TEMPLE SHOLOM

A sacred community that embraces, inspires and matters

MARCH / APRIL 2021

Senior Rabbi
Shoshanah Conover

Temple Sholom's Second Night Seder will be an oasis for feeling at home in this virtual desert.

The legendary Disability Civil Rights Activist, and recent Temple Sholom guest, Judy Heumann teaches: "Any story of changing the world is always the story of many. Many ideas, many arguments; many discussions; many late night, punchy, falling-apart laughing brainstorming; many believers; many friendships; many failures; many times of almost giving up; and many, many, many people."

As our Passover Story tells us, we are a mixed multitude—and our varied gifts, perspectives, and opinions can be our strength. Here we are again, getting ready for Spring and our Passover Seder. We do so amidst the continued pall of the pandemic. With intermittent and staggered access to the vaccine, we face the reality that last year's virtual seders were NOT an anomaly. Many of us will again connect with family through our imperfect Zoom Seders (as opposed to our imperfect in real life seders).

Hence, it is not the grand story of the Exodus from Egypt that resonates this year, but the stories of our people wandering in the wilderness. That's why I appreciate the singing of Dayeinu (meaning: for us, it would have been enough) whose stanzas take us through the totality of our story and do not merely focus on one moment. Of the fifteen verses, the middle five bridge the grand story of the exodus with the wilderness experience:

- If God had split the sea for us-Dayeinu!
- If God had led us through on dry land-Dayeinu!
- If God had drowned our oppressors-Dayeinu!
- If God had provided for our needs in the wilderness for 40 years-Dayeinu!
- If God had fed us manna-Dayeinu!

We, as a Temple Sholom community, continue to wander, yes, but we do so with purpose. We understand that miracles today, big and small, are wrought not by God alone, but through our efforts guided by Divine — and human — inspiration. We continue to improve our community and change the world with many, many, many people.

This year, we all have a common experience of trying to feel at home in places that are difficult to access — cast as we are to an online wilderness in which human connection can feel illusive. That feeling compels us to make every aspect of our synagogue community more accessible. You, no doubt, will notice the ways in which our congregation is becoming increasingly accessible to those of us with disabilities due to the extraordinary efforts of a small group of dedicated congregants. Yet, to do this holistically, we need the energy and experience of our entire mixed multitude.

On Passover, as we celebrate the mixed multitude coalescing into a sacred community, Temple Sholom's Second Night Seder will be an oasis for feeling at home in this virtual desert. We are in the process of getting delicious Passover meals to our homebound congregants at no cost. We will sing songs that are familiar and introduce some new traditions that will bring laughter and meaning to our homes and our hearts. And, together, we will continue to make Temple Sholom — our building and our online spaces — more accessible in tangible ways that you will notice at our Seder as our circle of embrace grows. You will find ways to register for our Second Night Seder in these pages and online. Bring yourself. Bring your family. Bring your friends. All are welcome!

Wishing you and yours a Zissen Pesach — a sweet and meaningful Passover!

L'sholom,

Rabbi Shoshanah Conover

WHAT'S THE RABBI READING?

Being Heumann: An Unrepentant Memoir of a Disability Rights Activist.

By Judy Heumann

After watching the compelling documentary "Crip Camp" (streaming on Netflix), if you want to find out more about the amazing and inspiring life of Judy Heumann, join me in reading Being Heumann: An Unrepentant Memoir of a Disability Rights Activist.

Judy Heumann recommended Julia Watts Belser's fascinating book detailing early rabbinic discourse on disability and sexuality entitled, Rabbinic Tales of Destruction: Gender, Sex, and Disability in the Ruins of Jerusalem.

President
Jed Silberg

By the time this issue of the D'var hits homes, we will have been in quarantine for almost one year. Though hard to believe, it is our reality and I continue to be proud of all that we have accomplished as a community under such adverse circumstances.

And, rather than lament the fact that we have now been through a full year of missed opportunities, I would rather consider that we are now all professionals at hosting Zoom Seders, participating in Zoom

Shabbat Services and logging into Zoom b'nai mitzvah ceremonies right at the time the Torah service begins.

That is how I would like to think about commemorating this challenging anniversary and I invite you to view it through that lens as well!

Looking forward to when we can be together again,

Jed Silberg

Gan Shalom

Early Childhood Education Center

The Gan Shalom children are learning, thriving and engaging with their friends and teachers every day!

Each class had the opportunity to learn about Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and the important lessons that he taught us. The children studied similarities and differences in each of us while also understanding how important it is to treat one another with love, respect, and kindness. The children participated in art projects, stories, thoughtful discussions and walked into our sanctuary to see where Martin Luther King Jr. spoke from our very own Bimah at Temple Sholom! We also had the opportunity to watch clips from the inauguration as President Joe Biden and Vice President Kamala Harris were sworn in. Our Kindergarten children wrote letters to the President and Vice President and mailed them to the White House. A very exciting time to mark such an historical event!

Gan Shalom registration is open for the 2021/2022 school year. For more information, please contact Heidi Cooper, Director of Early Childhood Education at heidi@sholomchicago.org or 773 525-4867.

A Time to Embrace | ECCLESIASTES 3:5

Attitude of Gratitude

As we approach mid-March once again, it's easy to focus on the challenges of the past twelve tumultuous months. But in recent conversations with our Wednesday study group, as we focused on our 5781 theme text, "A Time To Embrace," we discussed how important it is to focus on the positive. I was reminded of an exercise from AJ Jacob's book, "Thanks A Thousand," in which he describes making an A-to-Z gratitude list - a fun challenge for the whole family! Here are seven things (a nice Jewish number) I'm feeling grateful for these days:

1. Our new Lifelong Learning team - where would we be this year without Rachel Lipson, our Religious School Administrator and Esther Fishbein, our Youth Engagement Coordinator?
2. Our Religious School faculty - from outdoor fall classes to online learning, our teachers show grace under pressure, bursting with new ideas for keeping students connected to each other!
3. Our Crown Family High School teens - many of whom are volunteering in our Madrichim program this year - who continually help to craft their own program, spending the early weeks of 2021 focused on exploring "How To Be An LGBTQ+ Ally" with Esther and Rabbi Gellman.
4. Our Adult Education Committee members, who have created and supported an inspiring lineup of guest speakers which has yielded unprecedented turnouts of over 50 attendees regularly on Sunday mornings.

5. Our Religious School parents, who support their children's spiritual development, helping them log into Zoom (often sitting side-by-side during classes), and sticking with us through these tough times.

6. Our JUF Education "Shifting the Paradigm on Hebrew Learning" cohort with Tal Pendo and Rabbi Gellman, which has yielded our 6th Grade 1-on-1 Hebrew Boot Camp Mentorship Pilot among other innovations to our Hebrew program.

7. My first week back at work in 2021, when I got to teach Introduction to Judaism on Monday night, work with small groups of 6th graders during Rabbi Singer's Tuesday Midweek Hebrew class, lead our Wednesday study group and Crown Family High School t'filah (prayer) in the same day, and sing Shabbat songs with Gan Shalom students on Friday morning - what a way to start the year!

This hasn't been an easy time, but my work in our learning community continues to inspire and energize me, with so much appreciation for the contributions of our clergy, staff and lay leaders.

Healing Your Brain After Loss: A Neurologist's Perspective

Dr. Lisa M. Shulman

SUNDAY | MAR. 7 | 9:30 AM

Loss is often described as "heartbreaking," but how is the brain involved? Join Dr. Lisa M. Shulman, Professor of Neurology at the University of Maryland and author of "Before and After Loss: A Neurologist's Perspective on Loss, Grief, and Our Brain" to learn how healing is linked to understanding how the brain is affected by the emotional trauma of loss. Dr. Shulman's research and experience will be helpful to anyone managing the loss of a loved one as well as many other forms of loss. Action steps including journaling, dream work and spiritual practices.

Fruits of Freedom, the Torah Flora Haggadah

Dr. Jon Greenberg

SUNDAY | MAR. 7 | 10:45 AM

Much of the Pesach Seder is rooted in the history of Jewish food and agriculture. Dr. Greenberg will present some of this forgotten Pesach lore that he recovered during his research for this unique and important new Haggadah.

Come learn about the German rabbi who reversed the meaning of maror by replacing it with vermouth herbs; how ancient rabbis used botany, physics, and sophisticated culinary techniques to explain the Paschal lamb barbecue; and how the potential conflicts between Torah and science over leaning left at the seder and baking matzah in the southern hemisphere have been resolved.

Dr. Greenberg received his bachelor's degree with honors in biology from Brown University and his Master's and Doctorate in agronomy from Cornell University. He has also studied with Rabbi Chaim Brovender at Israel's Yeshivat Hamivtar and conducted research on corn, alfalfa, and soybeans at Cornell, the US Department of Agriculture, and the University of Pennsylvania's Institute for Cancer Research.

Since 1989, he has been a science teacher and educational consultant. Dr. Greenberg was Senior Editor of science textbooks at Prentice Hall Publishing Co. Previously on the faculty of Yeshivas Ohr Yosef, the School of Education at Indiana University, and the University of Phoenix, he has taught at the Heschel School since 2008. He is a frequent speaker at synagogues, schools, and botanical gardens.

Tikkun Olam and How it Fits into Remix Judaism

Roberta Kwall

SUNDAY | MAR. 14 | 10:45 AM

"Remix Judaism" is about carving out a space for consistent and meaningful Jewish practice, even if that practice does not completely follow Jewish law. But how does "tikkun olam" (repair of the world) fit in? This talk explores the origins of tikkun olam and its current role in Jewish continuity.

Roberta Kwall is the Raymond P. Niro Professor at DePaul University College of Law and an internationally renowned scholar and lecturer who has published over 30 articles on a wide variety of topics including Jewish law and culture, authorship rights, and intellectual property. She is the author of several law casebooks that are used nationally as well as two monographs: "The Myth of the Cultural Jew: Culture and Law in Jewish Tradition" (Oxford U. Press, 2015) and "The Soul of Creativity" (Stanford U. Press, 2010). Her latest, "Remix Judaism," is about transmitting Jewish tradition in a diverse world.

The Lost World of African-American Cantors: 1915-1953

Henry Sapoznik

SUNDAY | MAR. 21 | 9:30 AM

Join Henry Sapoznik as he explores the forgotten moment of Black cantors (called "shvartze khazonim") who entertained Jews in the theater, on record and on radio in the 1920s and 1930s. The presentation will include dozens of period advertisements, reviews and features which appeared in the Yiddish and African-American press and the playing of the only known commercial recording of a shvartze khazn from 1923.

Henry Sapoznik is an award-winning producer, musicologist and performer, and writer in the fields of traditional and popular Yiddish and American music and culture. A five-time Grammy-nominated producer/performer, Sapoznik has been featured on over fifty records including having reissued over 30 anthologies of Yiddish, jazz, old-time, cantorial, ragtime, blues, Italian, swing, blackface minstrelsy and bluegrass recordings.

Morocco's Jews: An Intimate View of Jewish Life in a Muslim Land

Roy Mittelman

SUNDAY | APR. 11 | 9:30 AM

There has been a vibrant Jewish presence in Morocco for at least two millennia. Just ten years ago the Moroccan government updated its constitution to proclaim that Jewish tradition is a core element in its national heritage.

And just a few weeks ago the Moroccan government went further, announcing that it was adding Jewish history and culture to the school curriculum. For us looking from the outside, we see a profoundly beautiful way of being Jewish, in many ways unique to that country. Learn about the past, present and future of the Jewish community of Morocco based on Dr. Roy Mittelman's 40 years of traveling to, studying and teaching about the community.

Roy Mittelman is the director of the Jewish Studies Program at the City College of New York. Dr. Mittelman received his BA from the University of Pennsylvania, and a Masters and PhD in Religion from Temple University. Dr. Mittelman's research focuses on Muslim-Jewish relations in Morocco.

The Healing Otherness Handbook: Overcome the Trauma of Identity-Based Bullying and Find Power in Your Difference

Dr. Stacey Reicherzer

SUNDAY | APR. 18 | 9:30 AM

It's not easy being the outsider- whether that means we were the kid who was 'different' in school or our family, or that we're a member of a targeted group who's experienced trauma over the generations. Otherness instills a sense of fear that keeps us believing we're not good enough and that we must somehow prove worth to a world who's sought to devalue us. Join Temple Shalom's own Dr. Stacey Reicherzer, who will introduce her new self-help book as a tool for reclaiming our power, our voice, and our freedom to choose a life that works on our terms.

The Tsunami of Antisemitism - Never Again is Already Again

Steven H. Resnicoff

SUNDAY | APR. 25 | 9:30 AM

The pre-Holocaust generation didn't believe it could happen. The immediate post-Holocaust generation vowed it wouldn't ever happen again. But much of today's generation doesn't know what happened, doesn't believe what happened, or frankly doesn't care what happened. And that's why it has started to happen again. To combat antisemitism and preserve the Jewish nation, there are things we need to do. Let's start talking about them.

Professor Steven H. Resnicoff is the Director of DePaul College of Law Center for Jewish Law & Judaic Studies

SHALEM שָׁלֵם

EMBRACING RACIAL & ETHNIC DIVERSITY

The word Shalem means wholeness in Hebrew. In these strange and divisive times, it seems more important than ever to bring our whole selves to our relationships, interactions, and lives, to come together as a whole community for important dialogue. In December 2020 and January 2021, Shalem, our Embracing Racial and Ethnic Diversity core group, supported Temple Sholom's first ever Shalem Conversations—discussions about race and racism for our whole Temple Sholom community. Guided by Rabbi Singer, Temple Sholom members came together to begin some tough conversations around understanding what anti-racism really means and unpacking the term "white privilege."

Our Shalem core team (Sonje Hawkins, Andrea Jacobs, Jessica Min, Troy Neely, Amanda Rios-Lebowitz & Linda Tate) served as drivers of this program and dialogue facilitators alongside other members of the Temple Sholom family. All members of Temple Sholom are enthusiastically invited to join us for our Spring conversations on Zoom.

MONDAYS | MAR. 8, APR. 12, MAY 24 | 7:30 PM

"These meetings have been so personally enlightening. Every time we meet, I find myself making these paradigm shifts." - Katherine Billingham

For more information about our upcoming conversations, Shalem and Temple Sholom's Embracing Racial and Ethnic Diversity programs, plus recommendations for books, movies, podcasts and more to help better understand race and racism, visit sholomchicago.org/ered.

SHOLOM JUSTICE

Exciting Recent News

Thank you to everyone who participated and joined us for our Sholom Justice Shabbat in January, where we welcomed Sol Anderson, Director of I Grow Chicago. It was inspiring to hear how I Grow Chicago is helping to change the West Englewood Neighborhood from within, and we are excited to join their efforts. Please be on the lookout for ways Sholom Justice will join I Grow Chicago in their efforts.

Also in January, Sholom Justice donated 100 meals to the healthcare workers at Mount Sinai Hospital to show our appreciation for all the work they do. A special thank you to Josh, Amy, Ava & Beth Rosenow who supported and volunteered at our MLK

Monday Meal! We are now able to welcome a small number of volunteers back into the building each week, please contact Toby if you and/or your family would like to volunteer. Eco Chavura also hosted its first Seder celebrating all things Tu Bishvat! In February, even though we were not able to host our expanded Valentine's Day meal, we made our to-go meals special and festive! We want to continue to give a huge shout out and THANK YOU to everyone who has and continues to contribute to the Monday Meal! If you would like to contribute items to the meals, please contact Toby Sanders for the sign-up or visit sholomchicago.org/tikkun-olam.

Since we "re-launched" Feed the Hungry with its new face lift, the program has been going strong! Thank you to the Dombar, Grossman, Reicherzer, Saltz and Schafer families who sponsored the January and February Feed the Hungry Sundays.

IOT Shabbat

Friday, March 19

BYO Wine & Cheese | 5:00pm

Shabbat Service | 6:15PM

Be sure to join us for our BYO "Wine & Cheese" happy hour before our special IOT Shabbat! Bring your favorite drink, nosh, and yourself, as we gather before Shabbat to have a good old fashion schmooze (virtually of course). Then make sure to join us for a special IOT Shabbat. To register for the free happy hour, visit sholomchicago.org/iot. Zoom information will be provided upon registration.

Recent News

In January and February, we started off with our monthly morning minyan. Then we enjoyed a film discussion of the movie, ' Fargo', with Matt Fagerholm. Matt is a knowledgeable and passionate film critic and reviewer for rogerebert.com, a film festival judge and film teacher at the Evanston Art Center. In February, we hosted another successful trivia night and social hour. Great job to all the teams on their hard fought trivia battle!

IOT Continues to Sponsor a Monthly Congregational Minyan

1ST MONDAY OF THE MONTH
AT 8:00 AM ON ZOOM

The Monthly Morning Minyan (sponsored by IOT) is a relaxed, come-as-you-are early-morning service lasting approximately 30-45 minutes, led by one of Temple Sholom's clergy and featuring a Torah reading with explanation and discussion. The short service is followed by time to meet and socialize with friends, congregants and clergy. Join us for this beautiful way to start your week. Minyan will happen next on March 1st & April 5th. See temple eBlasts for the Zoom link.

BE ON THE LOOKOUT FOR REGISTRATION INFO

Women OF TEMPLE SHOLOM

There is still time to sign-up for our Annual, and Always Memorable, Women's Seder! Don't miss out!

MONDAY | MARCH 15 | 6:00 PM | ZOOM
REGISTRATION REQUIRED BY MARCH 8

TO REGISTER, PLEASE VISIT SHOLOMCHICAGO.ORG/WTS AND LOOK FOR THE HOT TOPICS DISCUSSION IN THE "UPCOMING EVENTS" COLUMN.

Don't miss your chance to join with Women of Temple Shalom and participate in our beautiful annual Women's Seder Monday, March 15, with Rabbi Rena Singer leading it for the first time. The deadline to register is Monday, March 8. The evening will include reading from our own WTS Haggadah and breakout room "tables" for socializing and discussion. There will be singing, dancing, and a delicious professionally-prepared holiday meal which can be eaten during or after the Seder.

The Women's Seder is $36 per person, $18 for those under 18, and $72 to be a Seder Sponsor. Your registration includes the complete fish or vegetarian meal prepared by Hearty Boys (with instructions for heating at home) and most ritual Seder foods, a copy of our specially created Haggadah, and a WTS Swag Bag of items to make the evening festive and meaningful.

FOOD BOX PICKUP: Drive by or walk up to temple on Sunday, March 14, from 12:00 PM - 2:00 PM only, when WTS volunteers will be distributing Seder food boxes and Swag Bags to those who have registered and paid.

If you require special accommodations for pickup, please contact Toby at 773-435-1536 or toby@sholomchicago.org

Hot Topics: Jewish Feminism The Sequel, By Popular Demand

MONDAY | APRIL 19 | 6:30 PM | ZOOM
FREE BUT YOU MUST REGISTER

Due to the enthusiastic response of the first WTS Hot Topics event on Modern Jewish Feminism in December, Rabbi Rena Singer will present a follow-up program on Monday, April 19, to delve more deeply into specific aspects of this subject. This will be the fourth in the WTS Speakers' Series. In the first program, Rabbi Singer gave an overview of intersectionality and the different phases of the Feminist movement. We had an opportunity to explore these issues in small breakout rooms with multigenerational participants who shared their own experiences and viewpoints which resulted in fascinating and eye-opening discussion. In the April program, she will look more closely at antisemitism and progressivism within the Feminist Movement.

Plan to join us to continue the conversation on this important topic to women of all ages.

To register, please visit sholomchicago.org/wts and look for the hot topics discussion in the "upcoming events" column.

January and February Were Filled With a Wide Range of WTS Programs

Our WTS Speakers' Series that started in December with Rabbi Singer's Hot Topics on Modern Jewish Feminism continued with two dynamic guests from the Israel Religious Action Committee: Anat Hoffman in January and Rabbi Noa Sattath in February. Both programs were presented in cooperation with the temple's Adult Education Series.

February continued to be a really active month for WTS. We started off with a Women's Night at the Movies, talking about Ma Rainey's Black Bottom with film critic Matt Fagerholm. We also partnered with Adult Education and Social Justice to present a tour of the Illinois Holocaust Center's "Notorious RBG" exhibit, as well as a panel discussion a few weeks later with local judges and lawyers who knew and worked with Ruth Bader Ginsburg.

SAVE THE DATE!!

Award-Winning Author Fern Schumer Chapman To Present Multigenerational Book Program

SUNDAY | MAY 23 | 3:00 PM | ZOOM
FREE BUT YOU MUST REGISTER

Fern Schumer Chapman is a journalist and author best known for her autobiographical book Motherland: Beyond the Holocaust – a Mother-Daughter Journey to Reclaim the Past. We will meet with Fern to discuss Motherland for a sure-to-be stimulating discussion. More details about Fern, her mother and her award-winning books are on her website: fernschumerchapman.com. This will be a wonderful intergeneration program, so invite your daughters, granddaughters, mothers, sisters, aunts and more.

To register, please visit sholomchicago.org/wts and look for the hot topics discussion in the "upcoming events" column.

To learn how to become a member of WTS, please visit sholomchicago.org/WTS or contact Toby at toby@sholomchicago.org with any questions.
