THOUGHTS ON A THIRTEEN-MONTH YEAR

By Rabbi Robert S. Pilavin

Secular leap years have an extra day. Jewish leap years have an extra month of Adar. Most Adar observances are held in Adar II. Adar I (which starts February 1) has few Jewish associations.

Here's one. Fifty years ago this month, in a private White House meeting between Rev. Billy Graham and President Nixon, Graham said that the Jewish "stranglehold" on the media "has got to be broken." Thirty years later, he apologized for these remarks after a tape of this conversation was released by the National Archives. In his words:

"I don't recall having those feelings about any group...and I certainly do not have them now. My remarks did not reflect my love for the Jewish people. I humbly ask the Jewish community to reflect on my actions on behalf of Jews over the years that contradict my words in the Oval Office that day."

A Divinity school professor observed: "He [Graham] did not spin it. He did not try to justify it. He said repeatedly he had done wrong, and he was sorry."

Other than that miscue, Graham was held in high regard as an evangelical leader. No financial or sexual scandals dogged him. He was an early advocate of de-segregation and an ally of Dr. King.

During the apartheid era, Graham consistently refused to visit South Africa until its government allowed integrated seating for audiences. He befriended Nelson Mandela.

Graham was not rigidly partisan. He met with 12 consecutive US presidents (Truman to Obama) regardless of party affiliation.

Graham could be controversial. His remarks about Jews shocked many - if only because of his longtime support of Israel and his refusal to join in calls for conversion of the Jews. He was honored by the ADL (1969), American Jewish Committee (1977), and the Jabotinsky Foundation (1980)

Why is all this information important? Several reasons come to mind.

In his Laws of Repentance, Maimonides notes that

- a) anyone whose merits outnumber his demerits is considered a righteous person (3:1)
- b) people who receive an apology are "cruel" if they refuse to accept it (2:10)
- c) God does not "count" a sin "that was committed only once or twice" (5:1)
- d) It is praiseworthy for one who repents a sin against others to confess in public (2:5)
- e) One who "suspects worthy people" commits a very serious offense (4:4) – indeed this is among the sins for which it is unlikely that the sinner will repent.

We live in a society rife with "cancel culture," a society which frequently displays a "zero tolerance" for the most minor offenses. Our tradition insists that we should "judge the whole of a person favorably" (Ethics of the Fathers 1:6). This teaching is often mis-translated as "Judge everyone favorably" or "Give everyone the benefit of the doubt." We are not being asked to overlook the obvious. Rather, we are being asked to consider ALL of the evidence when assessing people.

Moreover, we should not judge people by what they say in private, but by what they do in public. Rev. Graham's unfortunate remarks, fifty years old this month, should not be the yardstick by which his legacy is assessed. We should focus on his many acts of righteousness, including those that directly impacted on the American Jewish community. And then history will judge US kindly as well! ★

LEADERSHIP MESSAGE

By Jay Fields

Welcome to February. We are halfway through winter and change is coming to Congregation Sons of Israel. The Rabbinic search committee has been actively interviewing candidates and we are planning our first “probeh” shabbos with a potential candidate. We have chosen the shabbos of February 11-12th. Please come to shul that shabbos to meet and greet the Rabbi and his wife. The committee is confident that you will be impressed with this Rabbi. (More information about the probeh Shabbos is on page 6.) In the meantime, we are still holding in-person shabbos services. As of this writing, due to the current Omicron variant, we have suspended kiddushes, but are continuing with davening while fully masked. We believe we are being responsible and would welcome you to join us on a shabbos morning.

As mentioned at the parlor meetings and in prior mailings we will be implementing a permanent mechitza in the main sanctuary for shabbos starting March 5. Again, this mechitza will be in place for shabbos services only.

On another note, I hope you all had an opportunity to read the article about our shul and the transition we are making. The article was published January 5th in The NJ Jewish Link. This is great exposure for our shul and the transition we are about to embark on for the next chapter of our shul’s life. Please feel free to send the link or article to friends and family in the neighborhood or anyone you may think of that would be interested in joining a vibrant and growing orthodox synagogue. Our members are the key to growing our shul and I hope you’ll join us in spreading this exciting news!

One more thing... I’m pleased to announce that Congregation Sons of Israel was given a federal grant of $150,000 for security upgrades. Over the coming months we will be installing a new alarm system, new entry doors, security cameras, security lighting and entrance bollards.

Please clip your Box Tops for Education and send them to the office.

Our School earns money for each BoxTop. They can be found on General Mills Products and many others.

YOU CAN ALSO SKIP THE SCISSORS...

It's the easiest way to earn for your school: just use the Box Tops mobile app to scan your store receipt. It automatically finds participating products and instantly adds Box Tops to your school's earnings online. No clipping required.

Thank you for your support!

Please join us as we welcome

Sisterhood Scoop

By Vickie Lynn Amron

As I begin to write this article for the Voice, I find myself in a dilemma. The usual article is packed full of accolades and praises for programs that have passed, along with updates for your calendars of programs and events to pencil in. But alas, I have neither to write about this time. I am hopeful that in the very near future we can begin to plan our wonderful Sisterhood programs. I truly can't wait to see all your smiling faces gathering in our Mishan Hall.

But since this article would be too short if I had nothing further to write I decided I'd share some cute and funny reads that I've come across recently. Hope it brings a smile to you all.

Some food for thought:

I'm getting older, worn out, & I still have so many unanswered questions!!!!

I haven't found out who let the dogs out, where's the beef, or how to get to Sesame Street. Don't know why Dora doesn't just use Google Maps, why all the flavors of fruit loops taste exactly the same, or how many licks does it take to get to the center of a tootsie pop!!! Why eggs are packaged in a flimsy carton but batteries are secured in plastic that's tough as nails. What does the fox say and why is "abbreviated" such a long word? Why is there a D in 'fridge' but not in refrigerator, why is lemon juice made with artificial flavor, yet dish-washing liquid is made with real lemons? Why do you have to "put your two cents in" but it's only a "penny for your thoughts" - where's that extra penny going to??? Why does The Alphabet Song & Twinkle Twinkle Little Star have the same tune, and why did you just try to sing the two previous songs??? And just what exactly is Victoria's secret? and where is Waldo? Why do feet run and noses smell? Why do we park on driveways and drive on parkways? And is it my imagination or do Buffalo wings taste just like chicken? Can you hear me now? ★

A few little ditties we can probably all relate to:

1. To me, "drink responsibly" means don't spill it.
2. Age 60 might be the new 40, but 9:00 pm is the new midnight.
3. It's the start of a brand new day, and I'm off like a herd of turtles.
4. The older I get, the earlier it gets late.
5. When I say, "The other day," I could be referring to any time between yesterday and 15 years ago.
6. I remember being able to get up without making sound effects.
7. I had my patience tested. I'm negative.
8. Remember, if you lose a sock in the dryer, it comes back as a Tupperware lid that doesn't fit any of your containers.
9. "Getting lucky" means finding your car in the parking lot. "An all-nighter" means not having to get up to pee.

MEN'S CLUB HAPPENINGS

By Michael Katz, President

I hope you and your loved ones are safe and well.

As of my writing this, I'm still optimistic we can have our in shul Super Bowl Party on Sunday, February 13.

If you'd like to attend, please contact me at katzfamily4@aol.com as I need to know how many are coming to gauge if it's still worth having the party.

To those who have already sent in their dues for 2021/22, thank you very much. For those who have yet to do so, please join us. Your $36 membership dues help the Men's Club provide assistance to our Synagogue for capital improvements as well as charitable donations to many worthwhile causes.

We are looking for men who would like to be trustees for the Men's Club. Please contact Michael Katz at katzfamily4@aol.com if you are interested in joining our board.

When you look at the Men's Club wall in the main entranceway, you will see a special "Men of Distinction" section. As many of us have honored the special women in our lives with inclusion on the "Women of Valor" wall, the Men's Club would like you to honor those special men in your life with a plaque in the "Men of Distinction" section. The cost is $150 for this special honor. ★

IMPORTANT NOTICE

We hope that all of our community is doing well. Please check your email or call the office at 732-446-3000 for our latest status. Note that many events and services will be taking place via Zoom.

The office is open with limited hours. Please call before coming in as all visits will be by appointment only. All visitors to the shul are required to wear masks.

We have installed a locked mailbox at the door of the shul for anyone wishing to drop off letters or payments. Allison & Rabbi Pilavin will continue to check their voicemail, email, and regular mail.

Stay safe!

We are planning a Parade for May 22, 2022! After two years, we are so excited to be back on 5th Ave again - Kulanu B'Yachad!

We can't wait to see you all with your colorful banners, t-shirts and props, singing and dancing and waving the blue and white up!

It's been too long and we've missed you all!

We know there have been changes in personnel, so please send us corrected names and emails.

Hoping you are all well and back to school and work.

Congregation Sons of Israel would like to thank Drs. Henry & Henrietta Rosenberg on their continued financial support in honor of Henrietta's parents, Fannie & Lou Kotlus, who were members of our synagogue for over 60 years.

gift. We appreciate everything you do for Congregation Sons of Israel!

On behalf of my sister and myself, we cannot adequately express our sincere gratitude and thanks to everyone who so graciously acknowledged the passing of our father, Cyril Solk. Your kind words, donations and visits gave us great comfort and truly helped ease the pain of our loss.

Toda raba and thank You,
Avril Kon & Raymond Solk

10. When you ask me what I am doing today, and I say "nothing," it does not mean I am free. It means I am doing nothing.
11. I finally got eight hours of sleep. It took me three days, but whatever.
12. I run like the winded.
13. I hate when a couple argues in public, and I missed the beginning and don't know whose side I'm on.
14. When someone asks what I did over the weekend, I squint and ask, "Why, what did you hear?"
15. When you do squats, are your knees supposed to sound like a goat chewing on an aluminum can stuffed with celery?
16. I don't mean to interrupt people. I just randomly remember things and get really excited.
17. When I ask for directions, please don't use words like "east."
18. Don't bother walking a mile in my shoes. That would be boring. Spend 30 seconds in my head. That'll freak you right out.
19. Sometimes, someone unexpected comes into your life out of nowhere, makes your heart race, and changes you forever. We call those people cops.
20. My memory is not as sharp as it used to be. Also my memory is not as sharp as it used to be.

And finally...

Two very wise Jewish Proverbs to live by:

1. "Worries go down better with soup than without."
2. "If life gives you potatoes... Make latkes!"

So have some soup with your latkes until we meet again!!!!

From My Perch

By Maxine Pilavin

“Agreeable Jews”: Why I Agree

Recently, I listened to “Agreeable Jews,” Dara Horn’s companion podcast to her latest book, People Love Dead Jews. Her podcast explores the history of Jews erasing their Judaism to gain societal acceptance. To exemplify this phenomenon, Horn references an Oscar-winning film about anti-Semitism and an incident involving Napoleon and the Jews of France.

In the podcast, Horn reviews “Gentleman’s Agreement,” a 1947 film starring Gregory Peck. Peck plays a journalist assigned to research and write about anti-Semitism in post-World War II America. His character, Phil Green, takes on the assignment by going undercover—he impersonates a Jew. Green’s discoveries are predictable: a hotel won’t give him a room, his son is bullied and called a dirty Jew at school. Even his fiancée reveals covert anti-Semitism. To the father’s dismay, she tells the harassed child: “It’s all a big mistake. You’re not really Jewish.”

Horn points out the glaring omission in the film—actual Jewishness. There is neither a proper explanation of Judaism, nor a depiction of a Jewish scene or ritual object—no synagogue, menorah, mezuzah, Jewish religious celebration. Nada. Yes, the father tells his son that Jews attend a synagogue. A Jewish scientist, modeled after Albert Einstein, proclaims he is a Zionist and a proud Jew. Regarding the substance of Judaism, though, the non-Jewish audience learns nothing (of course, Hollywood’s Jews may have known little more about Judaism than whatever the film portrays). The underlying message seems to be that Americans should accept Jews because they are just like the rest of us.

But what if they’re not? Is discrimination then tolerable? And what if they are? Does accommodating societal norms guarantee broad-mindedness?

Horn reminds us that in 1806, Napoleon set out to determine whether French Jews deserved citizenship. He convened a “Sanhedrin,” the great Rabbinic Court in the Temple in Jerusalem. Then he posed a set of questions to the assembled dignitaries. All the rabbis’ answers passed muster, even the one about intermarriage (the rabbis understood the stakes were high and there was only one “right” answer). Napoleon appeared satisfied. Jews were loyal French citizens. They could attend their synagogues and enjoy full citizenship unmolested as long as they behaved like everyone else. The problem? It didn’t work. Napoleon later revoked Jewish equality, and the 1894 Dreyfus Affair showed French anti-Semitism was still alive and thriving. Jewish acceptance of social conventions guaranteed nothing.

What about today? Most Jews do not lead a life conspicuously different from that of the mainstream, and yet anti-Semitism is on the rise. Jews cannot escape their “otherness.” And why should Jews have to be like everyone else anyway? Is that tolerance?

Despite what political leaders and Hollywood moguls believe, Jews should not have to erase themselves in order to be “Agreeable Jews.” Bari Weiss, former editor and writer for the NY Times, writes: “... for Jews, an ideology that contends that there are no meaningful differences between cultures is not simply ridiculous—we have an obviously distinct history, tradition and religion that has been the source of both enormous tragedy as well as boundless gifts...” (“Stop Being Shocked.” Tablet, 14 Oct. 2020.) Jews are different. Celebrating this is basic to understanding and combatting anti-Semitism. Whether that means attending synagogue, supporting Jewish day schools, or observing Shabbat/holidays to whatever extent we do, we should embrace our uniqueness. Nay, for the future of Jews and Judaism, we must. ★

ADULT EDUCATION

Maxine's (Zoom) adult education class continues on Mondays at 7 PM. The current series is "Missionizing in the Middle Ages: Jews and Christians Face Off."

There will not be a class on President's Day (February 21).

The Rabbi's (Zoom) class continues on Wednesdays at 10 AM. We are exploring Nevi'im (Prophets) – the second part of the Hebrew Bible.

In January, our evening minyan has incorporated a brief lesson following the Mishnah Yomit (Daily Mishnah Study). We recently concluded Berakhot (on daily prayer). We continue with selections from the next tractate: Peah (see Leviticus 19:10-11, 23:22 and Deuteronomy 24:19-22, 14:28-29).

We also reference the Daf Yomi (Daily Page of Talmud). During February the tractates studied are Mo'ed Katan (dealing with the intermediate days of Pesach and Sukkot) and Chagigah (dealing with the three Pilgrimage Festivals and the Festival Offering).

During February we continue reading Shemot on every Shabbat morning. For more background, see the Wikipedia article "Book of Exodus" and scroll down to "Judaism's weekly Torah portions." This section provides summary of the content of each week's readings as well as a survey of Talmudic, medieval and modern comments on the reading. We will read the portions: Terumah, Tetzaveh, Ki Tisa and Vayakhel (which is also Shabbat Shekalim).

RITUAL NEWS

Friday Zoom services are at 4:30 PM (February 4), 4:45 PM (February 18 and 25).

Shabbat morning services take place in the synagogue at 9 AM.

Saturday Zoom services are at 6:15 PM (February 5), 6:30 PM (February 19) and 6:45 PM (February 26).

Service times for February 11-12 appear elsewhere in the bulletin as we welcome our special Guest Rabbi.

Daily services continue on Zoom at 8:30 PM (Sunday-Thursday), 7:15 AM (Monday-Friday) and 8:30 AM (Sundays).
