KIDS CORNER!

Dear Kids and Parents,

Wow what a special Sukkos we had, from the sukkah mesiba at the Kleinman's with Rabbi Revah, to our lively Simchas Torah meal and dancing! Special thanks again to the Elishis family for all the goodies that inspired us all to dance! Another special thanks goes to the youth committee, Dave Sorani and Akiva Moore for grilling the hot dogs, and to the generous sponsors of the dinner, Roy and Yael Braid, Michael and Tally Kleinman, and Prero Orthodontics. Thanks to our amazing counselors for setting up the Beis Medrash for the Simchas Torah program.

This week's edible craft for Bereishis is an edible Gan Eden!

This week's question is: I was made from dirt and to dirt I will return, who am I?

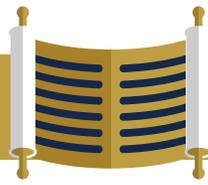

A harder parsha question of the week is: "I was created two but now I'm one, the second one got salted for holy ones!"

Good Shabbos,
Rabbi Avrohom Wagshul

HAPPY BIRTHDAY!

Ariella Isaacs - October 9
Shira Grimberg - October 10
Yitzhak Shemtoob - October 12
Mimi Sorani - October 12

In the beginning of Parshas Bereishis, the Baal Haturim as he often does, brings a Remez of the Torah. The word Bereishis he says, has the same letters as Aleph B'tishrei, the first day of Tishrei. This alludes to the idea that B'tishrei Nivra Ha'olam. The world was created in Tishrei. It sounds beautiful, but we have a problem. Tosafos Rosh Hashana 8a explains, and to my understanding all agree, that the first day of creation was the 25th day of Elul. The first day of Tishrei was the day that Adam was created which coincided with the 6th day of creation. Therefore, to say Bereishis Barah Elokim is Aleph B'tishrei seems to be lacking. There is something wrong with it. Aleph B'tishrei is not Bereishis. This is really a very strong Kasha on the Baal Haturim.

Rav Tzaddok Ha'Cohen writes the following explanation. The Aseres Yemei Teshuva represent the Asara Ma'amaros She'bahen Nivra Ha'olam -- the world was created in ten utterances, or in 10 steps by HKBH. Each day represents one. During the Aseres Yemei Teshuva, we have to try to repair that which took place. Therefore, Bereishis is Aleph B'Tishrei. The first day of Tishrei represents the first Ma'amar, the first creation. Each day represents one Ma'amar, which fits beautifully with the idea that Yom Kippur is the 10th day that stands for Naaseh Adam, the creation of man. Man, whose final judgment is on Yom Kippur. Therefore, Bereishis stands for Aleph B'Tishrei not as a matter of history of what once transpired, but as a matter of Tikkun, a matter of what we have to do with the world. It is important to note that Judaism generally doesn't observe anniversaries of what took place for the sake of recollection of nostalgia of remembering what happened. Aleph B'Tishrei is Bereishis, and that is nice. What is more important, is that whatever we remember is for the future. We have 6 Zechiros (things we remember). We don't remember them just to remember the past. We remember them for the future. We remember Asher Asa Hashem L'Miriam -- that which took place to Miriam. Not because we want to remember what happened to Miriam, but so that we should be stronger in the future in dinei Lashon Hora. We remember Mattan Torah not just to remember an anniversary but to be stronger for the future. So too, it is with everything we do on these days. The purpose of the actions we perform is to have chizuk for the future. It is nice to remember the past, but you have to take the past and harness it for the future. After the special days of the Yamim Noraim and Succos, we have to take that which we internalized and use it going forward and inject more meaning and significance throughout the year.
