FROM OUR PRESIDENT

BENJI JOTKOWITZ

In this week's Parsha Vayikra, we are introduced to the intricate laws of sacrifices and offerings. Among the various types of offerings detailed, one common thread emerges – the act of giving.

The Torah teaches us that giving is not merely a matter of transferring possessions from one hand to another; it is a deeply spiritual act that connects us to both Hashem and our fellow human beings. When Bnei Yisrael brought their offerings to the Bet Hamikdash, they weren't just fulfilling a ritual obligation; they were expressing their gratitude, devotion, and commitment to G-d. They understood that giving of themselves was a fundamental aspect of their relationship Hashem. In our own lives, we can learn from this profound lesson. Giving is not limited to material offerings; it encompasses all forms of generosity – giving of our time, our talents, and our love. Whether it is volunteering, lending a listening ear to a friend in need, or simply offering a kind word to brighten someone's day, every act of giving has the power to make a difference.

Furthermore, Parashat Vayikra teaches us that giving is a two-way street. Just as Bnei Yisrael received blessings and atonement through their offerings, we too receive blessings when we give of ourselves wholeheartedly. Our acts of generosity not only benefit those we help but also enrich our own lives in ways we may not even realise.

As we reflect on the teachings of the parsha, let us embrace the spirit of giving in all its forms. Let us be mindful of the opportunities to extend kindness and compassion to others, knowing that through our acts of generosity, we strengthen our connection to Hashem and contribute to the betterment of the world around us.

These acts of communal giving were once again strongly displayed over Purim as we came together to celebrate. The events & programs committee delivered a most wonderful "White Night" party for literally hundreds of members which brought the simcha of Purim to Mizrachi.

My sincere Hakarat Hatov to Pnina Tepper-Adler and the women's engagement committee for ensuring that 130 women and girls could experience a first a Mizrachi Melbourne - a women's megillah reading in the Goldberger Hall. Thank you to the very talented Baalot Kriyah - Elli Wyman, Michal Bloch-Herz, Migi Daveney, Sarah Winthrop, Aviya Wiener, Pnina Tepper-Adler, Elisa Steinberg, Ella New and Amelia Hirschfield.

The festivities continued with an amazing carnival at Yavneh and the KOD seudah which was a big success. Many dropped in for a l'chaim at the Kimche's home together with the Brull's and the Tzevet also hosted a lovely seudah. Thank you to all those who gave so much of their time and energy to make it such a wonderful chag.

The shule gabbaim are always exploring ways to increase minyan attendance and participation for both men and women. The initiative was to offer two Friday night minyanim at the same time, one with increased singing and the other more regular style to cater for different preferences. Over the last few weeks however the numbers have been lower and it has been decided to revert back for now to the model of one minyan in Bet Yehuda and KOD will offer their own minyan. We will reexplore our Friday night tefillah offerings down the track as the clocks are next week going back.

The thirty days leading up to Pesach have special significance in halachic literature. The Gemara in Pesachim states that there is an obligation to begin the study of the laws of Pesach thirty days prior. There will be a number shiurim available in the Beit Midrash & Midrasha in the lead up and to assist with preparations, and please also sign-up to our pre-Pesach Friday night dinner hosted by the Kimche's and Brull's for the community. It promises to be a wonderful evening.

Mazel Tov to Mina & Fred Grossman on the forthcoming wedding of their daughter Tali to Miky Lewin. Mazel Tov also to Akiva and Rachel Epstein on the birth of their baby boy.

Well done to Talia Bolton on producing another entertaining Purim Spiel, now appropriately named after the late Elaine Bloch. "Les Mizrachi" showcased a range of community talent with all profits raised sent to Emunah in Israel. Like the final song in Act 1 rings true "I still call Mizrachi home".

Shabbat Shalom

MINCHA/KABBALAT SHABBAT - 6:45PM
SPEECH FOLLOWING KABBALAT SHABBAT

TORAH TIDBITS

DANIEL BRAVER

This week we read Megillat Esther as we do on Purim every year. But this year was different. The words leapt from the page and the narrative was all too real. This was not a story of something that happened a long time ago but something current and contemporary. The striking similarities between the Purim story and our world since Oct 7th breathe new life into both the plot and personalities of Shushan in the time of Mordechai and Esther.

At one of the most dramatic moments of the megillah Mordechai pleads with Esther, כִּי אִם הַחֲרָשׁ תִּהְיִי, for if you remain silent at this time, salvation will arise for the Jews from elsewhere, but you and your father's household will perish. Esther understood her tafkid and did not remain silent. She spoke up for her people who could not speak, who were downtrodden and oppressed. Her faith and mesirat nefesh, self-sacrifice, is the fulcrum across which the narrative switches מִגִּגּוֹן לְשִׁמְחָה.

This week's Parshah begins with Hashem telling Moshe to command (צו) Aaron regarding the burnt offering. The word Tzav is used in contrast to 'אָמַר' or 'דִּבֶּר' which have been used in reference to offerings up until this point. Chazal explain that this term is used to highlight the commitment required of the Cohanim to observe such particularly financially onerous commandments. The Cohanim forwent their regular means of making a living to bring offerings where the meat was completely burnt, no part saved for themselves. The Parshah ends with "and Aaron and his sons did all the things that Hashem commanded through Moshe". Aaron and his sons knew their tafkid and they fulfilled it zealously and with enormous sacrifice. In this case, sacrifice of their physical, material wealth in pursuit of increased spirituality and closeness with Hashem.

Earlier this week, Amit Sousanna released a statement about her ordeal in Hamas captivity. President Herzog said Amit, "speaks for all those who cannot speak". IDF spokesman Daniel Hagari said, "Amit's courage and her choice to share this difficult testimony with the world is worthy of deep appreciation. Amit is a true hero." Whilst the mesirat nefesh of Esther, who spoke up, is different to the sacrifices of Aaron who did everything Hashem asked of him- both demand that at this time (בְּעֵת הַזֹּאת) we too take action, make a sacrifice, effect change, give a little more. We may not all be as brave as Amit but let Amit's act of bravery and sacrifice be an example to us and our inspiration to be the fulcrum to cross מֵאֵבֶל לַיּוֹם טוֹב.

MA'ARIV TO FOLLOW

OUR PURIM SURPRISE

REBBETZIN VIA KIMCHE

So if Ozzie land is 'Down-Under', we came from 'Up-Over'.
And we were wondering what Purim would be like in this Ozzy Town.

What to expect? Especially at a time when things are so concerning for Jews all over the world, and especially in Israel.

A sad Purim? Perhaps a slow, or depressed, or over-relaxed, Uber-sporty, yawn-inducing Purim but the opposite was true.

What a great surprise!!!

Purim here was just GREAT.

Mizrachi was pumping - all the minyanim were full to bursting, everyone was focused on the Megilla, laying was attended to seriously, Haman was properly destroyed and Team Esther/Mordechai saved the day -again. And everyone was happy about that and in great spirits.

At times like these, when the Hamans of this world are again rearing their ugly heads - we get strength from the story of Mordechai and Esther, and the directive has gone out from Israel that the only answer is to be besimcha - to proudly celebrate our beliefs and our heritage. Netsach Yisrael loh yeshaker! LENATSEACH!

So in this spirit, there were many things to enjoy and lift our spirits (with lots of spirits 🍷)

The White Night party was truly delightful, with the entire kehilla (as in כל היהודים) eating, drinking and making merry together as we should.

In the morning again all the minyanim read the Megilla beautifully-and during the day many wonderful and successful parties and seudot were being held.

We were told that the Yavneh Purim party was outstanding and amazing, loads of kids and parents got a real 'Ta'am shel Purim', with Megilla, great activities, rides and excellent food.

The drop-in at the Rabbis' house was also a big success and well attended, with lots of people meeting, greeting and eating in friendship and just enjoying each other's company. We felt the warmth of the whole community and the joy of celebrating the yomtov together.

The Bnei se'uda was equally wonderful and well attended, and the drop-in se'uda at the house of the bachurim was also a big hit, especially with the younger people.

There were lots of other private parties going on, as well as an engagement, so simchas galore!

The entire day had a really festive feel, as did the streets of Caulfield where you could see cowboys and spacemen, princesses and dinosaurs - and lots of happy music blaring.

People running around with beautiful mishloach manot, dancing and singing in the streets and in many houses.

But the nicest surprise for me was the Women's Megilla reading in the Goldberger Hall.

It was done beautifully, melodiously, respectfully, even uplifting. And halacha was never compromised.

It seemed appropriate that the tale, which took place at a time and place, 2400 hundred years ago, when parties were held at separate venues for men and women, was retold to us by women for women. This felt like a woman's party, in honour of Esther Hamalka who played the pivotal role in saving our Nation.

And everyone was so happy to be there, together celebrating our Jewish heritage, our strength and our wisdom, and upholding the tradition.

And giving strength to each other and the next generations.

So a huge thank you to all who worked so hard to make this into a special, uplifting and memorable Purim - here at Mizrahi - Downunder.

A personal thank you for all the cards, mishloach manot and warm friendship that we have received and keep on receiving. We feel grateful and honoured to have landed in this nice community.

May the ruach of Purim give strength to all of Am Yisrael.

And may we celebrate next Purim, not under a cloud but in true simcha for all of Am Yisrael.

RIDDLE OF THE WEEK

REB LEOR BROH

Riddle for Tzav

I am one of a set mentioned in Tzav, but the only one appearing in the singular form. What am I?

Riddle for last week (Vayikra)

I appear as the initials of three consecutive words. What are they?

Answer:

The word for I is אני and appears as the initials of the following three words:

"If a leader sins - אֲשֶׁר נָשִׂיא יִחַטָּא" (4:22)

R' Dovid Moshe Moskovitz in his Tzohar LaTeivah quotes R' Nota from Chelm who explains the connection as follows. The prophet Yeshayahu in Chapter 47 describes Hashem's anger and vengeance against Bavel. In 47:8 Hashem declares:-

וְעַתָּה שְׁמַעֲרֹאֵת עֲדִינָה הַיּוֹשֶׁבֶת לְבֶטֶח הָאֶמְרָה בְּלִבָּבָהּ אֲנִי וְאֶפְסִי עוֹד.....

Now hear this O pampered one, who dwells securely, who says in her heart "Only I and none but me"!

The word אני is used by Yeshayahu to describe the feeling of arrogance and smugness on the part of Bavel, who will ultimately bear the brunt of Hashem's anger.

The hint to the same word אני in the verse in Vayikra similarly indicates that a feeling of arrogance and smugness can result in even the leader sinning.

In contrast, Chida in his Chomat Anoch explains that the hint to the word אני is a reference to Hashem who declares "I am ready to reward if he does Teshuvah".

Kaddish L'kol Kadosh

Mizrachi is partnering with Chessed Chaim and Emmet to offer you the opportunity to personally commemorate and eternalize the memory of the holy ones who have lost their lives since Simchat Torah.

Since the outbreak of the war, we have lost over 1,400 brothers and sisters. The Kaddish L'kol Kadosh project arranges for individuals to recite Kaddish for each of the fallen each day for the entirety of the year.

Over 500 of the fallen have not yet been assigned someone to say Kaddish for them through this project. To register, please fill out the form at the link below.
