

BARNERT The Magazine CONTENTS

COME HOME TO BARNERT

Come Home to Barnert! There is so much to read about in this issue of our magazine, welcoming the new Jewish year of 5778. Learn about our new interim rabbi, Don Rossoff (pg 3) and read his welcoming message (pg 3). In their articles, Rabbi Steiner and Sara Losch explore the many new areas of Jewish life we'll be sharing. All grades, historically called "Religious School" or "Hebrew School," are now under the Jewish Journey Project Barnert Temple. Barnert HOMECOMING will be held right after school on September 10, with a barbeque, kids games, and a dessert reception to meet Rabbi Don (pg 8). Our Adult Education program is up and running, with a new Mussar class, Lunch and Learn, and special Music Class (pg 18). Our Teen Youth Group BarTY is in the house and getting ready for a great year! (pg 17). The Women of Barnert are offering a new Girls' Night Out and Knitting Circle (pg 21). And of course, we prepare for the High Holidays with a Selichot special guest speaker, Michael Oppenheimer of the NY Times and LA Times (pg. 12), and celebrate Sukkot and Simchat Torah with adult and children's opportunities. Support the preschool parents and order your holiday challah and babka (pg 13). There's this and so much more. Welcome home to Barnert!

Our Mission: The mission of Barnert Temple is to be a sacred community, a kehillah kedoshah, committed to offering Reform Jewish experiences that are relevant, accessible and meaningful, wherein people of all ages and backgrounds are appreciated and valued, engaged and inspired.

A Message from Rabbi Don Rossoff

Dorothy, Baseball, and the High Holidays

Since I joined the Barnert community back in July, I have met and spoken with many of you and have appreciated how very much at home everyone has helped Fran and me feel. But if previous experience tells me anything, most of you will be seeing me for the first time during the upcoming High Holidays. I assure you now as I will assure you then, you are in the right place.

This year I will be one of your rabbis, doing what rabbis do, here to serve you along with Rabbi Steiner and our wonderful staff. But an interim rabbi is not just a place holder. My purpose here is to walk you through this year of transition. As the experts say, change is what happens; transition is the emotional experience of change. Becoming accustomed to having a new person on the bima saying the same words but with a different voice, is part of the transition. But transition is about more than becoming accustomed to hearing a different voice. It's about a journey. Our journey is one of teshuvah. Teshuvah literally means "return" or "response." In the classic sense teshuvah is understood as repentance, examining the wrongs, the mistakes, missteps, and misstatements of the past year; seeing them for what they are; and working to fix what we might have broken in the world and in ourselves. Certainly, our purpose for gathering during the Days of Awe — as it is for all Jews wherever they are across this small planet — is the work of teshuvah.

But Martin Buber also spoke of teshuvah as turning, discovering new direction, finding a different kind of response. Turning involves personal and interpersonal realigning, refocusing, and redefining. Turning is not easy. It takes work, the work of facing ourselves and facing others, the difficult work of forgiving past hurts and asking for forgiveness, the work of coming to grips with what to hold on to and what to let go of. Teshuvah is turning, responding to life, and returning to our best selves.

As we engage in our personal teshuvah, at the same time we will be doing the work of communal turning and returning, of realigning, refocusing, redefining, and responding. This is the journey we will walk together this year. This journey will take this community from where you have been to the cusp of where you are going to be, always remaining the exceptional, inclusive sacred community that Barnert is and ever strives to become. For as Dorothy learned in Oz and what every baseball fan knows, regardless of where the journey takes us, ultimately the journey returns us home.

That is why we see the upcoming holidays as a homecoming of sorts. Each of you, in your own way and for your own reasons, whether you grew up at Barnert or are here for the first time, will be coming home to Barnert. And I feel so very blessed that you have invited me to come home with you.

And so, as we begin our year together as interim rabbi and congregation, I would like to express again what an honor it is to serve this historic community and to be following my classmate, teacher, and friend, Rabbi Frishman. I would also add to that what a joy it has been to work with such a talented and dedicated staff and such a hard-working and visionary lay leadership. Barnert Temple is blessed in so, so many ways! And as the temple is blessed, so am I and so are we all.

Warmest wishes from home to home for a healthy, joyous, fulfilling, and purposeful New Year!

Rabbi Don Rossoff

Meet Barnert's Interim Rabbi

Rabbi Donald B. Rossoff, D.D., RJE

Rabbi Don Rossoff comes to Barnert Temple after having served as interim rabbi for Temple Beth Am in Framingham, MA, and the Jewish Reconstructionist Congregation in Evanston, Illinois. Prior to that, he was spiritual leader of Temple B'nai Or in Morristown, NJ, from 1990 to 2015, and was an associate rabbi at Temple Sholom, Chicago, from 1981 to 1990. Rabbi Rossoff served two non-consecutive terms as president of the Morris Area Interfaith Council; was chair of the MetroWest Rabbinic Cabinet; was on the Board of the Central Conference of American Rabbis; and chaired its Israel Committee, Resolutions Committee, and 2009 Israel Convention. He received the "Ohev Yisrael Award – Lover of Israel" by the national Association of Reform Zionists of America Rabbinic Counsel. He also served on the Jersey Battered Women's Shelter Clergy Partnership Advisory Board and the Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Commemoration Committee which awarded him for his dedication to the community.

A Message From Rabbi Rachel Steiner

Home is Where We Are

As I am writing this article, many of our Barnert young people are getting ready to return from their home at sleepaway camp to their home in New Jersey. And our college students are getting ready to leave their family home and head to school to set up their home for the year. So, it seems, that "home" is relative to where we are, and the intention we bring to our surroundings.

Our primary home is the place we live—where we eat and sleep and, for many of us, where we spend time with those we love. What makes your house feel like your home? What do you take with you when you are travelling, to make the place where you are staying feel more like home? The Hebrew word for home is bayit. Understanding the way bayit is used can help us broaden and deepen our understanding of the potential of a home.

The Hebrew language often brings together two otherwise distinct words to communicate something new. When the word bayit is used this way, we pronounce it differently and say beit. Let's look at a few of these combinations: beit am, a house of people, or a community center; beit midrash, a house of study; and beit knesset, a house of assembly.

A beit am is a community center. All of the young people who attend a camp that is part of the Reform movement will know that there is a beit am at camp—a place where everyone congregates. Imagine a big open building filled with hundreds of people enjoying theater, music, or anything else that builds community.

A beit midrash is a house of study for everyone. Children learning to read, adults studying Torah, intergenerational groups of people learning about how to make the world more hospitable for more people. What's important is that it is a home filled with people engaged in meaningful exploration and growth. The knowledge we acquire in the beit midrash must inform and impact the way we live!

Finally, a beit knesset is a house of assembly, and is generally the Hebrew term used for a synagogue. Note that though there is also a term beit tefilah, or house of prayer, the words for synagogue are ones that focus on a house of assembly. For a synagogue is only a synagogue when we are together, assembled. In our beit knesset we pray, we study, we sing, we laugh, we eat delicious food—we take all that we can from a tradition meant to help us live lives of intention, impact and interconnection.

As you may have noticed by now, the way we use the word "home" in these phrases, beit, is the same word as the second letter of the Hebrew alphabet, bet. This bet is the very first letter of the Torah, as it begins the word bereishit, which means "in the beginning." A home is a place for sacred beginnings. There, we acquire the support and the tools that we need to navigate the world. We are about to celebrate the beginning of our new year. On Sunday, September 10, we will gather for study and food and fun at our Barnert Homecoming. Less than two weeks after that we will celebrate Rosh Hashanah and the following holidays and rituals for welcoming the New Year, 5778. On each of these occasions, and every time we come to Barnert, we hope (and expect!) to leave with new insights to guide us.

As we invite you to Come Home to Barnert this year, we invoke all of the many ways we can use the word bayit. Most importantly, our beit knesset, our synagogue, is our home for study, for community gathering, for marking moments of celebration and sadness, for those who are new to Jewish tradition and those who are already kneedeep into their lifelong study. This home has many doors and they are open wide, waiting for you to step inside. If you're not yet sure where your place is in our home, let's talk. There are so many ways in, so many open doors. Let's enter together.

Yizkor: Remembering Loved Ones Throughout the Year

Saturday, September 30, at 4:45 pm

Our Jewish calendar offers opportunities throughout the year to remember loved ones who are no longer with us. In addition to the annual yahrzeit that marks the anniversary of a death, Yizkor services of remembrance are held during Yom Kippur, Sukkot, Passover and Shavuot. These services embrace you in community love and support.

Shabbat and Holiday Worship with Rabbi Rossoff and Rabbi Steiner

Shabbat services are reflective yet joyous — a true renewal of the spirit. You may come in tired, but you'll walk away renewed and revived. It's a promise! All ages are welcome, and dress is nice/casual. And we have the best Oneg Shabbat desserts — check out the chocolate caramel pretzels!

On the first Friday, the 7 pm service is followed by a potluck supper.

Our High Holiday Services are thoughtful and Joyful, with a focus for every age.

Bar/Bat Mitzvah Profiles

Ari Smith Date of Bar Mitzvah: September 16, 2017

Hi, my name is Ari Smith. I'm in 7th grade and I live with the best family ever: my sister Ella; my mom, Jill; my dad, Derek; my dog and best friend Duncan; and my two cats, Mikey and Pierre. I play multiple sports from hockey to baseball. I also take part in a jazz band as the bass guitarist. I enjoy school, cooking, and traveling. My family and I travel a lot. It is one of our favorite things to do. We have traveled across America, throughout Europe, and to the Caribbean and South America. I am excited to go to South Africa as my Bar Mitzvah trip.

For my Mitzvah project, I am volunteering at the Lorrimer Sanctuary in my hometown. I do things like cleaning up the trails, feeding the animals, and cleaning up the place. I would like to thank Pat, the director, for allowing me to help out with the sanctuary.

My collection involves collecting costumes for kids for Halloween, or any other time. I always enjoy wearing costumes for special occasions, and I want other children to get the same feeling as I do. I am doing this collection in partner with Jersey Cares.

I would like to thank my family for allowing me to become a Bar Mitzvah, and also the Barnert Temple team such as Rabbi Steiner, Helen Fleischmann, Mora Edith, and Marc Chelemer. All of these people have helped me through the start of my Jewish journey and in reaching my goals.

Max Nussbaum Date of Bar Mitzvah: October 21, 2017

Hi, my name is Max Nussbaum. I am in 7th grade, and I am very excited to become a Bar Mitzvah on October 21, 2017. I am an only child, and spend most of my free time playing baseball and skiing. I also enjoy reading and watching classic TV shows such as Batman and Robin, Star Trek, and old westerns.

For my community service project I have been volunteering at the Mahwah All-Stars Program. This program teaches children from Bergen County diagnosed with autism and other disabilities to play sports. In the spring it was baseball and in the fall will be soccer. It has been a very enjoyable and rewarding experience.

For my collection Mitzvah project, I will be collecting books and sporting equipment for the Paterson public school system.

I would like to thank my mom and dad, Rabbi Frishman, Rabbi Steiner, Mora Edith, Helen Fleischmann, Marc Chelemer, and Sara Losch for helping me throughout the process.
Without you I would not be here.

Rabbi Rossoff was ordained from the Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion in 1981. He holds masters degrees in Hebrew Letters and Hebrew Education from HUC-JIR, a bachelor of arts from Northwestern University, and a bachelor of Jewish Studies from Spertus College of Judaica. He received his certification as an interim rabbi from the national Interim Ministry Network and the CCAR and is currently pursuing a master's degree in marriage and family therapy from Capella University.

Rabbi Rossoff published a children's book on spirituality, The Perfect Prayer, and contributed chapters to The Jew in the Modern World: A Documentary History, edited by Paul Mendes-Flohr and Jehuda Reinharz, and Chosen Tales: Stories Told by Jewish Storytellers, edited by Peninnah Schram. His latest publications, an article entitled "Visions for a New/Old Reform Yizkor Service" and a poem, "What If..." appeared in the Journal of Reform Judaism and was adapted for use in Mishkan Hanefesh (CCAR). As a musician, he published Adonai Li, a musical setting of Psalm 118:6 (with Cantor Bruce Benson), and the lyrics for "You Can Change the World" (with Cantor Jeff Klepper). He has performed on flute with Debbie Friedman, Craig Taubman, and Mattan Klein, and performed and recorded with "Kol Sasson" and "Kol B'Seder."

His wife, Francine Rossoff, RN, served on the Morris School District board of education and received a number of honors for her service to the community. They have four grown children: Marc, Jenna, Ilana and Nathaniel.

Says Rabbi Don, "I am so very honored to be serving as interim rabbi at Barnert for this coming year! I have come to know Barnert to be a warm, welcoming, innovative and engaged community with a great heritage of outstanding clergy and lay leadership. I look forward to working with the temple's members and its dedicated staff as together we build for the exciting and inspiring future which surely lies ahead for this sacred community!"

A Message From the President

Why Barnert Matters

Dear Friends;

I bought a plaque in a little shop in LBI a few weeks ago. Its message touched me deeply: Gratitude is knowing that what we have is enough. At Barnert Temple, gratitude abounds.

I am grateful when I think of our new beginnings at Barnert. We are fueled by an abundance of wisdom and warmth, and an energy and excitement, as we evolve in our Jewish lives. Together, we are deepening engagement and living with purpose.

At Friday night services, Rabbi Don encourages us to share what we're grateful for. Responses range from the deeply poignant to the hilariously funny (thanks, Bill Cohen!). I appreciate this kind of opportunity to try new things, recognizing wonderful new ideas and incorporating them. We also take risks because we trust each other. It's the essence of a community that is truly an extended family.

We offer support at every life stage: welcoming babies, raising teenagers, caring for elderly parents, managing illness and grief. Wherever you are, Barnert is there for you.

We recently learned of a young woman in need. She had to drop everything and start a new life. She left with the clothes on her back and a single bag. The Barnert community responded. Days later, she had a new wardrobe. This is just one example of how, without hesitation, the Barnert community shows up.

This is remarkable. It brings me deep joy to know that I live with this particular purpose. How grateful I am to be in a position to act with this kind of intention, with my children watching. At Barnert, we invite opportunities that speak to who we are and what matters to us, with limitless potential for making a meaningful difference.

Looking ahead, we'll have a new experience with the High Holidays, benefiting from the wisdom of Rabbi Rossoff and Rabbi Steiner. Other leadership roles are shifting with Susan Esserman-Schack guiding Women of Barnert and Rich Kuller leading the Men's Club. I am eager to see their visions come to life as we move into this next chapter of Barnert's history.

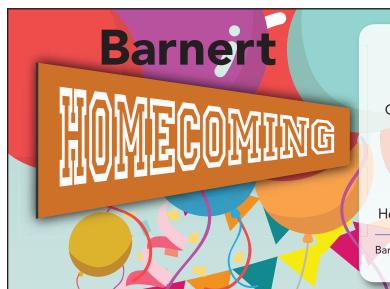

Stay tuned for upcoming social events that put the focus on fun. You'll be hearing from our new social director, Derek Smith, who will be collaborating with the Men's Club and Women of Barnert among others to create memorable events.

We are reviving committee work, which is an effective and finite way to get involved and enhance your life. Opportunities are ongoing. As one example, we are forming a new Inclusion Task Force, taking inclusivity and equity to new heights. If this speaks to you, please let me know. It's vitally important that all voices are heard. To be truly inclusive, we must ensure that we always listen and learn.

When I think of Barnert Temple's beginning in 1847, I am humbled by our history and excited about our future. Barnert is the place to define our Jewish identities and explore a caring community. We welcome ideas that will help to shape our new beginnings.

I'm looking so forward to this upcoming year. I hope you are as well.

Warmly, Rebecca

A Message From Sara Losch

Come Home to Barnert

Recently, our senior staff—Rabbi Steiner, Rabbi Rossoff, Vicky Farhi and I—had an out-of-synagogue retreat/meeting. Our goal was to share with "Rabbi Don" a tam—a taste of our community—and to think about ways for you and he to become acquainted.

Rabbi Don came up with the idea of using the first official day of the school year as a homecoming. In the following days, Come Home to Barnert became a greeting.

Sit in a car with me for any length of time and you'll know that I am a musical-theater and folk-music geek. In fact, spend time with me out of a car and I'm sure to break into song based on a random word that comes into our conversation. Since that retreat, I'm singing about home. There's Paul Simon:

Homeward bound,
I wish I was,
Homeward bound,
Home where my thought's escaping,
Home where my music's playing,
Home where my love lies waiting
Silently for me.

There's this from The Wiz:

When I think of home, I think of a place Where there's love overflowing I wish I were home, I wish I was back there With the things I've been knowin.'

Sure, no home is perfect and many are filled with complicated relationships. Yet we yearn for home, for a deep belonging. Knowing that, a mitzvah we can strive for is shalom bayit, peace in the home. The Hebrew word shalom signifies more than peace. It comes from the Hebrew root letters shin, lamed, mem—shalem, or wholeness. Shalom bayit starts with finding peace and wholeness in ourselves and then reaching out to share that peace with others in our community. We, each of us, can help to create peace in our home, in our Barnert bayit, by welcoming all who Come Home to Barnert, helping them to feel safe, connected, whole.

From our very youngest children to our graduating high school seniors, this mitzvah is taught and modeled. Parents are a vital part of the message, standing as ambassadors of welcome to each new family who makes the choice to join our special community. I love that some of our newest preschool parents grew up at Barnert. For them, this is, in a deep sense, a coming home; bringing (Continued on next page)

The first day of JJPBT is Sunday, September 10, part of the Barnert Community's Homecoming events.

There are many wonderful aspects of our Jewish Journey Project Barnert Temple, or JJPBT. Adults with less than happy memories of their own "religious school" experiences would not recognize this as remotely similar. For one thing, our children have choices: what they want to learn, how they want to learn it, and when they attend their courses. For another, everyone is happily and actively engaged in being, doing, living, and learning Jewish! JJPBT has turned Jewish education on its head. At Barnert, we are succeeding in providing our families with what they need and want.

JEWISH JOURNEY PROJECT BARNERT TEMPLE

What to know about the first day of class/ Homecoming

Kindergarten-second graders (JJPBT Keren/ Foundations) will start at 9:15 with bagels and shmears, milk and chocolate milk. All then go to their classrooms from 9:30 to 11 am: kindergarten and first graders to Room 101 with Nan Sumner, second graders to Room 204 with Lea Harmer.

Third to sixth graders (JJPBT Ikar/Core) will join their parents for the first LEV (Learning Elevates Values) course of the year. We'll start at 9:15 in the hallway outside of the social hall with a light breakfast. The 9:30–11 am LEV session will be led by Rabbis Don Rossoff and Rachel Steiner, and by Sara Losch and Jennifer Katz-Goldstein.

Important note: third- to sixth-grade students who do not attend courses on Sunday should attend this LEV experience as it is a vital aspect of the family JJPBT experience.

Kindergarten to second graders who attend class on Wednesdays are encouraged to come to Barnert at 11 to participate in the Homecoming barbeque and other activities.

Students who worked hard to gain TAG points received gifts toward showing "TAG-attude."

The second annual Kathie F. Williams TAG Scholarship Challenge awards were presented by Jennifer Katz-Goldstein (TAG-visor), John Williams, Sara Losch, Rabbi Frishman, and Rabbi Steiner. Each recipient won $360 from the fund, to be used toward the cost of enriching Jewish experiences.

their babies and toddlers to grow and be embraced by the same community that had helped raise them.

Our preschool, beginning its 29th year, is a model for shalom bayit. While we continue to bring the most progressive teaching models to our classrooms—both indoors and out, Jewish and secular—a core value of the preschool is to guide and support our families towards deep and meaningful engagement in the larger Barnert community. We encourage parents to make the most of every moment together in our bayit.

If you went to religious school or Hebrew school as a child and hated it (I hear it all the time!), you wouldn't recognize that experience in the Jewish Journey Project Barnert Temple, aka JJPBT. Our children learn about Judaism by living Judaism. Students in 3rd to 6th grade take courses in areas they love. We've included the Welcome Page from the JJPBT website in the magazine and encourage you to take a look: www.jjpbt.org.

As I enter my 29th year here, Barnert continues to be my home. Whether you are new to our community or have been here longer than I, my door is always open and I'd love to hear your thoughts as I join my friends and colleagues in welcoming you, as you, too, Come Home to Barnert.

L'shanah tovah u'metukah: Wishing you a wonderful and sweet New Year.

Come and join us for an evening yizkor to remember our loved ones in the gentle quiet of our library.

Young Children's Simchat Torah Celebration at 10 am

Sara Losch and Rabbi Rachel Steiner engage young families in interactive Simchat Torah holiday experiences.

The High Holidays are a time for reflecting on who we have been, who we are, and who might we be. It is a time to ask the questions, How are we doing?

How are we doing as individuals? How are we doing as a community?

And how is the American Jewish community doing?

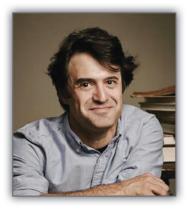

Selichot

Saturday, September 16, 7 pm

We are excited that columnist and observer of Jewish life, Dr. Mark Oppenheimer, will be joining us for a special pre-Selichot presentation and discussion as he shares his critical yet hopeful perspective on American Jewry today.

The Jews: America's Least Successful Religion, Except All the Others

Special Guest Speaker Dr. Mark Oppenheimer

Mark Oppenheimer, Ph.D., is a lecturer in English at Yale University. He is a national columnist for The Los Angeles Times and the former religion columnist for The New York Times. He also writes for The New York Times Magazine, and he hosts the podcast Unorthodox, produced by Tablet magazine. He has been a visiting professor at Stanford, Wesleyan, NYU, Wellesley, and Boston College. His books include Thirteen and a Day: The Bar and Bat Mitzvah Across America (2005), about crashing bar and bat mitzvahs from Arkansas to Alaska.

Following Mark's presentation, we'll share havdalah, dress our Torahs in their white High Holiday covers, and prepare for the spiritual journey of the High Holidays.

Preschool News!

Camp Barnert had a fun-filled and adventurous summer! Whether we were looking for turkey tracks, observing ants, petting chickens, or cooking up some treats, our campers enjoyed each and every day with their counselors and with each other. If you know any camper between the ages of 15 months and 4 years old, please tell them about Camp Barnert for next summer.

Our new Kindergarten Enrichment offering is called Shabbat in the Forest and runs from 1:15 to 4 pm on Friday afternoons. It starts with a snack (morning kindergarten works up an appetite!); children then take a walk in the forest and enjoy the beauty around them. There is also challah-baking and celebration of the holidays. If anyone is interested, call Alice Berdy at 201-848-1027.

Sacred Trash, the Barnert Geniza Sunday, October 22 at 12 noon

Mt. Nebo Cemetery, 195 Totowa Road, Totowa, NJ

Did you know that there are Torah scrolls buried underneath our ark? Join us as we bury sacred objects in a geniza at Barnert's Mt. Nebo Cemetery. A geniza is a burial site for old or damaged sacred items such as a tallit, prayer book, or Torah scroll. Everyone is invited to bring a sacred item to bury in the geniza at Mt. Nebo (send questions about what can be buried to Rabbi Steiner) and all are encouraged to attend.

While at Mt. Nebo Cemetery you will have an opportunity to explore Barnert's significant history through the years.

SHALOM!

Note: a gentle reminder to fulfill your financial obligations in order to receive tickets.

Why Free Will is Meaningful

My Barnert Temple builds a stronger, deeper Jewish life. It provides a safe cocoon to help raise our children. It's where I find a unique kind of intellectual stimulation and mutual passion with capable, caring people.

What is your Barnert Temple?

We come to Barnert from many towns, for many reasons. We nurture religious roots and awaken spirituality. For some, Barnert offers a platform for making a meaningful difference. For others, it's about making friends.

I find it hard to get out of the house at night once I get home from work. Yet, when I get to Barnert, I am quickly reminded of why I came and how it makes me feel. I'm learning and contributing and advancing shared goals.

We work as a group for the greater good of our community and the wider world. I know this sounds corny, but it's true. No matter where you are in your life, whether you're raising a family or you are an empty nester, if you go out of your comfort zone, Barnert will lead you to find fulfillment.

There's genuine feeling in the relationships we create at Barnert. It begins with a warm greeting when you walk through the door. All are welcomed and appreciated. If you're open to it, there are all levels of engagement. Some are leaders. Some are doers. We are connectors of people and ideas, collaborating on a shared vision. We bring people into the room and magic happens.

In my role as a leader of Engagement and Development, I invite you to express the values that matter to you, to live a richer Jewish life and build on an even stronger community, through a new culture of philanthropy. By participating in our tradition of tzedakah, you help to secure and ensure the opportunities you enjoy at Barnert Temple, providing sustenance and enhancements during challenging financial times.

Please consider how Barnert impacts your life and be as generous as you're able. If you have never contributed to our Free Will campaign, now is the time. If you have given a Free Will gift in the past, we thank you and ask you to please continue to contribute, stretching a bit to give more than last year, if that's feasible. Barnert Temple is worthy of your support because it offers experiences that improve our lives.

Barnert Temple is our shared community. Whether it's experiencing meaningful worship, innovative education, being there during life's difficulties and celebrations, brainstorming on a new committee or attending a wine-tasting, you can find your Barnert Temple, the one that makes a positive impact on your life and the lives of others. If you gain new insight, find more meaning in living a Jewish life, and make connections along the way, then we have succeeded, together.

—Seth Haubenstock

BarTY

by Elly Kaplan

Hi my name is Elly Kaplan and I am this year's BarTY president. I am so excited to be a leader in the Barnert community. My vision for BarTY this year is to help it expand and produce new opportunities for teenagers that they have never experienced before. I believe that BarTY is a way for teenagers to experience Judaism in a fun and social way.

We have all different kinds of events that range from snow tubing to pool parties and social action events like Midnight Run. These events bring us closer together and teach us how to see the world through a Jewish lens.

If you have a teenager who is not a part of the religious school program or didn't continue their Jewish study but you think they would be interested in joining BarTY, please send them our way! BarTY is a place for all teens of Barnert and we would love to welcome your child into our fun and loving group!

Mazel tov to our Confirmands! We're so proud of you!

Come Home to Barnert and Learn with Your Community! Barnert Temple 5778 Adult Education

Shabbat Learning Opportunities

Torah Study with Rabbi Don Rossoff. Beginning Saturday, September 9, at 9:30 am. Bi-weekly.

Enjoy an in-depth and highly engaging exploration of the Torah portion of the week. We begin with breakfast at 9:30 am (participants take turns providing the food) and discussion at 10 am. Discover the relevance of Torah as we interpret it and bring it to life. No experience necessary and new friends are always welcome! Check the calendar for dates.

Rosh Chodesh with Sara Losch, Director of Lifelong Learning. Beginning Saturday, October 21, at 9:30 am. Monthly.

Experience the rituals and spirituality of Rosh Chodesh. We'll celebrate and learn together as we share the joy, wisdom and camaraderie of women. Come once, come monthly. Rosh Chodesh means "head of the month," and marks the beginning of the new month. For much of history, it has been associated with women. In recent years, Rosh Chodesh groups have emerged as powerful opportunities for women to be and learn together.

Shabbat Yoga with Rachel Dewan. Beginning September 23, at 9:30 am. Monthly.

The physical and the spiritual meet in exhilaration. Every level of experience is welcome. Wear comfortable clothes and bring your mat.

Ongoing Adult Education Classes

Talmud Study with Rabbi Joel Soffin. Beginning Thursday, September 14, at 7:30 pm. Bi-weekly.

Join our modern-day discussion of the Talmud. Learn how to shop, talk, and think Jewishly. Look behind the scenes at the lives of ancient rabbis and learn from their triumphs and missteps. Most of all, enter the historic Jewish conversation and discover your own Jewish soul. Be prepared to think differently as you engage in the world. As with our Torah classes, no experience necessary. Check the calendar for dates.

Mussar, with Rabbi Rachel Steiner. Beginning Sunday, October 8, at 9:30 am.

Mussar is a path of Jewish contemplative practices that has evolved over the past thousand years, offering immensely valuable guidance for the journey of our lives. It directs us to pay attention to the impact of our inner traits on the way we live. During this class, we will learn about the history and revival of Mussar as a spiritual practice and then begin to explore our middot, our inner traits, with the goal of living out the Torah's central guide for us: You shall be holy.

Sacred Symphonies: Music As Midrash, with Rabbi Don Rossoff. Three sessions, at 7:30 pm; dates will be published.

The Bible has inspired creative interpretation (midrash) not just by ancient rabbis but by musicians, artists and poets throughout the ages, including modern Jewish classical composers. In this three-part class, we will listen to and analyze three biblically based modern compositions: Bloch's Shelomo Rhapsody, Bernstein's Jeremiah Symphony and his Chichester Psalms. No musical background necessary.

Making Sense in Confusing Times, with Rabbi Rachel Steiner.
Beginning Tuesday, October 24, at 9:15 am. Weekly.

Judaism offers us invaluable tools to make sense of what's happening in our lives, our community, and our world. Come together; let's talk.

Shoah, continued, with Vicky Farhi, Executive Director.

Four sessions at 7:30 pm: dates

Four sessions, at 7:30 pm; dates will be published.

Explore the Shoah, the genocide of European Jewry, through history and personal stories. We'll continue our exploration of the Shoah, adding the story of French Jewry. We'll examine the unique challenges women faced. And we'll learn about the Richie Boys—before, during and after.

United States Holocaust Memorial Museum, Washington, DC Trip, with Sara Losch, Director of Lifelong Learning.

Saturday, September 23.

We board a coach bus by 7 am for our trip to Washington DC's Holocaust

Memorial Museum. We'll have three meals together, celebrate Shabbat on the bus, and experience havdalah at a rest stop on the way home. Each family or individual will have 2.5 hours to explore this amazing museum/memorial, which is worth a second or third visit. A detailed application, including cost, is available by contacting Sara Losch.

Social Book Club with Benita Herman, Chairperson.

Each month, our Book Club gathers at a member's home and shares an interesting read. All are welcome!

URJ Introduction to Judaism.

Learn the fundamentals of Jewish thought and practice in 16-20 weeks. This course is perfect for interfaith couples, those from different faith backgrounds considering conversion, and Jews looking for an adult-level introduction. Offered locally. http://reformjudaism.org/IntroNJ.

College Connection

Do you have a child attending college this fall?

Barnert would love to stay connected! Just provide us with your student's complete mailing address and Women of Barnert will periodically send small care packages to children of temple members. In addition, if you provide their email address, your student can also receive holiday greetings and messages from Rabbi Don, Rabbi Steiner, and Sara Losch.

Please send your student's name, email and snail mail address to Rikki Lowy at lowyland@msn.com.

A High Holiday package will be mailed by September 18. Names and addresses received after that will be added to the list for future mailings.

If your child was on this list last year, please resubmit his or her info. Due to constant changes in college addresses and students attendance, this list must be started anew each fall.

Networking

Upcoming Meetings

The Temple Community Network is a professional networking group targeted at helping the job search and career-development needs of the community. It is a joint project of Barnert Temple, Temple Beth Rishon, Temple Beth Or, and Beth Haverim Shir Shalom. Everyone is welcome at the group's meetings, including those searching for a job who are transitioning and those already in a position. The meetings are designed to be warm, inclusive and informative. Doors open for networking at 6:30 pm and programming begins at 7 pm.

Social Action Update

Interfaith/Intercultural Friendship: Expanding Community, Enriching Each Other's Lives

by Elizabeth Resnick, Rebecca Holland and Sue Klein

"Faith is taking the first step even when you don't see the whole staircase." — Martin Luther King Jr.

This visionary quote guides much of our Social Action work at Barnert. Many of our members have been actively participating in our interfaith/intercultural initiatives, which address one of the three Social Action areas our community voted to focus on in order to make the greatest impact. (The other two are Food and Shelter, and Mitzvah-Plex.)

Barnert connected with interfaith communities in March 2016 by hosting an interfaith service led by Rabbi Elyse Frishman, Christian and Muslim clergy, and other lay leaders. The potluck dinner that followed was bountiful, boisterous, enlightening AND delicious!

Many BarTY members attended and gathered with teens from all faiths in the youth lounge. It was an extraordinary evening. Several members followed up with events of their own. One group even invited several Muslim guests to one of their houses for dinner. One theme heard repeatedly: "When you look in people's eyes, we're all the same." Sometimes you just need to create the opportunities!

Midland Park Mosque Shares Ramadan Feast

During Ramadan in 2016 and 2017, the Elzahra Islamic Center in Midland Park invited Barnert members to attend one of their iftars, the feast shared by Muslims each night to break their daily fast during Ramadan. Sue Klein, who is responsible for our Social Action committee's "Education, Inspiration and Action," described her experience:

"The Elzahra Islamic Center in Midland Park is so warm and welcoming. Imam Shaykh Moutaz Charaf, his wife, and other community leaders greet guests with sincere warmth and appreciation. Their community is open to all, and they are happy to share their iftar prayer service and messages of peace with people from all religions. Representatives from synagogues, churches, and political entities were even called up to speak during the most recent iftar service I attended with my husband, son, and his two friends.

They go out of their way to connect newcomers, and returning guests, with people who can explain their traditions. Mosque members insist that guests go to the front of the food line, even though they are the ones who have been fasting all day, and the Imam circulates to make sure each table is eating enough and saving room for homemade desserts.

My family and I learned so much from the lovely Indian Muslim sisters we sat with at dinner. They grew up in Teaneck, where they said different cultures and religions coexisted naturally, both at school and in their neighborhood. They never felt a need for the structured interfaith/intercultural outreach and programming that is emerging today. They didn't experience the prejudice that is now rampant in some areas. They are both teachers, who now appreciate guided efforts to learn more about other cultures and religions and overcome prejudice. They explained to us that all mosques are open to anyone. Apparently the Midland Park mosque has a reputation for particularly good iftars, with amazing desserts!"

Social Action Committee Chair Elizabeth Resnick adds: "They treated us like treasured guests. On a broader level, each one of these events continues to enrich multi-cultural relationships and perspective. There are so many good people in this world—that is our premise and value that guides us, each and every day."

Making Connections

After our Purim shpiel this year, a Barnert contingent including Rabbi Steiner; Temple President Rebecca McKinnon: Social Action leaders Elizabeth Resnick. Rebecca Holland, Sue Klein, and Jackie Packman; BarTY teens and leaders like Isaac Hart, Jess Layton, Sarah Miller and other religious school students brought Purim boxes decorated during the festivities to the Elzahra Islamic Center. Mosque members—especially the children were mesmerized by the tale of Purim. Animated BarTY members answered questions and gathered with children from both faiths to trade goodies, stories, and laughter. An added treat: delicious homemade baklava for the Barnert guests. We always love that food component!

Barnert hosted a second interfaith service and potluck dinner this June. Rabbi Frishman and Reverend Nathan Busker shared the bima during services, speaking of commonalities within all religions. Afterwards, their congregations continued the conversation while enjoying a variety of ethnic, home-cooked foods. Again, a delicious and meaningful event.

Barnert Temple members also joined other Jews, Christians and Muslims at an iftar hosted by the Unitarian Society of Ridgewood at St. Elizabeth's Church. After the Muslims observing Ramadan brought their rugs outside to offer prayers, members of all three faiths gathered inside to enjoy a delicious potluck supper and each other's company. It was a full house, comprising many Christian, Muslim and some Barnert guests all connecting easily and positively with each other. (Continued on next page)

Social Action Update (From previous page)

Most recently, members of Barnert's Social Action team joined other local volunteers to help an Iraqi refugee family resettle in the Haledon area. It has been a huge learning experience. While many challenges have been overcome, there are still significant needs to be addressed. "Working with this family has been fascinating," says Social Action Communications Chair Rebecca Holland Miller. "We formed close relationships with them while helping them attain the services they need to survive and flourish." Many goodwilled individuals have assisted with varied significant needs, from arranging ESL classes, medical help, furniture delivery, translator support, job identification, child care help, and visits to the family.

Moving Forward

The Social Action Steering Committee is excited to announce that Rabbi Rachel Steiner is now our dedicated rabbinic liaison, and she has already been active with shaping our direction and goals moving forward. She will also continue our connection to local interfaith clergy. You can learn more about interfaith/intercultural activities and opportunities to participate in other social action projects and work at the annual Social Action kick-off brunch on October 15. Mark your calendars; all are invited!!!

There are many ways to make a difference! It all starts with a conversation. What impresses us most is the curiosity about each other's religions and the desire to learn and share more. Events like these have and will continue to move us forward!

We are so appreciative of the good hearts and desire of so many Barnert-ites to make a positive difference in the world!

Book Club

October Reading

On October 9, our group will meet again for a discussion of The Short and Brilliant Life of Robert Peace. The author, Jeff Hobbs, was Robert's roommate when they were students at Yale. Coming from Newark, NJ, and being an African-American, Robert had a very difficult life. With an incarcerated father and a mother who earned $15,000 a year, Robert lived in a neighborhood that was dangerous and crimeridden. Even though he was a brilliant student, studying molecular biochemistry and biophysics. Robert had to balance his life in Newark and still try to fit in at Yale. As a New York Times best-seller, this book has received a lot of attention and became very popular.

This non-fiction story will live with you long after you have put it down.

Our meeting will take place at the Wyckoff home of Benita Herman. RSVP to her at bherman@dt.com or call her at (201) 891-2509 and leave a message. Please call for directions to her home or if you need carpooling. Keep reading and join us! All readers are welcome. Any questions, call Benita Herman at (201) 891-2509.

Men's Club

Welcome to another exciting year for the Barnert Temple Men's Club. Our mission is to enhance the well-being of the Barnert Temple congregation by providing a venue for men to socialize, network and have fun.

Our events are open to all men (new members get complimentary membership for the first year). The Men's Club monthly breakfast is the third Sunday of every month. Come join us for our first breakfast of the year on September 17 at 9:00 am.

Just to give you a small taste of what's in store for this year (besides the monthly breakfast), the Men's Club events will include:

- Gourmet Tasting selection of wine, champagne, craft beer, gourmet cheeses, oils and vinegar, plus a delicious dinner. Open to the entire congregation and always a great time!
- Sukkot BBQ The Men's Club barbecues hamburgers, hot dogs and veggie burgers for the temple Sukkot celebration. Always fun.

- Chanukah Party Joint activity with Women of Barnert. Stay tuned for new and exciting updates for this year!
- Mitzvah-Plex Pancake Breakfast The Men's Club dons chef hats, while we cook pancakes (regular, blueberry, and chocolate chip), scrambled eggs and turkey sausages.
- Holiday Boutique Café The Men's Club runs a café, with homemade favorites like potato latkes and chicken soup. Not to be missed.
- Joint Men's Club and Women of Barnert Shabbat –
 We will handle many parts of the service. A great family event.
- Annual Awards Dinner It's all about the food, drink, get-together, and having a GREAT time.
 Each year we honor a special person. Last year, we honored Rabbi Dan Freelander. This is a don't-miss event!!

Please don't hesitate to reach out to me with any questions. I look forward to meeting you at the events.

Rabbi Frishman Retirement Celebration

Barnert celebrated the many years of Rabbi Frishman's rabbinate at a farewell service on Friday, June 16. Rabbi Steiner presented a custom-made tallit as a present from the congregational leadership. The tallit was designed by Raina Lynn Knapp. A Memory Book, created with congregants' contributions, was also presented. A wonderful Barnert Shabbat celebration!

Rabbinic Search Update

The Rabbinic Search Committee finished a successful year with the hiring of our Interim Rabbi Don Rossoff. Welcome Rabbi Don! We look forward to working with him this year! Please reach out and get to know him.

We recently posted our application with the Reform Movement's Central Conference of American Rabbis. We have already received and reviewed a number of resumes.

The past year has clarified what the Barnert community desires and needs in our next senior rabbi. We look forward to this significant year and will keep you updated with our progress.

LOST AND FOUND

Are you missing clothing, eyeglasses, other personal items?

Our Lost and Found has many valuable items missing an owner. If you are missing something, please check the Lost and Found near the sanctuary or the atrium, or call the Office.

Please note that the Lost and Found will be emptied, and contents donated, at the end of each month.

Looking for a way to connect at Barnert? Find one thing that interests you, and give it one hour...half a day...

There are many ways to be Jewish, and many avenues of interest at Barnert Temple. This month, we'll begin to highlight the variety of project areas to be involved in. Pick one, give an hour of your time and see if it's a fit!

Building and Grounds

Are you familiar with the skeleton and structure of buildings? Want to be part of the group that keeps our facilities terrific? Buildings and Grounds meets 2–3 times a year, but there are areas of work for anyone with the expertise.

Caring Community

Would you like to call people who are recovering at home? Provide food for those who are too ill to cook? Provide a ride to a doctor's office?

Lifelong Learning

Do you have a passion for learning and want to be part of what happens at Barnert? Join the Lifelong Learning Committee, and share your voice!

Men's Club

Good company, good conversation, good food and strong connections. Men's Club has all this and a wide range of speakers and programs. Men supporting men.

Networking

Looking for a job? Want to improve your work skills? Networking meets once a month, with time to network with others, and a guest speaker focused on business skills.

Are you a woman looking to meet other Barnert women? WoB has guest speakers, mah jongg nights, Girls Nights Out, Knitting Circle and more. Most importantly, its women supporting women.

Next month, we'll have more information on Barnert areas to enjoy! If you'd like more information please contact Vicky Farhi at vfarhi@barnerttemple.org and she'll connect you!

New Calendars for 2018

We are once again collecting new calendars for 2018 for the inmates at Bedford Hills

The efforts of the Barnert Temple congregation over the last years were so appreciated by the beneficiaries. There is a basket in the temple lobby.

Before our congregational meeting, Rabbi Frishman, Neil Share and Jennifer Share joined with their Barnert community to dedicate a tree to Elise Share z"l, a beloved and missed leader of the Barnert family.

Dear Barnert Temple Community,

My name is Kailen Krame. I am 22 years old and have been a member of the congregation, along with my parents Bill and Catherine, and older sister Simone, for almost 20 years. I attended the Hebrew school from the age of seven, and in April 2008 I had my Bat Mitzvah. I am grateful to Barnert Temple and the one-of-a-kind Rabbi Elyse Frishman for helping to shape my Jewish identity and my connection to Israel. Growing up, I heard so many wonderful things about Israel in various temple services, and after going on Birthright when I was 20, I decided to make Israel my second home. I moved to Israel in 2015 with the intention of studying at University for only one year and then returning to New Jersey, but I fell in love—with the land, the people, the culture and, as it turns out, an Israeli Lone Soldier from Ecuador.

I have been living in Tel Aviv with my boyfriend, Luis Guggenheim, for the past two years; however, we are moving to New York City this September for me to pursue a Master's Degree in Clinical Psychology at Columbia University. I am reaching out to you, as my Jewish community, in hopes that someone may be willing to help a Lone Soldier who will once again be uprooting his life to move with me to the United States. Any help or guidance you could provide during this transition will be greatly appreciated so please allow me to tell you

As a Lone Soldier, Luis made the difficult decision to leave more about Luis Guggenheim: behind his family and the life he knew in Ecuador to move to Israel to enlist in the IDF. This is all the more remarkable as Luis spoke no Hebrew nor knew a single person in Israel. Since there are only 500 Jewish families in Ecuador, Luis was the first person from that country to enlist in the Israeli army as a soldier, and the only one who has actually fought in a war. Luis joined the elite combat unit, Givati, and in the summer of 2014, experienced direct combat in Israel's most recent war in Gaza. His bravery in battle earned him a pin of honor, and his journey to Israel was so unique, he was invited to California last summer to speak at two events hosted by Friends of the IDF to honor Israeli soldiers. The courage and determination Luis has demonstrated by his move to Israel, army enlistment, and battle experience are qualities that he brings to his work and the way he lives his life each day.

Luis recently received a degree in Finance from the Interdisciplinary Center (IDC) in Herzliya, and is looking for employment in the field of finance, banking, international commerce, marketing, or any other business-related opportunity in New York City or the surrounding area. Luis is fluent in 3 languages (English, Spanish, and Hebrew) and is very personable. He has a strong work ethic and high moral integrity.

Thank you in advance for your consideration and any assistance you can provide would be greatly appreciated! Please feel free to reach out to me at 201-783-2911 or kailen.perspective@gmail.com.

With Deep Gratitude,

Kailen Krame

Vision and Mission Statement The Barnert Temple Congregation B'nai Jeshurun

Franklin Lakes, NJ

Welcome to the Barnert Temple.
This is our Vision and Mission.
We present these ideals as a declaration of our purpose, to guide our priorities and decisions, and to measure the progress of our work together.

Our Vision

We are a welcoming Reform Jewish community, connected by the realization that we are part of something larger than ourselves, continually striving to excel at opening doors for ethical and spiritual growth.

Our Mission

The mission of the Barnert Temple is to be a sacred community, a kehillah kedoshah, committed to offering Reform Jewish experiences that are relevant, accessible and meaningful, wherein people of all ages and backgrounds are appreciated and valued, engaged and inspired.

Our Core Values

The people of the Barnert Temple are guided by these core values:

- Mutual respect for one another, Derech Eretz
- A partnership of members, leaders, staff and clergy, Brit Shleimut
- Love of the Jewish people and the State of Israel, Klal Yisrael
- Repair of our world, Tikkun Olam
- Questioning and seeking insight, Rodef Chochmah
