

Dr. Nancy Berman - Bio

Originally from New York, Nancy Berman has been a Tampa resident for 30 years. She has been active in the Jewish community since she arrived, starting with her own adult b'nai mitzvah. After obtaining a nursing degree from NYU her early professional experience was in the healthcare industry, working as a Registered Nurse in the fields of Oncology, Public Health and Discharge Planning. She obtained a Masters Degree in Nursing Administration in 1987 from the University of Louisville but found her true interest was in teaching after her role as a nursing educator at FSU. She began her second career as a Jewish educator in her children's religious school, as both a volunteer and chair of the school board. This guided her decision to go back to school for Jewish education. She obtained an advanced certificate in Jewish Education with a Masters Degree in Jewish Studies from Gratz College. She then received a Doctorate in Education from Northeastern University. Nancy has been a supplemental religious school teacher for over 15 years plus an addition 1 1/2 years teaching at Hillel Day School.
