Updated Safety Rules for Services

- If you have symptoms that may be due to Covid infection, you should not attend Dor Tikvah services or events, whether you have been vaccinated or not.
- All persons wishing to attend services must complete a pre-registration safety screening. Persons who have not completed pre-registration may not attend.
- Children will now be welcomed back to services. Children under 12 remain unvaccinated, and will need to continue to wear masks, especially at indoor services and events. Please note that we have not yet restarted youth programming during services, so children will need to remain with their parents during their time at services.
- While indoor services/events have been declared safe for vaccinated adults without wearing masks, based on recommendations from local medical professionals, we ask adults to continue to wear masks at services.
- Seating will now be divided into 2 zones - Children may be accommodated in pods with their parents in either of these zones.
 - Zone (1) - For vaccinated adults who are comfortable sitting closer than 6 feet
 - A larger area where the adults leave alternate seats free, providing a distance of about 3ft between congregants/pods.
 - Children are to maintain keeping 1 seat free between themselves and others who are not in their family pods.
 - Children who are not sitting in pods with their families should only sit in Zone 1 (Vaccinated adults) and maintain 3 ft social distancing (as they do in school).
 - Zone (2) - For unvaccinated adults, and those vaccinated who still wish to keep 6 ft social distancing
 - Seats are demarcated at 6 ft from each other.
 - Children are to maintain 6 ft distancing from others not in their family pods.
- Social distancing is to be observed at 6 feet upon arrival and departure of the building.
- The maximum number attending a service is 50 persons, until further notice.
- Someone at minyan will be designated to monitor compliance, ensure attendees are pre-registered, and record attendance in case follow-up becomes necessary.
- If someone becomes ill during minyan, they are to be isolated at once and arrangements are to be made for them to leave as soon as possible.
- Congregants 65 years and older should use their discretion with regard to attending services.
- If you have recovered from Covid-19, and if you had only a mild illness, you should wait 10 days before resuming distant in-person contact with others, and before attending synagogue. If you had a severe Covid-19 infection, you should wait 20 days.
- Wait 14 days before attending services if you have been in high exposure locations or situations, such as -
 - you have traveled outside of Charleston to a region of high Covid-19 activity
 - you have been to an in-town location of increased risk for Covid-19 exposure, i.e. large gatherings including but not limited to airports, restaurants, meetings, or receptions where social distancing and wearing of masks was limited.
- If you have not done any of the above, you do not have to wait before you may attend services.
