A Message from Rabbi Steven Schwarzman

The year about to begin has to be better than the one drawing to a close. Yet even last year brought blessings as well as the challenges and even curses of the pandemic.

In truth, every year and every day have the potential to bring both blessings and curses. Much of what happens just isn't in our control, and this past year gave us a powerful reminder of this.

But what we can control is whether we will add blessings to whatever comes our way. And the people of Beth Shalom understand this intuitively. From the start of the pandemic, members of our congregation began reaching out to one another, to check in on each other and just to maintain human contact by phone or video call, making sure those in need had food and medicine.

In times of crisis, the blessings that we can bring others are even more needed, and more appreciated, than ever. We are all blessed to be part of such a synagogue community. And if this new year turns out to be good - and surely it must be better than the past year - the opportunity to bring even greater blessings will be in our hands.

Bettina and our family wish each of you a shanah tovah umetukah, a good and sweet new year, and may we all be inscribed in the Book of Life.

Rabbi Steven Schwarzman

A Message from your President, Laurence Abbott

The future and the past are inseparable companions. When we begin imagining what a new year may hold for us, we cannot help but reflect upon the year that is closing. Our experience of the past year inevitably shapes our wishes and expectations for the coming year. We know that the passage of time impacts all of us – we will experience joy and loss, success and failure, and moments of happiness and sadness. Intertwined though all of these, especially this time of year, is hope for a sweeter tomorrow.

Certainly, this year brought unanticipated challenges impacting our lives in so many ways, but throughout the year we also had opportunities to show our strength, resilience and resourcefulness. At Beth Shalom, we are adjusting to the situation. I have written in our bulletin on a few occasions, some of the changes that are taking place will be with us for the duration of the COVID crisis, and others will continue as on-going facets of our operations and services well into the future. Five months after making the shift to online services on Zoom for our morning minyanim, we are still achieving a minyan nearly every day. When the time comes that we can return to using the chapel in the shul, we will continue to welcome online attendees. Live streaming of our services from our main sanctuary which began in August, will allow many members of our kehillah to be part of our High Holiday services this year, and the streaming of Shabbat and Yom Tov services will continue post-COVID, too. Perhaps one of the most widely appreciated modifications of our customary practices has been our shift online for shiva services. Zoom's global reach has allowed us to transcend distance and national boundaries, allowing family and friends from far away to be close and support members of our congregation and our community who have experienced loss. In the future, when we can be together in person once more, the capability to welcome family and friends who live far away to our shiva services will likely continue to be part of our practice.

When it comes to ritual, a further challenge emerged this past summer when we resumed Shabbat services in the sanctuary at Beth Shalom. Our congregation has long and rich lay leadership tradition in our services, including a strong cadre of Torah readers. At the moment, however, many of our regular Torah readers are unable to join us in the sanctuary on Shabbat, and we need help to expand the roster of readers. It is, of course, a mitzvah to read Torah, and we would be very grateful to members of our kehillah who would be willing to read Torah for us and learn or further develop their knowledge of trope for both reading Torah and Haftarat. Instructional support is available, including recordings of readings, and leying classes are available, too.

We persevere when circumstances test our resilience as a community, and we are finding ways to pray together, learn together and support each other in safe ways. This year, even though we might not be able to assemble in our shul in the same way we have in the past, we know that we remain a kehillah. Thank you to all our volunteers who support our programming and who serve on the board and on committees. Thank you to all the lay leaders who daven and read Torah and Haftarat. Thank you to our staff who continue to keep Beth Shalom operating smoothly, and thank you Rabbi Schwarzman, for your leadership and guidance. Thank you to our all our members, and to everyone that supports Beth Shalom through fees and donations. We are stronger together.

On behalf of my family and the board of directors at Beth Shalom, I wish everyone in the Beth Shalom community a happy, healthy, and sweet new year!
