultures. Differences are valued at CST; it has something for everyone. As a part Pomo and Cherokee Indian, she feels that she is accepted at CST.

Annette feels that CST does not judge people for who they are and what they believe. She wants her children and grandchildren to experience this. She feels some of her children identify as Jewish and even her non-Jewish daughter-in-law agreed to have her grandson circumcised. Annette's history with the Jewish leaders of Santa Rosa goes back to her youth and watching her Jewish father expose his family to Jewish culture and holidays.

Right now Annette is concerned about the building fund issues and meeting the mortgage payment next year. She plans to leave a percentage of her estate to CST. This is important to her and she hopes her business can generate more soon so she can donate it during her living years.

Her special hope for CST is that it has a viable building as well as continued openness to accept everyone. She wants the ecumenical spirit to live on.

Annette currently is studying Mussar practices at home and plans to continue her studies of Zohar when that class is offered in April.

LEGACY
CIRCLE

Help Sustain the Future of Congregation Shomrei Torah

Like Annette Elder Evins, you can help ensure the future of our congregation. Becoming a member of the Legacy Circle is simple. Complete a couple of easy forms, talk with a member of the Legacy Committee and elect to become a member. Legacy Circle Membership means that sometime in the future, usually specified in your wills or trusts, a donation will be made in your name(s) to CST. If you wish, you may specify how the funds will be used. These funds will provide the endowment that CST needs to continue serving Sonoma County for years to come. Thus far, over 70 families and individuals have elected to become Legacy Circle Members.

Please join today. It costs nothing now. Advice on how to set up your donation is available through the CST office. As a member of the Legacy Circle you can specify a portion of your estate to honor or be made in memory of someone. Please contact Chris Chang Weeks at ccweeks@cstsr.org or call 707-578-5519 for more information.

Congregation Members Show Interest in Chavurot

Environmental Action Committee Tip of the Month

Safe medicine disposal threat to both public health and the environment

- It's important to safely and securely dispose of medicine.
- Never flush them down the toilet or sink, or put them in the trash.
- Take your unused or expired medications to a participating take-back location.

For an updated complete listing of Sonoma County locations, go to: www.safemedicinedisposal.org

Immigrant Accompaniment Program: Giving New Hope to Families

Several local faith-based organizations are forming support teams to help immigrant youth and mothers recently arrived from Mexico and Central America. Typically, these are refugees fleeing extreme violence. They are receiving legal services from VIDAS, a non-profit group, as they apply for asylum status. Each team will coalesce around one family. Accompaniment may take many forms, including literal accompaniment to court or to fingerprint appointments, helping them to register for ESL classes, sharing a meal or two, and introducing them to the congregation. Madeleine Rose and Ed Berger of the Social Action Committee are in the early stages of forming a team. This is an opportunity to do tikkun olam and receive muchos abrazos. It would be especially helpful to have Spanish speakers, but this skill is not necessary. If you are interested in participating or just want to learn more about this effort, please contact the CST office at (707) 578-5579 or email denise@cstsr.org.
