FROM THE RABBI’S STUDY
Rabbi Sam Pollak

B’reisheet נָאֵשְׁתֵּא

The first thing I hung in my synagogue office was a photograph of the Hebrew word b’reisheet יָבֵּשְׁתֵּא, the first word of the Torah. I took this picture at the start of a Torah scribing project at the synagogue where I grew up in Cincinnati, Ohio. "In the beginning," as the word is often translated, seemed like an appropriate initial message with which to adorn my new space, because it is within the walls of The Community Synagogue that I begin my rabbinate.

I love that b’reisheet יָבֵּשְׁתֵּא was the only word written in the scroll at the time I took the picture, and I love that the letters of this word began as mere outlines, waiting to be filled in.

Beginnings are times of openness, of newness, of stepping into the unknown. When I moved to Port Washington, I could imagine only the general contours of what my life would be like. There was no way to anticipate exactly how my days would be filled, but full indeed my life has been.

This community has blessed me with a warm welcome, and I am grateful for the kindness extended both to me and to my husband, Ari. We have enjoyed getting to know the community and exploring the area, and we are glad to have so many people offering to help us get settled. Every week we feel more at home.

This feeling is magnified by the trust this community has shown me from the start. I am humbled to have been invited already into families’ lives in times of sorrow and in times of celebration, and I am grateful for your willingness to learn and pray with me on Shabbat and holidays. In this place, I am both developing as a rabbi and growing as a Jew.

Friends and family used to ask me what kind of rabbi I wanted to be. They meant, “Where do you want to work after being ordained? A synagogue, an organization, a school, a camp?” I used to answer that I didn’t know, but I knew that I wanted to teach, to lead prayer, and to live a life immersed in Jewish community.

I thought a lot about what to write for my first bulletin article as the new President. I first want to express my gratitude for this incredible honor and share how excited and proud I am to lead such a vibrant, passionate congregation that means so much to me and my family. I have been a member for almost twenty years and my children literally grew up in the synagogue. And, while I have been an active volunteer all of these years, I honestly never imagined that I would one day be President. I still can’t believe it when I pull into my reserved parking spot each day. Thank you all for your confidence and thank you to my incredible family for enthusiastically supporting this next chapter in my life.

I am writing this article during a busy and bittersweet time of year as summer is slowly ending and I have been busy packing and moving my children back into college. I am obviously excited for them, but it is always difficult saying goodbye. While moving my daughter Kasey back to LA for her senior year in college, we stopped at a vegan restaurant for lunch, “Café Gratitude”. I was a bit confused with the menu and asked several questions. After taking our order, the waitress left us with one question to ponder over our meal: “What inspires you?”. I paused for a moment and then responded, “I am inspired by random acts of kindness I see every day”. It got me thinking about my first few months as President of the synagogue and how truly blessed we are by the pure goodness, strong heart and selflessness of our members. Following are just a few simple, yet powerful, examples of the kindness and inspiration I have experienced at our synagogue:

- While walking through the halls in the ECC, I was stopped by two adorable ECC preschoolers selling lemonade at a stand they made with their classmates to raise money for cancer. Even our 3 year olds - some of our youngest members - are learning and demonstrating the importance of Tikkun Olum, repairing the world.
- During my first month, a beloved older congregant suffering from Parkinson’s Disease, in a wheelchair and with difficulty speaking, initiated a meeting with me to share his incredible vision and passion for beautifying our grounds. Only two weeks later, this same congregant - Gil Rosenthal - passed away. May his memory forever be a blessing.
- In preparation for the High Holy Days, a Board of Trustee member learned we would need to sell guest tickets this year to raise money to offset the additional cost of the holidays. Feeling uncomfortable with this reality, he reached out to several close friends and within 24 hours raised enough money to donate these tickets and allow our guests to attend all services at no charge.

Examples of kindness and inspiration are plentiful at The Community Synagogue. We are truly blessed as a congregation. As we approach the fall and get back to our busy schedules, let’s never forget and acknowledge all that is good in our shared lives. Thank you for inspiring me each day.

L’Shana Tova- wishing you a healthy, peaceful and inspirational year.
IN CASE OF A DEATH
Whatever time of the day or night, when a death of a member or their loved one occurs The Community Synagogue should be called (516-883-3144).

If someone is not immediately available, a message on our answering machine will direct you to one of our Rabbis or to our Cantor. If a death occurs at night, please note that arrangements for funerals cannot be made until the next day, although the funeral home of your choice (which you should call directly) can pick up the deceased at any hour. If you are in need of support and counsel at any time, call our clergy.

If you would like any of our clergy to officiate, please do not make final funeral arrangements until confirming the details with one of the Rabbis or Cantor to insure their availability.

CONGREGATIONAL CHANUKAH SERVICES
Friday, December 15, 6:30 PM
Join us for the most popular Shabbat service of the year! Our Festival of Lights service includes menorah lighting, blessings, Chanukah songs and a communal candle lighting. Candles will be provided. Light the first candle on Tuesday, December 12.

PLANT-A-ROW FOR THE HUNGRY GARDEN
The Early Childhood Center kids helped prepare the beds and plant vegetables in the synagogue’s Plant-A-Row for the Hungry garden.

Marcy Zack, our congregant and volunteer for Plant-A-Row, brought all the supplies and an abundance of enthusiasm. The children helped her roll out a weed mat, dig holes and plant their vegetable. After filling the holes and patting the soil down, rocks were placed at each plant. Some of the children practiced their fine motor skills as they helped snip off the dead ends of the existing chive plants. The children watered the plants every day and added lady bugs to the garden.

WEEPING FOR THE WEEPING BEECH TREE
The morning of 7th day Pesach services - during Yizkor, remembering loved ones who have passed, the magnificent weeping beech behind the synagogue and near the pond split in half.

“I would often walk under that weeping beech, gaze up and be awe-inspired - and I suspect many others who went into the canopy of that tree and looked up felt the same. Perhaps it is more than mere coincidence that it broke during Yizkor, for that is a time when we recall the empty space left by those we loved and who have left us. We will replant new saplings, but it will be generations before anything can match the grandeur of that beech. Perhaps, however, this can allow those inspired by that tree to consider how to rejuvenate the area where it still stands broken. Old trees fall to nourish new growth ... and our memories of loved ones sustain us, too, inspiring us to plant for those generations yet to be.” Rabbi Z
Stan was five years old in 1939, and spent each day with his German nanny, subsequently, German was the first language he spoke, even though he lived in Poland. When he wasn’t working on his alphabet and early readers, he was running around the Krakow neighborhood with the other boys, throwing balls and digging up bugs. An only child, he was well spoiled by his loving parents and was fortunate in many ways. After a long work day, his mother, who was a pharmacist, would often bring home treats for little Stan and spend evenings reading together. His father worked long hours, as an accountant at the local bank, but each Friday evening he would make sure he was home in time for Shabbat dinner.

Stan would “help” his nanny prepare the meal. He will always remember the dinners which usually consisted of thick loaves of challah bread and salted butter. There were roasted potatoes and herb roasted chicken and he always saved room for babka for dessert.

Life as everyone knew it in Krakow was about to change. News spread fast about the Nazis taking over towns, cities and countries. As the Nazis invaded Poland in 1939, many Jews began to devise escape plans for their families. Stan’s family decided that his father, uncle and oldest cousin would make their way to what was then the Soviet Union. Once settled there, they were to bring Stan and his mother, aunt and other cousins to join them.

...six year old Stan watched as the SS erected a wooden shack in a park in front of his uncle’s store. They filled it with a large number of Jewish men, women and children. Locked it, sprayed it with gasoline and set it on fire, burning these victims alive!

THE RABBI’S STUDY WITH RABBI SAM POLLAK

As long as I could do those things I imagined I would find fulfillment.
Now that I have established the beginning of my rabbinate here, the question strikes me differently. What kind of rabbi do I want to be? What are the qualities I strive to embody? With what will I fill the outlines of the letters of the word rabbi, bestowed upon me just a few months ago?

I believe we never really reach the end of a journey in life, because there is always something more we can learn from our experiences. Consequently, I never expect fully to “become” a rabbi; rather, I aim to continue becoming one throughout my life. For now, I am content to follow the advice of the poet Rainer Maria Rilke in his Letters to a Young Poet, be patient toward all that is unsolved in your heart and try to love the questions themselves... Live the questions now. Perhaps you will then gradually, without noticing it, live along some distant day into the answer."

Whenever I look at the photograph of the word בְּרֵאשִׁית, with its yet unfilled letters, I am reminded that I always stand at the beginning of a journey. I am reminded to adopt a stance of curiosity, to learn from everyone and everything, to reflect on how my experiences are both filling and fulfilling. I am reminded to live new questions and to feel secure even without knowing the answers.

The image also reminds me that each of us is living a question, that each of us has something in life we are working on. For some, it is a challenge that brings fear or uncertainty; for others, it is a threshold that offers the excitement of discovery. And just as we share the word בְּרֵאשִׁית in our Torah, so too do we share communal questions about who we are as a people and where we are going.

Let us support one another in our journeys, and may every moment be a new beginning for us to make meaning of our lives.

BACK TOGETHER FOR A SUPER YEAR!

It was an incredible Sunday morning in September when our school community came back to life with the sounds of children’s voices, laughter in the air and smiles all around. As you can imagine, I love to see those smiling faces in our religious school. Watching as children and teachers and parents all greeted each other and caught up with one another, it was clear that our special community was back together again.

Each year, my goal is to foster a kehillah kedoshah, a sacred community, within our school where our students feel valued, feel a sense of belonging and have an excitement to be engaged in Jewish life. Our teaching staff works hard to create special communities in each of our classrooms and we have many opportunities for our entire school community to come together and share in celebrating and learning together. We have so many exciting plans for the year ahead, and after such an inspiring opening day, I can’t wait for another year together with our incredible school community here at The Community Synagogue Religious School.

We gratefully acknowledge the financial support for our Religious School received from the FUND for JEWISH EDUCATION

The entire ECC community brimmed with excitement about the first week of school. The energy of our school opening was reflected in the classrooms. Old friends have reconnected and new friendships are blossomed. The children were getting into the swing of their classroom routines and beginning to personalize the rooms. They decorated their attendance cards, dictated the rules for the class and worked on special art projects. In addition, the children enjoyed sharing their family books with their teachers and classmates. This school wide project helped bridge home and school and fostered new relationships amongst the children.

As a school we eagerly anticipating the holiday of Rosh Hashanah. Many of the classes investigated and explored apples. They charted and graphed their favorite apples and dipped them into the honey for a sweet new year. The different sounds of the shofar delighted the children.

Our first week of school would not have been complete without welcoming our first Shabbat as a school community. Both the 3’s and 4’s gathered in the sanctuary to share sacred time together by reciting the blessings and singing Shabbat songs led by Rabbi Z. The 2’s celebrated with their teachers in a more intimate setting in their classroom enjoying challah, grape juice and a special story.

GRATITUDE
November 30, 7:30 PM
Cultivating gratitude leads to joy. Without gratitude, it is very difficult to leap over life’s obstacles. Those who practice gratitude take the time to notice and reflect upon the things they’re thankful for, experience more positive emotions, feel more alive, sleep better, express more compassion and kindness, and even have stronger immune systems. We will take a deeper look at gratitude and how to incorporate it into our daily routines easily. For more Happiness Group information go to:

The Power of the Theater Company - A few good reasons to join

Thanks so much for the opportunity. Little did I know what was going happen when I came to the temple that Sunday afternoon to audition for Matt and Jane. When I was offered the role on the spot and accepted, I immediately started asking myself what the heck did I get myself into. ... you were all so warm and welcoming, and I thank you all for inviting me into your community. You created an environment that let me stretch my acting muscles for the first time in 18 years and take risks that I might not have felt comfortable to take under other circumstances. And, thanks for helping me realize how much I missed performing.

Finally, thank you for a wonderful experience. It has truly been an honor and pleasure working with each and every one of you. From the direction, to the actors, to the set, to the music, to the costumes, to the props and everything else, we put on a fantastic show that put smiles on a lot of faces. Can’t ask for more than that. Perhaps we’ll get to share a stage in the future. But, if not, hopefully a coffee or a beer or a karaoke song.

You Can Save a Life (or two!)

The Talmud teaches, “One who saves a life, it is as if that person saved an entire world.” People beset by illness have their own private war to win, yet we are taught the importance of helping them when we can. We have two people with a connection to our community in need of a kidney transplant – and we hope that you, or someone you know, may be willing to help by being a kidney donor. Those two are:

- Lillian Reis, mother of our member Hillary Morales, and
- Betsy Kurcias, our member.

If you are interested in signing up as a possible kidney donor for them (or others), please contact Rabbi Zeplowitz directly (rabbiz@commsyn.org or 883-3144, ext. 328) who will let you know how you can do this life-saving mitzvah.
