THE RABBI'S STUDY
WITH RABBI IRWIN ZEPLOWITZ

THE ONLY WHOLE HEART IS THE BROKEN HEART

Jews are addicts. Jews are bulimic. Jews suffer with mental illness. Jews are alcoholics. Jews suffer from depression. Jews abuse their spouses and their children.

Is the incidence of these issues in the Jewish community lower than in the general community? Maybe. The evidence is not clear. But the perception that Jews are not addicts (to alcohol, other controlled substances or food) or that Jews rarely have an issue with spousal or child abuse or that we should not talk about mental illness in our community may actually make the situation for those who do deal with these issues much worse. Denial of the problems only exacerbates the problems, leading some:

- First, to fear "if I reveal what I am dealing with, I will be ostracized."
- Second, to a profound sense of loneliness since "few others in my community are suffering as I am."
- Third, to delay of treatment or support, leading to the issue becoming more acute as it's best to remain "under the radar."
- Finally, to an alienation from Jewish life, "the silence of our community a sign of an unwillingness to acknowledge, help or accept me."

Thus, the first step towards helping has to be honesty – an honesty within oneself to say, "I am an alcoholic" or "I am an addict" or "I have a mental illness" or "I am being abused." And there is also a need in the Jewish community to say that these are issues that touch those in our midst. To admit that you are having an issue is not a sign of moral failure. In fact, the willingness to say "I need help" is a sign of great self-awareness and inner courage. It is the first step towards recovery, rehabilitation and spiritual redemption.

THE RABBI'S STUDY WITH RABBI IRWIN ZEPLOWITZ

Be honest about yourself, those in your family, and those you know in the community. If you are, it is likely you know that we, in the Jewish community are affected by mental illness, addictions (to alcohol, food, chemical substances and pornography) and abuse.

The good news is that awareness about all these issues has grown in recent decades in the Jewish world. There are resources to help you or someone you are concerned about. And you have to not be afraid to ask. Please know that I (and all the clergy here) will always keep what you share with us in confidence (unless someone is in danger of harm). We may not have the ability to offer direct help with every issue, but we can give you guidance to where you can turn in the Jewish world where you can find such support.

We do not have be perfect. We should not pretend to others that we are either. Our traditions understand that we struggle as human beings between our ideals and our desires, our sense of who we are in our most noble moments and the yearnings that pull us down. Our traditions teach, however, that we are not alone. We can turn to God. We can turn to one another. And in that turning find the resolve to make choices that redeem us and our relationships. It is not human perfection that the Torah seeks, just holiness. And that's enough.

With this in mind, Rabbi Pollak and I will focus on a number of issues in the coming couple of years on occasional Shabbat evenings. We do so not only to raise consciousness and share resources in the Jewish community to help, but to remind you that you are loved and accepted in your synagogue and in Jewish life, regardless of the issue you face.

As the 19th century Rabbi Menachem Mendel of Kotzk taught, "the only whole heart is the broken heart." Only when we admit our brokenness can we take the steps we need to find wholeness.

LESSONS OF A PRESIDENT, YEAR ONE

Before accepting the position of President of The Community Synagogue, I sat down with Rabbi Z for an honest conversation about the opportunities and challenges of assuming the role. The Rabbi spoke to me like a true business partner, telling me about some of the great things happening at the synagogue, identifying key challenges and expressing his excitement about the possibility of us working together. He also spoke to me as my Rabbi of almost 20 years and said, "Deena, I know how deeply you care about people. Just go into this knowing that you aren't going to make everyone happy." I think about this advice often and I am reminded that despite my best of intentions, it's impossible to make everyone happy; but, that doesn't mean I shouldn't try.

This has been Lesson #1 for me during my first year as president, but there have been many more. As we have just completed the Days of Awe – a time to reflect on how to be our best selves – I would like to share a few more lessons that for me have yielded better communications, richer relationships, more thoughtful decision making, tremendous growth and ultimately have made my role as president incredibly rewarding. I hope some of these resonate with you, too.

- You can never make everyone happy, no matter how hard you try, but you should still try.
- Less is more especially when it comes to public speaking and writing.
- There are usually two sides in a disagreement and both can be right. It's perfectly fine to respectfully disagree but try to conclude with a handshake or hug.
- Take the time to make thoughtful decisions; don't be impulsive or emotional. If a decision is made quickly and is unanimous, play devil's advocate and spend time debating.
- Lean into controversy rather than run away from it. Compromise takes time but often yields tremendous personal and professional growth.
- Step outside of your comfort zone and say "yes" to something new.
- And most importantly: Turn off your computer by 10 PM — tomorrow is another day!

Thank you, to all in The Community Synagogue for being my teachers. I have learned so much and am a better president, spouse, mother, daughter, sister and friend because of you.

Deena

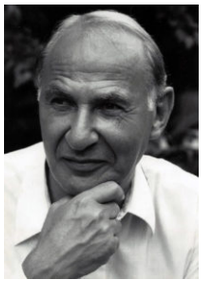
HONORING RABBI MARTIN AND ESTELLE ROZENBERG



Rabbi Martin Rozenberg has impacted countless lives over the years. His dedication to the Reform Movement, leadership in congregations, commitment to the State of Israel and its history, and service as a scholar and teacher have been honored during his esteemed career. Now 90, this exceptionally humble man could be cited by many as the inspiration behind their own pursuit of study, spirituality, leadership, and justice. One such person would have been Joseph Harlam.

Martin first met Joseph Harlam when he was a Hebrew Union College (HUC) Rabbinical student assigned to visit Hazleton's Beth Israel Temple to fulfill a student pulpit role there in the mid-1950s. The close personal relationship that formed between them became an institution in and of itself, with Joe regularly seeking out Martin's guidance and friendship, and Joe serving as a mentor to Martin in return.

Joe and his wife Betty were childless, but they believed in the power of youth and wanted to help ensure a Jewish future. They were connected to the Union of American Hebrew Congregations (now called the Union for Reform Judaism) where Joe served as a Vice Chairman, and soon entered into a contract to purchase Camp Tacoma, subsequently Camp Harlam.

Martin spent the opening summer at camp with over 300 campers recruited from local UAHC congregations. He remained involved as the Education Director, accompanied by Estelle who taught Hebrew classes at camp, in those early seasons to ensure that there was an intentional, integrated and meaningful approach to making a summer at Harlam rich in Jewish customs, history, values, prayer, and a strong connection to Israel. It was Martin who personally reached out to colleagues to convince them to spend two weeks of their summer vacations at camp and built Harlam's "faculty" model that remains today.

Martin eventually left Hazleton to lead The Community Synagogue (TCS) in Port Washington, New York in 1963. He remained at the helm until his retirement in 1996 but remained close to Joe and Betty throughout their lives. While at TCS, he stayed involved with Camp Harlam as well.

Read more here: https://campharlam.org/leader-rozenberg/

This past summer Camp Harlam (a Union for Reform Judaism summer camp) dedicated a welcome center to our Rabbi Emeritus, Rabbi Martin Rozenberg and his wife Estelle, for their support of youth and camping over the years. The clergy, board and Sisterhood of our congregation were proud to help support this effort in their honor. Below is a "thank you" from them for those gifts.

Dear Congregational Family,

We want to thank the Sisterhood and the entire congregation for the donations made in honor of the dedication of the Rozenberg Welcome Center at the URJ's Joseph and Betty Harlam Camp and recognizing the importance of keeping the legacy of the camp, "teaching our children living Judaism day by day."

You are in our hearts and thoughts as we enter this New Year. Our fond memories of our time with you are with us daily. We send our love and blessings for a Shanah Tovah to all.

B'Shalom,

Rabbi Martin and Estelle Rozenberg

The ECC was brimming with excitement. The children bounded into school, full of joy for the first day of class. Old friends reconnected and new friendships were beginning to blossom.

The spirit of Rosh Hashanah which was all around the ECC is often a time of reflection as we think about what we can do better or learn in the upcoming year. One of our Pre-K teachers posed this question to her students, "What would you like to learn in this New Year?" Here were some of the children's responses:

- Alara, "Wants to learn to tie her shoelaces."
- Ethan,"Wants to learn to make a bridge that doesn't fall down!"
- Ruby, "Wants to learn to read."
- Brody, "Wants to learn to build a Freedom Tower out of Legos."
- Daisy, "Wants to learn to count to 100."
- Miller, "Wants to learn how to draw T-Rex."
- Simon, "Wants to learn how to make a rainbow."

SUSAN FLANAGAN-HERMAN
DIRECTOR OF THE EARLY CHILDHOOD CENTER

As you can see, the children have set great goals for the New Year. A new addition to our curriculum is the introduction of Hebrew. Mina, one of our 2's teachers, who also teaches in the Religious School, has been working with all of our students on a bi-weekly basis, teaching the children Hebrew through songs, games and stories.

Looking ahead to November, we are hosting the second annual Curriculum Night. This is an evening of learning where families get to meet with their child's teacher to gain a greater understanding of the work they do with our students. As educators, we are striving to show our families the purpose and intention of the lessons taught. It is important that the parents recognize the appropriate milestones that children should be achieving and how we incorporate these skills into your child's day. This is a wonderful opportunity to ask questions and see first-hand the work we do in the classroom.

THE ECC AND THE DIRECTOR OF THE ECC HAVE BEEN NOMINATED "BEST OF L.I."

VOTE NOW-DECEMBER 15

We need you to vote every day until December 15 for the Early Childhood Center AND for our ECC Director, Susan Flanagan-Herman.

During the voting period, votes are accepted one vote per category, per day, per person at bestof.longislandpress.com. This means you and the fans of the ECC can each vote once a day during this 75-day period. Those with the most votes in each respective category will be awarded the distinction of winning the "Bethpage Best of LI 2019."

HEBREW LEARNING, IN A WHOLE NEW WAY!

While Hebrew has always been an important component of our curriculum in the religious school, I am so excited for this year as we are introducing an innovative and engaging new approach to our Hebrew education. We have made changes to every aspect of our program, including how we teach Hebrew, when we introduce different concepts, the size of our classes and the training of our staff.

Although school has just begun, I have already seen students successfully taking part in one component of the program with much enthusiasm. Hebrew through Movement is a program through which students learn Hebrew by hearing and responding to Hebrew commands. Hebrew through Movement introduces language in a playful and meaningful way, creating a positive link between children and the Hebrew language. This program is supported by the latest brain research on learning, providing an aural foundation for Hebrew that opens the door to Hebrew reading and decoding. In one 2nd grade classroom I recently visited, the students were playing Shimon Omer, Simon Says, entirely in Hebrew. Granted, they were using a small vocabulary of words learned, but they were following the game, giggling while playing and trying hard not to get out. Right next door in a 3rd grade class, I watched as a student was told lakoom v'likpotz al ha-delet, which means stand up and jump to the door. I wasn't sure that the student would follow the direction, but sure enough, he stood up and starting hopping across the room. One goal of our new program is to engage our students in their Hebrew studies and help students to see Hebrew as a living language. It is only the start of the year, but it is already clear that our students are jumping right into the new program and that Hebrew is coming to life in our hallways.

WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW ABOUT YOUR FUTURE, BUT WERE AFRAID TO ASK

Sunday, October 28 | 2:00 PM-4:00 PM

The Baby Boomer Committee is hosting a panel featuring professionals in the legal, medical and financial fields. The conversation will be about the steps you should consider taking to prepare yourself for retirement, aging parents, children who never leave home, and general well-being as we move on to our "golden years." The three-member panel will offer an overview about the necessary paperwork required to protect you and your assets from illness and other circumstances as well as offering advice on what questions you should pose to your own personal financial advisors, insurance agents and estate attorneys.

Please join us as Lisa J. Davidoff, retired wealthy management advisor and insurance agent; Stephen Hand, retired estate attorney and Eve Koopersmith, partner with Garfunkel, Wild, discuss the issues facing us as we enter the next phase of our life.

TENEMENT MUSEUM TRIP

The Baby Boomers enjoyed a wonderful Sunday afternoon, having lunch at Katz's Deli and taking a very informative tour at The Tenement Museum in New York City's Lower East Side. Of the many tours offered, they chose the Sweatshop Workers tour, featuring two Jewish families, one in the early 1800s and one in the early 20th century.

More trips into New York City and Brooklyn are being planned; so stay tuned. We hope to see you! If interested in joining our group, please contact Maggie Hand at hands4us@hotmail.com.

MITZVAH CORPS

We are your SOS! The Mitzvah Corps makes friendly visits to congregants in need, often driving them to doctor's appointments. B'nai Mitzvah students can fulfill their mitzvah obligations by involvement with our projects.

In September, we prepared Rosh Hashanah gift bags of apples and honey for congregants who have lost loved ones during the year. We host a Chanukah party with songs and food, along with our clergy, and a Passover celebration in April for residents of the Sands Point Rehab Center.

We welcome new volunteers. No time commitment, just a desire to help fellow congregants. Contact the Mitzvah Corps Committee Chairs Alyssa Greenberg, alyssagreenberg@aol.com; Marcia Kirschenbaum, mjkirsch@aol.com; Carol Hanover, chanover13@aol.com; Anne Nelson, anniesez3@aol.com.

FAREWELL LUNCHEON POEM

Based on the song "Because I Knew You" from Wicked
By Evie Schonbrun

Because we knew you, we have been changed for good.
We will remember your determination in all things and your fierce pride in your family and friends.
We will remember your unwavering commitment to just causes and your dignity and courage in the face of great personal challenges.
We will remember your enormous love of books and hatred of hypocrisy.
We will remember your wit, your longing for adventure and your love of people.
Because we knew you, we have been changed for good.
So please remember us... As we bid you not goodbye but:
Vaya con Dios, Au Revoir, Auf Weidersehen, and Gezunterheit.

GOD IS MY SHEPHARD: THE 23RD PSALM

How did this piece of biblical poetry come to be so well known, and why is it used at funerals? By exploring the 23rd Psalm's images, its history, and its many musical interpretations, we will open new ways of making meaning with this famous text in our lives.

#METOO: A CHALLENGING MEDIEVAL JEWISH RESPONSE TO A MODERN ISSUE

Explore the issues raised by the #MeToo movement - of sexual assault, the imbalance of power between men and women and/or those with power and those who have none, and the systemic imbalance in addressing the issue - raised in a little known, but fascinating, midrash from the 13th century. For background reading, look at: Jill Filipovic, "The Problem With 'Feminist' Men," The New York Times, May 8, 2018; Yehuda Kurtzer, "In the Company of Men," Medium, Oct. 10, 2016; Daniel Brenner, "Jewish men need to talk about #METOO", JTA News, January 22, 2018

ABOUT ROSH CHODESH

A special day that Jewish feminists "reclaimed" for feminine spirituality. Tradition says that as a reward for our faithfulness, God gave women Rosh Chodesh, the first day of the new month, and even exempted us from our usual household duties. All are welcome! For more information, contact Charlotte Cohen at chacohen02@gmail.com.

SUMMER TOGETHER PROGRAMMING EXCEEDED THEIR GOALS

The volunteers and partner organizations who created "Summer Together" and "Swim Together" thank the Port Washington community for supporting these two first-time programs. Summer Together was formed to help 50 Port Washington children in need of economic assistance, attend one week of local summer camp. Swim Together similarly sought to subsidize 10 family pool memberships.

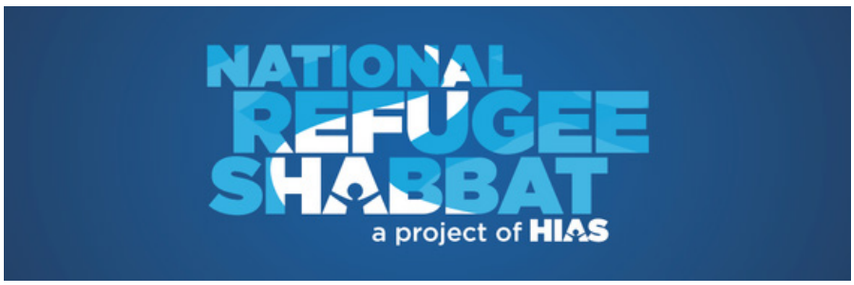
We are happy to report that both programs exceeded their fundraising goals. Summer Together funded 57 Port children at the following camps: Bach To Rock, Berest Dance Center, Camp Invention, Parent Resource Center, PYA/NY Baseball Academy and Unlimited Sports Action. Swim Together enabled 19 local families to enjoy the Manorhaven Park & Pool with their neighbors.

These programs were made possible through the joint efforts of a consortium of community groups led by Long Island Together and The Community Synagogue's Social Action Committee and also included Temple Beth Israel's Social Action Committee, Reconstructionist Synagogue of the North Shore, Port Together, St. Peter of Alcantara Social Ministry and Our Lady of Fatima Social Outreach

Thank you to the camps for their community spirit and patience in working with the consortium on this new effort. Thank you to the community organizations and individuals who helped identify campers and families in need, including Sister Kathy at Our Lady of Fatima, Lourdes Taglialatela at St. Peter of Alcantara, Fran Powell and Peggy O'Hanlon at the PWPL, Trish Class and Diana Piza at the Parent Resource Center, and Lisa Miller and Lynette Batts at Littig House.

The Swim Together program could not have happened without the assistance of the Town of North Hempstead and Supervisor Judi Bosworth. We thank especially our Town Council Member Dina De Giorgio, as well as TONH Parks Commissioner Jill Weber and Parks staff member Jean Zappulla.

The Dolphin Bookshop, as always, was generous with its space for our fundraising concert last April, and Bach To Rock's participation in the event was instrumental. In all, this was a true community effort! For more info email, info@longislandtogether.org



FRIDAY, OCTOBER 19 | 8:00 PM
WE ARE PROUD TO PARTICIPATE IN THIS NATIONAL SHABBAT OF AWARENESS AND ACTION

In the face of unprecedented attempts to close America's doors to those seeking freedom from violence and persecution, this is a critical moment to give voice to our values as Jews and as Americans.

Join Merrill Zack as together we deepen our understanding of today's global refugee crisis. Merrill will speak during services and then engage, after the Oneg Shabbat, with those interested in learning more about practical ways to help put our values into action.

"FOUND"

By Dave Golbert, inspired by participation in weekly Torah Study sessions

I sought comfort,
but found it not.
I sought wisdom
but found it not.
I sought happiness
but found it not.
I sought peace
but found it not.
I sought God
and found it all.

THANK YOU FOR ALL YOU DO

Thank you to Adrienne Kane and family for donating their time each month, tabbing the Calendar Sheets, which is a necessary step in preparing them to be mailed to congregants homes.

Thank you to Don Markowitz of Country Cleaners in Port Washington for cleaning all of our synagogue tallitot prior to the High Holy Days.

Thanks to everyone who donated items to support those affected by Hurricane Florence.

Thank you to Sara Weiss who donates her time each week preparing Yahrzeit letters for mailing.

Thank you to the families who hosted our guest Israeli rabbi, Rabbi Yaya (Yair) Tobias in April: Barbra Berwald and Andrew Dietz, Lauren and Dan Furstenberg, Sandrine and Ed Gold, Stacey and Mark Kaufman, Julie and Ben Kozinn.

Thank you to Diana Berrent Photography for donating her time taking professional head shots of our Board of Trustees.

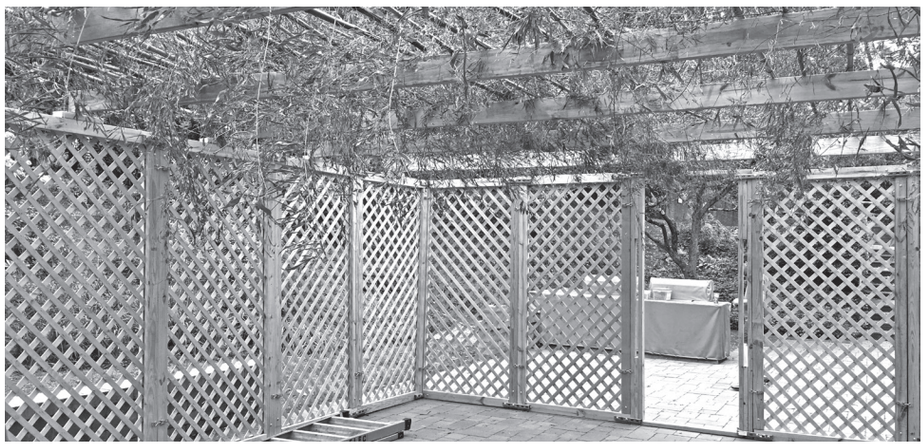
Thank you to Richard Black Studio for generously donating the time taking professional video of our ECC Moving up ceremony, Fiddler on the Roof production as well as photographs of our confirmands, and more throughout the year.

Thank you to Jeff Greilsheimer, who imagined and designed the new sukkah which has a more "modular" approach with latticework around the walls to make it easier to hang decorations. He will also be incorporating some of the wood from the great tree that was felled last year on the property.

The new sukkah was much easier to build and looks great. Thanks are also deserving to everyone who helped, including a number of Brotherhood members and FLAME families who showed up to lend a hand.

FLAME students and families

Jeff Greilsheimer



Please conatct the Main Office if you are interested in volunteering, 516-883-3144.
