

Lisa A. Scott, Ph.D.

Lisa and her husband, Peter (Pete), joined Temple Sinai in 2001. Her daughters Joanna and Allison were B'nei Mitzvah in 2009. Lisa participated in Temple Sinai's two-year Meah Program, the Membership Committee, the Religious School Committee, and as a Trustee from 2007-2009. After a two-year break, Lisa rejoined Temple Sinai in 2019, grateful for the warm welcome and new friends from Temple Emanu-El. Lisa currently teaches at Rutgers-Newark School of Public Affairs and Administration (SPAA) and works as a nonprofit management consultant. Lisa's background includes education policy research as well as 20+ years in financial software development and technology management. Lisa currently volunteers as a Court Appointed Special Advocate (CASA) of Union County and as a member of the Summit Juvenile Conference Committee. Lisa has an undergraduate degree in Mathematics from Goucher College and a doctorate in Public Administration from NYU-Wagner.
