Art Trails comes to the Bagel Club

Sunday September 1, 9:00 AM

The art of Lox, Bagels and Cream Cheese will be shown at the Shomrei Torah Men's Bagel Club on Sunday, September 1. The program will also feature the highly talented Jewish Artists who work in less edible, but still desirable art forms. Artists and CST members Nina Bonos along with Caryn Fried, Marsha Connell and Gerald Huth will talk about Art Trails, the annual Sonoma County event where the community is invited into the studios of local artists. Art Trails is an opportunity for each of us to see the artist's works and even add to their own collection. All four of the presenters participate in Art Trails. This promises to be a very interesting program.

Last year, 5773, was an active year for the Bagel Club with monthly programs September through June. The Bagel Club also served the Brunch at the Annual Congregational Meeting and put together a fun Fourth of July event at Shomrei Torah with the best view of the fireworks show in Santa Rosa.

The Bagel Guys are busy getting the programs for the rest of the year scheduled. Programs on the new Access to Health Care law, a chat with our new Cantor, a presentation by Rabbi Gittleman, an update on the SMART Train and other Jewish and local issues are being planned for the coming year. If you have any ideas for programs, please tell us your suggestions when you RSVP.

"Art Trails is an opportunity for each of us to see the artist's works and even add to their own collection."

Bagels, coffee and the other goodies will be served starting at 9 AM in the Sanctuary with the program to follow. A donation of 7-10 dollars is requested for the meal, program and good company. Please RSVP by email to cstbagelmen@gmail.com or call the CST office at 578-5579. Your RSVP is appreciated so there is enough food and chairs for everyone.

Beyond Water And Flashlights.....

Sunday October 6, 3:00 PM

As we prepare for the holidays, are we prepared for a major disaster? We all have extra batteries, a couple of flashlights, some candles, and canned and packaged foods in our kitchen, so isn't this enough?

Noah would say no. He was the ultimate preparer. Following God's instructions, he prepared for the destruction of the world. Today Noah would be a member of COPE (Citizens Organized to Prepare for Emergencies). COPE is a volunteer emergency preparedness program under the Santa Rosa Fire Department, and is charged with organizing the city block by block, to help each other during wildfires and earthquakes and other disasters before city agencies can get to us.

Katrina and Sandy have taught that we cannot count on governments to help us quickly. Fire, police, ambulances, hospitals, may have to triage aid. Computers, cell phones, or land lines may not work. We must be prepared to take care of ourselves for 3 to 5 days or more. COPE can organize and train people to look after each other until help arrives.

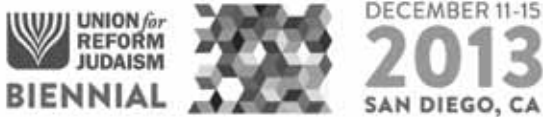

What if you don't live in Santa Rosa? COPE information is broad and deep and can help everyone. Wherever you live you need to really prepare and organize, to save your family and your neighborhood. Our congregation lives in high risk areas, subject to wildfires and earthquakes.

The Jewish concept of Tikkun Olam is about shared responsibility for healing and repairing the world. The Social Action Committee invites you to practice Tikkun Olam forward. They are sponsoring this program because COPE prepares us to heal the world and repair our communities before they are broken. Join us on October 6 and learn how to prepare.

The Shomrei Torah Voice is a periodical issued monthly except for the combined June/July issue. It is published by Congregation Shomrei Torah, 2600 Bennett Valley Road, Santa Rosa, CA 95404 and is distributed free of charge to members and supporting advertisers. Subscriptions are available for $30 per year. Please direct inquiries to the Shomrei Torah office, 578-5519; office fax number 578-3967.

Feeding My Soul

Throughout the year, it is vital that clergy and other Jewish professionals take time to feed their souls.

Jewish professionals spend much of our time making sure others get what they need, often forgetting about our own personal care. Between solving congregational disputes, trying to please everyone and attending numerous meetings, it's easy to lose sight of the reasons for our dreams of working professionally for the Jewish people.

One of my favorite ways to take care of myself and bring my dreams back to the center of my consciousness is to work at camp. Camp Newman faculty is not only vital to the programing and t'filla at camp, but it is also enriching for the clergy and educators who attend. There is no better feeling than to be nearly knocked over with a bear hug and an exuberant introduction from a proud camper, "This is Rabbi Stephanie. She's my rabbi!" As with any other activity, at camp, you really get what you put in. The more you participate with your unit and get to know campers and staff, the deeper your relationships. It is heartwarming to work with knowledgeable, talented song leaders to develop creative t'filla we might never be able to do at home. Only at camp would a 7th grader think to invent an experiential game of crossing the Red Sea (creek) during services.

Or maybe it's that only at camp are we able to test this creation with 30 willing participants.

Working with unit heads to bond campers together in creative educational ways is incredibly inspiring. Hours after arriving at camp, I was helping facilitate a program that taught 23 campers about being welcoming and kind to one another. Not only was this a great program, but it also felt as if I was looking into the magnifying glass on an artificial ant colony. There is a lot to learn about the relationships that play out "in the real world," of the microcosm of camp. Their disputes might be about who gets in on a card game but it parallels almost any debate about the use of institutional space beautifully.

Not only do the campers and staff feed my soul, but the faculty are able to truly connect during meals and down time. There are only a few opportunities during the year when I get to collaborate creatively with clergy from all over California in prayer, programing and teaching. At camp, this happens daily! Not only do we learn from one another about camp, but we also have the opportunity to collaborate on services and experience different teaching models first hand. We are also blessed with resources at are fingertips— not just camp resources but resources that are applicable to our work back home. Being at camp is not just sitting around in a gazebo, although I've absolutely had time for this as well, but it is truly fulfilling work. Touching beautiful souls through Judaism and ensuring Jewish identity in the next generation at camp nourishes me in a way nothing else can.

B'shalom,
Rabbi Kramer

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

L'Shana Tova!

This summer Jim and I launched our oldest child "into the world."

Well, out of our house, at least. After much thought, and a bit of teeth gnashing, Jonathan made the bold decision to move to southern California. He's testing the (warmer) waters down there by attending school at Moorpark College and rooming with his grandma until January. In addition to grandma, he'll be surrounded by aunts, uncles, and numerous cousins....much more family than he's used to here in Santa Rosa. Jonathan and I drove together to make this move, just the two of us, leaving Jim and our younger son at home. What precious time it is to spend several hours with a loved one – even if the loved one sleeps for half the journey. I thought I'd be more nervous or pensive, maybe even shed some tears letting go of my son. But instead I was surprised by the joy I felt at seeing him settle in to these fresh surroundings and hopeful that his new home and school are exactly what he needs. New beginnings. And so my thoughts turn to Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur, the Days of Awe, and the promise that accompanies these High Holy Days. Our liturgy tells us on Yom Kippur that this day is "awesome and full of dread." Yet, praying amongst all of you, shoulder-to-shoulder with my Shomrei Torah family, I only feel the awesomeness and do not dread what is before me personally or us as a congregation. During the month of Elul, I took time to reflect on the past year, and found that yes, I wasted time, I was not as frugal as I thought with resources both financial and ecological, I could have been more tolerant and patient. I could have helped more inside and outside of my family, and stretched beyond my personal comfort zone. I certainly could have exercised more and taken better care of myself. Ah, but the High Holy Days are here! Reset. Here we go – moving forward, never back, into the New Year with hope and promise of good things ahead. I wish you and your loved ones a happy and sweet new year.

B'shalom,
Rachael

We have just completed our 5th consecutive summer of partnering with Camp Newman, assisting them in checking in campers on their incoming days. I wanted to personally thank all of the volunteers who helped out this summer. This summer's volunteers were Marnie Schwartz, Rachel Blum, Joyce Sokolik, Sandy Menachof, Arlee Moore, and myself.

It is always very uplifting for me when I see the kids arriving from all over the country, connecting with their Reform Jewish community. in such a fun way. I'm glad that representatives from Shomrei Torah can continue to be there.

Camp Newman has expressed their deep appreciation to the caring members of Shomrei Torah for the Tikkun Olam, which has been so graciously offered. This summer is quickly coming to an end, but the staff at Camp Newman is hoping to maintain this bond with Shomrei Torah in future years.

LEGACY NEWS

Meet Legacy Circle Member Susan Bailyn

Susan has been a member of Shomrei Torah since 2009. Her involvement with Shomrei Torah is one of those, 'a funny thing happened on the way to . . . ' stories. Before she became a member, she was asked to design the logo for Shomrei Torah. Then her help was sought for all of the design work for our cookbook, 'Oy to Joy'. Her graphic design skills and art brought her into Shomrei Torah membership. She now serves as Chair of the Communications Committee and as a member of the Shomrei Torah Board of Directors. She is a part of the Food Fest Committee as well.

Susan values the sense of community and the wonderful people she has met at Shomrei Torah. She finds herself benefitted by giving to the Shomrei Torah community and inspired by the religious connection.

Susan made her legacy gift when she realized that Shomrei Torah was going to be a permanent part of her life. She realized that she wanted Shomrei Torah to be there for future generations. Susan's gift is to be used wherever it will be most valuable to Shomrei Torah.

Susan hopes that Shomrei Torah is able to continue to provide a safe haven for Jews of all walks of life in Sonoma County; a place where they may connect. It is her hope that Shomrei Torah will continue a dialogue in the greater community to foster understanding of religious freedom, and to reduce anti-Semitism.

Care Packages for Our College Students

Do you have a son or daughter entering or continuing college this fall who would like to receive care packages from Shomrei Torah? We'd love to keep in touch! Call Vikki in the office 578-5519 with campus contact information by September 20 or if you have any questions, or would like to help pack the care packages.

Kir HaKavod

Have you noticed? We're refreshing our Kir Hakavod (Honor Wall) tree with new, easier to read plaques.

The Kir Hakavod is the "tree of life" located on the north side of our long Shalom Hall, leading to the sanctuary. Each inscribed leaf and pomegranate honors and celebrates friends, family or a special event (simcha).

Big birthday or anniversary coming? New grandchild? Children celebrating B'nei Mitzvah, or graduating from college? Now is a great time to donate a leaf or pomegranate to recognize, thank, commemorate, or honor someone or some occasion with a permanent dedication.

Donations benefit our Building Endowment Fund and provide lasting support for the congregation. Leaves are $360 for members, $720 for non-members; pomegranates are $1000 members, $1800 non-members.

It's easy to participate! Simply call the office 707-578-5519 or email shomrei@shomreitorah.org. Information cards will also be available soon next to the tree itself.

Environmental Action Committee

Tip of the Month

One generation goes and another generation comes; but the Earth remains forever.
(Kohelet 1:4)

1. Take a lot of steps!

Walk....drive less... 100 years ago most people got by without cars. They took the train, they lived near their workplaces, and they walked.

2. Use neither paper nor plastic!

Bring reusable bags with you to the grocery store to cut down on the 350 bags the average American uses each year.

3. Bring your own bottle!

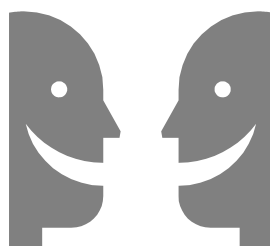

Fill up a reusable water bottle at home and take it with you.

4. Turn most lights off!

Have the light on only in the room you're in, and keep the rest of the house dark. You'll see more stars and find the dark soothing.

Cancer Resource Team At Your Service

If you were recently diagnosed with cancer, there are other members of the congregation who have experienced similar challenges and want to help. Would you like someone to talk with you and/or members of your family? We are here to listen, answer your questions and hold your hand. Contact the CST office at 578-5519 to be paired up with a member of the team.

Caring Committee

The Caring Committee likes to have soups, stews, or casseroles available to deliver to folks recovering from surgery, etc. If you like to cook and can freeze extra meals in a disposable container, marked with date and ingredients, please bring to CST's freezer. Please contact the CST office at 578-5519 to participate in this mitzvah. And remember you can call on the Caring Committee if you are in need of help.

A message from Muncie and Stephen Harper

We want to thank so many of you for your kind sentiments and donations in honor of the birth of our granddaughter Esther Ganit Harper.

In addition to our renowned Tot Shabbat program, this year we are adding an introduction to Religious School for all Pre-K, children 3-5 years old. Parents are invited (but not required) to stay throughout the class. As your children become more comfortable separating, you are able to enjoy your free time, coming back at the end of T'filla (services) from 11:00-11:15 in the sanctuary.

This is a preschool class where you can meet new friends and build budding Jewish relationships that can blossom for years to come. During these classes there will be tons of hands-on art activities, spirited movement and music, playground time, and fun Jewish learning. Field trips will be held at Art & Soul Music School, Santa Rosa.

Open to the entire Jewish community. $180 for the entire program.

STARS

Dear STaRS Families;

I am excited about the 2013-2014 school year! Remember opening day is September 22nd. Please plan on coming and staying the entire time. We will have a packed program for parents and a delicious nosh.

We are once again asking each family to bring two bottles of WHITE grape juice for snack. Don't worry if you don't have time to stop by the store you can buy them from us for $6 on opening day.

I am also excited to let you know that the STaRS committee has decided to make and sell T-Shirts for opening day. Everyone loves school spirit and this is just one way for us to build community!

As always we are requiring each family to volunteer a minimum of 4 hours throughout the school year. This helps us keep costs down. (If you are unable to volunteer your 4 hours there is a "buy out" cost of $25 an hour totaling $100 for the school year.) We will be sending you the information for volunteer opportunities in early September.

We are so excited that our schedule will allow each of our classes to have their own private space for increased concentration, more storage and display space for each teacher, and it will allow our entire school to pray together as one community. We will also have space for learning opportunities for parents while their children are in class. More information about parent learning opportunities to follow. Please mark your calendars for the first day of STaRS on September 22nd!
